RE: Request for Meeting with 1inch on DeFi Illicit-Finance Prevention, October 19–21, 2026

Purpose

The Blockchain Association respectfully requests a meeting between the Crypto Task Force and its member company 1inch, a decentralized exchange aggregator, during the week of October 19–21, 2026. The meeting would give staff a practical, live look at how a leading DeFi protocol and its U.S.-based security partners prevent and respond to illicit finance.

Background

In March 2026, the 1inch team met with congressional staff to introduce the company's work and provide a live product demonstration. Based on the positive feedback from those meetings, 1inch is returning to Washington on October 19–21 for follow-up meetings. The visit follows an October 16 education and policy event in D.C.

Proposed Agenda

The meeting would consist of short live sessions (with optional demonstrations), developed with input from 1inch's U.S.-based security partners, illustrating the illicit-finance prevention work the team performs every day, including:

- Device fingerprinting
- On-chain intelligence and trace playbooks
- Blocklist governance
- Coordinated incident response

The goal is to show in practice the real work DeFi is doing to protect U.S. users and the broader ecosystem from threats such as DPRK-linked hackers. Time would be reserved for staff questions.

Attendees

1inch

- Matt Snow, Head of Strategic Partnerships, DevRel, and AI Automation
- Orest Gavryliak, Chief Legal Officer

zeroShadow

- Casey Golden, Chief Executive Officer

Blockchain Association

- Ashok Pinto, Executive Vice President, Legal and Government Relations
- Lindsay Fraser, Chief Policy Officer
- Jack Solowey, Senior Counsel, Policy and Regulatory Affairs

zeroShadow is one of the preeminent cyber and blockchain security firms and serves as 1inch's security partner.

Requested Action

We ask that Task Force staff identify a time during October 19–21, 2026 that would work for a meeting. The group is happy to meet in person at the Commission or virtually, whichever staff prefer.

Task Force staff are also welcome to attend the October 16 education and policy event in Washington: luma.com/groundwork_dc.

Thank you for your consideration. Please contact Ashok Pinto with any questions or to confirm scheduling.
