What investment services and advice can you provide me?

We offer advisory services to retail investors. As part of these services, we manage discretionary and non-discretionary investment portfolios for individuals, families, and trusts. PPG also provides investment supervisory services in the direct management of client portfolios to individuals and planning services which includes advice on gifting, tax planning, and cash flow management. Additionally, PPG provides fiduciary services that allow PPG to have the discretionary authority to rebalance accounts and hire and fire third party managers. PPG may also work on special projects for prospective clients. PPG reviews client accounts on a monthly and quarterly basis, as well as when clients are contemplating asset allocation and/or investment manager changes.

PPG provides advisory services to you on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis. For discretionary accounts, PPG has the authority to determine, without obtaining client consent, the securities to be bought or sold and the amount of securities to be bought or sold in your account. For non-discretionary accounts, the account holder(s) control the purchase or sale of investments. PPG provides customized services to its clients and no two investment programs are alike. Our consultants take into consideration factors such as the client’s risk tolerance, forecasted liability, and return expectations when making recommendations. Clients can designate reasonable restrictions on their accounts.

PPG does not impose a minimum portfolio value or charge a set minimum fee for its investment consulting and management services. For additional information, see Item 4 of PPG’s ADV Part 2A (Brochure) which can be accessed here.

CONVERSATION STARTERS

Key questions to ask:

- Given my financial situation, should I choose an investment advisory service? Why or why not?
- How will you choose investments to recommend to me?
- What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education, and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?

What fees will I pay?

PPG charges fees in three separate ways: 1) as a flat fee, 2) as a percentage of assets under advisement or management and 3) billed at an hourly rate. Fees are negotiable. For most clients, PPG negotiates a flat fee for investment consulting services, depending on the value of the client’s assets under advisement, complexity of portfolio, travel required, number of meetings per year, and various other relevant factors. For some clients, PPG negotiates a fee based upon a percentage of the client’s assets under advisement or management. This fee is charged quarterly and is based upon the value of the client’s assets under advisement or management as of the last day of the previous quarter. Lastly, PPG may charge fees based upon an hourly rate negotiated with the client. This type of fee arrangement is typically used for ad hoc projects pertaining to consulting services.

PPG bills management fees in advance or arrears on a quarterly basis. For hourly fees, the client will be charged at the conclusion of the services. The advisory fee does not include fees related to investment manager fees, transaction costs, or custodial fees. If a client invests in mutual funds with the selected manager, it may incur mutual fund ticket charges and other transaction charges. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying. For additional information, please see Item 5 of PPG's ADV Part 2A (Brochure) which can be accessed here.

- Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs? How much will be invested for me?

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When PPG acts as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice that we provide you. Here is one example to help you understand what this means. PPG uses large retail broker-dealers to execute trades in your account(s). As part of our arrangement with large broker-dealers, they provide our investment professionals access to products and services that assist us in managing and administering your account(s). This includes software and technology that provides access to your account, assists with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting. Thus, a conflict exists as PPG has an incentive to select a broker-dealer based on our interest in receiving the research or other products or services, rather than on the clients' interest in receiving lower fees and commissions through another broker-dealer.

How do your financial professionals make money?

Our financial professionals are compensated based on the revenue generated by the clients they serve. PPG provides investment due diligence and research to a family office of a third-party, unaffiliated brokerage firm and is compensated for these services. In some cases, PPG selects certain investment products issued by the same brokerage firm to invest in client accounts. Additionally, advisory client accounts are custodied with the affiliated custodian of the brokerage firm. As such, there is a potential conflict of interest between advisory clients and the brokerage firm described above.

- How might your conflicts of interest affect me and how will you address them?
