Counsel for Division of Enforcement

On July 17, 2023, the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”) issued an adjudicatory order (“Order”) that endorsed the July 10, 2023 amended joint prehearing statement that was consented to by the Respondents and Division of Enforcement. It was further ordered in that Order that “the parties shall seek leave to file any motions for summary disposition pursuant to Rule of Practice 250(c) by August 25, 2023, by filing a concise statement, which also addresses whether the parties consent to any modifications of the prehearing schedule as a result of such motion for summary disposition.” The parties submitted on August 18, 2023 for the SEC’s consideration a Second Amended Prehearing Statement that was consented to by the Respondents and Division of Enforcement. The Second Amended Prehearing Statement modified the prehearing schedule for various deadlines as well as for summary disposition. Both Respondents and the Division of Enforcement consent to any further modification of the prehearing schedule as a result of any motions for summary disposition.
