[• Specialist, Market Maker, Professional, Firm and Broker-Dealer options transaction fees in Multiply Listed Options will be capped at $500 per day for reversal and conversion strategies executed on the same trading day in the same options class (“Reversal and Conversion Cap”) when such members are trading in their own proprietary accounts. Reversals are established by combining a short stock position with a short put and a long call position that shares the same strike and expiration. Conversions are established by combining a long position in the underlying security with a long put and a short call position that shares the same strike and expiration. The Reversal and Conversion Cap will only apply to executions occurring on either of the two days preceding the standard options expiration date, which is typically the third Thursday and Friday of every month.]
