Introduction

Colton Wealth Management is an investment adviser registered with the SEC, and we provide fee-based investment management services. This document gives you a summary of the types of services we provide and how you pay. Please ask us for more information. We encourage you to visit Investor.gov/CRS which is a free and simple search tool to research our firm and our financial professionals.

What Investment Services and Advice can you provide me?

There are different ways you can get help with your investments. You should carefully consider which type of account and the services that are right for you. Colton Wealth Management usually meets with clients directly but may also work with clients by phone or through internet communication, to provide investment advice, develop strategies and define goals. Assets are managed on a discretionary basis. Discretionary authority allows Colton Wealth Management to buy and sell securities without asking in advance whereas non-discretionary authority is limited to offering advice, but you make the decision to buy or sell. Colton Wealth Management receives compensation by charging an on-going financial planning and investment management fee based on the value of cash and other investments in your advisory account. Financial planning and investment management fees are billed quarterly, in advance, meaning that we invoice you before the three-month billing period has ended, as disclosed in our Form ADV Part 2A. We do not have a specific minimum account size required to open an account.

Conversation Starter. Ask your financial professional—

- Given my financial situation, should I choose an investment advisory service? Should I choose a brokerage service? Should I choose both types of service? Why or why not?
- How will you choose investments to recommend to me?
- What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?

What fees will I pay?

Please ask your financial professional to give you personalized information on the fees you will pay. The amount paid to our firm and your financial professional generally does not vary based on the type of investment we select on your behalf. Colton Wealth Management strives to use the most cost-effective investment choices but in some instances a transaction fee, known as a ticket charge, will apply (these ticket charges are charged by the custodian, and we do not share in that revenue). Fees are based on account value and are charged at an annual fee of 1.00% billed quarterly based on the fair market value of the entire account balance of assets in your managed account. The more assets you have in an advisory account, including cash, the more you will pay us. We therefore have an incentive to increase the assets in your account to increase your fees. You pay our advisory fee even if you do not buy or sell during the fee period. You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time.

Conversation Starter. Ask your financial professional—

- Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

What are your legal obligations to me when providing recommendations as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

We must abide by certain laws and regulations in our interactions with you. We are held to a fiduciary standard that covers our entire investment advisory relationship with you. For example, we are required to monitor your portfolio, investment strategy and objectives on an ongoing basis. Our Financial Professionals offer investment advisory services through Colton Wealth Management. Investment advisory services require that we act as a fiduciary and put your interest above ours. When acting in the capacity of an investment adviser, your Financial Professional mitigates conflicts of interest by only acting in your best interest. To the extent requested by a client, Colton Wealth Management may recommend the services of other professionals for certain non-investment implementation purposes (i.e., attorneys, accountants, insurance, etc.). The client retains absolute discretion over all such implementation decisions and is free to accept or reject any recommendation from Colton Wealth Management, and we do not share in any portion of the revenue derived from such recommendations.

Conversation Starter. Ask your financial professional—

- How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them? How do your financial professionals make money?

Our interests can conflict with your interests. We must eliminate these conflicts or tell you about them in a way you can understand, so that you can decide whether to agree to them. Your Financial Professional makes money based on the amount of assets they manage for you, and solely in the form of cash compensation. Your Financial Professional does not receive any form of non-cash compensation.

Conversation Starter. Ask your financial professional—

- As a financial professional, do you have any disciplinary history? For what type of conduct?

Colton Wealth Management does not have any disciplinary history to disclose. To report a problem to the SEC, visit Investment Adviser Public Disclosure \(IAPD\) or call the SEC's toll-free investor assistance line at (800)732-0330.
