A. Methods of compensation

Fees paid by clients are the only source of compensation received by Mentor Capital Management Inc. and its supervised persons. In no case will Mentor Capital Management Inc. or any of its supervised persons accept fees or compensation from someone other than a client.

Fees for Mentor Capital Management Inc. Wealth Management Services are calculated in one of two ways:

1.) Flat fee

An annual fee is calculated based on the expected complexity of the case, including but not limited to asset base, net worth and planning needs. This fee is assessed and paid typically in four equal installments.

2.) Asset-based fee

$1 to $500,000 of investment assets	0.25% quarterly
$500,001 to $1 million of investment assets	0.1875% quarterly
$1 million or more of investment assets	0.125% quarterly

Clients may pay a flat fee, an asset-based fee or both, depending on the needs of the client and the terms of the engagement.

Hourly fees and project fees are based on the adviser's assessment of the complexity of the case or the work involved.

In certain instances, depending on a client's needs and the services to be performed by Mentor Capital Management Inc., a contract may be entered into with a fee different from the fee schedule set forth above. This fee would be based on negotiation with the client.

Fees for Mentor Capital Management Inc. Project Services are negotiated individually with each client and are based on the complexity of the work involved.

Fees for Mentor Capital Management Inc. Hourly Services are negotiated individually with each client and are based on complexity of the work involved and the time spent by the adviser in providing the service.

MINIMUM AND MAXIMUM ANNUAL FEES

There are no minimum or maximum annual fees.

Investment assets are defined as stocks, bonds, warrants, options, mutual funds, qualified retirement accounts, certificates of deposit, cash, checking and savings accounts, money market accounts, credit union accounts, limited partnerships and such other assets as may be agreed upon.

B. How fees are paid

Fees in flat-fee engagements and in asset-based engagements shall be paid from accounts not under advisement by Mentor Capital Management Inc. or pro-rata from the accounts for which such services are provided. In the event that Investment Advisory fees cannot be paid from such accounts (for example, 401(k) or 403(b) accounts), fees shall be paid from non-tax qualified accounts under advisement by Mentor Capital Management Inc. or from accounts not under advisement by Mentor Capital Management Inc. On a quarterly basis fees are deducted from client accounts or are paid from accounts not under advisement by Mentor Capital Management Inc.

C. Other types of fees and expenses

Layering – Where client investments are made in shares of mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, closed-end funds or variable annuity subaccounts, clients may pay both a direct management fee to Mentor Capital Management Inc. and an indirect management fee to the fund or subaccount in which they invest.

Brokerage commissions and transaction fees – Where securities or fund shares are purchased in client accounts, the client may pay a brokerage commission or transaction fee. In no case does Mentor Capital Management Inc. receive a financial benefit from this commission or transaction fee. Please see Item 12 on Page 15 for a further discussion of brokerage practices.

D. Fees paid in advance

Fees in flat-fee engagements, asset-based engagements and project engagements are paid in advance. However, in no case may such fees be paid more than six months in advance.

A client or the adviser can terminate the relationship at any time. An advisory client has a right to terminate the engagement without penalty within five (5) business days after entering into the engagement. Any refund beyond the five-day period will not exceed one-half of the annual fee. After six months, the refund is pro-rata by month.

E. Additional compensation

Under no circumstances will Mentor Capital Management Inc. or its supervised persons receive compensation for placement of insurance contracts or from the sale of securities or other investment products, including asset-based sales charges or service fees from the sale of mutual funds. Such an arrangement could present a conflict of interest; it might provide an incentive to recommend investment products based on compensation received. Mentor Capital Management Inc. and its supervised persons avoid this conflict by accepting compensation ONLY from clients.

Neither Mentor Capital Management Inc. nor any of its supervised persons accepts payments for referrals; neither do they pay other professionals for referrals.

Mentor Capital Management Inc. and its supervised persons may recommend that clients purchase shares of mutual funds. In such cases it is always recommended that clients purchase shares of “no-load” mutual funds.

Although Mentor Capital Management Inc. and its supervised persons may recommend a broker to clients, clients have the option to purchase such investment products through any broker or agent. See Item 12 on Page 15 for a further discussion of brokerage practices.

ITEM 6 – PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT

Mentor Capital Management Inc. does not accept performance-based fees; nor does it manage accounts that impose performance-based fees.

Mentor Capital Management Inc. does not impose a minimum dollar value of assets or any other condition for starting or maintaining an account. Accounts may be of any size, investments of any type.

ITEM 8 – METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

A. Methods of analysis and investment strategy

In offering investment advice to clients, Mentor Capital Management Inc. uses fundamental analysis as part of a broad asset-allocation process.

Mentor Capital Management Inc. offers investment advice on equity securities (including exchange-listed securities, securities traded over-the-counter and foreign issues), U.S. government and U.S. government agency debt securities, corporate debt securities other than commercial paper, commercial paper, paper, certificates of deposit, municipal securities, investment company securities (including variable life insurance, variable annuities and mutual fund shares), United States Government securities and options contracts on securities and commodities.

Sources of information used by Mentor Capital Management Inc. include financial newspapers and magazines, inspections of corporate activities, research materials prepared by others, annual reports, prospectuses and filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Investment strategies used by Mentor Capital Management Inc. to implement any investment advice given to clients includes long-term purchases (securities held at least a year) as well as short-term purchases (securities sold within a year). For long-term purchases, Mentor Capital Management Inc. uses a passive, low-expense, index-based asset-allocation strategy.

Neither Mentor Capital Management Inc. nor its supervised persons engages in frequent trading of securities or market timing. Strategies are guided by the timing of the client's goals and objectives and his or her risk tolerance.

B. Material risks involved with investment strategy

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. None of these risks is unusual. However, the risks are real. Among them are:

Credit risk – Also called default risk, is the risk that the issuer of a debt instrument will be unable to make payments as promised.

Market risk – This is the risk that the value of an investment will decline due to negative movements in the investment markets or other factors. Market risk includes equity risk (the risk that the stock market will decline, thereby causing the value of equity investments to fall), interest rate risk (the risk that interest rates will rise, causing the value of fixed-income investments to decline), currency risk (the risk that the value of the U.S. dollar relative to a foreign currency will rise, thereby causing the value of investments denominated in the foreign currency to fall) and commodity risk (the risk that commodity prices will fall, thereby eroding the value of investments that are sensitive to such prices).

Liquidity risk – The risk that a security cannot be sold quickly enough to prevent a loss or to free up cash for other uses.

Purchasing-power risk – Also known as inflation risk, this is the chance that investment returns will not keep up with inflation, thereby eroding the capability of the investor to maintain his or her lifestyle. Mentor Capital Management Inc. manages purchasing-power risk by using securities, particularly equity securities, whose returns are expected to exceed the rate of inflation

Mentor Capital Management Inc. uses numerous strategies to manage these risks, including but not limited to the use of investment-grade debt instruments, broad diversification and allocation among the various investment classes.

In spite of implementation of these risk-management strategies, a client may still experience a loss. Although the strategies have been shown in the past to reduce risk, there is no guarantee that they will continue to do so.

C. Significant or unusual risks

Because Mentor Capital Management Inc. does not recommend primarily any particular type of security, there are no other significant unusual risks involved.

B. Futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator or commodity trading adviser

Mentor Capital Management Inc. is not registered as and does not have an application pending as a futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator or commodity trading adviser;

C. Arrangements with related persons

Mentor Capital Management Inc. does not have any arrangements that are material to its advisory business or its clients with a related person who is a broker-dealer, investment company, other investment adviser, financial planning firm, commodity pool operator, commodity trading adviser, futures commission merchant, banking or thrift institution, accounting firm, law firm, insurance company or agency, pension consultant, real estate broker or dealer or entity that packages or creates limited partnerships.

Neither Mentor Capital Management Inc. nor any related person is a general partner in any partnership in which clients may be advised to invest.

D. Other relationships

Mentor Capital Management Inc. recommends that clients establish brokerage accounts with the Institutional Division of Charles Schwab & Co. Inc. (Schwab), a FINRA-registered broker-dealer (member SIPC), to maintain custody of clients' assets and to effect trades for their accounts. Schwab's SEC File Number is 8-16514; its CRD number is 5393.

Although Mentor Capital Management Inc. may recommend that clients establish accounts at Schwab, it is the client's decision whether to custody assets with Schwab. Mentor Capital Management Inc. is independently owned and operated and is not affiliated with Schwab.

Schwab provides Mentor Capital Management Inc. with access to its institutional trading and custody services, which are typically not available to Schwab retail investors. These services generally are available to independent investment advisers on an unsolicited basis, at no charge to them, so long as a total of at least $10 million of the adviser's clients' assets are maintained in accounts at Schwab Institutional.

These services are not contingent upon Mentor Capital Management Inc. committing to Schwab any specific amount of business (assets in custody or trading commissions). Schwab's brokerage services include the execution of securities transactions, custody, research, and access to mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise generally available only to institutional investors or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment.

For Mentor Capital Management Inc. client accounts maintained in its custody, Schwab generally does not charge separately for custody services but is compensated by account holders through commissions and other transaction-related or asset-based fees for securities trades that are executed through Schwab or that settle into Schwab accounts.

Schwab also makes available to Mentor Capital Management Inc. other products and services that benefit Mentor Capital Management Inc. but may not directly benefit its clients' accounts. Many of these products and services may be used to service all or some substantial number of Mentor Capital Management Inc. accounts, including accounts not maintained at Schwab.

Schwab's products and services that assist Mentor Capital Management Inc. in managing and administering clients' accounts include software and other technology that: 1.) Provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements); 2.) Facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts; 3.) Provide research, pricing and other market data; 4.) Facilitate payment of Mentor Capital Management Inc.'s fees from its clients' accounts; and 5.) Assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting.

Schwab Institutional offers other services intended to help Mentor Capital Management Inc. manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services may include: 1.) Compliance, legal and business consulting; 2.) Publications and conferences on practice management and business succession; and 3.) Access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants and insurance providers.

Schwab may make available, arrange and/or pay third-party vendors for the types of services rendered to Mentor Capital Management Inc. Schwab Institutional may discount or waive fees it would otherwise charge for some of these services or pay all or a part of the fees of a third-party providing these services to Mentor Capital Management Inc. Schwab Institutional may also provide other benefits such as educational events or occasional business entertainment of Mentor Capital Management Inc. personnel.

In evaluating whether to recommend that clients custody their assets at Schwab, Mentor Capital Management Inc. may take into account the availability of some of the foregoing products and services and other arrangements as part of the total mix of factors it considers and not solely the nature, cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided by Schwab, which may create a potential conflict of interest.

Trading errors – From time to time Mentor Capital Management Inc. may make an error in submitting a trade order on a client's behalf. When this occurs, Mentor Capital Management Inc. may place a correcting trade with the broker-dealer that has custody of the client's account.

If an investment gain results from the correcting trade, the gain will remain in the client's account unless the same error involved other client account(s) that should have received the gain, it is not permissible for the client to retain the gain, or Mentor Capital Management Inc. confers with the client and the client decides to forego the gain (e.g., due to tax reasons). If the gain does not remain in the client's account and Schwab is the custodian, Schwab will donate the amount of any gain more than $100 to charity. If a loss occurs greater than $100, Mentor Capital Management Inc. will cover the loss. Schwab will maintain the loss or gain (if such gain is not retained in the client's account) if it is under $100 to minimize and offset its administrative time and expense. Generally, if related trade errors result in both gains and losses in a client's account, they may be netted.

Any such purchase or sale by Mentor Capital Management Inc. or related persons will be on terms identical with that recommended to the client. In the case of a sale of an investment, Mentor Capital Management Inc. will notify client of its intention to dispose of such investment. If the client wishes to dispose of such investment, such interest will be sold if possible at the same time and on the same terms as that being sold by Mentor Capital Management Inc. It is agreed that in the event both the client's and Mentor Capital Management Inc.'s interests cannot all be sold, the client's interest to the extent possible will be sold first.

ITEM 12 – BROKERAGE PRACTICES

Mentor Capital Management Inc. and its related persons do not have discretionary authority to determine the broker or dealer to be used or commission rates paid.

Mentor Capital Management Inc. and related persons may recommend a broker to clients who do not have an active relationship with a broker.

Mentor Capital Management Inc. considers past performance, personal relationship and associations with a national or regional brokerage firm in recommending a broker but does not determine the reasonableness of the broker's commission, as the engagement of any recommended broker is at the exclusive discretion of the client.

Mentor Capital Management Inc. is considered to have custody of client funds or securities if the client authorizes Mentor Capital Management Inc. to initiate third-party money-movement instructions through its custodian. Such third-party money-movement instructions consist of checks, journals, Money Links, ACHs, and wires.

Although for this purpose Mentor Capital Management Inc. is deemed to have custody of client funds or securities, Mentor Capital Management Inc. abides by the following seven specific conditions and therefore is not subject to the custody rule's annual surprise exam requirement:

- 1.) The client provides an instruction to the qualified custodian in writing that includes the client's signature, the third party's name, and either the third party's address or the third party's account number at a custodian to which the transfer should be directed.
- 2.) The client authorizes Mentor Capital Management Inc. in writing, either on the qualified custodian's form or separately, to direct transfers to the third party either on a specified schedule or from time to time.
- 3.) The client's qualified custodian performs appropriate verification of the instruction, such as a signature review or other method to verify the client's authorization and provides a transfer of funds notice to the client promptly after each transfer.
- 4.) The client can terminate or change the instruction to the qualified custodian at any time.
- 5.) Mentor Capital Management Inc. has no authority or ability to designate or change the identity of the third party, the address, or any other information about the third party contained in the client's instruction.

- 7.) The client's qualified custodian sends the client, in writing, an initial notice confirming the instruction and an annual notice reconfirming the instruction.

Mentor Capital Management Inc. is also considered to have custody of client funds or securities if the client authorizes Mentor Capital Management Inc. to withdraw advisory fees from client account(s).

Although for this purpose Mentor Capital Management Inc. is deemed to have custody of client funds or securities, Mentor Capital Management Inc. abides by the following four specific conditions and therefore is not subject to the custody rule's annual surprise-exam requirement:

- 1.) Mentor Capital Management Inc. maintains all client accounts with a qualified custodian.
- 2.) Upon opening of any account, the client is notified in writing of the qualified custodian's name, address and how the funds or securities are maintained. This information is provided to the client promptly upon opening the account and following any changes.
- 3.) The qualified custodian maintaining accounts holding the client's funds or securities sends account statements directly to the client. The account statement is issued to each client at least quarterly showing the amount of funds; each security in the account at the end of the period must be identified. The statement must reflect all transactions, including fee payments, that occurred in the account during the time period reflected.
- 4.) Clients are urged to compare the account statements they receive from their qualified custodian with those they receive from Mentor Capital Management Inc. They should report inconsistencies or inaccuracies to Mentor Capital Management Inc. immediately.

For all other purposes, Mentor Capital Management Inc. is not considered to have custody of client funds or securities.

C. Professional certifications

Certified Financial Planner – The Certified Financial Planner, CFP and federally registered CFP (with flame design) marks (collectively, the “CFP marks”) are professional certification marks granted in the United States by Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. (“CFP Board”).

The CFP certification is a voluntary certification; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients. Currently, more than 62,000 individuals have obtained CFP certification in the United States.

To be granted the right to use the CFP marks, an individual must satisfactorily fulfill the following requirements:

- Education – Complete an advanced college-level course of study addressing the financial planning subject areas that CFP Board’s studies have determined as necessary for the competent and professional delivery of financial planning services, and receive a bachelor’s degree from a regionally accredited United States college or university (or its equivalent from a foreign university). CFP Board’s financial planning subject areas include insurance planning and risk management, employee benefits planning, investment planning, income tax planning, retirement planning, and estate planning;

- Examination – Pass a comprehensive CFP Certification Examination. The examination, administered in 10 hours over a two-day period, includes case studies and client scenarios designed to test one’s ability to correctly diagnose financial planning issues and apply one’s knowledge of financial planning to real world circumstances;
- Experience – Complete at least three years of full-time financial planning-related experience (or the equivalent, measured as 2,000 hours per year); and
- Ethics – Agree to be bound by CFP Board’s Standards of Professional Conduct, a set of documents outlining the ethical and practice standards for CFP professionals.

Individuals who become certified must complete the following ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP marks:

- Continuing Education – Complete 30 hours of continuing education hours every two years, including two hours on the Code of Ethics and other parts of the Standards of Professional Conduct, to maintain competence and keep up with developments in the financial planning field; and
- Ethics – Renew an agreement to be bound by the Standards of Professional Conduct. The Standards prominently require that CFP professionals provide financial planning services at a fiduciary standard of care. This means CFP professionals must provide financial planning services in the best interests of their clients.

CFP professionals who fail to comply with the above standards and requirements may be subject to the CFP Board’s enforcement process, which could result in suspension or permanent revocation of their CFP certification.

E. Performance-based fees

Mentor Capital Management Inc. does not charge fees based on portfolio performance, because performance-based compensation may create an incentive for the adviser to recommend an investment that may carry a higher degree of risk to the client.
