Item 4 | Advisory Business

Viable is a registered investment adviser located in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Viable has been providing investment advisory services since 2022. The principal owner is Paul Savini, CFP®. Viable provides financial planning, investment advisory, insurance consultancy and retirement plan advisory services. The firm offers its services to individuals, families, businesses, trusts and charitable organizations.

DESCRIPTION OF SERVICES AND FEES

Financial Planning

Viable may provide its clients broad or focused financial planning and consulting services on topics including but not limited to Investments, Insurance, Education Funding, Cash Flow, Estate, Tax, and Retirement. Viable relies on the information received from clients and their professional advisers and does not independently verify any information received. At no time is the client ever under an obligation to act upon the financial planning recommendations, and if they do act upon the recommendations from Viable, they retain absolute discretion as to who or what firm they implement them with. Clients retain the responsibility to promptly notify Viable if anything in their financial situation changes that may affect previously made financial planning recommendations.

Investment Advisory

When we perform investment advisory services, we will do so on a discretionary basis. This means that while we will continue an ongoing relationship with each client, we will not seek specific approval of changes to the securities in client accounts. Clients can always make deposits or withdrawals in their accounts at any time. Because we take discretion when managing accounts, clients engaging us will be asked to execute a Limited Power of Attorney (granting us the discretionary authority over the client accounts) as well as an agreement that outlines the responsibilities of both the client and Viable. This Limited Power of Attorney does not grant Viable the authority to make any withdrawals or transfers in or out of a client account. Such transfers will only be made at the specific direction of the client. Advisory services are tailored to the specific needs of an individual client.

Each client's portfolio will be invested according to that client's investment objectives. Viable determines these objectives with the client by conducting a thorough review of the client's current situation and understanding their personal goals and objectives. Once we ascertain your objectives for each account, we will develop a portfolio we believe will best fit your needs.

Clients may engage Viable to manage all or a portion of their assets. Viable allocates client assets primarily among multiple Exchange Traded Funds (ETF's). Viable may in certain circumstances utilize Mutual Funds, Equities, Bonds and other securities necessary to meet client's investment objectives. Viable may also direct or recommend how client's assets should be allocated in variable annuity products, employer-sponsored plans, and/or 529 plans. Clients retain the responsibility to promptly notify Viable if anything in their financial situation changes that may impact previously made investment recommendations.

Retirement Plan Advisory Services

Viable offers retirement plan investment advisory consulting services to assist plan fiduciaries to meet ERISA fiduciary responsibilities under section 404(c). Viable services include assistance in documenting a plan's Investment Policy Statement, providing an investment manager research and selection process, non-discretionary recommendations to maintain, remove or replace investment options, preparing periodic reports measuring investment performance, periodically meeting with plan fiduciaries, and providing periodic educational services to plan participants to both increase participant enrollment and promote general investment knowledge. Educational sessions will not consider the individual circumstances of plan participants and will be general in nature. Viable shall provide consulting services within the meaning of ERISA section 3(21) and as such Viable will act as the adviser making investment recommendations, but it is ultimately up to the plan sponsor to decide whether and how to implement recommendations. The details of the consulting service will be agreed upon in writing between Viable and the plan fiduciary. Also, under ERISA section 3(21), the plan participants are responsible for any individual investment selections made under the plan. Plan participants will not receive specific individual advice unless the participant has engaged Viable separately for such individual service. Viable also offers retirement plan investment management services. Viable investment management services offerings include discretionary authority to maintain, remove or replace investment options. Viable shall provide investment management services within the meaning of ERISA section 3(38) and as such Viable will exercise discretionary authority regarding the investments managed for the plan.

Department of Labor Acknowledgement of Fiduciary Duty

When we provide investment advice to you regarding your retirement plan account or individual retirement account, we are fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests, so we operate under a Department of Labor rule that requires us to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. Under this special rule's provisions, we must:

- Meet a professional standard of care when making investment recommendations (give prudent advice);
- Never put our financial interests ahead of yours when making recommendations (give loyal advice);
- Avoid misleading statements about conflicts of interest, fees, and investments;
- Follow policies and procedures designed to ensure that we give advice that is in your best interest;
- Charge no more than is reasonable for our services; and
- Give you basic information about conflicts of interest.

Viable does not participate in wrap fee programs.

As of March 28, 2024, Viable has $103,763,274 in assets under management. $103,585,074 of that amount is managed on a discretionary basis.

Item 5 | Fees and Compensation

INVESTMENT ADVISORY SERVICES

Viable charges an investment advisory fee of 1% per year on the market value of assets placed under management. Viable, in its sole discretion, may charge a higher or lower investment management fee based upon certain criteria, e.g., anticipated future assets placed under management, amount of assets to be managed, additional services provided, related accounts, account composition, or as negotiated by the client.

The annual investment advisory fee, which will be outlined in the Investment Advisory Agreement, shall be paid monthly, in arrears, based upon the average daily balance of the assets in the account during the billing period. To the extent there is cash in your account it will be included in the market value for the purpose of fee calculation. Once the fee calculation is made, we will instruct your custodian to deduct the fee from the cash balance in your account and remit to Viable. Additionally, client will receive a statement from their custodian at least quarterly showing all transactions in their account, including fee deductions. The Investment Advisory Agreement shall continue in effect until terminated by either party by giving to the other party 30 days written notice; provided that the Client may at any time, upon delivery of written notice to Viable, terminate the discretionary authority of Viable.

Clients who retain Viable on a flat fee basis for financial planning will not be charged investment advisory fees on assets placed under management. This will continue as long as assets are below the level cited in the Financial Planning Agreement. If assets exceed the agreed level for the agreed period of time, Viable will convert the client from paying flat fees to asset-based fees and forego billing under the Financial Planning Agreement.

FINANCIAL PLANNING SERVICES

Viable provides clients with comprehensive financial planning and consultation services. Viable may provide this service on a standalone basis, or bundle with investment advisory and other services. Viable sets the fee level for this service based on the clients' circumstances. Generally, the fees for this service range from $2,500 to $50,000 based on the complexity of the client's situation. The Client may terminate the Financial Planning Agreement at any time and will be billed for the hours worked up to that point, however if Client terminates this Agreement within five (5) business days of the signing of the Agreement there would be no charge.

Clients requiring additional work to develop and maintain their financial plan will be quoted a higher fee for this service. Examples of additional work include business advisory work (e.g., preparing pro-forma financial statements, business sale or succession planning), manual portfolio performance reporting and account aggregation, customized portfolio management solutions (such as direct indexing).

Prior to engaging Viable to provide financial planning and consultation services, the client will be required to enter into a Financial Planning Agreement setting forth the terms and conditions of the engagement and describing the scope of the services to be provided. Clients are advised that it remains their responsibility to promptly notify Viable if there is a material change in their financial situation or investment objectives.

Financial planning fees will be payable in monthly or quarterly installments as agreed upon between Viable and Client. Financial planning fees are due upon receipt of invoice. Payments for financial planning services may be processed through a third-party nonaffiliated service, AdvicePay. Clients will be asked to set up their bank account at AdvicePay to enable ACH payments. While AdvicePay allows us to receive payments directly from the client's bank account, it does not give us access to the bank account itself, nor to any of the client's bank account information. Viable is not able to initiate any payments via AdvicePay. Clients are not required to use AdvicePay and can elect to pay financial planning fees via check.

RETIREMENT PLAN CONSULTING SERVICES

Clients may engage Viable to provide retirement plan consulting services. The annual retirement planning consulting fee shall be based upon a percentage (%) of the market value of the assets placed under Viable's management and shall generally be 1.00%. The annual retirement plan consulting fee shall be paid monthly or quarterly, in arrears, based upon the market value of the assets on the last business day of the previous month and automatically deducted from the client's account. Either party may terminate the Retirement Plan Consulting Services Agreement upon thirty (30) days prior written notice to the other party.

OTHER COSTS

Viable will generally recommend a broker-dealer/custodian (please see Item 12 for more information about the firm's Brokerage Practices) for client's investment management assets. In addition to the investment management fee, the client may incur brokerage commissions for individual securities transactions and/or transaction fees for certain no-load mutual funds. In addition, the client will also incur charges imposed at the fund level (e.g., management fees and other fund expenses). Expenses of a fund, ETF, or separately managed account will not be included in Viable advisory fees, as they are deducted from the value of the shares by the fund manager. When selecting mutual funds that have multiple share classes for recommendation to clients, Viable will take into account the internal fees and expenses associated with each share class, and it is Viable policy to choose the lowest-cost share class, absent circumstances that dictate otherwise. For complete discussion of expenses related to each ETF or mutual fund, you should read a copy of the prospectus issued by that fund. Viable can provide or direct you to a copy of the prospectus for any fund that we recommend to you. Viable receives no financial benefit from these additional costs borne by the client. Viable does not accept compensation for the sale of securities or other investment products, including asset-based sales charges or service fees from the sale of mutual funds.

Item 6 | Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Viable does not accept performance-based fees, nor is the firm involved in side-by-side management involving performance-based fees and any other fee structure.

Item 7 | Types of Clients

Viable generally provides investment advice and financial planning for individuals, families, businesses, trusts and charitable organizations. While there is no minimum account size required to open or maintain an account with Viable, we do charge a minimum planning fee of $1,500 for our planning services. The minimum fee may be waived at the discretion of Viable.

Item 8 | Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Our firm employs a goal-based investment strategy with a strong focus on behavioral finance and asset allocation. Each client of Viable is subject to a thorough review of their investment objectives, risk tolerance, current investments, spending habits now and in the future, and past investing experiences. Once we ascertain a client's investing goals and time horizon, we align them with an investment portfolio designed to accomplish their goals within their risk parameters. Special attention is paid to explaining the risks and rewards involved when setting investment goals and how investor behavior and asset allocation will make the largest impact on overall portfolio performance.

Viable takes a top-down macroeconomic approach to designing portfolios for clients. Client portfolios initially are invested based on their risk, objectives and goals but then may be tactically tilted based on Viable's economic and market outlook. These tactical tilts are minor in nature and do not deviate largely from the overall target asset allocations. The portfolios rely on asset allocation, diversification and behavioral finance to limit volatility while still attempting to achieve client's goals.

Viable executes its investment strategy largely through Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs). The firm utilizes these passive investments due to significant cost savings, liquidity, tax efficiency and transparency. In certain situations, usually related to a tax minimization strategy, or when clients are transferring assets into Viable, we may continue to hold positions in existing mutual funds, equities, fixed income or other investment products. In certain situations, usually related to a client request, Viable will invest small portions of a client's portfolio in individual stocks or bonds.

Depending on a client's given circumstances, Viable may recommend that a client roll over retirement plan assets to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA). If a client chooses to hire Viable to manage the IRA, Viable may earn fees on those accounts. This presents a conflict of interest, as Viable has a financial incentive to recommend that a client roll over retirement assets into an IRA we will manage. This conflict is disclosed to clients verbally and in this brochure. Clients are also advised that they are under no obligation to implement the recommendation to roll over retirement plan assets. Viable attempts to mitigate this conflict by requiring that all investment recommendations have a sound basis for the recommendation, and by requiring employees to acknowledge their fiduciary responsibility toward each client.

MATERIAL RISKS INVOLVED

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. Many of these risks apply equally to stocks, bonds, commodities and any other investment or security. Material risks associated with our investment strategies are listed below.

Market Risk: Market risk involves the possibility that an investment's current market value will fall because of a general market decline, reducing the value of the investment regardless of the operational success of the issuer's operations or its financial condition.

Investment Strategy Risk: The adviser's strategy may fail to produce the intended results.

Style Risk: Any of our strategies may invest in both "value" investments and "growth" investments. With respect to securities and investments we consider undervalued, market prices may not reflect our determination that the security is undervalued, and its price may not increase to what we believe to be its full value. It may even decrease in value. With respect to "growth" investments, the underlying earnings or operational growth we anticipate may not occur, or the market price of the security may not increase as we expect it to.

Defensive Risk: To the extent that the strategy attempts to hedge its portfolio or takes defensive measures such as holding a significant portion of its assets in cash or cash equivalents, the investment objective may not be achieved.

Small and Medium Cap Company Risk: Securities of companies with small and medium market capitalizations are often more volatile and less liquid than investments in larger companies. Small and medium cap companies may face a greater risk of business failure, which could increase the volatility of the client's portfolio.

Turnover Risk: At times, the strategy may have a portfolio turnover rate that is higher than other strategies. A high portfolio turnover would result in correspondingly greater brokerage commission expenses and may result in the distribution of additional capital gains for tax purposes. These factors may negatively affect the account's performance.

Developing Market Countries: The strategies' investments in developing market countries are subject to all of the risks of foreign investing generally, and may have additional heightened risks due to a lack of established legal, political, business and social frameworks to support securities markets, including: delays in settling portfolio securities transactions; currency and capital controls; greater sensitivity to interest rate changes; pervasiveness of corruption and crime; currency exchange rate volatility; and inflation, deflation or currency devaluation.

Availability of information: Certain issuers, including municipalities, private companies, and foreign issuers may not be subject to the same disclosure, accounting, auditing and financial reporting standards and practices as companies that are publicly-listed on U.S. stock markets. Thus, there may be less information publicly available about these issuers and their current financial condition.

Limited markets: Certain securities may be less liquid (harder to sell or buy) and their prices may at times be more volatile than at other times. Under certain market conditions we may be unable to sell or liquidate investments at prices we consider reasonable or favorable, or find buyers at any price.

Concentration Risk: Certain investment strategies focus on particular asset-classes, countries, regions, industries, sectors or types of investment. From time to time these strategies may be subject to greater risk of adverse developments in such areas of focus than a strategy that is more broadly diversified across a wider variety of investments.

Interest Rate Risk: Bond (fixed income) prices generally fall when interest rates rise, and the value may fall below par value or the principal investment. The opposite is also generally true: bond prices generally rise when interest rates fall. In general, fixed income securities with longer maturities are more sensitive to these rate changes. Most other investments are also sensitive to the level and direction of interest rates.

Credit Risk: An issuer of debt securities may fail to make interest payments and repay principal when due, in whole or in part. Changes in an issuer's financial strength or in a security's credit rating may affect a security's value.

Prepayment or Call Risk: The issuer of a debt security may prepay or call the debt in whole or in part prior to the security's maturity date. We may be unable to reinvest the proceeds in a security of equivalent quality or paying a similar yield or coupon.

Trading practices: Brokerage commissions and other fees may be higher in certain markets or for foreign securities. Government supervision and regulation of foreign securities markets, currency markets, trading systems and brokers may be less than those in the U.S. stock markets. The procedures and rules governing foreign transactions and custody also may involve delays in payment, delivery or recovery of money or investments.

Legal or Legislative Risk: Legislative changes or Court rulings may impact the value of investments, or the securities' claim on the issuer's assets and finances.

Inflation: Inflation may erode the buying-power of your investment portfolio, even if the dollar value of your investments remains the same.

Risks Associated with Securities. Apart from the general risks outlined above which apply to all types of investments, specific securities may have other risks.

Municipal/Government bonds are susceptible to events in the municipality that issued the bond or the security posted for the bond. These events may include economic or political policy changes, changes in law, tax base erosion, state constitutional limits on tax increases, budget deficits or other financial difficulties, and changes in the credit rating assigned to municipal issues.

Corporate bonds may lose all value in the event of the issuer's bankruptcy or restructuring.

Common stocks may go up and down in price quite dramatically, and in the event of an issuer's bankruptcy or restructuring could lose all value. A slower-growth or recessionary economic environment could have an adverse effect on the price of all stocks.

Foreign Securities including American Depositary Receipts (ADRs) may involve more risk than investing in U.S. securities. These risks include currency exchange rates and policies; country, government or geographic risks; less favorable trading practices; lower disclosure or regulation; greater price volatility and lower liquidity.

Bank Obligations including bonds and certificates of deposit may be vulnerable to setbacks or panics in the banking industry. Banks and other financial institutions are greatly affected by interest rates and may be adversely affected by downturns in the U.S. and foreign economies or changes in banking regulations.

Annuities can have many complex features and clauses. In particular, annuity values and income may be impacted by the financial condition of the issuer.

Options and other derivatives carry many unique risks, including time-sensitivity, and can result in the complete loss of principal.

Commodities may be subject to extreme changes in price due to supply factors, changes in weather, trade impacts.

Real-Estate linked investments may be especially illiquid and subject to specific geographic risk.

Oil and Gas Interests may lose value due to changes in commodity prices, costs associated with the transport of oil/gas, seasonal factors or technological advances that impact the demand for oil and gas.

Exchange Traded Funds prices may vary significantly from the Net Asset Value due to market conditions. Certain Exchange Traded Funds may not track underlying benchmarks as expected.

Mutual Funds are meant to be long-term investments and may be subject to fees, charges or restrictions if redeemed within certain time periods as outlined in the prospectus. Proceeds from mutual fund sales may be credited with a delay. Mutual Funds are bought and sold based on a net asset value calculated at the end of each day based on end of day prices. As markets may move significantly over the course of a day, your purchase or sale price may differ significantly from intra-day prices. Mutual Funds may value illiquid portfolio holdings based on a modeled price.

Market Disruption, Health Crises, Terrorism and Geopolitical Risk: Investments are subject to the risk that war, terrorism, global health crises or similar pandemics, and other related geopolitical events increase short-term market volatility and may have adverse long-term effects on world economics and markets generally. These risks have previously led and may lead in the future to adverse effects on the value of client's investments.

Item 9 | Disciplinary Information

Neither Viable, nor any of its employees or principals has any disciplinary history to report.

Item 10 | Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Viable may recommend that a client purchase an insurance product. Accordingly, certain professionals of Viable are separately licensed as independent insurance agents. As such, these professionals may conduct insurance product transactions for Viable clients, in their capacity as licensed insurance agents, and will receive customary commissions for these transactions in addition to any compensation received in their capacity as employees of Viable. Commissions from the sale of insurance products will not be used to offset or as a credit against advisory fees. In the event that a client account managed by Viable contains any variable annuity investments for which a related person of Viable has received a commission related to its sale, Viable will not include the value of these assets in its calculation of the management fees. These professionals therefore have incentive to recommend insurance products based on the compensation to be received, rather than on a client's needs. The receipt of additional fees for insurance commissions is therefore a conflict of interest, and clients should be aware of this conflict when considering whether to engage Viable or utilize these professionals to implement any insurance recommendations. Viable attempts to mitigate this conflict of interest by disclosing the conflict to clients, and informing the clients that they are always free to purchase insurance products through other agents that are not affiliated with Viable, or to determine not to purchase the insurance product at all. Viable also attempts to mitigate the conflict of interest by requiring employees to acknowledge in the firm's Code of Ethics, their individual fiduciary duty to the clients of Viable, which requires that employees put the interests of clients ahead of their own.

Viable does not recommend or select other investment advisers for our clients.

Item 11 | Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Viable has implemented an investment policy relative to personal securities transactions. This investment policy is part of the overall Code of Ethics which serves to establish a standard of business conduct for all of Registrant's Associated Persons that is based upon fundamental principles of openness, integrity, honesty and trust, a copy of which is available upon request. In accordance with Section 204A of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, Viable maintains and enforces written policies reasonably designed to prevent the misuse of material non-public information by Viable or any person associated with Viable. Both the Code of Ethics and the Privacy Policy are incorporated into Viable's Policies and Procedures manual.

Viable does not buy or sell for client accounts, securities in which our firm or a related person has a material financial interest.

On occasion, an employee of Viable may purchase for his or her own account securities which are also recommended for clients at the same time the clients purchase the securities. The Code of Ethics details rules for employees regarding personal trading and avoiding conflicts of interest related to trading in one's own account. To avoid placing a trade before a client (in the case of a purchase) or after a client (in the case of a sale), all employee trades are reviewed by the Compliance Officer. All employee trades must either take place in the same block as a client trade or sufficiently apart in time from the client trade so the employee receives no added benefit. Employee statements are reviewed to confirm compliance with the trading procedures.

Item 12 | Brokerage Practices

THE CUSTODIANS AND BROKERS WE USE

Viable has institutional custody relationships with the following FINRA- registered broker-dealers: Charles Schwab & Co., Inc., Apex Clearing Corp. (for Altruist), Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company and State of Arkansas Broker Dealer Services, LLC (for Brighter Future Advisor 529 Plan).

Brokerage and custody services are provided by Charles Schwab. All checks are to be payable to Charles Schwab with the client's name along with their account number. Prior to engaging Viable to provide investment management services, the client is required to enter into a formal Investment Advisory Agreement with Viable setting forth the terms and conditions under which Viable shall manage the client's assets. Currently, Viable primarily allocates investment management assets among various Exchange Traded Funds, individual securities and/or bonds, on a discretionary basis, in accordance with the client's designated investment objective(s).

Viable does not maintain custody of your assets that we manage; although we may be deemed to have custody of your assets if you give us authority to withdraw assets from your account (see Item 15—Custody, below). Your assets must be maintained in an account at a "qualified custodian," generally a broker-dealer or bank. We recommend that our clients use Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (Schwab), a registered broker-dealer, member SIPC, as the qualified custodian. We are independently owned and operated and are not affiliated with Schwab.

Schwab will hold your assets in a brokerage account and buy and sell securities when we/you instruct them to. While we recommend that you use Schwab as custodian/broker, you will decide whether to do so and will open your account with Schwab by entering into an account agreement directly with them. We do not open the account for you, although we may assist you in doing so. Even though your account is maintained at Schwab, we can still use other brokers to execute trades for your account as described in the next paragraph.

HOW WE SELECT CUSTODIAN/BROKERS TO RECOMMEND

We seek to recommend a custodian/broker that will hold your assets and execute transactions on terms that are, overall, most advantageous when compared with other available providers and their services. We consider a wide range of factors, including, among others, these:

- Combination of transaction execution services and asset custody services (generally without a separate fee for custody)
- Capability to execute, clear, and settle trades (buy and sell securities for your account)

- Capability to facilitate transfers and payments to and from accounts (wire transfers, check requests, bill payment, etc.)
- Breadth of available investment products (stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds [ETFs], etc.)
- Availability of investment research and tools that assist us in making investment decisions
- Quality of services
- Competitiveness of the price of those services (commission rates, margin interest rates, other fees, etc.) and willingness to negotiate the prices
- Reputation, financial strength, and stability
- Prior service to us and our other clients
- Availability of other products and services that benefit us, as discussed below

SCHWAB, YOUR CUSTODY AND BROKERAGE COSTS

For our clients' accounts that Schwab maintains, Schwab generally does not charge you separately for custody services but is compensated by charging you commissions or other fees on trades that it executes or that settle into your Schwab account. Schwab's commission rates applicable to our client accounts were negotiated based on our commitment to maintain our client's assets at Schwab. This commitment benefits you because the overall commission rates you pay are lower than they would be otherwise. In addition to commissions, Schwab charges you a flat dollar amount as a "prime broker" or "trade away" fee for each trade that we have executed by a different broker-dealer but where the securities bought or the funds from the securities sold are deposited (settled) into your Schwab account. These fees are in addition to the commissions or other compensation you pay the executing broker-dealer. Because of this, in order to minimize your trading costs, we have Schwab execute most trades for your account. We have determined that having Schwab execute most trades is consistent with our duty to seek "best execution" of your trades. Best execution means the most favorable terms for a transaction based on all relevant factors, including those listed above.

PRODUCTS AND SERVICES AVAILABLE TO US FROM SCHWAB

Schwab Advisor Services™ (formerly called Schwab Institutional®) is Schwab's business serving independent investment advisory firms like us. They provide us and our clients with access to its institutional brokerage services - trading, custody, reporting, and related services, many of which are not typically available to Schwab retail customers. Schwab also makes available various support services. Some of those services help us manage or administer our clients' accounts; while others help us manage and grow our business. Schwab's support services are generally available on an unsolicited basis and at no charge to us. The following is a more detailed description of Schwab's support services:

Services that benefit you. Schwab's institutional brokerage services include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions, and custody of client assets. The investment products available through Schwab include some to which we might not otherwise have access or that would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment by our clients. Schwab's services described in this paragraph generally benefit you and your account.

Services that may not directly benefit you. Schwab also makes available to us other products and services that benefit us but may not directly benefit you or your account. These products and services assist us in managing and administering our clients' accounts. They include investment research, both Schwab's own and that of third parties. We may use this research to service all or a substantial number of our clients' accounts, including accounts not maintained at Schwab. In addition to investment research, Schwab also makes available software and other technology that:

- Provide access to client account data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements)
- Facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts
- Provide pricing and other market data
- Facilitate payment of our fees from our clients' accounts
- Assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting

Services that generally benefit only us. Schwab also offers other services intended to help us manage and further develop our business enterprise. These services include:

- Educational conferences and events
- Consulting on technology, compliance, legal, and business needs
- Publications and conferences on practice management and business succession
- Access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants, and insurance providers

Schwab may provide some of these services itself. In other cases, it will arrange for third-party vendors to provide the services to us. Schwab may also discount or waive its fees for some of these services or pay all or a part of a third party's fees. Schwab may also provide us with other benefits, such as occasional business entertainment of our personnel.

OUR INTEREST IN SCHWAB'S SERVICES

The availability of these services from Schwab benefits us because we do not have to produce or purchase them. We don't have to pay for Schwab's services. These services are not contingent upon us committing any specific amount of business to Schwab in trading commissions or assets in custody. We may have an incentive to recommend that you maintain your account with Schwab, based on our interest in receiving Schwab's services that benefit our business rather than based on your interest in receiving the best value in custody services and the most favorable execution of your transactions. This is a potential conflict of interest. We believe, however, that our selection of Schwab as custodian and broker is in the best interests of our clients. Our selection is primarily supported by the scope, quality, and price of Schwab's services (see "How we select brokers/ custodians") and not Schwab's services that benefit only us.

Transactions for each client account generally will be affected independently, unless Viable decides to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time. Viable may (but is not obligated to) combine or "batch" such orders to obtain "best execution", to negotiate more favorable commission rates, or to allocate equitably among client's accounts differences in prices and commissions or other transaction costs that might have been obtained had such orders been placed independently. Under this procedure, transactions will be averaged as to price and will be allocated among client's accounts in proportion to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client account on any given day. To the extent that Viable determines to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which Viable's principals and/or associated persons may invest, they shall generally do so in accordance with the parameters set forth in SEC No-Action Letter, SMC Capital, Incorporated. Viable shall not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of the aggregation.

Item 13 | Review of Accounts

For those clients to whom Viable provides discretionary investment supervisory services and ongoing financial planning services, reviews are conducted on an ongoing basis but never less than monthly by Viable's owner Paul Savini. Additionally, client-imposed restrictions will be reviewed to confirm that they are being enforced. Events that may trigger a special review would be unusual performance, addition or deletions of client-imposed restrictions, excessive draw-down, volatility in performance, or buy and sell decisions from the firm or per client's needs. All clients are advised that it remains their responsibility to advise Viable of any changes in their investment objectives and/or financial situation. All clients are encouraged to review financial planning issues, investment objectives and account holdings with Viable at least on an annual basis.

Clients will receive trade confirmations from the broker(s) for each transaction in their accounts as well as monthly or quarterly statements and annual tax reporting statements from their custodian showing all activity in the accounts, such as receipt of dividends and interest.

Item 14 | Client Referrals & Other Compensation

Viable does not have any referral arrangements with any brokerage firms. Please refer to Item 12, where we discuss recommendation of Broker-Dealers.

Viable may refer clients to other service professionals if requested or deemed necessary, based on the specific needs of the client. For example, Viable may refer clients to legal counsel or accountants. It is possible that these professionals may, in turn, make referrals of their clients seeking investment advice and/or financial planning to Viable. There is no compensation paid by either party for such referrals. Viable does not accept or allow our related-persons to accept any form of compensation, including cash, sales awards or other prizes, from a non-client in conjunction with the services we provide to our clients.

Viable does not currently engage independent solicitors to provide client referrals. If a client is referred to us by a solicitor, this practice will be disclosed to the client in writing by the solicitor and Viable pays the solicitor out of its own funds—specifically, through a portion of the advisory fees earned for managing the assets of the client referred. The use of solicitors is regulated under applicable federal and state law. Viable’s policy is to fully comply with the requirements of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended, and similar state rules, as applicable.

Item 15 | Custody

Viable does not maintain physical custody of client assets however may be deemed to have custody through the debiting of client fees and the use of standing letters of authorization (SLOAs). To mitigate custody, the firm possesses written authorization from Clients to deduct advisory fees from their account, sends the custodian written notice of the amount of the fee to be deducted from Client’s account and provides to the Client a written invoice itemizing the fee, including the formula used to calculate the fee, the time period covered by the fee and the amount of assets under management on which the fee was based. Clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets. Viable may also provide quarterly account performance statements in addition to those provided by the account custodian/broker-dealer. We urge the client to carefully review their custodial statements and compare to the account statements or reports that we may provide to you. Our statements or reports may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities. Please alert us of any discrepancies.

Clients may authorize Viable to make fund transfers between their own accounts and to specific third parties on their behalf with a Standing Letter of Authorization (SLOA). Such instructions are established in writing with the qualified custodian and include either the client’s electronic or physical signature, the name and either the address or account number of any third party to which transfers should be directed, and whether the transfers should take place on a schedule or from time to time. Clients have the ability to change or terminate such instructions at any time. Viable intends to comply with the safeguards described in the Pennsylvania Department of Banking and Securities Position on Custody Requirements for Investment Advisers dated June 17, 2019.

At no time will Viable require prepayment of a fee more than six months in advance and in excess of $1,200.

Item 16 | Investment Discretion

Investment management services will be provided on a “discretionary” basis. When Viable is engaged to provide investment management services on a discretionary basis, Viable monitors accounts to ensure they meet the client’s asset allocation requirements. If any changes are needed to the investments, Viable makes the changes. These changes may involve selling a security or group of securities and buying others or keeping the proceeds in cash. Clients may, at any time, place restrictions on either the types of investments that Viable purchases on their behalf or on the allocations to each investment type. Clients may receive at their request written or electronic confirmations from the account custodian after any changes are made to an account. Clients also receive monthly statements from the account custodian. Clients engaging Viable on a discretionary basis are asked to execute a Limited Power of Attorney (granting Viable discretionary authority over a client account) as well as an Investment Advisory Agreement (IAA) that outlines the responsibilities of both Viable and the client.

Item 17 | Voting Client Securities

Clients maintain exclusive responsibility for: (1) directing the manner in which proxies solicited by issuers of securities beneficially owned by the client shall be voted, and (2) making all elections relative to any mergers, acquisitions, tender offers, bankruptcy proceedings or other type events pertaining to the client’s investment assets. If the client would like our opinion on a particular proxy vote, they may contact us. In most cases, the client will receive proxy materials directly from the account custodian. However, in the event we were to receive any written or electronic proxy materials, we will forward them directly to the client by mail, unless the client has authorized us to contact them by electronic mail, in which case, we will forward any electronic solicitation to vote proxies.

Item 18 | Financial Information

Viable does not require any prepayment of investment advisory fees from clients, nor foresees any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair the firm’s ability to meet contractual commitments to clients. Finally, the firm has not been subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time during the past ten years.
