About Our Firm

Flywheel Private Wealth, LLC (“Flywheel”) is a registered investment advisor that provides investment management and financial advisory services to high net worth individuals, families, and associated businesses to help them achieve their financial needs and goals. Flywheel has been a registered investment advisor since 2023. The sole shareholder of Flywheel Private Wealth, LLC is the Smith Family Trust, and the Firm is managed by Brandon J. Smith.

Our firm takes pride in providing personalized service to our clients and acknowledges that it is held to a fiduciary standard of care.

Types of Advisory Services We Offer

Flywheel offers a variety of investment advisory services to high net worth individuals, trusts, estates, family entities and their associated businesses/corporations. These services include:

- Wealth Management including Investment and portfolio management.
- Selection of independent managers
- Portfolio Management Services for Wrap Fee Program

We work with our clients to determine their investment objectives and risk profile and develop and execute a customized investment plan based on their individual needs and goals. Flywheel will utilize the financial information provided by the client to analyze and develop strategies and solutions to assist the client in meeting their financial goals. Prior to Flywheel rendering any of the foregoing services, clients are required to enter into one or more written advisory agreements with Flywheel setting forth the relevant terms and conditions of the advisory relationship.

Flywheel may recommend other professionals to implement our recommendations or for other types of services, such as accounting firms, law firms, business consultants, life coaches and bankers. These additional services offered by another professional are provided at an additional cost to you and are separate and distinct from Flywheel’s advisory services. In some cases, this creates a conflict of interest because we will have an incentive to recommend additional services based on the prospect of cross-referrals of clients from the other professional or his or her firm.

Wealth Management Services

Flywheel manages our clients’ portfolios on a discretionary and non-discretionary basis. Our investment and portfolio management services are tailored to the needs of our clients and are based on a comprehensive understanding of each client’s current situation, past experiences, and future goals. With this acquired knowledge we create, analyze, strategize, and implement goal-oriented investment solutions. These solutions become our clients' investment policy. This policy and our matched strategies are designed to be risk appropriate, cost effective and tax efficient.

Our investment and wealth management services generally include a broad range of comprehensive financial planning and/or consulting services, as well as discretionary and non-discretionary management of investment portfolios.

Client assets are primarily allocated among individual equity and debt securities, exchange-traded funds ("ETFs"), mutual funds, and independent investment managers ("Investment Managers") in accordance with the client's stated investment objective and risk/volatility parameters. Where appropriate, Flywheel may also provide advice about many types of legacy positions or other investments held in client portfolios. Clients may also engage Flywheel to manage and/or advise on certain investment products that are not maintained at their primary custodian, such as variable life insurance and annuity contracts and assets held in employer sponsored retirement plans and qualified tuition plans (i.e., 529 plans). In these situations, typically Flywheel will direct or make recommendations on a non-discretionary basis for the allocation of client assets among the various investment options available with the product. These assets are generally maintained at the underwriting insurance company or custodian for the plan trustee or administrator and clients retain responsibility for effecting trades in these accounts.

Flywheel consults with clients on an initial and ongoing basis to assess their specific risk tolerance, time horizon, liquidity constraints and other related factors relevant to the management of their portfolios. You should promptly notify us if there are changes in your financial situation or if you wish to place any limitations on the management of your account. You may impose reasonable restrictions or mandates on the management of your account if Flywheel determines, in our sole discretion, the conditions will not materially impact the performance of a management strategy or prove overly burdensome to the firm's management efforts.

To the extent a client's assets are managed by an Independent Manager or are invested in a particular fund, those managers and funds will have their own investment practices. Those investment practices are described in each manager's Form ADV or fund's prospectus, or in its offering or other disclosure documents. In addition, selected money managers or funds typically have discretion to determine the type, and amount, of securities to be purchased or sold for the portion of the assets managed by the money manager or fund.

Selection of Independent Managers

As part of our selection of independent managers, we offer:

- Manager due diligence
- Manager search and recommendations
- Monitoring of manager risk and performance

Flywheel may select certain Independent Managers to actively manage all or a portion of its clients' assets. Pursuant to the terms of the investment advisory agreement, Flywheel shall have the discretion to appoint and terminate these third-party advisors. The specific terms and conditions under which a client engages an Independent Manager may also be set forth in a separate written agreement with the designated Independent Manager. In addition to this brochure, clients will also receive the written disclosure documents of the respective Independent Managers engaged to manage their assets. Certain Independent Managers require a separate investment advisory agreement with the Independent Manager, while others do not. Flywheel evaluates a variety of information about Independent Managers, which may include the Independent Managers' public disclosure documents, materials supplied by the Independent Managers themselves and other third-party analyses it believes are reputable. To the extent possible, Flywheel seeks to assess the Independent Managers' investment strategies, past performance, and risk results in relation to its clients' individual portfolio allocations and risk exposure. Flywheel also takes into consideration each Independent Manager's management style, returns, reputation, financial strength, reporting, pricing, and research capabilities, among other factors.

Independent Managers utilized by Flywheel include:

- Unified managed account managers and a mutual fund advisory program available through Wells Fargo Advisors.

Flywheel continues to provide services relative to the discretionary or non-discretionary selection of the Independent Managers. On an ongoing basis, Flywheel monitors the performance of those accounts being managed by Independent Managers. Flywheel seeks to ensure the Independent Managers' strategies and target allocations remain aligned with clients' investment objectives and overall best interests.

Portfolio Management Services for Wrap Fee Program

Flywheel offers portfolio management services through a wrap fee program. A bundled or "wrap fee" program is an advisory fee program under which you pay one bundled fee to compensate Flywheel for portfolio management, transaction costs and custodial services. A wrap fee program may not be the lowest cost option if you would like to restrict your investments to open-end mutual funds or other long-term investment products. See form ADV Part 2A Appendix 1: Wrap Fee Brochure for further information regarding Flywheel's Wrap Fee Program

Amount of Assets We Manage

As of December 31, 2023, Flywheel manages approximately $290,470,615 in regulatory assets under management. $258,476,131 in assets are managed discretionarily, and $31,994,484 in assets are managed non-discretionary. In addition to assets under management, Flywheel maintains approximately $49,962,002 in assets under advisement.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

How We Are Compensated for Our Advisory Services

Our fees vary among the different types of advisory services we offer and may be negotiated at our sole discretion. The specific fees and manner in which fees are charged and calculated are described in your investment advisory agreement. You should carefully review the investment advisory agreement prior to signing it.

Fees for our advisory services may be higher than fees charged by other advisors who offer similar services. You may be charged different fees than similarly situated clients for the same services. You should carefully review this, and any other brochure to understand the fees and other sources of compensation that exist among our services prior to entering into an investment advisory contract with our firm. In certain circumstances, all fees are negotiable.

Wealth Management Services

Fees for investment and wealth management services are generally billed in advance each calendar quarter based on the market value of the assets under management/advisement on the last day of the previous calendar quarter. For investment and portfolio management services Flywheel provides to certain clients, or for specific client holdings (e.g., held-away assets, 529 plans, etc.), we may negotiate a fee rate that differs from our standard fee.

Our fee schedule is as follows:

Maximum Annual Advisory Fee
1.50%

Existing clients will be grandfathered and charged according to their existing fee rate. You should refer to your advisory agreement for your specific fee rate(s).

Selection of Other Independent Managers

Fees for other Independent Managers used to manage all or a portion of a client's account are set forth by the Independent Manager and may be included or in addition to Flywheel's fees. You should refer to the Independent Manager's Form ADV Part 2A Brochure for information on their fees and compensation.

Programs Offered Through Wells Fargo Advisors

Fees for advisory programs offered through Wells Fargo Advisors are inclusive of Flywheel's and Wells Fargo Advisors' advisory fees and are as follows:

Program	Program Type	Maximum Annual Advisory Fee
Private Advisor Network	Separately Managed Account	$0 - $500,000: 1.75% Next $500,000: 1.50% Next $4,000,000: 1.25% Above $5,000,000: Negotiable
Personalized Unified Managed Account	Unified Managed Account	1.75%
FundSource®	Mutual Fund Advisory Program	1.50%

You should refer to your advisory agreement for your specific fee rate(s).

Wells Fargo Advisors will calculate and directly debit advisory fees from the clients' accounts for assets within their programs. The value of assets held in any Wells Fargo Advisor program are included in the amount of total household assets used to determine Flywheel's advisory fees for other assets of a client that are managed by Flywheel. More information regarding the Wells Fargo programs can be found in disclosure document ADV Part 2, Appendix 1 – Wrap Brochure

Payment of Fees

Fees for our advisory services generally require you to pay investment advisory fees in advance of receiving services. Any pre-paid, unearned fees will be promptly refunded. Clients authorize Flywheel to instruct the account custodian to directly debit fees from the client's account. Accounts initiated or terminated during a calendar quarter will be charged a prorated fee. If you withdraw or add more than $100,000 to your account throughout the quarter, advisory fees will be prorated based on the number of days in the quarter services were received or the assets were under Flywheel's management.

- For wealth management services, refunds are calculated by taking the total advisory fee billed for the calendar quarter, dividing that amount by the number of days in the calendar quarter and multiplying that amount by the number of days services were not provided during the calendar quarter.
- For Independent Managers, the Independent Manager determines the manner in which advisory fees are billed (in advance or arrears). You should refer to the manager's Form ADV Part 2A Brochure for additional information on how fees are paid for their services.

Other Types of Fees and Expenses You May Incur

Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third-party investments and other third parties, such as fees charged by Independent Managers, custodial fees, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Decisions to reallocate your account assets may result in you incurring a redemption fee imposed by one or more mutual funds held in your account. Mutual funds and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to Flywheel's fee. Flywheel shall not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs, including any distribution or "12b-1" fees paid by the mutual funds in which your account assets are invested.

Other Types of Compensation We Receive

Flywheel has contracted with Trade-PMR, Inc. ("Trade-PMR") for brokerage services, including trade processing, collection of management fees, marketing assistance and research. Item 12 – Brokerage Practices further describes the factors that Flywheel considers in selecting or recommending broker-dealers for client transactions and determining the reasonableness of their compensation (e.g., commissions).

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Flywheel does not charge any performance-based fees or participate in side-by-side management.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

Flywheel provides investment advisory services to high net worth individuals and their families, related companies, trusts, estates and family entities.

Flywheel generally requires a minimum initial investment of $3,000,000 for wealth management services. The firm, in its sole discretion, will accept clients based upon each client's particular circumstances.

Certain Independent Managers may impose more restrictive account requirements than Flywheel. In such instances, Flywheel may alter its corresponding account requirements to accommodate those of the Independent Managers.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies

Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

Flywheel carefully constructs a risk-adjusted, tax-efficient, and cost-effective asset allocation strategy based on a client's unique risk profile, time horizon, cash flow needs and stated return, among other considerations. Security selection is based on qualitative, quantitative, technical, and relative strength metrics. Portfolio holdings are constantly monitored and adjusted as market conditions and our clients' circumstances dictate. Clients may hold or retain other types of assets as well and Flywheel may offer advice regarding those various assets as part of our services. Advice regarding such assets generally will not involve asset management services.

Flywheel predominantly utilizes a combination of active and passive strategies to allocate client assets primarily among publicly traded securities, such as stocks, bonds, ETFs, mutual funds and/or separately managed portfolios. Nevertheless, individual client circumstances may dictate the use of other types of securities, options or actively managed portfolios. Depending upon the client's financial needs, strategies implemented might include long term purchases (securities held at least a year), short term purchases (securities sold within a year), margin transactions, and other securities transactions.

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear. All investments present the risk of loss of principal – the risk that the value of securities (e.g., stocks, mutual funds, ETFs, bonds, etc.), when sold or otherwise disposed of, may be less than the price paid for the securities. Even when the value of the securities when sold is greater than the price paid, there is the risk that the appreciation will be less than inflation. In other words, the purchasing power of the proceeds may be less than the purchasing power of the original investment. There is no guarantee that investment recommendations made by Flywheel will be successful. We cannot assure that your account will increase, preserve capital, or generate income, nor can we assure that your investment objectives will be realized. Although all investments involve risk, our investment advice seeks to limit risk through diversification among various asset classes.

We may recommend a variety of security types for your account in an effort to achieve your individual needs and goals. This may include, but is not limited to, stocks, bonds, ETFs, open-end and closed-end mutual funds, options, advisory accounts or real estate investment trusts.

Described below are the material risks associated with investing in the types of securities we generally use in client accounts:

Equity Securities

In general, prices of equity securities (common, convertible preferred stocks and other securities whose values are tied to the price of stocks, such as rights, warrants and convertible debt securities) are more volatile than those of fixed-income securities. The prices of equity securities could decline in value if the issuer's financial condition declines or in response to overall market and economic conditions. Investments in smaller companies and mid-size companies may involve greater risk and price volatility than investments in larger, more mature companies.

Fixed-Income Securities

The return and principal value of bonds fluctuate with changes in market conditions. Fixed-income securities are subject to interest rate risk and credit quality risk. The market value of fixed-income securities generally declines when interest rates rise, and an issuer of fixed-income securities could default on its payment obligations. Changes in interest rates generally have a greater effect on bonds with longer maturities than on those with shorter maturities. If bonds are not held to maturity, they may be worth more or less than their original value. Credit risk refers to the possibility that the issuer of a bond will not be able to make principal and/or interest payments. High yield bonds, also known as "junk bonds," carry higher risk of loss of principal and income than higher rated investment grade bonds.

Exchange-Traded Funds (ETFs)

ETFs are typically investment companies that are legally classified as open-end mutual funds or unit investment trusts. ETFs differ from traditional mutual funds in that ETF shares are listed on a securities exchange. Shares can be bought and sold throughout the trading day like shares of other publicly traded companies. ETF shares may trade at a discount or premium to their net asset value. This difference between the bid price and ask price is often referred to as the "spread." The spread varies over time based on the ETF's trading volume and market liquidity. It is generally lower if the ETF has high trading volume and market liquidity and higher if the ETF has low trading volume and market liquidity. Liquidity risks are higher for ETFs with a large spread. ETFs may be closed and liquidated at the discretion of the issuing company.

Mutual Funds

Mutual funds may invest in different types of securities, such as value or growth stocks, real estate investment trusts, corporate bonds, or U.S. government bonds. There are risks associated with each asset class.

An investment in a money market fund is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other governmental agency. Although money market funds seek to preserve the value of your investment at $1.00 per share, it is possible to lose money by investing in the fund.

Redemption is at the current net asset value, which may be more or less than the original cost.

Aggressive growth funds are most suitable for investors willing to accept price per share volatility since many companies that demonstrate high growth potential can also be high risk. Income from tax-free mutual funds may be subject to local, state and/or the alternative minimum tax.

Because each mutual fund owns different types of investments, performance will be affected by a variety of factors. The value of your investment in a mutual fund will vary from day to day as the values of the underlying investments in a fund vary. Such variations generally reflect changes in interest rates, market conditions and other company and economic news. These risks may become magnified depending on how much a fund invests or uses certain strategies. A fund's principal market segment(s), such as large-cap, mid-cap or small-cap stocks, or growth or value stocks may underperform other market segments or the equity markets as a whole.

You can find additional information regarding these risks in the fund's prospectus.

International Investing

The risks of investing in foreign securities include loss of value as a result of political or economic instability; nationalization, expropriation or confiscatory taxation; changes in foreign exchange rates and foreign exchange restrictions; settlement delays; and limited government regulation (including less stringent reporting, accounting, and disclosure standards than are required of U.S. companies). These risks may be greater with investments in emerging markets. Certain investments utilized by Flywheel may also contain international securities.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

A portion of your assets may be invested in cash or cash equivalents to achieve your investment objective, provide ongoing distributions, and/or take a defensive position. Cash holdings may result in a loss of market exposure.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

As a registered investment advisor, Flywheel is required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of our firm or the integrity of our management. Flywheel has no disciplinary information to report.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Flywheel nor any of its supervised persons maintain affiliated entities or are active in financial industry activities outside of Flywheel Private Wealth Management.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Our Code of Ethics

Flywheel is committed to providing investment advice with the utmost professionalism and integrity. Our firm strives to identify, manage, and/or mitigate conflicts of interest and has adopted policies, procedures, and oversight mechanisms to address conflicts of interest. We have adopted a Code of Ethics that emphasizes our fiduciary obligation to put client interests first. It is designed to ensure personal securities transactions, activities, and interests of employees will not interfere with the responsibility to make decisions in the best interest of clients. All supervised persons of our firm must acknowledge and comply with our Code of Ethics. We will provide a copy of our Code of Ethics to any client or prospective client upon request.

Participation in Client Transactions

Flywheel does not affect principal or agency cross securities transactions for client accounts. Flywheel also does not cross trades between client accounts. Principal transactions are generally defined as transactions where an advisor, acting as principal for its own account or the account of an affiliated broker-dealer, buys from or sells a security to an advisory client. An agency cross transaction is defined as a transaction where a person acts as an investment advisor in relation to a transaction in which the investment advisor, or any person controlled by or under common control with the investment advisor, acts as broker for both the advisory client and for another person on the other side of the transaction. Agency cross transactions may arise where an advisor is dually registered as a broker-dealer or has an affiliated broker-dealer.

Employee Personal Trading

Supervised persons of Flywheel may purchase or sell the same security that we recommend for investment in client accounts. This creates a conflict of interest as there is a possibility that employees of our firm might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by the employee. Our Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of the employees of Flywheel will not interfere with making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts. Under the Code of Ethics, certain classes of securities have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would not materially interfere with the best interest of Flywheel's clients. Our Code of Ethics also places restrictions on our employees' personal trading activities. These restrictions include, but are not limited to, a prohibition on trading based on non-public information and pre-clearance requirements for certain types of transactions. Employee trading is continually monitored under the Code of Ethics in an effort to prevent conflicts of interest between Flywheel and our clients.

Certain affiliated accounts may trade in the same securities with client accounts on an aggregated basis when consistent with Flywheel's obligation of best execution. In such circumstances, the affiliated and client accounts will share commission costs equally and receive securities at a total average price. Flywheel will retain records of the trade order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation, which will be completed prior to the entry of the aggregated order. Completed orders will be allocated as specified in the initial trade order. Partially filled orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions will be explained on the order.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

Selection and Recommendation of Broker-Dealers

Though Flywheel recommends brokers with which we have negotiated pricing on behalf of our clients, we do not have discretionary authority to select brokers. We endeavor to recommend broker-dealers that will provide the best services at the lowest commission rates possible. The reasonableness of commissions is based on the broker's ability to provide professional services, competitive commission rates, research and other services that will help our firm provide investment management services to clients. Flywheel may recommend brokers who provide useful research and securities transaction services even though a lower commission may be charged by a broker who offers no research services and minimal securities transaction assistance.

We have negotiated competitive pricing and services with Trade-PMR, Inc. ("Trade-PMR) for brokerage back-office and trade execution services. Trade-PMR clears trades and custodies assets at First Clearing Corp. ("FCC"). First Clearing Corp. is a trade name used by Wells Fargo Clearing Services, LLC., a non-bank affiliate of Wells Fargo & Company. Trade-PMR and FCC are members of SIPC and are unaffiliated registered broker-dealers and FINRA members. The brokerage commissions and/or transaction fees charged by the broker-dealer are included in Flywheel's advisory fee. Flywheel regularly reviews the reasonableness of the compensation received by the broker-dealers used for executing client transactions in an effort to ensure that our clients receive favorable execution consistent with our fiduciary duty. Factors which Flywheel considers in recommending broker-dealers to clients include, but is not limited to, their respective financial strength, reputation, execution, pricing, research, and service. The commissions and/or transaction fees charged by these brokers may be higher or lower than those charged by other broker-dealers.

The commissions paid by Flywheel's clients are intended to be consistent with our duty to obtain "best execution." However, a client may pay a commission that is higher than what another qualified broker-dealer might charge to affect the same transaction when Flywheel determines, in good faith, that the commission is reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services received. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a broker-dealer's services, including among others, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Consistent with the foregoing, while Flywheel will seek competitive rates, it may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for client transactions.

Independent Managers selected to manage clients' assets will generally also request the discretion to select brokers and negotiate commissions on behalf of a client. Flywheel will not have control over trading execution by such managers. Clients should review the Form ADV disclosure documents of such managers regarding their trading practices.

Products & Services Available to Us from Broker-Dealers

The broker-dealers and custodians we recommend to clients provide Flywheel with access to institutional trading and custody services, which are typically not available to retail investors. These brokerage and custodial services include the execution of securities transactions, custody, research, and access to mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise generally available only to institutional investors or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment. Other benefits we may receive include receipt of duplicate client confirmations and bundled duplicate statements; access to a trading desk that exclusively services its participants; access to block trading, which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions and then allocate the appropriate shares to client accounts; and access to an electronic communication network for client order entry and account information.

Research and Other Soft Dollar Benefits

Flywheel does not participate in soft-dollar relationships.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

When recommending broker-dealers for the execution of client securities transactions, Flywheel does not consider whether we will receive any client referrals from the broker-dealer or any other third-party.

Directed Brokerage

As Flywheel will not request the discretionary authority to determine the broker-dealer to be used or the commission rates to be paid, clients must direct Flywheel as to the broker-dealer to be used. The commissions and transaction fees charged by these broker-dealers could be higher or lower than those charged by other custodians and broker-dealers. When directing the use of a particular broker-dealer, it should be understood that Flywheel will not have authority to negotiate commissions among various broker-dealers or obtain volume discounts. As such, best execution may not be achieved. Not all investment advisors require clients to direct the use of specific broker-dealers

Aggregation of Orders

The blocking of trades permits the trading of aggregate blocks of securities composed of assets from multiple client accounts where transaction costs are shared equally and on a pro-rated basis between all accounts included in the block. Flywheel client accounts are managed independently according to the clients risk tolerance, goals and time horizon and other needs. As such, there is seldomly opportunities to aggregate client orders. Flywheel will block trades where possible and when advantageous to clients. Certain trades will be effected independently when aggregating the transaction with other client transactions is not possible or advantageous to clients. Block trading allows us to execute equity or fixed income trades in a timely, equitable manner and to reduce overall commission charges to clients.

Clients who do not provide Flywheel with discretion will not participate in block trades, and their trades in similar securities will be placed with brokers after trades for discretionary accounts. Accounts owned by supervised persons of our firm may participate in block trading with your accounts; however, these individuals will not be given preferential treatment of any kind.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Accounts at Flywheel are reviewed on a periodic, and at least annual basis. This informal review includes assessing client goals and objectives, monitoring the account, and addressing the need to rebalance, as necessary. Individual securities held in client accounts are periodically monitored by the firm, while any selected third-party managers are monitored on a quarterly basis. Accounts are reviewed in the context of each client's stated investment objectives and guidelines. More frequent reviews may be triggered by material changes to a client's individual circumstances, market conditions, tax law changes or the political or economic environment.

Flywheel may also review tax-planning needs, cash-flow needs, as well as charitable giving, insurance, and estate planning as part of our ongoing client reviews. Reviews are tailored to the services we provide to you, as well as your individual needs and goals. We encourage you to discuss your needs, goals, and objectives with us and keep us informed of any changes. If you engage our firm for ongoing wealth management investment advisory services, we will contact you at least annually to determine whether there have been any changes to your financial situation or investment objectives and whether you wish to impose any reasonable restrictions on the management of your account or reasonably modify any existing restrictions. At this time, we will advise you of any account changes we feel are necessary to help you stay on track with meeting your financial goals and consider whether the current services provided by our firm continue to be suitable for your needs.

As a convenience to our clients, in addition to reporting on clients' financial assets, at a client's request we may prepare a performance report for the client's accounts or a global consolidated report that may also include certain non-financial assets (e.g., real assets). In such instances, Flywheel relies on the client to provide current and accurate price or other valuation information for those assets to be included in the client's consolidated account report. In no instance are non-financial assets included in any performance reporting. Flywheel does not independently verify, and expressly disclaims responsibility for, the accuracy of any non-financial asset values clients provided to us to include in their reporting.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Other Compensation Arrangements

Flywheel receives compensation from the broker-dealer used for your account and your account custodian in the form of access to electronic systems that assist us in the management of client accounts, as well as research, software and other technology that provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements), pricing information and other market data, facilitate trade execution (and allocation of aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts), and client reporting capabilities. Your account custodian also offers us discounts for products and services offered by vendors and third-party service providers, such as software and technology solutions. These economic benefits create a conflict of interest in that it gives our firm an incentive to recommend one broker-dealer or custodian over another that does not provide similar electronic systems, support, or services. We address this conflict of interest by disclosing to our clients the types of compensation that our firm receives so clients can consider this when evaluating our firm. It is important that you consider the fees, level of service and investment strategies, among other factors, when selecting an investment manager.

Client Referrals

Flywheel does not pay any referral fees to other individuals for referring clients to our firm.

Item 15 – Custody

When you establish a relationship with our firm for investment management services, your assets will be maintained by a bank, broker -dealer, mutual fund transfer agent or other such institution deemed a 'qualified custodian' by the SEC. We rely on the custodian to price and value assets, execute and clear transactions, maintain custody of assets in your account and perform other custodial functions. Flywheel does not maintain physical possession of any client account assets. Clients' assets must be held by a bank, broker dealer, mutual fund transfer agent or other such institution deemed a qualified custodian. We utilize FCC as the qualified custodian for client accounts and fees are directly debited from those accounts.

You will receive monthly and/or quarterly account statements directly from the qualified custodian. Flywheel may also provide you with periodic written performance reports for your account. We urge you to carefully review your account statements and compare the account balances with the balances reflected on any performance report you may receive from our firm for accuracy. Balances on our reports may vary slightly from custodial statements due to differences in accounting procedures, reporting dates, valuation methodologies of certain securities or other operational factors. You should promptly notify us if you do not receive account statements from your custodian at least quarterly or if you believe the information on your account statements is inaccurate.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

Flywheel typically has investment discretion over clients' securities accounts. Investment discretion is the authority to determine the securities or other assets to purchase or sell on behalf of an account. Investment discretion may also include the authority to select or terminate a third-party asset manager. This authority is exercised in a manner consistent with your stated investment objective for the particular account. You must provide written authorization to our firm before we can assume discretionary authority over your account. Any investment guidelines or restrictions you would like to place on your account must be provided to Flywheel in writing.

Clients that wish to maintain discretion over their accounts should understand that Flywheel cannot effect any account transactions without first obtaining your consent.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

As a matter of policy and practice, Flywheel does not have any authority to and does not vote proxies on behalf of clients. Clients are responsible for all decisions concerning the voting of proxies for securities held in their accounts.

Flywheel has no responsibility to render legal advice or take any legal action on behalf of clients relating to class action lawsuits and related settlements. Clients are responsible for retaining their own legal counsel to assist with such matters, when necessary.

Flywheel has instructed its Custodian to forward copies of all proxies and shareholder communications relating to the assets in clients' accounts, including information concerning legal proceedings or corporate actions. The Custodian, and not Adviser, is responsible for timely transmission of any proxy materials and shareholder communications.

Item 18 – Financial Information

As a registered investment advisor, Flywheel is required to provide you with certain financial information about our firm.

Prepayment of Fees

We do not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance.

Our Financial Condition

We do not have any financial commitment that is reasonably likely to impair our contractual commitments to our clients, nor has our firm ever been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.
