This brochure provides information about the qualification and business practices of NorthStar Asset Management Company, LLC (“NorthStar”). If you have any questions about the contents of this brochure, please contact us at (484) 342-4200. The information in this brochure has not been approved or verified by the United States Securities and Exchange Commission or by any state securities authority. NorthStar’s registration with the SEC does not imply a certain level of skill or training.

Additional information about NorthStar is also available on the SEC’s website at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov.

Item 2 - Material Changes

This current Brochure dated March 2024 has been prepared in accordance with the rules promulgated by the Securities and Exchange Commission. This is an annual amendment. NorthStar Asset Management Company, LLC is the successor investment adviser to NorthStar Asset Management, LLC (CRD#: 109185/SEC#:80-57654). NorthStar Asset Management Company, LLC submitted its initial Form ADV filing January 2024. Accordingly, the material changes noted below include the changes since the last annual updating amendment prepared for the predecessor adviser during March 2023.

Item 4 – Advisory Business disclosures amended to include discussion of NorthStar Asset Management Company, LLC’s succession.

Item 5 – The fee schedule effective date was amended to reflect the date assets were transferred to NorthStar Asset Management Company, LLC from its predecessor, January 2024. Please note that there were no changes in the fee schedule that was originally effective September 2018 applicable to the predecessor, NorthStar Asset Management, LLC.

Item 5 – Disclosure added to discuss fees and potential conflicts of interest pertaining to the use of margin accounts.

You are encouraged to read this updated Brochure in its entirety.

A summary of any material changes to this and subsequent Brochures will be made available to you within 120 days of the close of our business’ fiscal year. We will also provide you with additional updates or other disclosure information at other times during the year in the event of any material changes to our business as required by applicable regulation.

You may request the most recent version of this brochure, free of charge. You may also obtain a copy by going to the SEC’s website at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov. The SEC’s website also provides information about any persons affiliated with NorthStar who are registered, or are required to be registered, as investment adviser representatives of NorthStar.

Item 4 – Advisory Business

NorthStar Asset Management Company, LLC (“NorthStar” or the “Firm”) was formed on August 17, 2023 and is the successor investment adviser to NorthStar Asset Management, LLC, a SEC registered Investment Adviser since June of 2000. As of December 31, 2023, NorthStar Asset Management, LLC managed approximately $568 million of which approximately $505 million was managed on a discretionary basis and approximately $63 million on a non-discretionary basis. On January 1, 2024, NorthStar Investment Management Company, LLC completed the purchase of the assets of NorthStar Asset Management, LLC. At the time of the purchase, the Executive Officers and other employees, service contracts, assets and performance related information of NorthStar Asset Management, LLC was transferred to NorthStar Asset Management Company, LLC.

NorthStar specializes in the individual management of portfolios for individuals, businesses and charitable organizations, and pension and profit-sharing plans on either a discretionary or non-discretionary basis.

NorthStar is a limited liability company organized under the laws of the State of Delaware. NorthStar’s only business is providing investment advisory services based on the individual needs of its clients.

NorthStar is guided by the philosophy that both the creation and preservation of wealth is best attained through a growth bias and the Firm believes that asset allocations as well as specific holdings within a portfolio are best determined by matching client objectives with their individual circumstances and risk tolerances. Investment objectives are achieved through the purchase of individual stocks and bonds, exchange traded funds, mutual funds, and other unitized investment products.

NorthStar does not participate in any wrap fee programs.

ERISA Fiduciary Services

Services are provided as a fiduciary of specifically designated ERISA plans based on applicable definitions (contained in ERISA Section 404(a), IRC §4972, the Investment Company Act of 1940 and state laws). In performing the following services, NorthStar acts as a fiduciary as defined by ERISA Section 3(21) or ERISA Section 3(38).

The services provided could include: Investment Advice to the Plan Sponsor, Preparation of the Investment Policy Statement (IPS), Investment Menu Design, Selection of a Qualified Default Investment Alternative (QDIA), Performance Monitoring, Performance Reports and Participant Advice.

When NorthStar provides investment advice to you regarding your retirement plan account, individual retirement account, or other qualified asset under ERISA, we are fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests, so NorthStar operates under a special rule that requires us to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. Clients can engage NorthStar to provide either education or recommendations with respect to qualified ERISA assets including:

- from a qualified plan to an IRA;
- from an existing third-party IRA to a NorthStar IRA;
- changing the account type of an existing NorthStar IRA;
- from a qualified plan to another qualified plan; and

- from an IRA to qualified plan rollover.

Such provisions also extend to other qualified assets such as Education Savings Accounts and retirement annuities. Clients should fully understand all of the conflicts, risks, costs & expenses, as well as potential benefits associated with moving qualified retirement assets. Clients are under no obligation to accept or follow NorthStar's recommendations. In addition to being a conflict of interest, it is also a prohibited transaction under ERISA and/or the Code when we receive compensation as a result of recommending a rollover of qualified ERISA assets. In that circumstance, we would comply with the conditions of exceptions to the prohibited transaction rules (e.g., an applicable prohibited transaction exemption such as PTE 2020-02).

Item 5 - Fees and Compensation

Fees for investment management are tiered and calculated as a percentage of assets under management. Fees generally range from .70% to 1.00% on an annual basis and are paid quarterly, in advance, based on the account's closing market value for the current quarter. Under certain circumstances fees may be negotiated and the Firm has existing agreements for certain legacy accounts where fees are lower than the published fee schedule. NorthStar does not currently have or require a minimum household size or impose a minimum fee.

In addition, some employees and their family members have accounts which pay a discounted fee or for which the fee has been waived entirely.

When valuing a security for billing, NorthStar uses that security's closing price or reported Net Asset Value as provided by an independent third party or custodian NorthStar believes to be reliable.

Fee Schedule Effective since 01/01/2024

Assets Under Management	Fee
First $2,000,000	1.00%
Next $3,000,000	0.80%
Assets over $5,000,000	0.70%

Fees are generally debited directly from client accounts, except in certain circumstances where clients are billed directly.

Important information about the deduction of management fees:

- Authorization for NorthStar to deduct fees directly from the client's account is provided within NorthStar's standard Advisory Agreement;

- While advisory fee deductions are not included on NorthStar statements, clients will receive a statement from the custodian which shows specific holdings as well as fee deduction; and
- Clients are responsible for reviewing the accuracy of the fees being billed, as the custodian will not do so.

Clients or NorthStar may cancel the investment management agreement by providing written notice to the other party. Upon such notification, any fees paid in advance will be prorated subject to the provisions within the agreement and any unearned fees returned.

Purchase and sale transactions of individual securities involve custodial charges including but not limited to agency commissions and transaction fees. These fees are charged to the client by the client's custodian and NorthStar receives no portion of these fees. All fees paid to NorthStar for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from fees and expenses charged by mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, and notes (ETFs), and other investment products that clients may hold in their accounts. Such fees and expenses are described in fund or ETF prospectuses. They will generally include a management fee and other fund or ETF expenses.

NorthStar does not purchase mutual funds with front or back-end loads, or which pay distribution fees. In the event such a mutual fund is transferred into an account, it is evaluated and may be held, for example to convert a short-term capital gain into a more favorably taxed long-term capital gain, or to defer the tax recognition of that gain to another year.

Margin Accounts

In limited instances, NorthStar may trade client accounts on margin if granted authorization. A margin account may incur margin interest which will be charged by the custodian in addition to NorthStar's advisory fee. As the advisory fees are generally based on total assets under management, the advisory fees could include securities purchased on margin held in a client's account. This creates a potential conflict of interest because the use of margin can increase the total assets under management. Clients are under no obligation to authorize NorthStar's use of margin. There may be separate agreements with clients in regard to how their specific margin balance is treated based on specific circumstances.

Cash Management

As part of the investment process, NorthStar will routinely maintain and actively manage a percentage of each client's portfolio in cash or cash equivalents. Such cash is generally used to meet short term client cash needs or may be maintained to pay for additional investments in securities as needed. Clients will pay management fees on cash assets even though they may earn little to no interest and cash and cash equivalent assets generally do not materially appreciate in value.

Item 6 - Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Performance based fees may potentially represent a conflict of interest. NorthStar does not receive performance-based fees.

Item 7 - Types of Clients

NorthStar generally provides investment advice to individuals, high net worth individuals, businesses and charitable organizations, pension and profit-sharing plans and trusts/estates and foundations. Prior to accepting and opening an account for a client, NorthStar must determine that there is a fit between the client's goals and objectives and NorthStar's philosophy and decision-making process. NorthStar does not currently have or require a minimum household size or impose a minimum fee.

Item 8 - Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

NorthStar's security analysis methods include fundamental, asset allocation and research.

NorthStar's main sources of information include financial newspapers/magazines, data services, inspections of corporate reports and activities, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, company filings (including annual reports, prospectuses, and other SEC filings) and company press releases.

NorthStar's investment advisory services include portfolio structuring, monitoring, and researching of all portfolio positions, making changes to the portfolio, providing account evaluations, and periodically conducting conferences. NorthStar utilizes a strategy of holding securities that have a growth bias, often overweighting exposures to industry sectors growing faster than the overall economy, and companies within all sectors with some combination of growth in revenues, earnings per share, dividends (or the ability to begin to pay a dividend), and overall financial strength. Our goal is to invest profits in other securities with better underlying values. Lower-quality securities are only purchased when adequate and reliable information is available, and the quantity purchased is generally limited to a minor part of the portfolio for those investors whose individual goals will tolerate such investments.

Fundamental analysis involves an examination of the fundamental financial condition and competitive position of a company. NorthStar analyzes the financial condition, capabilities of management, earnings, new products and services, as well as the company's markets and position amongst its competitors in order to determine the recommendations made to clients. The Firm also screens for companies with strong fundamentals whose shares may be trading below recent levels due to circumstances or negative investor sentiment which may be temporary in nature, and therefore provide an attractive opportunity to consider for purchase. The primary risk in using fundamental analysis is that while the overall health and position of a company may be good, market conditions may negatively impact the security.

Asset allocation optimization involves an analytical measure whereby the firm seeks to balance risk and reward by apportioning portfolio assets among various asset classes according to an individual's objectives, time horizon and risk tolerance. While NorthStar believes that this diversification affords clients an added level of protection from overexposure to any one asset class, it also subjects portfolios to multiple asset classes that may prove volatile during a given period.

Risks

Investing in securities markets involves the risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. These risks include, but are not limited to:

- Market Risk - The risk to a specific investment or portfolio that the value declines due to general market conditions not specifically related to a particular security. Examples include real or perceived adverse market conditions now or in the future, changes in the outlook for earnings and changes in interest rates or currency.
- Interest-Rate Risk - The risk that an investment's value will change due to a change in the absolute level of interest rates, in the spread between two rates, in the shape of the yield curve or in any other interest rate relationship.
- Inflation Risk - The risk of loss of purchasing power due to rising prices of goods and services.
- Credit Risk - The possibility that a debt issuer may not be able to repay you for your investment principal or interest owed to you.
- Reinvestment Risk - The risk that an investor faces when an investment matures, that one may have to find a new place to invest that money and that there might not be a similarly attractive investment available.
- Business Risk - Often referred to as company risk, this is the risk of owning one or only a few investments in specific companies. This risk includes competition, technological obsolescence of the company's products or systems, reductions in the market demand and pricing for the company's products (such as reduced pricing for oil and natural gas), regulatory changes which make the company's business model no longer competitive (and in some cases permissible), management missteps, cybersecurity risk, and fraud whether real or perceived.
- ETF and Mutual Fund Risk - When investing in an ETF or mutual fund, you will bear additional expenses based on your pro rata share of the ETF's or mutual fund's operating expenses, including the potential duplication of management fees. The risk of owning an ETF or mutual fund generally reflects the risks of owning the underlying securities the ETF or mutual fund holds. You may also incur brokerage costs when purchasing ETFs. Investors may also be liable for taxes and other fund level gains as mutual funds and ETFs are required by law to distribute capital gains in the event they sell securities at a profit that cannot be offset by corresponding losses.
- Leverage Risk - This risk comes from using debt to fund investments. As debt must be repaid regardless of investment performance, leverage has the potential to significantly increase (multiply) your losses or gains.
- Liquidity Risk - The risk that your investment cannot be converted into cash when you would like or that such investment must be discounted significantly to effectuate a sale.
- Political Risk – The risk an investment's returns could suffer as a result of political changes or instability in the US or abroad. Instability affecting investment returns could stem from a change in government, legislative bodies, taxation, foreign policy, or military control.
- Cybersecurity Risk - With the increased use of technology, NorthStar is susceptible to operational, information security and related risks. In general, cyber incidents can result from deliberate attacks or unintentional events. Cyber-attacks include, but are not limited to, gaining unauthorized access to digital systems for purposes of misappropriating assets or sensitive information, corrupting data, or causing operational disruption. Cyber incidents impacting NorthStar have the ability to cause disruptions and impact business operations, potentially resulting in the inability to transact business, financial losses, violations of applicable privacy and other laws, regulatory fines, penalties or reputational damage. While NorthStar has established a business continuity plan and risk management systems intended to identify and mitigate cyber incidents, there are inherent limitations in such plans and systems including the possibility that certain risks have not been identified. Furthermore, NorthStar cannot control the cybersecurity plans and systems put in place by third party service providers and issuers in which client portfolios invest. As a result, clients could be negatively impacted.

- Impact of Disease Epidemics- The outbreak of an infectious disease in the United States or elsewhere, such as the novel coronavirus (e.g., “COVID-19”), together with any resulting travel restrictions or quarantines, could result in disruptions to the adviser and/or third-party service providers on which the adviser relies. Given that the nature, timing, and severity of an outbreak is unknown, the extent to which an epidemic might impact the adviser, its investments, or its advisory operations is uncertain. In addition to impacting the adviser and the adviser’s third-party providers, a pandemic may, and most likely will, have a negative impact on the economy and business activity in the United States and worldwide leading to potential significant disruption, volatility, and losses across financial markets. Clients of the adviser must be prepared for such losses and while the adviser has processes in place to ensure business continuity and to monitor the performance of its vendors and underlying investments, the uncertainty around the nature, type, breadth, and duration of an epidemic and the overall potential impact to the adviser’s operations and client investments is unclear.

Our investment process is designed with an awareness of the risks listed above; however, it is impossible to eliminate all of these risks when investing. While individual portfolio structuring can take many of these risks into consideration, there can be no assurance of success in investing or that NorthStar’s attempts to address these risks will prove to be successful.

Item 9 - Disciplinary Information

Neither NorthStar nor any of its employees have any disciplinary history to report.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

NorthStar currently has no other financial industry activities and affiliations.

Item 11 - Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

NorthStar has adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the firm describing its high standard of business conduct and the fiduciary duty owed to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading and the dissemination of non-public information, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, pre-clearance procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at NorthStar must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually and as amended.

Officers, directors, and employees of NorthStar may trade for their own accounts in securities that are recommended to and/or purchased for NorthStar's clients. The Code of Ethics is designed to ensure that the personal securities transactions, activities, and interests of the employees of NorthStar will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts. Under the Code of Ethics, certain classes of securities have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would not materially interfere with the best interest of NorthStar clients. As the Code of Ethics permits employees to invest in the same securities as clients, there is a possibility that employees might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by an employee. Employee trading is continually monitored under the Code of Ethics to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between NorthStar and its clients.

Certain affiliated accounts may trade in the same securities with client accounts on an aggregated basis. In such circumstances, the affiliated and client accounts will receive securities at a total average price. Partially filled orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions would be explained on the order documentation.

It is NorthStar's policy that the firm will not engage in any principal transactions or cross trades for client accounts. Principal transactions are generally defined as transactions where an advisor, acting as principal for its own account or the account of an affiliated broker-dealer, buys from or sells any security to any advisory client.

A complete copy of NorthStar's Code of Ethics is available to clients and prospective clients upon request by contacting NorthStar's CCO directly at the phone number on the coversheet.

Item 12 - Brokerage Practices

While clients of NorthStar may use a custodian of their choice, NorthStar generally recommends the use of Charles Schwab as NorthStar has the ability to aggregate ("block") client trades. Aggregating trades generally results in better execution. While clients have the ability to direct brokerage to a custodian of their choice, NorthStar is required to disclose that by directing brokerage, NorthStar may not be able to include directed accounts in aggregated (block) trades in order to achieve the most favorable execution of client transactions. The inability to aggregate trades for directed brokers may result in higher commissions or smaller discounts on client transactions traded with Charles Schwab.

In addition, clients are advised that the custodial landscape is currently in a state of flux as custodians, in an effort to compete, move toward lower or, in some cases like Charles Schwab, no trading commissions. However, there is a cost to executing and settling trades. As a result, custodians are establishing a wide and everchanging range of service offerings, direct expenses, and indirect opportunity costs in an effort to remain profitable. Clients are therefore encouraged to consult with their NorthStar financial advisor and evaluate all of the costs, expenses and services provided by their selected custodian.

Regardless of the custodian selected, any discounted commission rate available to the client for directed brokerage will be dependent upon the client's ability to negotiate such discounts with the custodian they select. Clients may pay more to direct brokerage so they should periodically review the terms of their custodial arrangements to ensure that such arrangements meet their needs and are competitive in the market in relation to the services offered. In designating a custodian, clients should also take into account services other than trade execution they require.

As the firm utilizes the brokerage services of its clients' custodians, clients who maintain accounts with custodians other than Schwab will not be able to participate in block trades with other accounts at Schwab. Certain clients may also utilize NorthStar advisory services on a non-discretionary basis. As non-discretionary accounts require NorthStar obtain client consent prior to trade execution, there will be a delay in executing or blocking trades for non-discretionary accounts that does not exist for discretionary accounts.

Trade Errors

If it appears that a trade error has occurred, NorthStar will review the relevant facts and circumstances to determine an appropriate course of action. To the extent that trade errors or breaches of investment guidelines and restrictions occur, NorthStar's error correction procedure is designed to ensure that clients are treated fairly and, following error correction, are in the same position they would have been if the error had not occurred. NorthStar has discretion to resolve a particular error in any manner that is consistent with the above-stated policy.

Soft Dollars

NorthStar does not receive "soft dollar benefits" so any such benefits are not a factor in recommending a broker-dealer or custodian to clients.

Other Economic Benefits

NorthStar receives without cost from Charles Schwab computer software and related systems support that allow NorthStar to better monitor and manage client accounts. NorthStar may receive the software and related support without cost because NorthStar renders investment management services to clients that maintain assets at this institution. The software and related systems support may benefit NorthStar, but not its clients directly. In fulfilling its duties to its clients, NorthStar endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that NorthStar's receipt of economic benefits from a broker/dealer/custodian creates a conflict of interest since these benefits may influence NorthStar's willingness to accept one broker/dealer/custodian over another that does not furnish similar software, systems support or services.

Specifically, NorthStar may receive the following benefits from Charles Schwab:

- Receipt of duplicate client confirmations and bundled duplicate statements;
- Access to a trading desk that services NorthStar directly;
- Access to block trading which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions and then allocate the appropriate shares to client accounts; and
- Access to an electronic communication network for client order entry and account information.

Item 13 - Review of Accounts

As part of its ongoing process, NorthStar accounts are regularly reviewed by a portfolio manager of the Firm. When actions are pending or if market or security-specific circumstances warrant, accounts will be reviewed more frequently as deemed necessary by the Investment Committee. Each portfolio manager has the responsibility to act in the best interests of their clients and to provide investment advice in the client's best interests and consistent with the client's objectives.

Ongoing contact with the client is maintained by each portfolio manager and his/her assistant, providing the client an opportunity to update their investment objectives and goals and to implement or modify any reasonable restrictions on the management of the account.

In addition to any NorthStar statement, statements and confirmations are sent directly to clients from the 3rd party custodians. Clients are encouraged to compare their custodial statements with NorthStar's statements and to promptly notify NorthStar of any discrepancies.

Item 14 - Client Referrals and Other Compensation

NorthStar does not receive compensation for referring clients to other service providers nor does NorthStar pay any outside third party for client referrals.

Item 15 - Custody

Client assets must be held at an independent third-party broker-dealer or custodian (a qualified custodian) of their choosing and not at NorthStar. Clients will receive monthly statements and trade confirmations directly from these financial institutions. Clients should review these statements carefully as they report important information regarding their managed account.

NorthStar's Advisory Contract authorizes NorthStar to deduct client fees directly from the client's account at the custodian and to remit these fees directly to NorthStar. Such fee deductions will be reported to the client by the qualified custodian directly within the client's periodic custodial statement.

While NorthStar will issue appropriate instructions to the custodian of the client's account in connection with settlement of portfolio transactions, NorthStar shall not have any responsibility with respect to collection of income, reclamation of withheld taxes, physical acquisition or safekeeping of the assets of the account. All such duties of collection, physical acquisition and safekeeping shall be the sole obligation of the Client or the client's qualified custodian.

NorthStar may also obtain custody in the event an employee of the firm is granted Power of Attorney, is named Trustee on a client's account or allows clients to establish standing letters of authorization. To the extent the firm obtains custody, the firm will disclose its assets under custody and undergo any independent third-party review as required.

Item 16 - Investment Discretion

Clients of NorthStar may engage the firm on either a discretionary or non-discretionary basis. Clients generally grant the firm discretionary investment management authority which allows NorthStar to select securities and to execute transactions based on the client's objectives without the client's prior consent.

Clients may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities subject to NorthStar's approval.

NorthStar obtains discretion through the client's execution of a Discretionary Advisory Contract.

Item 17 - Voting Client Securities

NorthStar maintains Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures (the "Proxy Policy") to ensure that it exercises appropriate voting authority with respect to securities held by clients that have granted NorthStar proxy voting authority. The Proxy Policy and information on NorthStar's proxy voting record is available upon request from NorthStar's CCO at the contact number on the coversheet. Clients are encouraged to contact their portfolio manager regarding any questions they may have related to NorthStar's policy or voting record.

Item 18 - Financial Information

NorthStar is not required to disclose any financial information pursuant to this item as NorthStar does not require or solicit the prepayment of fees six months or more in advance. Furthermore, NorthStar has never been the subject of a bankruptcy petition and does not have a financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet contractual commitments to clients.
