ADVISORY BUSINESS

Firm Description

FFI is the abbreviation of Future Finances Inc. The abbreviation will be used in the brochure.

Future Finances Inc., FFI was founded in 1980.

Future Finances Inc. provides personalized confidential financial planning and investment management to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations and small businesses. Advice is provided through consultation with the client and may include: determination of financial objectives, identification of financial problems, cash flow management, tax planning, insurance review, investment management, education funding, retirement planning, and estate plan.

FFI is also in the business of offering annuities, insurance, stocks, bonds, mutual funds, limited partnerships, or other commissioned products. FFI does not compensate for client referrals.

Investment advice is an integral part of financial planning. In addition, FFI advises clients regarding cash flow, college planning, retirement planning, tax planning and estate planning.

Investment advice is provided, with the client making the final decision on investment selection. FFI does not act as a custodian of client assets. The client always maintains asset control. FFI places trades for clients under a limited power of attorney.

A written evaluation of each client's initial situation is provided to the client, often in the form of a net worth statement. Periodic reviews are also communicated to provide reminders of the specific courses of action that need to be taken. More frequent reviews occur but are not necessarily communicated to the client unless immediate changes are recommended.

Other professionals (e.g., lawyers, accountants, insurance agents, etc.) are engaged directly by the client on an as-needed basis. Conflicts of interest will be disclosed to the client in the unlikely event they should occur.

The initial meeting, which may be by telephone, is free of charge and is considered an exploratory interview to determine the extent to which financial planning and investment management may be beneficial to the client.

Principal Owner

Max T. Larsen is primary owner. Bradley Huffman is a partial owner of the firm.

Types of Advisory Services

FFI provides investment supervisory services, also known as asset management services and manages investment advisory accounts not involving investment supervisory services. FFI specializes in the use of technical analysis as part of the overall investment management services.

On more than an occasional basis, FFI furnishes advice to clients on matters not involving securities, such as financial planning matters, taxation issues, and retirement planning.

As of 12-31-2023, FFI manages approximately $238,824,931 in assets across approximately 646 accounts.

These assets are managed on a discretionary basis.

Tailored Relationships

The goals and objectives for each client are documented in our client relationship management system. Clients may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities.

Agreements may not be assigned without client consent.

Types of Agreements

The following agreements define the typical client relationships.

Financial Planning Agreement

A financial plan is designed to help the client with all aspects of financial planning without ongoing investment management after the financial plan is completed.

FFI offers clients financial planning services that are designed to assist the client with business planning, retirement planning, life and health insurance, estate planning, tax planning, asset allocation and investment planning.

In preparing a financial plan the client must provide FFI with their past financial history, present financial position and their current economic goals. FFI may obtain additional information from client documents such as wills, trust agreements, fringe benefit programs, tax returns, business agreements, insurance policies and programs, past and current investments (including cost basis, basis for investment, tax ramifications) investment objectives, income, expenses, other obligations, financial goals, other advisors to the client, family background, attorneys, accountants, banks, and all other information that economically effects the client.

FFI will review and analyze the information provided for the purpose of preparing a report detailing the clients' current financial condition. Based on the client's goals and other factors the report will include detailed financial recommendations. This report will be provided to the client in the form of a plan that may be implemented at the client's discretion. The client is solely responsible for the decision of whether to follow the recommendations made by the FFI representative.

Implementing these recommendations may require the assistance of professionals who are unaffiliated with FFI. The services of such professionals will be provided at an additional fee to the client charged by and paid to the professional directly. No professionals will be involved without the client's prior approval.

The client at their discretion may implement the recommendations through FFI acting in the capacity of an Investment Advisor, or the client may implement the recommendations on his or her own without further aid from FFI. If the client chooses to implement the recommendations through FFI, the representative may receive a commission to execute those transactions aside from any fee earned herein.

Fees for financial planning services shall be charged on an hourly basis to review, prepare, analyze and present the client with a financial plan. The hourly rate shall range from $50 to $500 per hour and shall depend upon the experience and expertise of the advisor; the complexity and comprehensiveness of the service; and the client's net worth. One-half of an estimated fee shall be payable by the client at the time the client signs the agreement. The remaining fee is due when the plan is presented to the client. An estimate of the fee shall be provided to the client in writing and must be accompanied with a disclosure statement.

A client may terminate the agreement upon written notice. Any prepaid fees, which have been unearned, shall be returned to the client. The portion of any refund shall be calculated based on the amount of time spent on preparatory work and actual work at the predetermined hourly rate. The fee for a financial plan is predicated upon the facts known at the start of the engagement. The minimum fee is $1,250 and is not negotiable. Since financial planning is a discovery process, situations occur wherein the client is unaware of certain financial exposures or predicaments.

In the event the client's situation is substantially different than disclosed at the initial meeting, a revised fee will be provided for mutual agreement. The client must approve the change in advance of the additional work being performed when a fee increase is necessary.

Advisory Service Agreement

Most clients choose to have FFI manage their assets in order to obtain ongoing in-depth advice and life planning. Various aspects of the client's financial affairs are reviewed. Realistic and measurable goals are set and objectives to reach those goals are defined. As goals and objectives change over time, suggestions are made and implemented on an ongoing basis.

Advisor services are provided through Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services (IWS). IWS is a non-commission and advisory fee program where FFI provides investment advisory services with securities execution, custodial and other administrative services provided by Fidelity Registered Investment Advisor Group and its clearing broker dealer, IWS. Through this program, domestic stocks, exchanged traded funds (ETFs) corporate bonds, government bonds, no-load mutual funds, load-waived mutual funds, municipal bond funds, and ADRs may be utilized in an account.

FFI will gather information on a client's financial history, goals, objectives, and financial concerns and assist client in developing an asset allocation strategy. All information gathered from the client is confidential. Based on client's investment objectives, risk tolerance, and financial situation, FFI will prepare a portfolio analysis and portfolio recommendations. Additionally, FFI will provide ongoing monitoring and periodically make recommendations for changes to the account as deemed necessary. The minimum account size requirement in order to participate in the Program is generally $500,000. The minimum account size may be waived at the sole discretion of management.

Clients are advised that transactions in the account, account reallocations and rebalancing may trigger a taxable event for the client, with the exception of IRA accounts, 403(b) accounts and other qualified retirement accounts.

Clients will pay an advisory fee to FFI in accordance with the fee schedule outline under Investment Advisory Fees section. Investment advisory fees are billed and payable quarterly in arrears and pro-rated for any additions or deletions during the quarter. The fee schedule may be lower based on the needs and financial complexity of the individual. Additionally, clients will pay transactional costs associated with each transaction.

Transactional fees assessed by Fidelity for the purchase or sale of stocks or ETFs will vary based on the client account. For households with a value of $1,000,000 and greater or for accounts that subscribe to electronic delivery Fidelity's transaction charge is $0. For households less than $1,000,000 or for those that do not elect electronic delivery, the transaction charge is $4.95.

IWS provides full service brokerage accounts to clients. These accounts will be monitored by FFI. All investment decisions will be made by FFI in accordance with the client's investment objectives set forth by the client.

INVESTMENT ADVISORY Fee

First $	1.00 to $ 250,000 of investment assets	1.25%
Next $	250,000 to $ 500,000 of investment assets	1.00%
Next $	500,001 to $ 750,000 of investment assets	0.75%
Next $	750,001 to $1,000,000 of investment assets	0.50%
Next $	1,000,001 of investment assets and above	0.25%

Clients can engage certain persons associated with FFI (but not FFI) to render securities brokerage services under a commission arrangement. Clients are under no obligation to engage such persons and may choose brokers or agents not affiliated with FFI. Under this arrangement, clients may implement securities transactions through certain of FFI's Supervised Persons in their respective individual capacities as registered representatives of Triad Advisors, LLC., an SEC registered broker-dealer and member of FINRA. Triad may charge brokerage commissions to effect these securities transactions and thereafter, a portion of these commissions may be paid by Triad to such Supervised Persons. Prior to effecting any transactions clients are required to enter into a new account agreement with Triad. The brokerage commissions charged by Triad may be higher or lower than those charged by other broker-dealers. In addition, certain of FFI's Supervised Persons may also receive ongoing 12b-1 fees for mutual fund purchases from the mutual fund company during the period that the client maintains the mutual fund investment. FFI's Supervised Persons may recommend no-load funds. FFI does not charge an advisory fee on the same assets for which its Supervised Persons receive commissions.

A conflict of interest exists to the extent that FFI recommends the purchase of securities where FFI's Supervised Persons receive commissions or other additional compensation as a result of FFI's recommendations. FFI has procedures in place to ensure that any recommendations made by such Supervised Persons are in the best interest of clients.

For accounts covered by ERISA (and such others that FFI, in its sole discretion deems appropriate), FFI provides its investment advisory services on a fee-offset basis. In this scenario, FFI may offset its fees by an amount equal to the aggregate commissions and 12b-1 fees earned by FFI's Supervised Persons in their individual capacities as registered representatives of Triad.

If a mutual fund is held in an account, a client should understand mutual funds charge management fees and expenses. Because mutual funds pay advisory fees to their investment advisors and such fees therefore indirectly charged to all holders of mutual fund shares, clients with mutual funds in their portfolios are effectively paying both a direct management fee to Future Finances, Inc. and an indirect fee through the mutual fund for the management of those assets.

Asset Management Agreement

Assets are invested primarily in no-load mutual funds and exchange-traded funds, usually through discount brokers or fund companies. Fund companies charge each fund shareholder an investment management fee that is disclosed in the fund prospectus. Discount brokerages may charge a transaction fee for the purchase of some funds.

Stocks and bonds may be purchased or sold through a brokerage account when appropriate. The brokerage firm charges a fee for stock trades. FFI does not receive any compensation, in any form, from fund companies or brokerage firm for trading fees.

Investments may also include: equities (stocks), corporate debt securities, certificates of deposit, municipal securities, investment company securities (mutual funds shares), U. S. government securities, and options contracts.

Termination of Agreement

A Client may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by notifying FFI in writing and paying the rate for the time spent on the investment advisory engagement prior to notification of termination. If the client made an advance payment, FFI will refund any unearned portion of the advance payment.

FFI may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by notifying the client in writing. If the client made an advance payment, FFI will refund any unearned portion of the advance payment.

FEES AND COMPENSATION

Description

FFI bases its fees on a percentage of assets under management and/or a fixed fee. Financial plans are priced according to the degree of complexity associated with the client's situation.

Fee Billing

Investment management fees are billed quarterly, in arrears, meaning that we invoice you after the three-month billing period has ended. Fees are usually deducted from a designated client account to facilitate billing. The client must consent in advance to direct debiting of their investment account.

Fees for financial plans are billed 50% in advance, with the balance due upon delivery of the financial plan.

Other Fees

Custodians may charge transaction fees on purchases or sales of certain mutual funds and exchange-traded funds. These transaction charges are usually small and incidental to the purchase or sale of a security. The selection of the security is more important than the nominal fee that the custodian charges to buy or sell the security.

FFI, in its sole discretion, may waive its minimum fee and/or charge a lesser investment advisory fee based upon certain criteria (e.g., historical relationship, type of assets, anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amounts of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, negotiations with clients, etc.).

Expense Ratios

Mutual funds generally charge a management fee for their services as investment managers. The management fee is called an expense ratio. For example, an expense ratio of 0.50 means the mutual fund company charges 0.5% for their services. These fees are in addition to the fees paid by you to FFI.

Performance figures quoted by mutual fund companies in various publications are after their fees have been deducted.

PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES

Sharing of Capital Gains

Fees are not based on a share of the capital gains or capital appreciation of managed securities.

FFI does not use a performance-based fee structure because of the potential conflict of interest. Performance-based compensation may create an incentive for the adviser to recommend an investment that may carry a higher degree of risk to the client.

TYPES OF CLIENTS

Description

FFI generally provides investment advice to individuals, banks or thrift institutions, investment companies, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, or charitable organizations, corporations or business entities.

Client relationships vary in scope and length of service.

Account Minimums

The minimum account size requirement is $500,000. The minimum account size may be waived at the sole discretion of management.

METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

Methods of Analysis

Security analysis methods may include charting, fundamental analysis, technical analysis, and cyclical analysis.

The main sources of information include financial newspapers and magazines, inspections of corporate activities, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, timing services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and company press releases.

Other sources of information that FFI may use include StockCharts.com, Morningstar and Dorsey Wright & Associates.

Investment Strategies

The primary investment strategy used on client accounts is tactical and strategic asset allocation utilizing a core and satellite approach. This means that we generally use passively-managed index and exchange-traded funds as the core investments, and then utilize tactical allocation using stocks, mutual funds or exchanged traded funds where greater opportunities to make a difference. Portfolios are globally diversified to control the risk associated with traditional markets.

The investment strategy for a specific client is based upon the objectives stated by the client during consultations. The client may change these objectives at any time.

Other strategies may include long-term purchases, short-term purchases, trading, short sales, margin transactions, and option writing (including covered options, uncovered options or spreading strategies).

Risk of Loss

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors face the following investment risks:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

BROKERAGE PRACTICES

FFI does not have any affiliation with product sales firms. Specific custodian recommendations are made to Clients based on their need for such services. FFI recommends custodians based on the proven integrity and financial responsibility of the firm and the best execution of orders at reasonable commission rates.

FFI recommends discount brokerage firms and trust companies (qualified custodians), such as Fidelity Investments.

FFI does not receive fees or commissions from any of these arrangements.

Best Execution

FFI reviews the execution of trades at each custodian annually. The review is documented in the FFI Compliance Manual. Trading fees charged by the custodians are reviewed on a quarterly basis. FFI does not receive any portion of the trading fees.

Soft Dollars

FFI does not engage in any soft dollar arrangements.

Order Aggregation/Block Orders

When orders to purchase or sell the same securities on identical terms are placed with the same broker by more than one account managed by FFI the client orders may be aggregated. Each individual is treated equitably in the allocation. Each client that participates in an aggregated order will participate at the average share price for all of FFI transactions effected through the broker or dealer in that security on a given business day. However, transactional costs may vary among accounts. Transactional fees assessed by Fidelity for the purchase or sale of stocks or ETFs will vary based on the client account. For households with a value of $1,000,000 and greater or for accounts that subscribe to electronic delivery, Fidelity's transaction charge is $0. For households less than $1,000,000 or for those that do not elect electronic delivery, the transaction charge is $4.95.

In cases where only part of any order is filled, securities are allocated to accounts pro-rata, subject to adjustments for rounding, odd lots and adjustments that may be made by FFI for client accounts that may be considered to be under invested or over invested. In all cases FFI may not allocate securities to a client if the client would receive an inappropriately small number of shares in the transaction Review of Accounts.

Order Aggregation – Pre-Approval

Clients requesting pre-approval for trades may trade outside of an aggregated order and may not receive the same price or execution as those clients who participate in the aggregated order.

Performance Reports

INVESTMENT DISCRETION

FFI accepts discretionary authority to manage security accounts on behalf of clients. FFI has the authority to determine, without obtaining specific client consent, the securities to be bought or sold, and the amount of the securities to be bought or sold. However, FFI consults with the client prior to each trade to obtain concurrence if a blanket trading authorization has not been given.

The client approves the custodian to be used and the commission rates paid to the custodian. FFI does not receive any portion of the transaction fees or commissions paid by the client to the custodian on certain trades.

Contacting Us – If after a significant business disruption you cannot contact us as you usually do at 614-888-7526, you should call our alternative number 614-847-7526 or go to our website at www.futurefinances.com. If you cannot access us through either of those means, you should contact our clearing firm, Fidelity Investments at 1-800-544-6000 for instructions on how it may provide prompt access to funds and securities, enter orders and process other trade-related, cash and security transfer transactions.

Our Business Continuity Plan – We plan to quickly recover and resume business operations after a significant business disruption and respond by safeguarding our employees and property, making a financial and operational assessment, protecting the firm's books and records, and allowing our customers to transact business. In short, our business continuity plan is designed to permit our firm to resume operations as quickly as possible, given the scope and severity of the significant business disruption.

Our business continuity plan addresses: data backup and recovery; all mission critical systems; financial and operational assessments; alternative communications with customers, employees, and regulators; alternate physical location of employees; critical supplier, contractor, bank and counter-party impact; regulatory reporting; and assuring our customers prompt access to their funds and securities if we are unable to continue our business.

Our clearing firm, Fidelity, backs up our important records in a geographically separate area. While every emergency situation poses unique problems based on external factors, such as time of day and the severity of the disruption, we have been advised by our clearing firm that its objective is to restore its own operations and be able to complete existing transactions and accept new transactions and payments within 24 hours. Your orders and requests for funds and securities could be delayed during this period.

Varying Disruptions – Significant business disruptions can vary in their scope, such as only our firm, a single building housing our firm, the business district where our firm is located, the city where we are located, or the whole region. Within each of these areas, the severity of the disruption can also vary from minimal to severe. In a disruption to only our firm or a building housing our firm, we will transfer our operations to a local site when needed and expect to recover and resume business within 24 hours. In a disruption affecting our business district, city, or region, we will transfer our operations to a site outside of the affected area, and recover and resume business within 24 hour. In either situation, we plan to continue in business, transfer operations to our clearing firm if necessary, and notify you through our website www.futurefinances.com or our customer emergency number, 614-847-7526 how to contact us. If the significant business disruption is so severe that it prevents us from remaining in business, we will assure our customer's prompt access to their funds and securities.

For more information – This represents just a portion of our detailed business continuity plan. If you have questions about our plan, you can contact us 1-614-888-7526 or www.futurefinances.com.
