Item 4 – Advisory Business

Firm Description

Empiric Advisors, Inc. (“Empiric Advisors” or “Firm”) is an SEC-registered investment adviser with its principal place of business located in Texas. Empiric Advisors began conducting business in 1987.

Principal Owners

The Firm’s principal owner is LongChamp Limited Partners.

Types of Advisory Services

The Firm furnishes Portfolio Management Services, defined as the giving of continuous advice to clients about the investment of securities on the basis of each client’s individual needs and objectives.

Empiric Advisors offers a variety of long-only equity portfolios to clients as a separately managed account (SMA), permitting the client to select an appropriate strategy or strategies based on their needs. Clients can impose restrictions on the portfolios managed by Empiric Advisors.

Once the client’s portfolio has been established, Empiric Advisors reviews the portfolio composition and updates the portfolios as required based on the Firm’s current portfolio recommendations. Empiric Advisors portfolio investment strategies are proprietary and quantitatively driven.

Empiric Advisors is the investment manager to the Empiric Mutual Fund (Class C: EMCCX; Class A: EMCAX).

Assets Under Management

As of December 31, 2023, Empiric Advisors manages $60,542,148 in discretionary and $577,811 in non-discretionary assets under management.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

Description

Empiric Advisors fee for Portfolio Management Services is 1% of assets under management.

Although Empiric Advisors has established the aforementioned fees, it retains the discretion to negotiate alternative fees on a client-by-client basis. Client facts, circumstances, and needs will be considered in determining the fee schedule. These include, but are not limited to, the complexity of the client relationship, assets to be placed under management, anticipated future additional assets, related accounts, portfolio style, and account composition, among other factors. The specific manner in which fees are charged by Empiric Advisors is established in a client's written agreement with Empiric Advisor.

No management fee is charged on the portion of a separately managed client's assets that is invested in the Empiric Mutual Fund.

Fee Billing

Fees are billed quarterly by Empiric Advisors, in advance, at the beginning of each calendar quarter, based upon the value (market value or fair market value in the absence of market value) of the account. Fees will be directly debited from the custodian account, if acceptable to the client. Clients can prohibit direct debiting of management fees, in which case Empiric Advisors will bill the client directly.

Termination of Services

A client agreement can be canceled, at any time, by the client for any reason upon written notice, and by Empiric Advisors upon provision of 30 days written notice to the client. Accounts initiated during a calendar quarter will be charged a prorated fee. Upon termination of any account, any earned, unpaid fees will be refunded.

Other Fees

In addition to the Firm's advisory fees, clients are also responsible for the fees and expenses charged by custodians and imposed by broker dealers, including but not limited to, any transaction charges imposed by a broker dealer with which an independent investment manager effects transactions for the client's accounts. Please refer to the "Brokerage Practices" section of this Form ADV for additional information.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Empiric Advisors does not have performance-based fees.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

Description

Empiric Advisors currently provides portfolio management services to individuals, high net worth individuals, and the Mutual Fund.

Account Minimums

Empiric Advisors imposes a minimum dollar value of assets per account for new clients in each of its strategies, all of which it can waive at its discretion. The minimum initial investment in its Small to Mid-Cap strategy is $2 million. The minimum initial investment in its Large Cap strategy is $2 million.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

Empiric Advisors is a manager of systematically driven, long-only, equity portfolios. The Firm believes that repeatable outperformance is best achieved by utilizing a rule-based investment process to take advantage of behavioral tendencies. The Firm utilizes investment factors that are based on academic theory and that have been tested for persistence (net of transaction costs) and relevance to an index over a long period of time. The investment strategies emphasize the Earnings Quality, Capital Efficiency, and Valuation Styles, identifying companies that present the most compelling QEV (Quality, Efficiency and Valuation) metrics.

Before a stock is purchased or sold, the Firm performs a qualitative overlay.

Investment Strategies

Empiric Advisors' strategies invest in equities of publicly traded companies primarily in the United States. The Firm offers the following strategies, which seek to outperform the respective indices:

- Small-to-Mid-Cap Growth, MSCI USA Small Cap Core
- Large Cap Core, S&P 500

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. Included in these risks are the risk of permanent loss of capital, interest rate risk, inflation risk, currency risk, reinvestment risk, business risk, liquidity risk, financial risk, and volatility risk.

Stocks generally fluctuate in value more than bonds and can decline significantly over short time periods. There is the chance that stock prices, overall, will decline because stock markets tend to move in cycles, with periods of rising and falling prices. Individual investments can decline due to general weakness in the markets or due to the specific factors affecting company returns or a particular industry.

Investments in small-sized companies pose greater risks than those typically associated with larger, more established companies such as increased volatility of earnings and prospects, higher failure rates, and limited markets, product lines or financial resources.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

The Firm and its management personnel have no reportable disciplinary events to disclose.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Empiric Institutional, LLC is a related adviser to Empiric Advisors. Empiric Advisors is owned by LongChamp Limited Partners, with which Mr. Coffelt is the majority owner and general partner. LongChamp Limited Partners also owns a minority interest in Empiric Institutional, LLC. Clients of Empiric Advisors can be referred to Empiric Institutional, LLC. If Empiric Institutional, LLC is selected as the investment adviser, those clients will be responsible for the fees charged by Empiric Institutional, LLC as well as the fees charged by Empiric Advisors. For Empiric Advisors, Inc.'s separately managed account clients who select Empiric Institutional, LLC as their investment advisor, the client will be responsible for fees charged by both advisors. Empiric Advisor and Empiric Institutional, LLC share common office space and employees. Gabriel Rodriguez is also Chief Compliance Officer of Empiric Institutional.

Empiric Advisors owns 100% equity interest in Empiric Distributors, Inc., a registered broker-dealer and member of FINRA. Mark Coffelt is the principal for Empiric Distributors, Inc. Mark Coffelt, Loren Coffelt, and Gabriel Rodriguez are registered representatives of Empiric Distributors. To mitigate any potential conflict of interest, Empiric Advisors does not execute separate client transactions through or custody client assets with Empiric Distributors, Inc. However, transactions for the Empiric Mutual Fund are executed through the related broker-dealer.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics

Code of Ethics

Empiric Advisors has adopted a Code of Ethics (“Code”) for all supervised persons of the Firm, describing its high standard of business conduct and fiduciary duty to its clients. All supervised persons at Empiric Advisors must acknowledge the terms of the Code annually, and as amended.

Invest in Same Securities Offered Clients

Officers, directors, and employees of Empiric Advisors (and their immediate family members) are permitted to buy and sell securities for their own personal accounts that can also be considered for clients of Empiric Advisors. The Code establishes both pre-clearance and reporting requirements and continuous monitoring of personal trading activity to mitigate this potential conflict. The Code is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities, and interests of the employees of Empiric Advisors will not interfere with making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients, and implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts.

Recommend Securities with Material Financial Interest

Empiric Advisors, when in the client’s best interest, may recommend the Empiric Mutual Fund, which presents a potential conflict of interest as Empiric Advisors has a financial incentive to recommend the mutual fund. Clients are not obligated to invest in the mutual fund.

Clients or prospective clients can request a copy of the Firm's Code by contacting Gabriel Rodriguez at gabe@empiricadvisors.com.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

Selecting Brokerage Firms

Empiric Advisors selects those brokers or dealers which will provide the best services at the lowest commission rates. The reasonableness of commissions is based on the broker’s stability, reputation, ability to provide professional services, competitive commission rates and prices, market settlement capabilities, research, trading platform, and other services which will help Empiric Advisors in providing investment management services to clients. Empiric Advisors has established a working relationship with Charles Schwab and Interactive Brokers and will recommend them as a qualified custodian to clients and prospective clients. Although Empiric Advisors recommends the use of Charles Schwab and Interactive Brokers, clients are allowed to select the broker-dealer that will custody their account, and in some cases, they have no choice but to use a specific broker. US Bank is the custodian for the mutual fund.

Research and Soft Dollars

Consistent with seeking best execution for clients, Empiric Advisors can direct brokerage transactions for clients' portfolios to brokers who provide research and execution services to Empiric Advisors and indirectly to the Firm's clients. This can cause clients to pay commissions higher than those charged by other broker-dealers in return for soft dollar benefits. This creates a conflict because the use of client brokerage commissions to obtain research or other products or services, benefit Empiric Advisors because the Firm does not have to produce or pay for the research, products, or services. To mitigate this conflict, Empiric Advisors will, in good faith, review the commission in relation to the value of the brokerage and/or research services provided by those broker-dealer to ensure the client is receiving best execution. These services are of the type described in Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and are designed to augment its own internal research and investment strategy capabilities. This can be done without prior agreement or understanding by the client and done at the Firm's discretion. Research services can be useful in servicing all of its clients, and not just those that paid for the benefits. As a result, a client can pay brokerage commissions that are used, in part, to purchase research services that are not used to benefit that specific client.

Research services obtained through the use of soft dollars can be developed by brokers to whom brokerage is directed or by third parties which are compensated by the broker. Empiric Advisors does not attempt to put specific dollar values on the services rendered or to allocate the relative costs or benefits of those services among clients, believing that the research the Firm receives will help fulfill its overall duty to its clients.

Certain items obtained with soft dollars are not used exclusively for either execution or research services. The cost of such "mixed-use" products or services will be fairly allocated, and Empiric Advisors makes a good faith effort to determine the percentage of such products or services which may be considered as investment research. The portions of the cost attributable to non-research usage of such products or services are paid by the Firm to the broker-dealer in accordance with the provisions of Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

Best Execution

In all transactions on behalf of clients, Empiric Advisors seeks “best execution.” The SEC defines this as the execution of securities transactions for clients in such a manner that the client’s total cost or proceeds in each transaction are the most favorable under the circumstances. The key phrase is “under the circumstances.” Empiric Advisors does not always have discretion over the cost and fees charged by the clients’ custodians. In some cases, the Firm can establish “Prime Broker” relationships with broker-dealers. In such a case, the custodian will allow Empiric Advisors to buy securities from other broker-dealers and have them delivered into the client account. When buying or selling through such broker-dealers, clients will pay the related costs and fees charged by such entities, which can result in higher transaction costs and fees to the client. Historically, the majority of the Firm’s trading has used Electronic Crossing Networks (ECNs) and dark pools.

When utilizing ECNs, dark pools, and Prime Brokers, Empiric Advisors evaluates a wide range of criteria in seeking best execution for client accounts. Such criteria include but is not limited to, implicit trading cost, access to securities with limited liquidity, software functionality and flexibility, efficiency of execution, research capabilities, financial strength and stability, prior experience working with such networks, systems, and broker-dealers. Under such circumstances, clients should think of “best execution” as not necessarily the best “price,” although in some situations it is, but rather a confluence of factors that allow Empiric Advisors to seek the best way of doing business on behalf of its clients.

Directed Brokerage

Empiric Advisors does not recommend, request or require that its clients direct it to execute transactions through a specified broker dealer. Empiric Advisors does accept and will place orders with brokerage firms pursuant to direction received in writing from the client (“directed brokerage”). In a directed brokerage account, the client may pay higher commissions if the Firm is not be able to aggregate orders to reduce transaction costs, or the client can receive less favorable prices.

Order Aggregation

The Firm will aggregate trades when consistent with the Firm’s obligation of best execution and most advantageous for the client. In such circumstances, the client accounts will share commission costs equally and receive securities at a total average price. Empiric Advisors will retain records of the trade order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation, which will be completed prior to the entry of the aggregated order. Completed orders will be allocated as specified in the initial trade order. Partially filled orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions will be explained on the order.

Cross Trades and Principal Transactions

It is the Firm's policy that the Firm will not conduct any principal or agency cross securities transactions for client accounts. Empiric Advisors will also not cross trade between client accounts.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

The underlying security positions in client accounts are continuously monitored. Accounts are reviewed and reconciled, at least monthly, to ensure conformity with portfolio strategy and client guidelines. The Operations Manager is responsible for such client reviews.

Monthly statements and confirmations of transactions are provided by the client's broker or custodian with copies to Empiric Advisors. The Operations Manager also provides a written quarterly statement of accounts to clients that may consist of account positions, investing commentary, billing statement, performance computations, income and expenses, realized gains and losses, and purchases and sales.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Empiric Advisors does not have any arrangements where it receives cash or economic benefits from a non-client in connection with giving advice to clients, nor does Empiric Advisors compensate any non-employee for new business.

Item 15 – Custody

Empiric Advisors does not take or hold physical custody of client assets. Clients can permit the Firm to deduct advisory fees directly from the account. Clients can choose to have assets held at any qualified custodian.

Clients receive statements, at least quarterly, from the broker dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains clients' investment assets. Empiric Advisors urges clients to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account statements that it may provide them. Its statements may vary from custodial statements, based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

As Empiric Advisors is a discretionary investment manager, clients provide written authority (i.e., limited power of attorney) for the Firm to conduct accounts management services as defined in its investment management contract and the client's independent custodian agreement/contract. Clients can have limitations, and such limits of authority are included in the written and signed agreements/contracts. In all cases discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client account.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

Clients can delegate proxy voting authority over their accounts to Empiric Advisors. Such delegation can be made by the client through notice to the account custodian. In the event a client delegates proxy voting to Empiric Advisors, it remains the client's obligation to direct their account custodian to forward applicable proxy materials to Empiric Advisors so that their account shares can be voted. Clients can revoke the Firm's voting authority through written notice.

As a matter of policy, Empiric Advisors has the responsibility for voting proxies for portfolio securities consistent with the best economic interest of the client. The Firm maintains written policies and procedures as to the handling, research, voting, and reporting of proxy voting and makes appropriate disclosures about the Firm's proxy policies and procedures. Its policy and practice include the responsibility to monitor corporate actions, receive and vote proxies and disclose any potential conflicts of interest. Should a conflict of interest exist between Empiric Advisors and its clients regarding the outcome of certain proxy votes, Empiric Advisors is committed to resolving the conflict in the best interest of the client before it votes the proxy in question. The following steps will be taken to resolve conflicts of interest (i) disclose the conflict to the client, or in the case of the Mutual Fund, the board of directors, and obtain consent of action to resolve the conflict (ii) suggest that the client engage another party to determine how the proxy should be voted.

Clients can obtain a copy of Empiric Advisors complete proxy voting policies and procedures upon request. Clients can also obtain information from Empiric Advisor about how the Firm voted any proxies on behalf of their account.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Empiric Advisors has no financial circumstances to report.

Under no circumstances does the Firm require or solicit payment of fees in excess of $1,200 per client more than six months in advance of services rendered. Therefore, the Firm is not required to include a financial statement.

Empiric Advisors has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition any time during the past ten years.
