AMERICAN NORTHWEST ADVISORY SERVICES, L.L.C. bases its fees on a percentage of assets under management. The annual Advisory Service Agreement fee is based on a percentage of the investable assets according to the following schedule:

- 1.00% on the first $5,000,000;

0.80% on the next $5,000,001 (from 5,000,001 to 10,000,000); and

Investment management fees are billed quarterly, in advance, meaning that invoicing is done at the beginning of the three-month billing period. Payment in full is expected upon invoice presentation. Fees are deducted from a designated client account to facilitate billing. The client must consent in advance to direct debiting of their investment account.

Other Fees

Custodians may charge transaction fees on purchases or sales of investments. These transaction charges are small and incidental to the purchase or sale of a security. The selection of the security is more important than the nominal fee that the custodian charges to buy or sell the security.

Expense Ratios

Mutual funds generally charge a management fee for their services as investment managers. The management fee is called an expense ratio. For example, an expense ratio of 0.50 means that the mutual fund company charges 0.5% for their services. These fees are in addition to the fees paid to AMERICAN NORTHWEST ADVISORY SERVICES, L.L.C.

Performance figures quoted by mutual fund companies in various publications are after their fees have been deducted.

Investment Strategies

American Northwest Advisory Services L.L.C. generally provides advisory services only to individual clients (i.e., non-pension plan clients) who cannot or do not want to remain in their employer's (or former employer's) retirement plan. Generally, these clients are close to retirement and pursue a defensive investment strategy. For Clients, that are not previous of participant of a retirement plan that American Northwest Advisory Services L.L.C. is investment advisor, the primary investment strategy used on client accounts is strategic asset allocation utilizing a core and satellite approach. The investment strategy for a specific client is based upon the objectives stated by the client during consultations. The client may change these objectives at any time. Each client executes an Investment Policy Statement that documents their objectives and their desired investment strategy.

Other strategies may include long-term purchases, short-term purchases, trading, short sales, margin transactions, and option writing (including covered options, uncovered options or spreading strategies).

Risk of Loss

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors face the following investment risks:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.

- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.
