Item 6 Supervision

Jay R. Kemmerer, Chief Compliance Officer of Berkshire Advisors, Inc. reviews accounts with clients to help monitor the consistency with fair and ethical practices. The frequency of these reviews is based upon the level of client participation. Reviews are conducted by appropriate members of the Berkshire Advisors Inc. Home Office Staff.

The Chief Compliance Officer also conducts regular meetings with other IAR's of the firm and reviews IAR trades for client's accounts to assure the trades are suitable based on the client's goals and objectives.

The client and the IAR review periodically the Advisory Account portfolio and the underlying securities. The review consists of a discussion of the Advisory Account's performance and the client's current circumstances. Appropriate changes made at this time include rebalancing and/or reallocation. The RIA and/or IAR's of Purshe Kaplan Sterling Investments are available to consult with the client concerning the Advisory Account which is normally on a quarterly, semi-annually, or annual basis, at the client's reasonable request.
