ITEM 5: FEES AND COMPENSATION

Investment Management Fees

If you utilize our investment management services under our wrap fee program, we charge you an annual fee based upon a percentage of the market value of your assets under our management. Our fee for the program is called a “wrap fee,” which means that our fee includes all commissions or transaction fees which otherwise would be incurred by you. Our fee for the Verde Intelligent Portfolios service level is a flat 1%.

A complete description of the program and its fees are contained in our Part 2A Appendix 1, which is the Program Brochure. To request a copy of the Program Brochure please contact our President and Chief Compliance Officer, Carl Szasz at (248) 528-1870 or carlszasz@verdecmm.com.

Fees payable under the Assets Under Management Payment Schedule is the percentage of the market value of the Assets under Sub-Advisor’s management. We charge our fee monthly, in arrears, based upon the average daily Account balance as valued by the custodian. The average daily Account balance is calculated by taking the average of each day’s ending market value for the number of days in the billing period. We calculate the standard annual fee by applying the above fee schedule to the average daily Account balance for the period and then dividing it by 12 to determine the monthly fee.

The percentage fee payable under the assets under management payment schedule corresponds only to those assets in that specific bracket. To illustrate, if a client deposits $25,000 to its account, 1% will be charged for a total fee of $250.

Other Compensation

As described in the section titled “OTHER FINANCIAL INDUSTRY ACTIVITIES AND AFFILIATIONS” on page, Ms. Tommi Harris is also independently licensed to sell insurance through her firm, Verde Insurance Agency. As such, Ms. Harris may receive a commission for the sale of insurance products to you and other clients. Therefore, a potential conflict of interest exists when we recommend that you purchase insurance products as part of our financial planning advice. To mitigate any conflict of interest, we do not require you to purchase any recommended insurance products through Ms. Harris, and you are free to purchase the products from a different insurance agent.

Direct Billing to Your Custodian

With your authorization, we will directly debit fees from your accounts or bill you for our fees. Generally, our clients authorize us under the investment advisory agreement to deduct our fees directly from their account. If you provide us such authorization, the custodian’s periodic statements will show each fee deduction from your account. You may withdraw this authorization for direct billing of these fees at any time by notifying your custodian or us in writing. Fees paid directly by check or credit card are due upon receipt of the fee invoice.

ITEM 6: PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT

We do not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of your assets).

ITEM 7: TYPES OF CLIENTS

For Verde Intelligent Portfolios service level participants we offer investment management services to individuals, high net worth individuals, and trusts and estates.

There is a Five Thousand Dollar ($5,000.00) account minimum to become a client under the Verde Intelligent Portfolios service level. This is due to the Schwab Institutional Intelligent Portfolios trading algorithm, which only trades in and rebalances accounts over the $5,000.00 limit. Client understands that if their Verde Intelligent Portfolios account falls below the $5,000.00 account minimum, no trading will take place in the account until the $5,000.00 minimum threshold is met or exceeded. There are no account maximums for the Verde Intelligent Portfolios service level.

ITEM 8: METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

Methods of Analysis

We utilize fundamental analysis to evaluate investments. Fundamental analysis is a technique that attempts to determine a security's value by focusing on the economic well-being of a financial entity as opposed to only its price movements. When conducting fundamental analysis, we will review a company's financial statements and consider factors including, but not limited to, whether the company's revenue is growing, if the company is profitable, if the company is in a strong enough position to beat its competitors in the future, and if the company is able to repay its debts. Because it can take a long time for a company's value to be reflected in the market, the risk associated with this method of analysis is that a gain is not realized until the stock's market price rises to the company's true value.

The valuation method is a technique used to calculate a theoretical value for a security in order to estimate potential future market prices. When utilizing the valuation method, we will review such things as a security's earnings per share, price to earnings and growth rate.

We also utilize technical analysis to evaluate potential investments. Unlike fundamental analysis, technical analysis does not analyze the company's value, but instead analyzes the stock's price movement in the market. Charting is a form of technical analysis in which the various technical factors are diagrammed in order to illustrate patterns. Technical analysis studies the supply and demand in the market in an attempt to determine what direction, or trend, will continue in the future. However, there are risks involved with this method, including the risk that the trends will change unpredictably, which is why we use a combination of methods and obtain information from a variety of sources.

We obtain information from a number of sources, both public and by purchase, including research materials prepared by third-parties, corporate rating services, annual reports, prospectuses and filings with the SEC and company press releases. We believe these resources for information are reliable and regularly depend on these resources for making our investment decisions; however, we are not responsible for the accuracy or completeness of this information.

Investment Strategies

We use a variety of investment strategies depending on your circumstances, financial objectives and needs. We may recommend implementing one or more of the following investment strategies: long-term purchases (held at least a year), short term purchases (held less than a year), trading (held less than 30 days), margin transactions (purchase of a security on credit extended by a securities company), and option writing (selling an option) or a combination of these strategies to help you meet your investment objectives.

Long-Term Purchases – The Long-Term assumption is that financial market values will increase over time (at least a year) and this may not happen. There is also the risk that the segment of the market you are invested in (or perhaps just your particular investment) will decrease over time even if overall stock market values increase. In addition, purchasing investments long-term may create an opportunity cost, “locking-up” assets that you may be better off using elsewhere.

Short-Term Purchases and Trading – Securities are purchased with the idea of selling them very quickly (typically within 30 days or less). This is done in an attempt to take advantage of predictions of brief price swings. The Short-Term strategy may produce higher gains however, the risk may be greater. Decision to use or not use short-term investments must be made in terms of the level of risk and the projected time frame for meeting your goals. In addition, securities held less than one year before selling it are classified, by the IRS, as a short-term capital gain and the profit is taxed as ordinary income.

Short sales – Short selling is the selling of a security that the seller does not own based on the assumption that the seller will be able to buy the stock at a lower amount than the price at which the seller sold short. Managers use short positions to reduce the risk of long positions purchased with money borrowed on margin. If correct and the stock price has gone down since the shares were borrowed from the original owner, the client account realizes the profit. As stock prices increase, short seller losses also increase as short sellers rush to buy the stock to cover their positions. This increase in demand, in turn, further drives the prices up, increasing losses.

Margin transactions – Stocks may be purchased for client portfolios with money borrowed from the broker. This allows the investor to purchase more stock than they would be able to with their available cash, and allows the purchase of stock without selling other holdings. A risk in margin trading is that, in volatile markets, securities prices can fall very quickly. If the value of the securities in your account minus what you owe the broker falls below a certain level, the broker will issue a “margin call”, and you will be required to sell your position in the security purchased on margin or add more cash to the account. In some circumstances, you may lose more money than you originally invested.

Option writing. An option is a contract that gives the buyer the right, but not the obligation, to buy or sell an asset (such as a share of stock) at a specific price on or before a certain date. An option, just like a stock or bond, is a security. An option is also a derivative, because it derives its value from an underlying asset. Options may be used to speculate on the possibility of a sharp price swing up or down.

We may recommend implementing these strategies using mutual funds (held directly or held within variable annuities or life insurance products), exchange traded funds and other types of investments. We often recommend mutual funds of different kinds to promote portfolio diversification within various asset classes, such as industry sectors, domestic/international, or equities/bonds. We may recommend periodic purchases, sales, and exchanges of those mutual fund shares within mutual fund families and between different mutual fund families when there are changes in your needs, market conditions, or economic developments.

Types of Investments and Risk of Loss

We offer advice about a wide variety of investment types, including mutual funds, index funds, exchange traded funds (“ETFs”), international securities and variable annuities, and publicly traded digital asset trusts, each having different types and levels of risk. We will discuss these risks with you in determining the investment objectives that will guide our investment advice for your account. We will explain and answer any questions you have about these kinds of investments, which present special considerations such as the following.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear. Obtaining higher rates of return on investments typically entails accepting higher levels of risk. We work with you to attempt to identify the balance of risks and rewards that is appropriate and comfortable for you. However, it is still your responsibility to ask questions if you do not fully understand the risks associated with any investment or investment strategy.

While we cannot foresee all potential risks, and many more exist than listed below, these are the most common risks investors face:

Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.

Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, ETF, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to market events or other factors. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular individual circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.

Inflation Risk: When inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar in the future, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation. Your investment may lose value if it is not keeping pace with inflation.

Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar relative to the currency of the investment's home country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.

International Risk: International investments may involve risk of capital loss from unfavorable fluctuations in currency exchange rates, differences in generally accepted accounting principles, or economic or political instability in other nations.

Reinvestment Risk: The risk that proceeds from maturing investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily affects fixed income securities.

Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risks to profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its debt obligations in good times and bad. The inability to meet debt obligations, in severe economic downturns, may result declining market value of the company's debt and equity securities or possibly even bankruptcy.

The previously mentioned risks will vary for each type of investment; therefore, we will diversify your account in an attempt to mitigate those risks. Nevertheless, diversification alone cannot eliminate the possibility of significant price declines. We will work with you to attempt to identify the balance of risk and reward that is appropriate and comfortable for you. However, it is still your responsibility to ask questions if you do not fully understand the risks associated with any investment or investment strategy.

Also, while we strive to render our best judgment on your behalf, many economic and market variables beyond our control can affect the performance of your investments and we cannot assure you that your investments will be profitable or assure you that no losses will occur in your investment portfolio. Past performance is one relatively important consideration with respect to any investment or investment advisor, but it is not a predictor of future performance.

Mutual Funds, Index Funds and Exchange-Traded Funds

Exchange traded products are types of securities that derive their value from a basket of securities such as stocks, bonds, commodities or indices and trade on exchanges during the day like individual stocks, while traditional mutual funds are priced once a day at the close. The value of our portfolio will fluctuate with the value of the underlying securities. ETFs trade like a stock, and there will be brokerage commissions associated with the buying and selling of the ETFs unless, trading occurs in a wrap fee program.

Mutual funds and ETFs that we typically use charge their shareholders various advisory fees and expenses associated with the establishment and operation of the funds. These fees will generally include a management fee, shareholder servicing, other fund expenses, and sometimes a distribution fee. If the fund also imposes sales charges, you may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. We generally use a combination of no-load retail and institutional class mutual funds that may or may not have transaction fees. When selecting a fund, we will consider a variety of factors including its expense ratio and other factors that may vary depending on the client. Based upon these and other considerations, in some instances we may choose a no transaction fee (“NTF” or no-load) share class having higher on-going fund expenses (which reduce the return of the fund) over an institutional share class that imposes transaction fees but has a lower on-going fund expense ratio. Our share class selections are based upon then available information and circumstances, which may later turn out differently for many reasons beyond our control, including your changing investment objectives, financial needs, or time horizon. These separate fees and expenses are disclosed in each fund’s current prospectus, which is available from the fund or we can provide it to you upon request.

Consequently, for any type of fund investment, it is important for you to understand that you are directly and indirectly paying two levels of advisory fees and expenses: one layer of fees at the fund level and one layer of advisory fees and expenses to us. Generally speaking, most mutual funds may be purchased directly, without using our services and without incurring our advisory fees.

Variable Annuities

Variable annuities are highly complex financial products offered by insurance companies. Investment in a variable annuity contract is subject to both general market risk and the insurance company’s credit risk. These and other risks are described in the variable annuities’ prospectuses. Variable annuities are regulated under both securities and insurance laws and related rules and regulations. Variable annuities offer various benefits and features which may or may not have value to you depending on your circumstances, which we can discuss with you. Like other types of investments, commissions are paid for the purchase of variable annuities and there may be substantial surrender charges. These commissions, surrender charges, and other expenses are disclosed in the prospectus.

Like mutual funds, insurance companies charge a variety of fees and charges against the assets invested in the separate accounts of their policy holders. As noted above, this means that there are two layers of advisory fees paid – one layer to the insurance company and one layer to our firm for our advisory services.

We do not generally recommend variable annuities due to substantial costs. However, if you come to us already owning variable annuities, and we determine that it is not suitable to liquidate them due to surrender charges, taxes, or other factors, we will review the separate accounts with you and provide investment advice concerning them, based upon our agreement with you.

ITEM 9: DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION

As a registered investment adviser, we must inform you of all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of our firm or the integrity of our management. We have no legal or disciplinary events to disclose.

ITEM 10: OTHER FINANCIAL INDUSTRY ACTIVITIES AND AFFILIATIONS

Mr. Carl Szasz is the owner of Verde Real Estate, LLC, which solely owns a commercial office building in Clarkston, MI. Mr. Szasz may offer existing clients advice or products from those activities, or tenants of Verde Real Estate, LLC, may become clients of Verde Capital Management, Inc. Therefore, a potential conflict of interest exists when we recommend that you rent office space in the building owned and managed by Verde Real Estate, LLC. To mitigate any conflict of interest, we do not require you or any client to rent office space through Verde Real Estate, LLC, or that tenants or employees of tenants become clients of Verde Capital Management, Inc. You are free to rent office space where you deem fit, and which best suits your needs and budget.

Mr. Szasz, Mr. Smart, Mr. Shepherd, Ms. Lundberg, and Mr. Yarosh are also certified by Sedera Health to act as affiliate sales representatives under Verde Capital Management, Inc., an affiliated organization with Sedera Health, to sell membership plans under Sedera Access+ and Sedera Select+ to individuals, families, organizations, and employers. Therefore, a potential conflict of interest exists when we recommend that you select to use Sedera Health's individual/family/employer plans in lieu of traditional health insurance products as part of our financial planning advice. To mitigate any conflict of interest, we do not require you to select to become a member of Sedera Health, and you are free to select the health care tools (member cost sharing or traditional health insurance) directly or from an unaffiliated insurance agent.

Ms. Tommi Harris is the owner of Parallel Insurance Agency, LLC, and is independently licensed to sell insurance products through various insurance companies. Although we do not provide Ms. Harris with additional compensation for her insurance sales, Ms. Harris receives commissions from insurance companies if you purchase insurance through her. The receipt of this compensation creates a conflict of interest. To mitigate this conflict of interest, we do not require you to purchase any recommended insurance products from Ms. Harris, and you can choose to purchase insurance through other unaffiliated insurance agents.

ITEM 11: CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING

We have adopted a Code of Ethics (the “Code”) describing the standards of business conduct we expect all officers, directors, employees, and advisory representatives to follow. The Code also describes certain reporting requirements with which particular individuals associated with or employed by us must comply. We will provide a free copy of the Code to you upon request.

Our principals and representatives will often own the same securities we recommend to you or our other clients. Generally, these securities will be shares of open ended mutual funds or stocks and bonds actively traded on a national securities exchange or market where the time and size of their purchases or sales will not affect transactions for you or our other clients. If we do recommend the purchase or sale of a thinly traded security to you, we will ensure that our principals’ and representatives’ transactions do not adversely affect you nor improperly benefit them, typically by completing our principals’ and representatives’ transactions after all your and other client transactions have been made. Orders for your account and our own accounts may sometimes be aggregated or “batched” into one large order as described in “BROKERAGE PRACTICES” starting on page .

You may request a copy of our Code by contacting our President, Carl Szasz at (248) 528-1870 or carlszasz@verdecmm.com.

ITEM 12: BROKERAGE PRACTICES

Directed Brokerage & Soft Dollars

Custodians/broker-dealers will be recommended based on Verde Capital Management's duty to seek "best execution," which is the obligation to seek to execute securities transactions for a client on terms that are the most favorable to the client under the circumstances. The client will not necessarily pay the lowest commission or commission equivalent, and Verde Capital Management may also consider the market expertise and research access provided by the payment of commissions, including but not limited to access to written research, oral communication with analysts, admittance to research conferences and other resources provided by the brokers to aid in the research efforts of Verde Capital Management. Verde Capital Management will never charge a premium or commission on transactions, beyond the actual cost imposed by the broker-dealer/custodian.

Verde Capital Management recommends Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services, for Verde Intelligent Portfolio service level participants. Verde Capital Management is separate and unaffiliated from Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services, TD Ameritrade Institutional, TradePMR, and Interactive Brokers.

1. Research and Other Soft Dollar Benefits

Verde Capital Management has access to research, products, or other services from its broker/dealer in connection with client securities transactions ("soft dollar benefits") consistent with (and not outside of) the safe harbor contained in Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and may consider these benefits in recommending brokers. There can be no assurance that any particular client will benefit from any particular soft dollar research or other benefits. Verde Capital Management benefits by not having to produce or pay for the research, products or services, and Verde Capital Management will have an incentive to recommend a broker dealer based on receiving research or services. Clients should be aware that Verde Capital Management's acceptance of soft dollar benefits may result in higher commissions charged to the client.

2. Brokerage for Client Referrals

Verde Capital Management receives no referrals from a broker-dealer or third party in exchange for using that broker-dealer or third party.

Aggregation of Orders

Schwab Institutional Intelligent Portfolios trade orders are generally aggregated to ensure that clients on the platform – regardless of the advisor or the assets in the account – get the same average price on trades on the same fund and on the same side (buy vs. sell). Thus, Schwab Institutional Intelligent Portfolios strives to deliver the same price to all participants on the platform and does so across the platform level and not by advisor, strategy, or client portfolio.

On a daily basis, the Schwab Institutional Intelligent Portfolios algorithm checks to determine if asset class weights remain within the drift tolerance set by Verde Capital Management, Inc.. If an asset class has drifted above its target allocation by a sufficient amount, the asset class is sold to bring it back to its target allocation. The cash received from the sale is allocated to the asset classes that are underweight. If an asset class has drifted below its target allocation by a sufficient amount, additional shares of the asset class are bought to bring it up to its target allocation. To make this purchase, overweight asset classes are sold down until there is enough cash to make the purchase. The drift parameters are set by Verde Capital Management, Inc. for each asset class.

ITEM 13: REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

The frequency and triggering factors for internal account reviews depend upon the services we provide to you. We are available to meet with you on an annual basis to review your account. Our advisory representatives share responsibility for these reviews.

You must contact us when a real or potential change in your financial condition occurs so we can review the portfolio along with your new information to ensure the investment strategies continue to be appropriate.

ITEM 14: CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services provides Verde Capital Management with access to Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services' institutional

trading and custody services, which are typically not available to Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services retail investors. These services generally are available to independent investment advisers on an unsolicited basis, at no charge to them so long as a total of at least $10 million of the adviser's clients' assets are maintained in accounts at Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services. Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services includes brokerage services that are related to the execution of securities transactions, custody, research, including that in the form of advice, analyses and reports, and access to mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise generally available only to institutional investors or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment. For Verde Capital Management client accounts maintained in its custody, Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services generally does not charge separately for custody services but is compensated by account holders through commissions or other transaction-related or asset-based fees for securities trades that are executed through Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services or that settle into Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services accounts.

Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services also makes available to Verde Capital Management other products and services that benefit Verde Capital Management but may not benefit its clients' accounts. These benefits may include national, regional or Verde Capital Management specific educational events organized and/or sponsored by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services. Other potential benefits may include occasional business entertainment of personnel of Verde Capital Management by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services personnel, including meals, invitations to sporting events, including golf tournaments, and other forms of entertainment, some of which may accompany educational opportunities. Other of these products and services assist Verde Capital Management in managing and administering clients' accounts. These include software and other technology (and related technological training) that provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements), facilitate trade execution (and allocation of aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts, if applicable), provide research, pricing information and other market data, facilitate payment of Verde Capital Management's fees from its clients' accounts (if applicable), and assist with back-office training and support functions, recordkeeping and client reporting. Many of these services generally may be used to service all or some substantial number of Verde Capital Management's accounts. Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services also makes available to Verde Capital Management other services intended to help Verde Capital Management manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services may include professional compliance, legal and business consulting, publications and conferences on practice management, information technology, business succession, regulatory compliance, employee benefits providers, and human capital consultants, insurance and marketing. In addition, Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services may make available, arrange and/or pay vendors for these types of services rendered to Verde Capital Management by independent third parties. Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services may discount or waive fees it would otherwise charge for some of these services or pay all or a part of the fees of a third-party providing these services to Verde Capital Management. Verde Capital Management is independently owned and operated and not affiliated with Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services.

Verde Capital Management may recommend Sedera Health (plans include Sedera Access Plus and Sedera Select Plus), a medical cost sharing program, to some clients as an alternative to traditional health insurance. There is no direct link between Verde Capital Management and the advice it gives to its clients to become a Sedera Health Member, although Verde Capital Management receives economic benefits when individuals, businesses, and/or employers, including Verde Capital Management clients, choose to sign up with Sedera Health under the Verde Capital Management affiliation program. Clients, individuals, businesses, and employers may choose to sign up with Sedera Health directly, and bypass the Verde Capital Management affiliation program. If direct participation with Sedera Health is used instead, Verde Capital Management will not receive an economic benefit due to a client, individual, business, or employer participating with Sedera Health. There is no change in price for either Sedera Access Plus or Sedera Select Plus if an individual, client, business, and/or employer chooses direct participation with Sedera Health over participation in the Verde Capital Management affiliation program. Verde Capital Management Investment and Service Advisors who refer an individual, client, business, or employer to Sedera Health, that then selects to participate with Sedera Health under the affiliation program, also receive an economic benefit.

ITEM 15: CUSTODY

You will receive statements from the broker-dealer or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains your investment assets at least quarterly. We urge you to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account statements that we may provide to you, as described in the “REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS” beginning on page 10. Our statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Custody is disclosed in Form ADV because Verde Capital Management has authority to transfer money from client account(s), which constitutes a standing letter of authorization (SLOA). Verde Capital Management also has custody for the purposes of maintaining client login credentials for limited held-away accounts not custodied through one of Verde’s qualified custodians (e.g. an employer sponsored retirement plan, or a health savings account). Verde also has custody for the purposes of direct fee deduction, and for Verde or a related person is a trustee or POA for a Verde Capital Management client.

ITEM 16: INVESTMENT DISCRETION

We generally receive discretionary authority in writing from clients at the outset of an advisory relationship in the investment management agreement. If you choose to do so, discretionary authority grants us the ability to determine, without obtaining your specific consent, the securities to be bought or sold for your portfolio and the amount of securities to be bought or sold. As described in more detail in “ADVISORY BUSINESS” beginning on page , you may establish written investment guidelines and restrictions. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with your stated investment objectives for the account and by considering the size of your account and your risk tolerance. When selecting securities and determining amounts, we observe any investment policies, limitations and restrictions you provide to us in writing.

Also, you may sign an agreement with your custodian which generally includes a limited power of attorney granting us authority to direct and implement the investment and reinvestment of your assets within the account, but not direct the assets outside of the account.

ITEM 17: VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

As a matter of firm policy and practice, we will not be responsible for responding to proxies that are solicited with respect to annual or special meetings of shareholders of securities held in your account. Proxy solicitation materials will be forwarded to you by your custodian for response and voting.

ITEM 18: FINANCIAL INFORMATION

As a registered investment adviser, we must provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about our financial condition if we have financial commitments that impair our ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to you. We have not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding and do not have any financial commitments that would impair our ability to meet any contractual or fiduciary commitments to you.

Verde Capital Management applied for and received a loan in the principal amount of $186,900.00 under the Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) authorized pursuant to the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act. The PPP is a forgivable loan available to businesses who, because of the economic uncertainty relating to the pandemic, desire to retain and continue paying employees and so use the loan to support ongoing operations. Market volatility has and we expect will continue to adversely impact our business. In addition, state-issued “stay at home” and related orders, including work-place protocols for safely conducting business going forward, have and will continue to require significant unanticipated operating expenses to be incurred. Like thousands of small businesses who have been adversely impacted by the pandemic, we took advantage of the CARES Act’s support and obtained a forgivable PPP loan in order to meet these extraordinary operational and financial challenges. We have used the proceeds of the PPP loan to pay for payroll and other expenses specifically permitted under the PPP.
