Item 4 – Advisory Business

FEG Investment Services, LLC (referred to hereafter as the “Manager”) was formed in 2016 and is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Fund Evaluation Group, LLC (“FEG”), a registered investment advisor. The Manager provides investment advisory services to one client, FEG Select, LLC (Select), an unregistered private fund (the “Fund”).

FEG Select is a Delaware series limited liability company capable of investing across a broad range of asset classes. FEG Select contains a number of separate series, for individual and multiple strategies, as identified in FEG Select’s operating agreement. Each series is treated as a separate legal entity to avoid cross-contamination. Each series invests into either one or more commingled funds or private fund (“Underlying Fund”), or separately managed account (“SMA”). The minimum investment into FEG Select is $1 million, subject to waiver by the Manager. FEG Select is available for investment by FEG’s qualified discretionary and non-discretionary investors. FEG Select is structured as a 3(c)7 exempt private investment vehicle suitable for investors that are both “accredited investors” and “qualified purchasers,” each as defined in the FEG Select subscription agreement.

The Manager serves as the managing member of FEG Select and each series. The Manager also has overall responsibility for managing and administering the business affairs and investment objectives of FEG Select.

The Manager engages various third-party managers (“Underlying Managers”) to manage FEG Select’s assets. Each Underlying Manager will generally have full authority for making the investment decisions and overseeing the execution of such investment decisions. For each Series structured as a SMA, the Underlying Manager(s) are considered Sub-Advisers of the Manager. The Manager is responsible for identifying and overseeing the Underlying Manager and Sub-Advisers for FEG Select.

FEG Select was formed to pool investments of investors for the purpose of investing assets with various funds managed by Underlying Managers or separately managed accounts, managed by Sub-Advisers that are selected by the Manager. Each Underlying Fund has its own prospectus or private placement memorandum (“PPM”), which includes important disclosures with respect to investment related risks, market considerations, fees and other potential conflict issues, and other disclosures as are determined appropriate by the Underlying Managers. The SMA’s primarily make investments directly in certain securities selected by a Sub-Adviser.

Each Series is managed only in accordance with its own investment objectives and restrictions and is not tailored to any particular individual investor (“Investor”). Since FEG Investment Services does not provide individualized advice to Investors, Investors should consider whether a particular Series meets their investment objectives and risk tolerance prior to investing. The Manager does not permit Investors in FEG Select to impose limitations on the investment activity described in the Underlying Funds’ offering documents. Information about each Underlying Fund can be found in its offering documents, including its prospectus, PPM and other offering documents.

As of December 31, 2023, the Manager has $1,858,677,510 in discretionary assets under management.

All investors should be aware that past performance is no guarantee of future results.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

Management Fees

FEG Select, LLC, charges a 0.12% management fee annually to all investors that do not have an investment advisory agreement in place with FEG. This fee is waived for all investors with existing investment advisory agreements with FEG. If investors terminate their investment advisory agreement with FEG, they will be charged a 0.12% management fee. Fees are based on asset value and are paid quarterly in arrears. All fees charged by the Manager are subject to negotiation. In addition to the management fee, the Funds also bear their own organizational and operating expenses. This includes expenses for audit, legal, fund administration, custody, compliance, and tax-related fees.

Sub-Adviser Fees

For the SMA's, the Manager has sub-advisory agreements in place with multiple investment advisers to manage the assets of certain Series of FEG Select.

In accordance with the sub-advisory agreements, each respective SMA Series pays the sub-advisers as follows:

Series Name	Sub-adviser Name	Annual Mgmt. Fee	Performance Fee
FEG Select Structured US Equity Series	Pacific Investment Management Company (PIMCO)	.10%	15% of excess return`
FEG Select Structured International Equity Series	PIMCO	.12%	15% of excess return
FEG Select Core Fixed Income Series	Barrow, Hanley, Mewhinney & Strauss	.14%	None
FEG Select Core Bond Plus Series	Doubleline Capital	.25% of the first $250 million .23% of the next $250 million .20% of the next $250 million .18% of the next $250 million .16% of the next $1 billion .15% over $2 billion Fee schedule subject to $100 million minimum AUM	None
FEG Select Global REIT Series I	AEW Capital Management	.10%	20% of excess return

Underlying Fund Fees

In addition to the management fee described above, the Underlying Funds are generally subject to their pro rata portion of any fees charged by the Underlying Funds. These fees typically include a management fee and in some cases an incentive fee arrangement. In addition, each Underlying Fund will generally pay the costs and expenses of the Underlying Fund, including: organizational expenses; liquidation expenses; expenses related to audits of the Underlying Funds; preparation of tax returns; costs of preparing and distributing financial statements and other reports to and other communications with the partners.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Currently, FEG Investment Services, LLC does not charge any performance-based fee to its clients. However, certain investors in Select pay performance-based fees for their investments which are paid directly to certain applicable Underlying Managers and/or Sub-advisers. Investors are strongly encouraged to carefully read the offering documents of Underlying Managers for full disclosure relating to fees and expenses.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

The Manager provides investment advisory services to one client, FEG Select, LLC. FEG Select is a Delaware series limited liability company capable of investing across a broad range of assets. It is structured as a 3(c)-7 exempt private investment vehicle suitable for accredited investors and qualified purchasers. FEG Select contains multiple separate series for various strategies, as identified in FEG Select's operating agreement. Under Delaware law, each series is treated as a separate legal entity to avoid cross-contamination. Each series invests into either one or more commingled funds, private funds, or separately managed accounts.

Investors in the Fund primarily include institutional investors (e.g., endowments, community foundations, corporate, higher education, charitable, healthcare, etc.) who meet the terms of the exemption under which the Fund operates and wish to invest in accordance with a particular Underlying Fund's or series' investment objective.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Underlying Fund Manager/Sub-Adviser Selection

FEG Select's primary investment objective is to allow investors to gain exposure to select fund managers at lower investment minimums than would be required for a direct investment in any Underlying Fund or SMA. The Manager seeks to accomplish this by leveraging sourcing advantages and employing an ongoing consistent diligence approach.

For Underlying Funds, each Underlying Fund Manager generally has full authority for making the investment decisions and overseeing the execution of such investment decisions. The Manager is responsible for identifying and overseeing the Underlying Fund Manager.

The objective of Select is to maintain a portfolio of traditional and alternative asset strategies that investors can utilize to meet their individual investment objectives. Select allocates its assets among various series depending on the type of asset categories, such as U.S. equity, emerging markets equity, fixed income, private equity, etc. These series are structured as commingled funds and/or separately managed accounts.

FEG's Investment Philosophy

The Manager will capitalize on the experience of FEG and its various departments. FEG's investment philosophy serves as the basis for the investment solutions the Manager provides its clients and is predicated upon the following four philosophical tenets:

- Independence: 100% of revenue is derived from providing investment advisory services, with no affiliations with broker dealers. It is essential for objective decision-making.
- Ardency: Rigorous due diligence uncovers opportunities that preserve value and provide growth.
- Prudence: Deliberate portfolio design commensurate with risk tolerance, market opportunities, and competitive advantages yields success.
- Alignment: Outcomes improve when resources and objectives are aligned.

Manager Selection

FEG believes investment firms that meet its quality threshold on organizational structure, personnel, investment philosophy, and performance must also demonstrate key attributes to be included on the recommended list. FEG's research process uses the following six tenets:

- Conviction: Strong belief in the investment philosophy; willing to put investment decisions ahead of business decisions; invests alongside of clients to promote aligned interests
- Consistency: Stability of organizational structure, solid composition of the investment professionals, strong investment philosophy and processes
- Pragmatism: Understand core strengths; can capitalize and sustain their competitive edge
- Culture: Strong ethical foundation; passionate about investing; proper organizational and compensation structure; culture pervades across organization
- Risk Control: Not blind risk takers, but risk conscious; acknowledge mistakes; robust and effective risk mitigation
- Active Return: Ability to identify and profit from investment opportunities; successful track record

Due Diligence

Before FEG determines that an investment manager's strategy qualifies for inclusion on its recommended list, it assesses the manager and strategy on rigorous quantitative and qualitative factors, its research team evaluates managers based on the quality of the firm, strategy, philosophy, investment process, professionals, and performance. Once managers and strategies meet FEG's initial requirements, further due diligence is performed, which includes in-depth contact with investment professionals. Depending on the strategy, FEG's initial and on-going due diligence process may vary. More complex strategies require more extensive due diligence, while simplistic strategies in highly regulated structures, such as index funds, may require less rigor. FEG's Investment Committee determines the extent of required due diligence for each type of manager and strategy. FEG's investment professionals meet on a regular basis to discuss the changing market conditions and manager performance.

The Manager may also include Underlying Funds rated A1 by FEG. Similar in quality to a recommended strategy, but, due to certain factors, they are not recommended. These factors include, but are not limited to, sufficient equivalent options already on FEG's recommended list, or a different strategy or vehicle than preferred by FEG.

Risk of Loss and Other Risks

Investing in securities and other financial instruments involves risk of loss that investors should be prepared to bear. Summarized below are certain important risks for investors and prospective investors to consider.

- Equity Securities Investing: The Underlying Fund Managers' investments in equity securities may involve substantial risks and may be subject to wide and sudden fluctuations in market value, with resulting fluctuations in the relevant underlying Fund's profits and losses. The values of equity securities, such as common stocks and preferred stocks, may decline due to general market conditions that are not related to a specific company, such as: real or perceived adverse economic conditions; changes in the general outlook for corporate earnings; and changes in interest or currency rates or adverse investor sentiment generally. The value of equity securities may also decline due to factors that affect a particular industry or industries, such as workforce shortages or increased production costs and competitive conditions within an industry.
- Derivative Securities Investing: Some of the Underlying Fund Managers may use options, swaps, futures contracts, forward agreements and other derivatives contracts. Transactions in derivative instruments present risks arising from the use of leverage (which increases the magnitude of losses), volatility, the possibility of default by a counterparty and illiquidity. Use of derivative instruments for hedging or speculative purposes by the Underlying Fund Managers could present significant risks, including the risk of losses in excess of the amounts invested.
- Investment in Emerging Markets: In addition to the risks associated with investments outside of the United States, investments in emerging markets (i.e., developing countries) may involve additional risks. Emerging markets generally are not as efficient as those in developed countries. In some cases, a market for the security may not exist locally, and transactions will need to be made on a neighboring exchange. Volume and liquidity levels in emerging markets are lower than in developed countries. When seeking to sell emerging market securities, little or no market may exist for the securities. In addition, issuers based in emerging markets are not generally subject to uniform accounting and financial reporting standards, practices and requirements comparable to those applicable to issuers based in developed countries, thereby potentially increasing the risk of fraud or other deceptive practices. Furthermore, the quality and reliability of official data published by the government or securities exchanges in emerging markets may not accurately reflect the actual circumstances being reported.
- Currency Risk: In trading on non-U.S. exchanges and markets, the investments will be subject to the risk of fluctuations in the currency exchange rate between the local currency and the U.S. dollar and to the possibility of exchange controls.
- Trading Decisions Based on Underlying Manager Judgment: The success of each Underlying Manager in which the Funds invest depends in large part on the ability of the Underlying Manager to accurately assess the markets in which it trades. An accurate assessment of financial markets depends on a complex analysis of a number of financial and legal factors. No assurance can be given that an Underlying Manager will be in a position to assess the nature and magnitude of all material factors having a bearing on the markets in which it trades, or that an Underlying Manager will accurately assess the impact of all factors of which it is aware.

- Reliance on the Sub-Adviser and its Personnel: Under the applicable sub-advisory agreement in respect to certain series within FEG Select, a Sub-Adviser has complete discretion in selecting portfolio investments on behalf of that series. The success of a series depends, to a great extent, on a Sub-Adviser's ability to identify favorable investment opportunities and to effectively allocate the assets of the Fund among such opportunities. Accordingly, an investor's success will depend substantially on the skill and acumen of key employees of that Sub-Adviser. If a Sub-Adviser or any Sub-Adviser's key employees should cease to participate in that series' business, the ability to select attractive investments and manage its portfolio could be impaired. In addition, to the extent a sub-advisory agreement is terminated for any reason, either by the applicable Sub-Adviser or the Manager there is no assurance that any replacement Sub-adviser engaged by the Manager will have equivalent experience, skill or resources as the existing Sub-Adviser.
- Illiquid Securities of Underlying Investments: The Underlying Funds in which the Fund invests may be unregistered, and interests therein are subject to legal or other restrictions on transfer. It may be impossible for the Fund to withdraw its interests in such Underlying Funds when desired or to realize their fair value in the event of such withdrawals. Certain Underlying Funds may permit withdrawals only on a semi-annual, annual, or less frequent basis or be subject to "lock-ups" (where investors are prohibited from withdrawing their capital for a specified period following investment in such fund) and/or "gates" (where withdrawal at any given withdrawal date is restricted to a specified percentage of the Underlying Fund's assets). The Manager has no control over the liquidity of the Underlying Funds and depends on the Underlying Fund Managers to provide valuations as well as liquidity in order to process repurchases.
- Multiple Levels of Fees and Expenses: By investing in Underlying Funds indirectly through the Fund, the investor bears asset-based fees and expense allocations at the Fund level, as well as asset-based and performance-based fees and expense allocations at the Underlying Fund level. Specifically, an investor in the Fund bears a proportionate share of the fees and expenses of the Fund including, among other things, organizational expenses, operating costs, and administrative fees, and similar expenses of the Underlying Fund. Thus, an investor in the Funds may be subject to higher operating expenses than if they invested in an Underlying Fund directly or in a fund that did not utilize a "fund of funds" structure.
- Security Selection Risk: The value of an individual security and, similarly, the value of an investment in that security, may rise or fall. FEG's investment processes for a particular strategy may favor specific securities, industries or sectors that underperform investments in other securities, industries, sectors, or the market generally.
- Valuation of the Fund's Interests: Securities in which the Underlying Fund Managers invest may not have a readily ascertainable market price and will be valued by those firms. Valuations of the securities could prove in hindsight to have been wrong, and at times by significant amounts. Although prior to investing in any Underlying Funds, FEG will conduct a due diligence review of the valuation methodology utilized by such funds, no assurances can be given that FEG will be given access to necessary aspects of the Underlying Manager's systems, that such due diligence review will ascertain whether accurate valuations will be provided by such funds to FEG, that the underlying investment funds will comply with their own internal policies or procedures for keeping records or making valuations, or that the funds' policies and procedures and systems will not change without notice to the Fund. Moreover, FEG will not generally have sufficient information in order to be able to confirm or review the accuracy of valuations provided by Underlying Fund Managers.

- Management Risk: Actively managed strategies are subject to management risk. The Underlying Fund Managers apply investment techniques and risk analyses in making investment decisions, but there can be no guarantee that these techniques will produce the desired results. Additionally, the securities selected by the portfolio managers of the Underlying Funds may underperform the markets in general, the account's benchmark and other accounts with similar investment objectives. The Manager is not able to control the investments or operations of the Underlying Funds. An Underlying Fund Manager may employ investment strategies that differ from its past practices and are not fully disclosed to the Manager and that involve risks that are not anticipated by the Manager. Some Underlying Fund Managers may have a limited operating history, and some may have limited experience in executing one or more investment strategies to be employed for its fund. Furthermore, notwithstanding the Manager's risk monitoring of the Underlying Manager and its funds, there is no guarantee that the information and reports given to the Manager with respect to the Underlying Fund's investments will not be fraudulent, inaccurate, or incomplete.
- Data Sources Risks: FEG uses external software applications to analyze performance attribution and to assist in investment decision-making or investment research. As a result, if information that FEG receives from a third-party data source is incorrect, FEG may not achieve the desired results. Although FEG has found the third-party data sources to be generally reliable, FEG typically receives these services "as is" and cannot guarantee that the data received from these sources is accurate.
- Business Continuity, Technology and Cyber Security Risks: The Manager depends heavily on telecommunication, information technology and other operational systems, whether the Manager's or those of others (e.g., custodians, fund administrators and other parties to which the Manager outsources the provision of services or business operations). These systems may fail to operate properly or become disabled as a result of events or circumstances wholly or partly beyond the Manager's control, such as a pandemic, global unrest, natural disasters, etc. Further, despite implementation of a variety of risk management and security measures, the Manager's information technology and other systems, and those of others, could be subject to physical or electronic break-ins, unauthorized tampering, or other security breaches, resulting in a failure to maintain the security, availability, integrity and confidentiality of data assets. Technology failures or cyber security breaches, whether deliberate or unintentional, including those arising from use of third-party service providers, could delay or disrupt our ability to do business and service our investors, harm our reputation, result in a violation of applicable privacy and other laws, require additional compliance costs, subject us to regulatory inquiries or proceedings and other claims, lead to a loss of investors and revenues or financial loss to our investors or otherwise adversely affect our business.
- Pandemics and Other Public Health Threats: Widespread threats to public health can have a dramatic negative impact on the global economy and financial markets. For example, the global outbreak of the novel COVID-19 or "coronavirus" in early 2020 materially and adversely slowed global commercial activity, contributed to significant volatility in financial markets, and caused a global recession and significant loss of employment. Such pandemics and the related curtailment in personal and commercial activity, often have a material adverse impact on economic and market conditions for years to come and it may take businesses and economies a significant amount of time to recover, and recovery may be slow and uneven. These uncertainties could have a material adverse effect on the business, financial condition, and operational results of the Underlying Fund Managers in which the Fund invests. Any impact on such Underlying Fund Managers could adversely affect their performance and thereby the performance of the Fund. The extent to which pandemics and/or other public health threats will affect the Fund and its Underlying Fund Managers will depend on future developments, which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted, including new information that may emerge concerning the severity of such incidents and the actions taken to contain them.

- Global Geopolitical Risks - War and Terrorism Threats: Global geopolitical risks have resulted in measurable negative effects on global economic activity. Wars and terrorism exert a drag on the global economy, are prone to increase inflation, effect turmoil in commodity and financial markets, destroy human and physical capital, often shift resources to less efficient uses, divert international trade and capital flows, and disrupt global supply chains, as well as erode consumer confidence. These uncertainties could have a material adverse effect on the business, financial condition, and operational results of the Underlying Fund Managers in which the Fund invests. Any impact on such Underlying Fund Managers could adversely affect their performance and thereby the performance of the Fund. The extent to which a war or act of terrorism may affect the Fund and its Underlying Fund Managers will depend on the severity and duration of the war or act of terrorism, which may drag on for years and cannot be predicted.
- Risks Related to Regulation: Laws and regulations affecting our business change from time to time. We cannot predict the effects, if any, of future legal and regulatory changes on our business or the services we provide.
- Risks Related to Conflicts of Interest: Various conflicts of interest are discussed throughout this document. The officers and employees of FEG are required to devote their time to the activities of the Fund as may be reasonably required to further the business affairs and activities of the Fund. FEG is involved in other business ventures and may organize or become involved in other business ventures in the future. Neither the Funds nor any investor will share in the risks or rewards of FEG that are derived from such other ventures. Such other ventures, however, will compete for the time and attention of such agents of FEG and might create other conflicts of interest. In addition, Underlying Managers may trade for accounts other than the Fund and may have an incentive to favor those accounts over the Fund as they may have investments in those accounts or receive greater compensation for managing them than they do for managing the Fund's investment. Similarly, FEG currently manages other accounts and may have an incentive to favor those accounts over the Funds as it may have investments in those accounts or receive greater compensation for managing them than they do for managing the Fund. Please review this information carefully and contact us if you have any questions.
- Risk Related to Funds Not Registered: The Manager invests in certain funds that are not registered as investment companies under the Investment Company Act and, therefore, the investor will not have the benefit of various protections afforded by the Investment Company Act with respect to its investment in Underlying Funds. In addition, some Underlying Fund Managers will not be registered as investment advisers under the Investment Advisers Act in reliance on certain exceptions or exemptions from registration under that Act. In such cases, Underlying Fund Managers will not be subject to various disclosure requirements that would apply to registered advisers. As an investor in the Underlying Funds managed by Fund Managers that are not registered as investment advisers, the investor will not have the benefit of certain of the protections of the Investment Advisers Act.

Investors should refer to the applicable fund governing documents for further information concerning risks.

FEG will maintain records of which clients have expressed an interest in private placement investment opportunities and are eligible to invest in such opportunities ("Eligible Clients"), as well as which clients have been offered and have participated in private placement investment opportunities. FEG will generally seek to allocate the investment opportunity in the full amount requested by each Eligible Client. Where such allocation is not feasible, such as due to the capacity limitations of the investment, FEG will allocate the investment opportunity pro rata among all Eligible Clients, unless FEG determines in good faith that specific factors and applicable restrictions necessitate an allocation other than pro-rata. In the event that more than one client (including any of FEG's employees) is eligible to invest in a private placement investment opportunity under consideration by FEG, the firm will seek to allocate the investment opportunity in a fair and equitable manner after consideration of relevant and applicable factors, which may include but are not limited to:
