Item 4: Advisory Business

Firm Description

Statherós Financial Solutions, Inc., (“the Advisor”) was founded in 2019 and is an SEC registered investment advisor.

Statherós Financial Solutions, Inc. is succeeding to the business of a registered investment adviser due to a change in the ownership structure of our predecessor investment advisory firm, PGR Solutions, LLC.

The Advisor provides personalized investment management and financial planning to individuals, pension and profit-sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations and small businesses. Advice is provided through consultation with the client and may include: determination of financial objectives, identification of financial problems, cash flow management, tax planning, insurance review, investment management, education funding, retirement planning, and estate planning. In additions to investment management the Advisor provides administrative and portfolio support services to other third-party investment managers and/or registered representatives of broker dealers and also provides retirement plan advisory and consulting services to qualified retirement plan sponsors.

The Advisor is a fee-only investment management firm and does not sell securities on a commission basis. However, there may be some associated persons who are in other fields where they receive commissions as compensation. In addition, some associates may serve at the pleasure of their client as a trustee, board member, or in a similar capacity. All such relationships are fully disclosed and subject to the review of management.

The firm is not affiliated with entities that sell financial products or securities.

Investment advice is provided, with the client making the final decision on investment selection. The Advisor does not act as a custodian of client assets and the client always maintains asset control.

Other professionals (e.g., lawyers, accountants, insurance agents, etc.) are engaged directly by the client on an as-needed basis. Any conflicts of interest arising out of the Advisor or its associated persons are disclosed in this brochure.

Principal Owners

Jake Parsons 88% stockholder, Kelly Roemers 10% stockholder, other 2% stockholder

Types of Advisory Services

The Advisor provides investment supervisory services, also known as asset management services and manages investment Advisory accounts not involving investment supervisory services. On more than an occasional basis, the Advisor furnishes advice to clients on matters not involving securities, such as financial planning matters, investment management administration, retirement plan consulting and administrative services and actuarial services. The Advisor does not offer wrap fee programs.

As of December 31, 2023, Statherós Financial Solutions, Inc. manages approximately $705,224,000 in discretionary assets for approximately 624 clients.

Types of Agreements

The following agreements define the typical client relationships. Agreements may not be assigned without client consent.

Statherós Financial Solutions, Inc. 2024

Form ADV Part 2A

Retirement Plan Services Agreement

The Advisor provides retirement plan advisory services to qualified retirement plan sponsors. These Advisory services generally include employee education and enrollment meetings and investment management and discretionary advisory services to the Plan Sponsor and/or its employees in accordance with the Plans' Investment Policy Statements. Additional services include but are not limited to file maintenance, and access to model allocations.

Asset Management

Assets are invested primarily in no-load or low-load mutual funds and exchange traded funds ("ETFs"), usually through Qualified Custodians ("Custodians") and/or fund companies. Fund companies charge each fund shareholder an investment management fee that is disclosed in the fund prospectus. Custodians may charge a transaction fee for the purchase of some funds.

Stocks and bonds transferred to Advisor will be sold through a brokerage account as needed, usually as an accommodation or when transacting legacy securities. The brokerage firm charges a fee for stock and bond trades.

The Advisor does not receive any compensation, in any form, from fund companies.

Initial public offerings (IPOs) are not available through the Advisor.

Termination of Agreement

The client may terminate immediately Advisor's investment management services within five (5) days of signing the agreement and will not be charged a fee provided no assets have transferred to the account. After then, the investment management agreement may be terminated at any time by mutual consent of the parties, or without such consent, by either party giving to the other party written notice of termination concurrent with or in advance of the termination date. If the agreement is terminated, client will only be charged a pro-rated fee up through the date assets are transferred out of the account managed by Advisor.

The third-party investment management services may be terminated by either party with written or verbal notice concurrent with or in advance of the effective termination date. Prepaid investment management fees, if any, will be returned to the third party.

The retirement plan consulting and administrative services may be terminated by either party with written notice 30 days prior to the effective termination date.

The Advisor reserves the right to stop work on any account that is more than 30 days overdue. In addition, the Advisor reserves the right to terminate any financial planning engagement where a client has willfully concealed or has refused to provide pertinent information about financial situations when necessary and appropriate, in the Advisor's judgment, to providing proper financial advice.

IRA Rollover Recommendations

Effective December 20, 2021 (or such later date as the US Department of Labor ("DOL") Field Assistance Bulletin 2018-02 ceases to be in effect), for purposes of complying with the DOL's Prohibited Transaction Exemption 2020-02 ("PTE 2020-02") where applicable, we are providing the following acknowledgment to you.

When we provide investment advice to you regarding your retirement plan account or individual retirement account, we are fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests, so we operate under a special rule that requires us to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. Under this special rule's provisions, we must:

- Meet a professional standard of care when making investment recommendations (give prudent advice);
- Never put our financial interests ahead of yours when making recommendations (give loyal advice);
- Avoid misleading statements about conflicts of interest, fees, and investments;
- Follow policies and procedures designed to ensure that we give advice that is in your best interest;
- Charge no more than is reasonable for our services; and
- Give you basic information about conflicts of interest.

Item 5: Fees and Compensation

Full-Service Administrative Services

Statherós offers Full-Service Administration services to third party unaffiliated investment advisors and broker-dealers. The firms that utilize Administration services receive access to model portfolios managed by Advisor as well as administrative support as a solution to their back-office and trading needs. These services may have been offered in the past under other names but the fees did not exceed those shown below.

The benefit to the firms is that it allows them to focus their efforts on building their business and servicing clients. The firms' clients sign Advisor's administrative service agreement but are not considered clients of Advisor for purposes of calculating AUM unless clients invest in the Advisor's managed model portfolios. For accounts opened through the Full-Service Administration program, Advisor collects the administrative service fees as follows:

Annualized Full-Service Administrative Services Fees
Account Value From	Account Value To	Annual Percentage Fee
$0	$499,999	Not to Exceed 0.38%
The next $500,000	$999,999	Not to Exceed 0.36%
Over $1,000,000		Not to Exceed 0.26%

These fees are tiered in that the stated fee is applied to each portion of the client's average daily balance. The above annual fees are charged quarterly in arrears. The Advisor at its sole discretion may elect to charge a fee different from the above schedule or waive the fee entirely. The Advisor does not make any representation that these services are at the lowest cost available and the third-party advisors and their clients may be able to obtain those services at a more favorable rate from other providers. Any prepaid administrative fees will be returned to the third party.

Retirement Plan Advisory Services

Advisory Fees for Retirement Plan accounts are payable quarterly in arrears and are calculated based on the account balance on the last day of each quarter. The maximum percentage annual fee charged on each tier is based on the following schedule:

Statherós Financial Solutions, Inc. 2024

Form ADV Part 2A

Annualized Retirement Plan Advisory Fees
Account Value From	Account Value To	Annual Percentage Fee
$0	$999,999	Not to Exceed 0.80% (minimum annual fee $3000)
The next $1,000,000	$2,499,999	Not to Exceed 0.65%
The next $2,500,000	$4,999,999	Not to Exceed 0.50%
The next $5,000,000	$9,999,999	Not to Exceed 0.35%
The next $10,000,000	$19,999,999	Not to Exceed 0.25%
Amounts over $20,000,000		Not to Exceed 0.10%

These fees are tiered in that the stated fee is applied to each portion of the client's average daily balance. The above annual fees are charged quarterly in arrears.

Additional fees for ancillary services on Retirement Plans may be charged on an hourly basis at a rate between $100 and $300 per hour and will be quoted in advance of the work. Examples of ancillary services include, but are not limited to, IRS/Department of Labor audit support or specialized plan consulting.

When evaluating these services, the client should consider the total annual cost of asset-based Advisory fees when comparing services elsewhere. The Advisor does not make any representation that these services are at the lowest cost available and the third-party advisors and their clients may be able to obtain those services at a more favorable rate from other providers.

Other Fees

In addition to the management fee paid to the Advisor, clients may be charged for the services by the providers/managers of investment products. The Advisor, from time to time, may select or recommend investments with fees that are separately charged by the product providers and are separate and distinct from the management fee charged by the Advisor. These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses and a possible distribution fee. No-load or load waived mutual funds may be used in client portfolios so there would be no initial or deferred sales charges; however, if a fund that imposes sales charges is selected, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. A client could invest in a mutual fund or variable annuity or investment partnership directly, without the services of the Advisor. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds and the applicable program fee charged by the Advisor to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client.

Investment Advisory clients are required to use a custodian recommended by the Advisor. The fees charged by the custodian are provided to clients prior to signing an agreement and are in addition to fees charged by Advisor. The Advisor does not make any representation that these products and services are offered at the lowest available cost and the client may be able to obtain the same products or services at a lower cost from other providers.

Fee Billing

Investment management fees are billed quarterly, in arrears meaning that we invoice you after the three-month billing period has ended. The billing, or Fee Statement, is either included in the statement sent to you directly from the custodian or plan recordkeeper or is made available separately by Advisor through an online portal depending on the type of service received. Payment in full is expected upon invoice presentation. Fees are deducted from the client account to facilitate billing as authorized by the investment management agreement.

Item 6: Performance Fees

Fees are not based on a share of the capital gains or capital appreciation of managed securities. The Advisor does not use a performance-based fee structure.

Conflict of Interest Between Different Fee Structures

The Advisor offers several different services detailed in this brochure that compensate the Advisor differently depending on the service selected. There is a conflict of interest for the Advisor and its associated personnel to recommend the services that offer a higher level of compensation to the Firm through either higher management fees or reduced administrative expenses. The Advisor mitigates this conflict through its procedures to review client accounts relative to the client or investors personal financial situation to ensure the investment management service provided is appropriate. Further, the Advisor is committed to its obligation to ensure associated persons adhere to the Firm's Code of Ethics and to ensure that the Firm and its associated persons fulfill their fiduciary duty to clients or investors.

Item 7: Types of Clients

Description

The Advisor generally provides services to individuals, pension and profit-sharing plans, trusts, estates, or charitable organizations and corporations, and business entities. Client relationships vary in scope and length of service.

Account Minimums

The Advisor generally prefers a $40,000 minimum investment to open an account. Advisor may accept a smaller amount at its sole discretion.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

Security analysis methods may include fundamental analysis and cyclical analysis. The main sources of information include financial newspapers and magazines, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, annual reports, prospectuses and filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The Advisor also makes use of a proprietary technology in the allocation of assets within a client's account called Portfolio Builder. Portfolio Builder includes six (6) basic allocations that are tailored to differing levels of financial need and risk tolerance. Investment Advisor Representatives may select one of those six (6) model allocations or further modify the allocation based on the specific needs of each client. Portfolio Builder also reflects suggested mutual funds to fill the client allocations and provides modeled historical performance information based on the client's specific allocation.

Investment Strategies

Portfolios are globally diversified to control the risk associated with traditional markets. The investment strategy for a specific client is based upon the objectives stated by the client during consultations. The client may change these objectives at any time. Each client provides risk tolerance and suitability information to their Advisor representative that documents their objectives and their desired investment strategy. The Advisor's strategies do not involve frequent trading. The Advisor generally uses a long-term purchases strategy meaning securities held at least a year.

Market, Security and Regulatory Risks

Any investment with the Advisor involves significant risk, including a complete loss of capital and conflicts of interest. All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor which are described below:

Market Risks:

Statherós Financial Solutions, Inc. 2024

Form ADV Part 2A

Competition: The securities industry and the varied strategies and techniques to be engaged in by the Advisor are extremely competitive and each involves a degree of risk. The Advisor will compete with firms, including many of the larger securities and investment banking firms, which have substantially greater financial resources and research staffs.

Market Volatility: The profitability of the Advisor substantially depends upon it correctly assessing the future price movements of stocks, bonds, options on stocks, and other securities and the movements of interest rates. The Advisor cannot guarantee that it will be successful in accurately predicting price and interest rate movements.

Statherós Financial Solutions, Inc.'s Investment Activities: The Advisors' investment activities involve a significant degree of risk. The performance of any investment is subject to numerous factors which are neither within the control of nor predictable by the Advisor. Such factors include a wide range of economic, political, competitive, technological and other conditions (including acts of terrorism and war) that may affect investments in general or specific industries or companies. The securities markets may be volatile, which may adversely affect the ability of the Advisor to realize profits. Additionally, specific investments under the Advisors' strategy may require significant time to realize the expected return and may experience a pricing correction in a faster-than-expected time, subjecting the Advisor to reinvestment risk. Likewise, the investment strategy of the Advisor is partially dependent on its ability to correctly identify and assess technology's impact on a company's business. As a result of the nature of the Advisors' investing activities, it is possible that its financial performance may fluctuate substantially over time and from period to period.

Material Non-Public Information: By reason of their responsibilities in connection with other activities of the advisor and/or its affiliates, certain principals or employees of the Advisor and/or its affiliates may acquire confidential or material non-public information or be restricted from initiating transactions in certain securities. The Advisor will not be free to act upon any such information. Due to these restrictions, the Advisor may not be able to initiate a transaction that it otherwise might have initiated and may not be able to sell an investment that it otherwise might have sold.

Accuracy of Public Information: The Advisor selects investments, in part, on the basis of information and data filed by issuers with various government regulators or made directly available to the Advisor by the issuers or through sources other than the issuers. Although the Advisor evaluates all such information and data and sometimes seeks independent corroboration when it's considered appropriate and reasonably available, the Advisor is not in a position to confirm the completeness, genuineness or accuracy of such information and data, and in some cases, complete and accurate information is not available. Investments may not perform as expected if information is inaccurate.

Volatility of Currency Prices: The profitability of the Advisors' portfolios depends, in part, upon the Advisor correctly assessing the future price movements of currencies. However, price movements of currencies are difficult to predict accurately because they are influenced by, among other things, changing supply and demand relationships; governmental, trade, fiscal, monetary and exchange control programs and policies; national and international political and economic events; and changes in interest rates. Governments from time to time intervene in certain markets in order to influence prices directly. The Advisor cannot guarantee that it will be successful in accurately predicting currency price and interest rate movements.

Market or Interest Rate Risk: The price of most fixed income securities moves in the opposite direction of the change in interest rates. For example, as interest rates rise, the price of fixed income securities falls. If the Advisor holds a fixed income security to maturity, the change in its price before maturity may have little impact on the Advisor's performance; however, if the Advisor has to sell the fixed income security before the maturity date, an increase in interest rates could result in a loss to the Advisor.

Investments in Non-U.S. Investments: From time to time, the Advisor may invest and trade a portion of its assets in non-U.S. securities and other assets (through mutual funds of foreign securities and otherwise), which will give rise to risks relating to political, social and economic developments abroad, as well as risks resulting from the differences between the regulations to which U.S. and foreign issuers and markets are subject. Such risks may include:

- Political or social instability, the seizure by foreign governments of company assets, acts of war or terrorism, withholding taxes on dividends and interest, high or confiscatory tax levels, and limitations on the use or transfer of portfolio assets.
- Enforcing legal rights in some foreign countries is difficult, costly and slow, and there are sometimes special problems enforcing claims against foreign governments.
- Foreign securities and other assets often trade in currencies other than the U.S. dollar, and the Advisor may directly hold foreign currencies and purchase and sell foreign currencies through forward exchange contracts. Changes in currency exchange rates will affect the Advisor's net asset value, the value of dividends and interest earned, and gains and losses realized on the sale of investments. An increase in the strength of the U.S. dollar relative to these other currencies may cause the value of the Advisor's investments to decline. Some foreign currencies are particularly volatile. Foreign governments may intervene in the currency markets, causing a decline in value or liquidity of the Advisor's foreign currency holdings. If the Advisor enters into forward foreign currency exchange contracts for hedging purposes, it may lose the benefits of advantageous changes in exchange rates. On the other hand, if the Advisor enters forward contracts for the purpose of increasing return, it may sustain losses.
- Non-U.S. securities, commodities and other markets may be less liquid, more volatile and less closely supervised by the government than in the United States. Foreign countries often lack uniform accounting, auditing and financial reporting standards, and there may be less public information about the operations of issuers in such markets.

Risk of Default or Bankruptcy of Third Parties: The Advisor may engage in transactions in securities, commodities, other financial instruments and other assets that involve counterparties. Under certain conditions, the Advisor could suffer losses if counterparty to a transaction were to default or if the market for certain securities, commodities, other financial instruments and/or other assets were to become illiquid. In addition, the Advisor could suffer losses if there were a default or bankruptcy by certain other third parties, including brokerage firms and banks with which the Advisor does business, or to which securities, commodities, other financial instruments and/or other assets have been entrusted for custodial purposes. For example, if the Advisor's prime broker and custodian were to become insolvent or file for bankruptcy, the Advisor could suffer significant losses with respect to any securities held by such firm.

Regulatory Risks:

Strategy Restrictions: Certain institutions may be restricted from directly utilizing investment strategies of the type in which the Advisor may engage. Such institutions, including entities subject to ERISA, should consult their own Advisors, counsel and accountants to determine what restrictions may apply and whether an investment in the Advisor is appropriate.

Trading Limitations: For all securities, instruments and/or assets listed on an exchange, including options

Statherós Financial Solutions, Inc. 2024

Form ADV Part 2A

listed on a public exchange, the exchange generally has the right to suspend or limit trading under certain circumstances. Such suspensions or limits could render certain strategies difficult to complete or continue and subject the Advisor to loss. Also, such a suspension could render it impossible for the Advisor to liquidate positions and thereby expose the Advisor to potential losses.

Tax Risk: The tax aspects of an investment in the Advisor are complicated and each investor should have them reviewed by professional advisors familiar with such investor's personal tax situation and with the tax laws and regulations applicable to the investor and private investment vehicles as applicable.

Conflicts of Interest: In the administration of client accounts, portfolios and financial reporting, the Advisor faces inherent conflicts of interest which are described in this brochure. Generally, the Advisor mitigates these conflicts through its Code of Ethics which provides that the client's interest is always held above that of the Firm and its associated persons.

Supervision of Trading Operations: The Advisor's, with assistance from its brokerage and clearing firms, intends to supervise and monitor trading activity in the portfolio accounts to ensure compliance with firm and client objectives. Despite the Advisor's efforts, however, there is a risk that unauthorized or otherwise inappropriate trading activity may occur in portfolio accounts.

Security Specific Risks:

Depending on the nature of the investment management service selected by a client and the securities used to implement the investment strategy, clients will be exposed to risks that are specific to the securities in their particular investment portfolio.

Currency: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk

Limited Liquidity of Interests: An investment in a partnership usually involves substantial restrictions on liquidity and its interests are not freely transferable. There is no market for the interests the Advisor and no market should be expected to develop. Additionally, transfers are usually subject to the consent of the general partner at the general partner's sole discretion.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

Legal and Disciplinary

The firm and its employees have not been involved in legal or disciplinary events related to past or present investment clients.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Affiliations

The Advisor has material relationships with certain broker dealers and investment advisors that use the Advisor's administrative investment management services to augment their own investment management services as previously described under Full-Service Administrative Services and Retirement Plan Advisory Services

The Advisor's associates are CPAs and licensed real estate agents/brokers. Client's use of the accountancy services or real estate services of investment advisor representatives is not required and the Advisor does not represent these services are available at the lowest cost. A conflict of interest exists in that the associates will devote time to these other business activities as needed which are separate and distinct from the Advisor's investment management services. However, this conflict is mitigated by the Advisor ensuring that it and its associated persons fulfill the fiduciary responsibility to the client and that at no time are the clients compromised by the outside activities.

Item 11: Code of Ethics, Participation in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics

The Advisor has adopted a Code of Ethics which establishes standards of conduct for its supervised persons. The Code of Ethics includes general requirements that such supervised persons comply with their fiduciary obligations to clients and applicable securities laws, and specific requirements relating to, among other things, personal trading, insider trading, conflicts of interest and confidentiality of client information. It requires supervised persons to report their personal securities transactions and holdings quarterly to the Advisor's Compliance Officer and requires the Compliance Officer to review those reports. It also requires supervised persons to report any violations of the Code of Ethics promptly to the Advisor's Compliance Officer. Each supervised person of the Advisor receives a copy of the Code of Ethics and any amendments to it and must acknowledge in writing having received the materials. Annually, each supervised person must certify that he or she complied with the Code of Ethics during that year. Clients and prospective clients may obtain a copy of the Advisor's Code of Ethics by contacting the Compliance Officer of the Advisor.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

Under the Advisor's Code of Ethics, the Advisor and its managers, members, officers and employees may invest personally in securities of the same classes as are purchased for clients and may own securities of the issuers whose securities are subsequently purchased for clients. Given that the Advisor almost exclusively only purchases mutual funds for client portfolios, it is an uncommon occurrence for individual securities to be purchased for client portfolios. However, if an issue is purchased or sold for clients and any of the Advisor, managers, members, officers and employees on the same day purchase or sell the same security, either the clients and the Advisor, managers, members, officers or employees shall receive or pay the same price or the clients shall receive a more favorable price. The Advisor and its managers, members, officers and employee may also buy or sell specific securities for their own accounts based on personal investment considerations, which the Advisor does not deem appropriate to buy or sell for clients.

Personal Trading

The Chief Compliance Officer of The Advisor is Kelly Roemers. She reviews all employee trades each quarter (except for her own trading activity that is reviewed by another principal or officer of the Firm). The personal trading reviews ensure that the personal trading of employees does not affect the markets, and that clients of the firm receive preferential treatment.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

Brokerage Selection and Soft Dollars

The Advisor has the authority over the selection of the broker to be used and the commission rates to be paid without obtaining specific client consent. The Advisor may recommend brokerage firms as qualified custodians and for trade execution.

In selecting brokers or dealers to execute transactions, Advisor will seek to achieve the best execution possible but this does not require it to solicit competitive bids and does not have an obligation to seek the lowest available commission cost. Advisor is not required to negotiate "execution only" commission rates, thus the client may be deemed to be paying for research and related services (i.e., "soft dollars") provided by the broker which are included in the commission rate. It is the policy and practice of the Advisor to strive for the best price and execution for costs and discounts which are competitive in relation to the value of the transaction and which comply with Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. Nevertheless, it is understood that the Advisor may pay compensation on a transaction in excess of the amount of compensation that another broker or dealer may charge so long as it is in compliance with Section 28(e), and the Advisor makes no warranty or representation regarding compensation paid on transactions. In negotiating mark-ups or mark-downs, the Advisor will take into account the financial stability and reputation of brokerage firms and the brokerage and research services provided by such brokers, although the client may not, in any particular instance, be the sole direct or indirect beneficiary of the research services provided. The Advisor has no obligation to deal with any broker or group of brokers in executing transactions in portfolio securities.

Order Aggregation

The nature of the clients and/or trading activity on behalf of client accounts are such that trade aggregation does not garner any client benefit (in regards to mutual fund or exchange traded funds for example).

Directing Brokerage for Client Referrals

The Advisor and its associated persons do not receive client referrals from broker dealers or third parties as consideration for selecting or recommending brokers for client accounts.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

Periodic Reviews

Account reviews are performed periodically by the Advisor representatives. They are instructed to consider the client's current security positions and the likelihood that the performance of each security will contribute to the investment objectives of the client.

Review Triggers

Accounts are reviewed at least bi-annually or more frequently when market conditions dictate. Other conditions that may trigger a review are changes in the tax laws, new investment information, and changes in a client's financial or personal situation.

Regular Reports

Clients receive statements of account positions no less than quarterly from the custodian of the account. In addition, the Advisor provides quarterly performance reports to wealth management clients that access their online portal.

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Incoming Client Referrals

The Advisor engages independent solicitors to provide client referrals. If a client is referred to us by a solicitor, this practice is disclosed to the client in writing by the solicitor and the Advisor pays the solicitor out of its own funds—specifically, the Advisor generally pays the solicitor a portion of the advisory fees earned for managing the capital of the client or investor that was referred. The use of solicitors is strictly regulated under applicable federal and state law. The Advisor's policy is to fully comply with the requirements of Rule 206(4)-3, under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended, and similar state rules, as applicable.

Item 15: Custody

Custody Policy

The Advisor does not accept or permit the Firm or its associated persons from acting as trustee, provide bill paying service, have password access to control account activity or any other form of controlling client assets. All checks or wire transfer to fund client accounts are required to be made out to/sent to the account custodian and transferred to the custodian by the end of the next business day.

In certain cases, and at the client's request, the Advisor allows the use of a standing letters of authorization ("SLOA") that permits, with certain limitations the third-party transfer of money between their accounts.

Form ADV Part 2A

Based on the No-Action Letter submitted by the Investment Adviser Association dated February 21, 2017, the SEC indicates that an adviser generally has custody where a client grants the adviser power in a standing letter of authorization (“SLOA”) to conduct third party transfers. The No-Action Letter further states that an Adviser is exempt from the annual surprise audit requirement if it complies with the seven stated conditions of the letter that are intended to protect client assets in such situations. The Advisor meets the seven conditions the SEC has set forth and is therefore not subject to an annual surprise audit.

Account Statements

All assets are held at qualified custodians and the custodians provide account statements not less than quarterly to clients at their address of record. Clients should carefully review such statements for any discrepancies or inaccuracies.

Performance Reports

Utilizing the Orion Report Builder platform, the Advisor provides quarterly performance reports for most wealth management clients that access their online portal. All performance reports are based on security valuations provided directly from Qualified Custodians.

Item 16: Discretionary Authority for Trading

Wealth Management Clients:

The Advisor receives discretionary authority from the client to select the securities to be bought or sold as well as the brokerage firms that will execute the trades (with transaction fees), without obtaining consent from the client before transactions take place. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client account. Discretionary authority is conveyed to the Advisor at the outset of an advisory relationship by the client’s execution of; (1) a brokerage application with the selected third-party custodian, and (2) a formal investment management agreement with the Adviser.

The Advisor does not receive any portion of the transaction fees or commissions paid by the client to the custodian on any trades.

Retirement Plan Clients:

The Advisor has designed and manages six model portfolios for use by its retirement plan clients. Advisor has discretion over the models and can make changes to the underlying funds and allocation percentages without obtaining consent from the client.

The client retains discretion to select the custodian to be used. The Advisor does not receive any portion of the transaction fees or commissions paid by the client to the custodian for any trades.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities

Proxy Votes

The Advisor will not vote nor advise clients how to vote proxies for securities held in client accounts. The client clearly keeps the authority and responsibility for the voting of these proxies. The Advisor does not give any advice or take any action with respect to the voting of these proxies. For accounts subject to the provisions of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (“ERISA”), the plan fiduciary specifically keeps the authority and responsibility for the voting of any proxies for securities held in plan accounts. Also, the Advisor cannot give any advice or take action with respect to the voting of these proxies. The Advisor promptly passes along any proxy voting information to the clients or their representatives.

Item 18: Financial Information

Financial Condition

The Advisor does not have any financial impairment that will preclude the firm from meeting contractual commitments to clients and The Advisor meets all net capital requirements that it may be subject to. The Advisor has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition in the last 10 years.

The Advisor is not required to provide a balance sheet as it does not serve as a custodian for client funds or securities and does not require prepayment of fees of more than $1,200 per client, and six months or more in advance.

Business Continuity Plan

General

The Advisor has a Business Continuity Plan in place that provides detailed steps to mitigate and recover from the loss of office space, communications, services or key people.

Disasters

The Business Continuity Plan covers natural disasters such as earthquakes, snow storms, hurricanes, tornados, and flooding. The Plan covers man-made disasters such as loss of electrical power, loss of water pressure, fire, bomb threat, nuclear emergency, chemical event, biological event, T-1-communications line outage, Internet outage, railway accident and aircraft accident. Electronic files are backed up daily and archived offsite.

Alternate Offices

Alternate offices are identified to support ongoing operations in the event the main office is unavailable. It is our intention to contact all clients within five days of a disaster that dictates moving our office to an alternate location.

Summary of Business Continuity Plan

A summary of the business continuity plan is available on the Advisor's website or upon request to the Advisor's Chief Compliance Officer.
