In providing these services, we may act as a fiduciary as defined under Section 3(21) (A) (ii) of ERISA but will service in such capacity only with respect to the provision of ERISA-defined investment advice. Fees are separately negotiated with clients.

We may also recommend that you utilize certain asset allocation services. Fees for such services are disclosed in each agreement that you will be provided.

Such seminars may be used as an introduction to the financial planning process as noted above. Seminars are offered at no obligation and may be sponsored by an investment or insurance company which does business with Southwestern Investment Advisory Services or an affiliate.

401k Focus Advisor Services

We will provide advice on asset allocation modeling and investment selection to participants in qualified plans. We provide such services through an internet-based application that allows you to login with a specified username and password. Once you have logged-in to the site and submitted the required information, we will, in turn, provide a personalized asset allocation model to you. These services work by having you enter specific information regarding age, account balance, risk tolerance, etc. Given the information input by you, and the investments available in your plan, we will recommend a model portfolio. The model portfolio consists of a combination of investments available to and appropriate for you to achieve your individual investment goals and objectives.

This service is offered on a 30-day “no-obligation” basis. If you elect to enter into an agreement with us for ongoing series, individual allocation models will be updated periodically. Additionally, you are encouraged to update your personal profile as necessary. If there are recommended changes, we will notify you by email to login to view and evaluate the new personalized allocation model. Changes to your allocations are self-directed. Under this agreement, advisory representatives of our firm will not assist you with implementation of any recommendations.

Fees for this service are negotiated depending on the type of investments available in the plan, and the number of participants that utilize the services. It may be the case that the plan sponsor contracts with and pays our advisory fee, or the participant may contract with us and our fee is paid via an automated payroll deduction, or we will invoice you directly. Typically, we will charge a per participant fee of $149 per quarter in advance. Other fees and fee-paying arrangements may be negotiated with the plan sponsor and /or individual participant. In all cases, the fees, fee-paying arrangements, and terms will be set forth clearly in the client agreement signed by the plan sponsor and/or individual participant.

Either party may terminate the 401k Focus Advisor agreement within five days of the date of acceptance. After the five-day period, either party, upon written notice to the other, may terminate the agreement.

The fees for these services will be pro-rated for the quarter in which the cancellation notice was given and any unearned fees will be returned to you.

Note: It is expected that certain 401k Focus Advisor clients may also contract for other services offered through Southwestern Investment Advisory Services and/or Raymond James Financial Services, Inc., (“RJFS”). Fees and services related to the 401k Focus Advisor accounts are separate and distinct from other services offered by us and/or RJFS.

Pension Consulting Services

We will provide pension-consulting services to employee benefit plans and their fiduciaries based upon an analysis of the needs of the plan. In general, these services may include any one or all of the following:

- a. Marketplace Search – We will search the marketplace and provide quotations from leading retirement plan service providers.
- b. Service Provider Analysis – We will analyze data regarding fees and services of responding retirement plan service providers, including plan features and service standards.
- c. Recommendations – We will make recommendations regarding plan service provider selection based upon study results and the client’s goals and objectives.
- d. Plan Benchmarking Studies – We will compare your current retirement plan data against industry and same-size employer benchmarks. Best practices are then applied to improve results.

- e. Existing Plan Review – A plan review is an examination of major components of your retirement plan in order to identify strengths and weaknesses. The review can cover such areas as overall plan structure, related costs, and plan documentation.
- f. Ongoing Consulting – We will also provide quarterly investment reviews of the plan's investments to ensure suitability of investments and conformity with the plan's investment policy statement.

We will be compensated based on either our hourly rate, which ranges between $100 and $200 depending on the scope and complexity of the contracted services, or on an asset-based fee that ranges between 0.15% and 1.25% per annum. We will offer a fixed fee payment option ranging between $100 and $100,000 and such fee will be negotiated on a case-by-case basis. Depending on the agreement entered into at the time you retain our services, we may require payment of pension consulting fees either monthly or quarterly and payment may be made in advance or arrears.

We will provide consulting services to the plan fiduciaries as described above. Typically, the named plan fiduciary must make the ultimate decision as to retaining the services of such investment advisers as we recommend. The plan fiduciary is free to seek independent advice about the appropriateness of any recommended services for the plan.

Either party may terminate the pension consulting agreement by providing 30 days written notice to the other party. In the event the agreement is terminated, the client will incur charges for bona fide pension consulting services provided prior to such cancellation and fees will be due and payable by the client.

Any fees paid in advance will be pro-rated and any unearned fees will be returned to you. Refunds are not applicable for fees payable in arrears.

Note: If the account is not held at RJFS, advisory representatives of our firm will provide investment advice only. Implementation of such advice is the sole responsibility of the client.

Advisory Services to Retirement Plans

As disclosed above, we offer various levels of advisory and consulting series to employee benefit plans ("Plan") and to the participants of such plans ("Participants"). The services are designed to assist plan sponsors in meeting their management and fiduciary obligations to Participants under the Employee Retirement Income Securities Act ("ERISA"). Pursuant to adopted regulations of the U.S. Department of Labor under ERISA Section 408(b)(2), we are required to provide the Plan's responsible plan fiduciary (the person who has the authority to engage us as an investment adviser to the Plan) with a written statement of the services we provide to the Plan, the compensation we receive for providing those services, and our status (which is described below).

The services we provide to your Plan are described above, and in the service agreement that you have previously signed with our firm. Our compensation for these services is described within the services agreement. We may, with consent of the Plan, and in accordance with Plan documents, bill out-of-pocket expenses (such as overnight mailings, messenger, translation fees, etc.) at cost. We do not reasonably expect to receive any other compensation, direct or indirect, for the services we provide to the Plan or Participants. Nonetheless, since Associated Persons of our firm are registered representative and/or licensed insurance agents, these individuals may receive 12b-1 fees, revenue sharing or other forms of indirect compensation in connection with mutual fund investments allowable under applicable authority through RJFS. If we receive any other compensation for such services, we will (i) offset the compensation against our stated fees, and (ii) we will promptly disclose the amount of such compensation, the services rendered for such compensation and the payer of such compensation to you.

FEES AND COMPENSATION FOR INVESTMENT ADVISORY PROGRAMS

We may base our fees on a percentage of assets under management, hourly charges, fixed fees (not including subscription fees) or commissions. You may negotiate asset-based fee and/or commission rates with us and the decision to accept a negotiated fee is at the discretion of Southwestern. Factors involved in this negotiation may include the nature and size of the overall relationship, the level and type of advisory or other financial services being or expected to be provided. You should understand that unless a lower or higher rate has been negotiated, you should expect that the fees charged will be based upon the applicable standard fee schedule detailed below for the account program. While the asset-based fees are negotiable, the fee schedule's asset-level breakpoints may not be modified in any way. Unless otherwise indicated asset-based advisory fees are calculated based on an incremental pricing schedule.

1) AMBASSADOR PROGRAM

The Ambassador program is a wrap fee investment advisory account offered and administered by Raymond James. Your investment advisor representative will manage your account on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis according to your objectives. This account offers you the ability to pay an asset based advisory fee which includes transaction costs within the advisory fee in lieu of a commission for each transaction.

There is a minimum initial investment of $25,000 for Ambassador accounts. The advisory fee for Ambassador accounts are as follows: (All fees are incremental)

ACCOUNT VALUE	ANNUAL FEE
Up to $1 million	2.25%
$1 million up to $2 million	2.00%
$2 million up to $5 million	1.75%
$5 million up to $10 million	1.50 %
$10 million and up	1.25%

Southwestern may elect to charge a negotiated fee which is higher or lower than the fee in the fee schedule above.

For purposes of calculating and assessing asset-based fees, Southwestern uses the term “account value”, which may be different than the asset value as reported on brokerage statements provided by Raymond James to clients. Pursuant to the investment management or advisory agreement, Account Value is defined as the total absolute value of the securities in the Account, long or short, plus all credit balances, with no offset for any margin or debit balances.

The annual asset-based fee is paid quarterly in advance. When an account is opened, the asset-based fee is billed for the remainder of the current billing period and is based on the initial contribution. Thereafter, the quarterly asset-based fee is paid in advance, is based on the account asset value as of the last business day of the previous calendar quarter and becomes due the following business day. If cash or billable securities, or a combination thereof, amounting to at least $100,000 are deposited to or withdrawn from your account on an individual business day in the first two month of the quarter, Southwestern will: (i) assess asset-based fees, based on the value of the assets on the date of deposit for the pro rata number of day remaining in the quarter, or (ii) refund prepaid asset-based fees based on the value of the assets on the date of withdrawal for the pro-rata number of day remaining in the quarter. No additional asset-based fees or adjustments to previously assessed asset -based fees will be made in connection with deposits or withdrawals that occur during the last of the quarter unless requested to you. Notwithstanding the above $100,000 adjustment threshold, Raymond James reserves the right, in its sole discretion, to process or not process fee adjustments when the source and destination of deposits and withdrawals involve a client’s other fee-based advisory account. For example, a transfer of $100,000 into a joint RJCS account funded from two $50,000 withdrawals from separate Ambassador accounts will have the $100,000 billed in their joint RJCS account and each of their Ambassador accounts will be refunded previously assessed fees on the separate $50,000 withdrawals for the pro rata period remaining in the quarter.

You authorize and direct Southwestern Investment Advisory Services as Custodian to deduct asset-based fees from your account.

You further authorize and direct the Custodian to send a quarterly statement to you which shows all amount disbursed from your account, including fee paid to RJFSA. You understand that you will be provided an account statement, at least quarterly, showing all amount disbursed from your account, including the amount of the asset-based fee, the Account Value of the assets on which the fee was based, and the manner in which the fee was calculated.

The asset-based fees associated with this account include all execution and clearing charges except: (1) certain dealer-markup and odd lot differentials, transfer taxes, exchange fees mandated by the Securities and Exchanges Act of 1934 and any other charges imposed by law with regard to any transactions in the account; and (2) offering concessions and related fees for purchases of public offerings of securities as more fully disclosed in the prospectus.

You may also incur charges for other account services provided by RJA not directly related to the execution and clearing of transactions including, but not limited to, IRA custodial fees, safekeeping fees, interest charges on margin loans, and fees for legal or transfers of securities.

Your Agreement may be terminated by you or us at any time upon providing notice pursuant to the provisions of your Agreement. In the event of termination of your Agreement, we will refund to you the prorated portion of the fee for the quarter of termination. There is no penalty for “terminating your account”.

There is a minimum initial investment of $25,000 for Ambassador Account, although smaller accounts may be accepted based upon the specific circumstance of an account.

2) FREEDOM PROGRAM

The Freedom Account is an investment advisory account which allocates your assets, through discretionary mutual fund or exchange trade fund (“ETF”) management, based upon your financial objectives and risk tolerances. You appoint RJA as your investment adviser to select the representative funds and monitor their performance on a continuing basis. Your IAR receives a portion of the fee for services provided under the agreement.

There is a minimum initial investment of $50,000 for Freedom accounts. The advisory fee for Freedom accounts are as follows: (All fees are incremental)

ACCOUNT VALUE	ANNUAL FEE
Up to $1 million	2.25%
$1 million up to $2 million	2.00%
$2 million up to $5 million	1.75%
$5 million up to $10 million	1.50 %
$10 million and up	1.25%

The Investment Committee’s decisions will be based on recommendations provided by AMS Manager Research & Due diligence, and the Strategies may include “Highly Recommended” Funds from Raymond James Mutual Fund Research (“MFR”) coverage list. However, the Investment Committee is under no obligation to select Funds exclusively from MFR’s “Highly Recommended” list. For Funds selected by the Investment Committee that are not covered by MFR, it is reasonably likely that MFR will at some point in the future assume research coverage of the Fund (s), and that such Funds may be rated “Highly Recommended”. AMS Manager Research & Due Diligence continually monitor the Funds in the Freedom program. If a Fund is downgraded by MFR, the Investment Committee will determine the appropriate course of action, which may include replacing the downgraded Fund in all Strategies, if necessary.

The target allocations of the available Strategies apply at the time the client establishes an account. Additions to and withdrawals from an account will generally be invested based on the target allocation. Fluctuations in the market value of securities, as well as other factors, however, will affect the actual asset allocation at any given time. AMS will annually rebalance the client's account, based on the anniversary date of its establishment, if at such time the actual asset allocation varies by more than certain predetermined percentages from the target allocation, as established by AMS.

Clients should be aware that ETFs and mutual funds have unique distinguishing characteristics and their cost structures differ, sometimes significantly. Because mutual funds are typically actively managed, the underlying management fees and operating expenses assessed by the fund companies are generally higher than those for ETFs, which typically seek to track the performance of an index (typically 1% or 1.5% for mutual funds versus .20% to .40% for ETFs, although individual mutual funds and ETFs may have higher or lower expenses ratios). However, the Investment Committee considers the expense ratio when selecting funds and, where available, will elect fund classes with a lower expense ratio (institutional or advisor class). Expense ratios for funds or ETFs selected by the Investment Committee are on average less than 1.00% for funds and less than 0.30% for ETFs, net of 12(b)-1 fees, if any which if received by Raymond James are credited bi-monthly to the client's account(s).

Unlike shares of mutual funds, shares of ETFs are bought and sold based on market values throughout each trading day, and not at net asset value. For this reason, shares could trade at either a premium or discount to net asset value. The portfolio of securities held by an ETF that tracks an index is publicly disclosed on each trading day, and an approximation of the actual net asset value is disseminated throughout the trading day. Because of this transparency, the trading prices of these index-based ETFs tend to closely trace the actual net asset value of the underlying portfolios. Actively managed ETFs will likely not have the transparency of index-based ETFs, and therefore, may be more likely to trade at a discount or premium to actual net asset values. If an ETF trades at a discount to its net asset value, the ETF may decline in value even if the securities in which it invests go up in value.

The Investment Committee may find occasion to invest in a mutual fund with relatively low assets under management. Depending on the total investment in such fund, Freedom and/or Freedom UMA accounts may collectively become a significant or majority shareholder of the fund. This could result in potential illiquidity in the event the investment committee determines a program-wide or cross program redemption is warranted. The Investment Committee will endeavor to minimize the market impact of any investment related decisions that it makes.

Accounts may invest in ETFs classified as partnerships for U.S. federal income tax purposes, which may result in unique tax treatment, including Schedule K-1 reporting. Prospective or existing clients should consult their tax adviser for additional information regarding the tax consequences associated with the purchase, ownership and disposition of such investments. Additional information is also available in fund(s) prospectus (es), which is (are) available upon request.

3) AMERICAN FUNDS MODEL PORTFOLIO PROGRAM

The American Funds Model Portfolios Program (“American Funds Program”) is a mutual fund advisory service that provides clients the opportunity to allocate assets among various asset classes that cover a variety of investment objectives (each an American Funds “Model”).

There is a minimum initial investment of $25,000 for American Funds Model Portfolio accounts. The advisory fee for American Funds Model Portfolio accounts are as follows: (All fees are incremental)

ACCOUNT VALUE	ANNUAL FEE
Up to $1 million	2.25%
$1 million up to $2 million	2.00%
$2 million up to $5 million	1.75%
$5 million up to $10 million	1.50 %
$10 million and up	1.25%

The Investment Committee establishes the asset allocation and selects the Funds for investment, the American Funds Program invests exclusively in American Funds mutual funds. Upon the client’s selection of a Model, the client appoints Raymond James to manage each participating account on a discretionary basis with full power to effect buy, exchange and/or sell transactions of American Funds no-load mutual fund shares in predetermined model portfolios held in the client’s name. Capital Research and Management Company (“Capital Research”), the adviser to the American Funds family of mutual funds, develops the portfolio asset allocation and selects the underlying funds populating each Model. The target allocation of each Model applies at the time the client establishes an American Funds Program account. Additions to and withdrawals from an account will generally be invested based on the target allocation. Fluctuations in the market value of securities, as well as other factors, however, will affect the actual asset allocation at any given time. Raymond James will annually rebalance the client’s account, based on the anniversary date of its establishment, if at such time the actual asset allocation varies by more than certain predetermined percentages from the target allocation, as established by AMS. Raymond James may rebalance an account upon the client’s request.

Raymond James and Capital Research have entered into a sub-advisory agreement where Capital Research provides non-discretionary advice to Raymond James with respect to the asset allocation and fund composition of each Model. Capital Research reserves the right to modify the target allocation of each Model based on changes to its capital markets outlook. However, even though Raymond James retains the ultimate decision making and investment discretion over all accounts participating in the American Funds Program, Raymond James generally expects that it will implement the majority, if not all, asset allocation and/or fund changes applicable to one or multiple Models as recommended by Capital Research.

A list of current Models and the applicable target allocations is available through your financial advisor. American Funds Models are comprised exclusively of mutual funds from the American Funds family of funds, and the client should understand that alternative investments or investment programs are available to the client to help achieve their investment goals. Additional information regarding a fund's portfolio manager(s), investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses, and other matters of interest is available in the American Fund's prospectus, which may be obtained from your financial advisor. All strategies will reinvest dividends and capital gains distributions (if any) if the client does not provide instructions to hold such payments in cash.

Asset-Based Fees

Client shall pay Raymond James an annual asset-based fee ("Fee") at the rate shown in the Asset-Based Fee Schedule on the client agreement. Client understands the Fee includes compensation paid to financial advisor and Raymond James for its execution, custodial services. Client agrees that the sub-advisory fee paid to the financial advisor and Raymond James's Compensation may be changed at any time without notice to or consent from client; however, in no event will the total Fee charged to Client's Account be increased without Client's consent. Client may negotiate the fee with the financial advisor. Factors involved in such negotiation may include the size of the brokerage account, Raymond James's policy with respect to discounts, and the client's relationship with Raymond James's financial advisor. Until paid any Fee due Raymond James shall constitute a lien upon the Account's assets. Client acknowledges the fees and charges payable under this Program Agreement may be higher than the aggregate amount of fees and charges Client would pay if client were to negotiate the fees and charges of each service provider separately, if available. Client understands the Fee includes all executive charges except certain dealer markups and odd lot differentials, taxes, exchange fees and any other charges imposed by law with regard to any transactions in the Account. Client understands that the Account may also incur charges for other services provided by RJA not directly related to the execution and clearing of transactions including, but not limited to, interest charges on margin loans and fees for legal or courtesy transfers of securities.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

Refer to the Advisory business section in this brochure for information on our advisory fees, fee deduction arrangements and refund policy according to each service we offer.

Additional Fees and Expenses

As part of our investment advisory services to you, we may invest, or recommend that you invest, in mutual funds and exchange traded funds. The fees that you pay to our Firm for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds or exchange traded funds (described in each fund's prospectus) to their shareholders. These fees will generally include a management fee and other fund expenses. You will also incur transaction charges and/or brokerage fees when purchasing or selling securities. These charges and fees are typically imposed by the broker-dealer or custodian through whom your account transactions are executed. We do not share in any portion of the brokerage fees/transaction charges imposed by the broker-dealer or custodian. To fully understand the total cost you will incur, you should review all fees charged by mutual funds, exchange traded funds, our Firm and others. For information on our brokerage practices, please refer to the Brokerage Practices section of this brochure.

Compensation for the sale of Securities or Other Investment Products

Persons providing investment advice on behalf of our Firm are registered representatives with RJFS, a securities broker-dealer, and a member of FINRA and SIPC. In their capacity as registered representatives, these persons will receive commission-based compensation in connection with the purchase and sale of securities, including 12b-1 fees for the sale of investment company products. Compensation earned by these persons in their capacities as registered representatives is separate and in addition to our advisory fees. Persons providing investment advice on behalf of our Firm shall not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs. However, you are under no obligation, contractually or otherwise, to purchase securities products through any person affiliated with our Firm.

If we recommend a variable annuity, we do not include the variable annuity in the calculation of our advisory fees.

Persons providing investment advice on behalf of our Firm are licensed as an independent insurance agents of Raymond James Insurance Group ("RJIG"), a wholly owned subsidiary of RJA. These persons will earn commission-based compensation for selling insurance products, including insurance products they sell to you. Insurance commissions earned by these persons are separate and in addition to our advisory fees. This practice presents a conflict of interest because persons providing investment advice on behalf of our Firm who are insurance agents have an incentive to recommend insurance products to you for the purpose of generating commissions rather than solely based on your needs. Our firm has procedures designed and implemented to ensure that we will not receive both commission-based compensation and advisory fees on variable insurance products, but we may receive commissions on non-variable products you purchase through our Firm. We strive to treat all clients fairly and equally, and to prevent this conflict from occurring.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-side Management

We do not accept performance-based fees. Performance-based fees are fees that are based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of a client's account. Our fees are calculated as described in the Advisory Business section above and are not charged based on a share of capital gains upon, or capital appreciation of, the funds in your advisory account.

Side-by-side management refers to the practice of managing accounts that charged performance-based fees while at the same time managing accounts that are not charged performance-based fees. We do not participate in side-by-side management of your accounts with performance-based fee accounts.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

We offer investment advisory services to individuals, banks and thrift institutions, defined benefit and defined contribution plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations, and other business entities.

Item 8 – Methods of analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Our investment strategies and advice may vary depending upon each client's specific financial situation. As such, we determine investments and allocations based upon your predefined objectives, risk tolerance, time horizon, financial horizon, financial information, liquidity needs, and other various suitability factors. Your restrictions and guidelines may affect the composition of your portfolio.

No investment strategy or method of analysis can assure that any trade or investment will result in a profit. Furthermore, each client must understand that any trade or investment could result in a loss and that the value of any client portfolio could decline below the original investment.

We may use one or more of the following methods of analysis or investment strategies when providing investment advice to you:

Fundamental Analysis – involves analyzing individual companies and their industry groups, such as a company's financial statements, details regarding the company's product line, the experience and expertise of the company's management, and the outlook for the company's industry. The resulting data are used to measure the intrinsic value of the company's stock compared to the current market value. Risks Access with fundamental analysis include that information obtained may be incorrect, and the analysis may not provide an accurate estimate of earnings, which may be the basis for a stock's value. If securities prices adjust rapidly to new information, utilizing fundamental analysis may not result in favorable performance.

Technical and Charting Analysis – Charting involves the gathering and processing of price and volume information for a particular security. This price and volume information is analyzed using mathematical equations. The resulting data is then applied to graphing charts, which is used to predict future price movements based on price patterns and trends. Technical Analysis involves studying past price patterns and trends in the financial markets to predict the direction of both the overall market and specific stocks. The risk of market timing based on technical analysis is that charts may not accurately predict future price movements. Current prices of securities may reflect all information known about the security and day-to-day changes in market prices of securities may follow random patterns and may not be predictable with any reliable degree of accuracy.

Long-Term Purchases – securities purchase with the expectation that the value of those securities will grow over a relatively long period, generally greater than one year. Long-term purchase may be affected by unforeseen long-term changes in the company in which you are invested or in the overall market.

Short-Term Purchases and Trading – securities purchased with the expectation that they will be sold within a relatively short period of time, generally less than one year, to take advantage of the securities' short-term price fluctuations. We may use trading (in general, selling securities within 30 days of purchasing the same securities) as an investment strategy when managing your account(s). Trading is not a fundamental part of our overall investment strategy, but we may use this strategy occasionally when we determine that it is suitable given your stated investment objectives and tolerance for risk. However, frequent trading can negatively affect investment performance, particularly through increase brokerage and other transactional costs and taxes.

Options Writing – a securities transaction that involves selling options. An option is the right, but not the obligation, to buy or sell a particular security at a specified price before the expiration date of the option. When an investor sells an option, he or she must deliver to the buyer a specified number of shares if the buyer exercises the option. The seller receives from the buyer a premium (the market price of the option at a particular time) in exchange for writing the option.

Options are complex securities that involve risks and are not suitable for everyone. Options trading can be speculative in nature and carry substantial risk of loss. It is generally recommended that you only invest in options with risk capital. Selling options is more complicated and can be even riskier. An option is a contract that gives the buyer the right, but not the obligation, to buy or sell an underlying asset at a specific price on or before certain date (the "expiration day").

The two types of options are calls and puts:

- A call gives the holder the right to buy an asset at a certain price within a specific period of time. Calls are similar to having a long position on a stock. Buyers of calls hope that the stock will increase substantially before the option expires.

- A put gives the holder the right to sell an asset at a certain price within a specific period of time. Puts are very similar to having a short position on a stock. Buyers of puts hope that the price of the stock will fall before the option expires.

The risks pertaining to options buyers are:

- Risk of losing your entire investment in a relatively short period of time.
- The risk of losing your entire investment increases if, as expiration nears, the stock is below the Strike price of the call (for a call option) or if the stock is higher than the strike price of the put (for a put option).
- European style options, which do not have secondary markets on which to sell the options prior to expiration can only, realize its value expiration.
- Specific exercise provisions of a specific option contract may create risks.
- Regulatory agencies may impose exercise restrictions, which stops you from realizing value.

The risks pertaining to options sellers are:

- Options sold may be exercised at any time before expiration.
- Covered call traders forgo the right to profit when the underlying stock rises above the strike price of the call options sold and continues to risk a loss due to a decline in the underlying stock.
- Writers of Naked Calls risk unlimited losses if the underlying stock rises.
- Writers of Naked Puts risk substantial losses if the underlying stock drops.
- Writers of naked positions run margin risks if the position goes into significant losses. Such risks may include liquidation by the broker.
- Writers of call options can lose more money than a short seller of that stock can lose on the same rise on that underlying stock. This is an example of how the leverage in options can work against the option trader.
- Writers of naked calls are obligated to deliver shares of the underlying stock in those call options are exercised.
- Call options can be exercised outside of market hours such that effective remedy actions cannot be performed by the writer of those options.

Writers of stock options are obligated under the options that they sold even if a trading market is not available or that they are unable to perform a closing transaction.

- The value of the under underlying stock may substantially rise or fall unexpectedly, leading to an exercise prior to expiration.

Other options trading risks are:

- The complexity of some options strategies is a significant risk on its own.
- Options trading exchanges or markets and options contracts are open to changes at all times.
- Options markets have the right to halt the trading of any options, thus preventing investors from realizing value.
- Risk of erroneous report of exercise value.
- If an options brokerage firm becomes insolvent, investors trading through that firm may be affected.
- Internationally traded options have special risks due to time zone differences.

General risks that are not limited to options trading include market risk, sector risk and individual stock risk. Since stock options are a derivative of stocks, options trading risks are closely related to stock risks.

Tax Considerations

Our strategies and investments may have unique and significant tax implications. However, unless we specifically agree otherwise, and in writing, tax efficiency is not our primary consideration in the management of your assets. Regardless of your account size or any other factors, we strongly recommend that you continuously consult with a tax professional prior to and throughout the investing of your assets.

Moreover, as a result of revised IRS regulations, custodians and broker-dealers will begin reporting the cost basis of equities acquired in client accounts on or after January 2, 2011. Your custodian will default to the FIFO (First-In First-out) accounting method for calculating the cost basis of your investments. You are responsible for contacting your tax advisor to determine if this accounting method is the right choice for you. If your tax advisor believes another accounting method is more advantageous, please provide written notice to our Firm immediately and we will alert your account custodian of your individually selected accounting method. Please note that decisions about cost basis accounting methods will need to be made before trades settle, as the cost basis method cannot be changed after settlement.

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear. We do not represent or guarantee that our services or methods of analysis can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate clients from losses due to market corrections or declines. We cannot offer any guarantees or promises that your financial goals and objectives will be met. Past performance is in no way an indication of future performance.

Recommendation of Particular Types of Securities

As disclosed under the Advisory business section in this brochure, we advise on various types of securities. We do not necessarily recommend one particular type of security over another, since each client has different needs and different tolerances for risk. Each type of security over another, since each client has different needs and different tolerances for risk. Each type of security has its own unique set of Access risks. Risks can vary widely, even within the same type of securities. However, in very general terms, the higher the anticipated return of an investment, the higher the risk, of loss.

We do recommend mutual funds and some exchange traded funds. Mutual funds are professionally managed collective investment systems that pool money from many investors and invest in stocks, bonds, short-term money market instruments, other mutual funds, other securities, or any combination thereof. The fund will have a manager that trades the fund's investments in accordance with the fund's investment objective. While mutual funds and exchange-traded funds generally provide diversification, risks can be significantly increased if the fund is concentrated in particular sector of the market, primarily invest in small cap or speculative companies, uses leverage (i.e., borrows money) to a significant degree, or concentrates in particular type of security (i.e., equities) rather than balancing the fund with different types of securities. The returns on mutual funds and exchange-traded funds can be reduced by the costs to manage the funds. In addition, while some mutual funds are "no-load" and charge no fee to buy into, or sell out of, the fund, other types of mutual funds charge such fees, which can also reduce returns. Mutual funds can also be "closed end" or "open end." So-called "open end" mutual funds continue to allow in new investors indefinitely, which can dilute other investors' interests. We primarily recommend no-load funds.

Mutual funds are subject to manager risk. The risk that actively managed mutual fund's investment adviser will fail to execute the fund's investment strategy effectively could result in the failure of stated objectives. Mutual funds are also subject to principal risk where the investment could go down in value or lose money.

Block Trades

We combine multiple orders for shares of the same securities purchased for advisory accounts we manage (this practice is commonly referred to as “block trading”). We will then distribute a portion of the shares to participating accounts in a fair and equitable manner. The distribution of the shares purchased is typically proportionate to the size of the account, but it is not based on account performance or the amount of structure of management fees. Subject to our discretion regarding factual and market conditions, when we combine orders, each participating account pays an average price per share for all transactions and pays a proportionate share of all transaction costs.

Southwestern. You should understand that unless a lower or higher rate has been negotiated, you should expect that the fees charged will be based upon the applicable standard fee schedule detailed below for the account program.
