(If yes, describe on Schedule F.)

- 11. Review of Accounts. If applicant provides investment supervisory services, manages investment advisory accounts, or holds itself out as providing financial planning or some similarly termed services:

- A. Describe below the reviews and reviewers of the accounts. For reviews, include their frequency, different levels, and triggering factors. For reviewers, include the number of reviewers, their titles and functions, instructions they receive from applicant on performing reviews, and number of accounts assigned each.

Advisor will review each investment supervisory client's account on at least a quarterly basis, depending on the particular client's situation, and call each client as needed. Particular attention is paid to a client's investment position and the tax consequences of those positions. Advisor's President and the firm's financial managers are the only persons associated with the applicant who make recommendations regarding investments, and they manage all accounts and determine all investment advisory policy. The review will cover as much area as the advisor feels indicated under the circumstances, but should normally include the following items: tax and estate planning, insurance, investments, pensions and profit-sharing, possibly real estate, etc.

- B. Describe below the nature and frequency of regular reports to clients on their accounts.

Advisor utilizes a computer program to download information from institutional programs and to generate quarterly and other reports for investment advisory clients. The work is done by the persons mentioned above utilizing a computer to update account values and print the various reports. Advisor furnishes clients print-outs of their quarterly positions and annual year-end statements. Clients also receive monthly, quarterly and yearly reports on their accounts with their custodial broker-dealer from that broker-dealer.

1.A.(1) 1.A.(2)	Iwamoto Kong performs block stock and fixed income trades for client accounts held at Schwab Institutional to obtain more favorable pricing and better execution on buy and sell transactions. Block trades are placed only after pre-allocating share quantities in each participating client account. Pre-allocation quantities are based upon each individual portfolio's circumstances including client risk tolerance, stated investment objectives and tax situation. On partial fills, the firm's aggregation policy is to pro-rate the number of shares to each participating account accordingly on an equal percentage basis. An exception to a straight pro-ration on partial executions may occur under certain circumstances where shares are allocated to one account over another account when building a new position versus adding to an existing position. In all cases of either full or partial executions, all affected accounts will receive the same average price obtained in the block transaction.
1.A.(1) 1.A.(2)	Iwamoto Kong maintains Prime Brokerage relationships with other outside brokerage firms. Security buy and sell transactions may be placed with these firms to obtain more favorable pricing and to access a wider range of investment choices. Client accounts must be pre-approved by written consent of the client to execute prime broker trades.
1.A.(2)	On occasion, IKCO provides investment consulting services for a negotiated fee. Typically, clients who are eligible for this service have investible assets above $2 million.

1.A.(3)	IKCO may furnish investment advice in the following manner (subject to client's prior acceptance): The first meeting will be free, as it is essentially a fact-finding session. Advice will be prepared for the client for a fee of $200-250 an hour, plus expenses. The fee for preparing the plan will be estimated by the planner and given to the client for approval before the plan is begun. One half the fee is payable when the work is authorized by the client, and the balance is due upon presentation of the completed work. If the work takes less time than estimated, the additional fee will be refunded. If additional work becomes necessary the client will be contacted for approval of the amount before it is undertaken. In all cases the client will have the option of agreeing or not before work is undertaken on his behalf. IKCO will use other professionals as necessary in working for client, with the client's prior approval.
5.	IKCO, as a standard of practice, requires that any person engaged in giving investment advice to clients must have a minimum general education requirement of a college degree and applicable industry experience, either of which may be waived in lieu of the other, or be otherwise professionally qualified. IKCO also requires that its representatives are registered with all appropriate regulatory agencies and pass all applicable required exams.

8.C.(1) 8.C.(9) 9.B.	IKCO's investment advisory personnel are also registered representatives with Dolphin Securities, Inc., a registered securities broker-dealer. To provide clients with alternative financial vehicles to accomplish their planning objectives, on occasion associated persons of IKCO may receive compensation by offering other financial products not related to investment management services when appropriate to accomplishing clients' overall financial objectives. The investments offered include common and preferred stocks, US Government securities, mortgage-backed securities, corporate and municipal bonds, zero coupon bonds, certificates, options, annuities, insurance products, 401(k) plans and other retirement plans. There would be a brokerage charge for such products, and those persons would then receive commissions on certain investments clients may make. The products offered through this arrangement will be the same as investments offered currently by other brokerage and insurance firms, and commissions will be those common in the industry. While such relationships present a conflict of interest because persons associated with IKCO will be receiving advisory fees while at the same time they may also be receiving commissions, any situations that may reasonably be expected to result in conflicts of interest will be at all times fully disclosed to clients.
9.D. 9.E.	IKCO's personnel may, at various times, buy or sell securities for investment advisory clients or others as agents. IKCO may also recommend the purchase or sale of securities in which it or persons associated with IKCO may have a position, or those persons may purchase or sell securities that have been recommended to clients. Personal securities transactions of the principals and employees of Iwamoto, Kong & Co., Inc., are only placed at the same time or subsequent to client trades.
10.	IKCO generally requires a minimum account size of $ 250,000 to open or maintain an account under item 1.A.(1).
12.A.(1) 12.A.(2) 12.A.(3)	IKCO will obtain from certain clients limited powers of attorney to effect certain types of trades, subject to limitations specified by the clients. For such trades IKCO will direct the selection of the brokers and the execution of the trades unless the limited power of attorney expressly designates some other arrangement.
12.B.	IKCO suggests discount brokers for the service described on a Previous page under 1.A.(1) based upon the size of commission discounts when compared to full service brokers, and IKCO's opinion of the relative quality of service, types of reports and other materials furnished to clients and IKCO by the brokers and the stability afforded by the recommended broker's financial strength and general reputation in the investment community.

12.B. 13.A.	IKCO may recommend that clients establish brokerage accounts with the Schwab Institutional division of Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (Schwab), a registered broker-dealer, Member SIPC, to maintain custody of clients' assets and to effect trades for their accounts. IKCO is independently owned and operated and not affiliated with Schwab. Schwab provides IKCO with access to its institutional trading and custody services, which are typically not available to Schwab retail investors. These services generally are available to independent investment advisors on an unsolicited basis, at no charge to them so long as a total of at least $10 million of an advisor's clients' assets are maintained at Schwab Institutional and are not otherwise contingent upon IKCO committing to Schwab any specific amount of business (assets in custody or trading). Schwab services include, brokerage, custody, research, and access to mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise generally available only to institutional investors or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment. For IKCO's client accounts maintained in its custody, Schwab generally does not charge separately for custody but is compensated by account holders through commissions or other transaction-related fees for securities trades that are executed through Schwab or that settle into Schwab accounts. Schwab Institutional also makes available to IKCO other products and services that benefit IKCO but may not benefit its clients' accounts. Some of these other products and services assist IKCO in managing and administering clients' accounts. These include software and other technology that provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements), facilitate trade execution (and allocation of aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts), provide research, pricing information and other market data, facilitate payment of IKCO's fees from its clients' accounts, and assist with back-office functions, record keeping and client reporting. Many of these services generally may be used to service all or a substantial number of IKCO's accounts, including accounts not maintained at Schwab Institutional. Schwab Institutional also makes available to IKCO other services intended to help IKCO manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services may include consulting, publications and conferences on practice management, information technology, business succession, regulatory compliance, and marketing. In addition, Schwab may make available, arrange and/or pay for these types of services rendered to IKCO by independent third parties. Schwab Institutional may discount or waive fees it would otherwise charge for some of these services or pay all or a part of the fees of a third-party providing these services to IKCO. While as a fiduciary, IKCO endeavors to act in its clients' best interests, IKCO's recommendation that clients maintain their assets in accounts at Schwab may be based in part on the benefit to IKCO of the availability of some of the foregoing products and services and not solely on the nature, cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided by Schwab, which may create a potential conflict of interest.

13.A	A company may provide for and pay for investment advice for its Employees; also, under ERISA rules, either a company or a plan may pay for investment advice, as determined by the ERISA plan documents.
13.B.	Advisor may at times receive referrals of clients from various persons ("solicitors"). These solicitors will give clients so referred Part II of advisor's Form ADV or advisor's brochure, plus a separate solicitor's referral disclosure statement in writing that will, among other things, disclose to the client the terms and fee arrangements that will be used to compensate the solicitor by the advisor for such referrals. There will be no additional cost to clients for these referrals. IKCO receives client referrals from Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab") through IKCO's participation in Schwab Advisor Network™ ("the Service"). The Service is designed to help investors find an independent investment advisor. Schwab is a broker-dealer independent of and unaffiliated with IKCO. Schwab does not supervise Advisor and has no responsibility for IKCO's management of clients' portfolios or Advisor's other advice or services. IKCO pays Schwab fees to receive client referrals through the Service. IKCO's participation in the Service may raise potential conflicts of interest described below. IKCO pays Schwab a Participation Fee on all referred clients' accounts that are maintained in custody at Schwab and a Non-Schwab Custody Fee on all accounts that are maintained at, or transferred to, another custodian. The Participation Fee paid by IKCO is a percentage of the value of the assets in the client's account. IKCO pays Schwab the Participation Fee for so long as the referred client's account remains in custody at Schwab. The Participation Fee is billed to IKCO quarterly and may be increased, decreased or waived by Schwab from time to time. The Participation Fee is paid by IKCO and not by the client. IKCO has agreed not to charge clients referred through the Service fees or costs greater than the fees or costs IKCO charges clients with similar portfolios who were not referred through the Service. IKCO generally pays Schwab a Non-Schwab Custody Fee if custody of a referred client's account is not maintained by, or assets in the account are transferred from Schwab. This Fee does not apply if the client was solely responsible for the decision not to maintain custody at Schwab. The Non-Schwab Custody Fee is a one-time payment equal to a percentage of the assets placed with a custodian other than Schwab. The Non-Schwab Custody Fee is higher than the Participation Fees Advisor generally would pay in a single year. Thus, IKCO will have an incentive to recommend that client accounts be held in custody at Schwab.

13.B. (Continued)	The Participation and Non-Schwab Custody Fees will be based on assets in accounts of IKCO's clients who were referred by Schwab and those referred clients' family members living in the same household. Thus, IKCO will have incentives to encourage household members of clients referred through the Service to maintain custody of their accounts and execute transactions at Schwab and to instruct Schwab to debit IKCO's fees directly from the accounts. For accounts of IKCO's clients maintained in custody at Schwab, Schwab will not charge the client separately for custody but will receive compensation from IKCO's clients in the form of commissions or other transaction-related compensation on securities trades executed through Schwab. Schwab also will receive a fee (generally lower than the applicable commission on trades it executes) for clearance and settlement of trades executed through broker-dealers other than Schwab. Schwab's fees for trades executed at other broker-dealers are in addition to the other broker-dealer's fees. Thus, IKCO may have an incentive to cause trades to be executed through Schwab rather than another broker-dealer. IKCO nevertheless, acknowledges its duty to seek best execution of trades for client accounts. Trades for client accounts held in custody at Schwab may be executed through a different broker-dealer than trades for IKCO's other clients. Thus, trades for accounts custodied at Schwab may be executed at different times and different prices than trades for other accounts that are executed at other broker-dealers.
