ITEM 4 – ADVISORY BUSINESS

PRIVATE WEALTH MANAGEMENT SERVICES

Appleton is an SEC-registered investment adviser with its principal place of business located at One Post Office Square, 6th Floor, Boston, Massachusetts 02109. Appleton began conducting business as a firm in 1987 when it filed its first registration with the SEC.

Appleton's principal shareholders are:

- Douglas Campbell Chamberlain, CFA, President
- Appleton Partners Business Trust, Unit Trust Shareholder

Appleton provides continuous advice to clients with regard to the investment of their assets, based on their individual needs. Through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based on a client's particular circumstances are established, Appleton develops a personal investment policy with clients and further creates and manages a portfolio based on those goals. During the data-gathering process, Appleton will discuss the client's individual objectives, time horizons, risk tolerance, tax sensitivities and liquidity needs. When appropriate, Appleton also reviews prior investment history, as well as family composition and background, which may have an effect on the client's finances. Depending on the client's preference of frequency and method of contact, Appleton will make plans to follow-up or provide update on the progress of the portfolio.

Appleton manages client advisory accounts on a discretionary basis. Account supervision is guided by the individual client's stated objectives (for example: maximum capital appreciation, growth, income, or growth and income), as well as tax considerations. Clients may impose reasonable restrictions on investing in certain securities, types of securities, or industry sectors. Appleton investment recommendations are not limited to any specific product or service offered by a broker-dealer or insurance company. Although domestic fixed income securities and large cap growth stocks comprise the major asset classes held by clients, Appleton will generally include advice regarding the following securities:

- Exchange-listed securities;
- Securities traded over-the-counter;
- Warrants;
- Corporate debt securities (other than commercial paper);
- Commercial paper;
- Certificates of deposit;
- Municipal securities;
- Mutual fund shares; and
- United States government securities.

Cambridge Appleton Trust Program

Appleton also provides private wealth management services to Cambridge Appleton Trust, NA ("CATNA") clients. CATNA, a joint venture between Cambridge Savings Bank and Appleton, provides trust and fiduciary services. These services include the following:

- Design and review of investment policy, research, screening and monitoring of existing and potential investment criteria; and
- Review and selection of mutual fund investments for the CATNA platform.

MUTUAL FUND MANAGEMENT

In certain situations, Appleton provides discretionary portfolio management services to clients using model asset allocation portfolios. As with the management of individual assets in a client's portfolio, the selection of mutual funds held within a client portfolio is designed to meet a particular investment goal.

Appleton provides investment advisory services to the Appleton Equity Growth Fund ("The Appleton Funds" or the "Fund"), a mutual fund registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the "Investment Company Act"), and launched in 2001. Appleton serves as the investment manager to The Appleton Funds, and continuously manages the fund assets based on the investment goals and objectives as outlined in the Fund's prospectus.

Interested investors should refer to the Fund's prospectus and statement of additional information for important information regarding objectives, investments, time-horizon, risks, fees, and additional disclosures. These documents may be requested via telephone by calling (877) 41-APPLE, and may also be accessed on-line at www.appletonfunds.com.

Prior to making any investment in the Fund, investors and prospective investors should carefully review these documents for a comprehensive understanding of the terms and conditions applicable for investment in The Appleton Funds.

AMOUNT OF MANAGED ASSETS

As of January 15, 2015, Appleton actively managed approximately $6,619,356,944.00 of client assets on a discretionary basis.

ITEM 5 – FEES AND EXPENSES

Private Wealth Management Fees: Appleton's Private Wealth Management Fees are based upon a percentage of assets under management. Though Appleton's Private Wealth Management Fees are negotiable based on the size and nature of the accounts, the standard fee assessed for management of a Private Wealth account is 1.00%.¹ These fees are billed on a quarterly basis, in advance, based on the account's market value on the last day of the previous calendar quarter.

Cambridge Appleton Partners, N.A. Fees: For CATNA private wealth management clients, Appleton has a split-fee arrangement with CATNA. Appleton currently does not charge a separate consulting fee.

Mutual Fund Management Fees: Appleton charges an annual management fee of 1.00% of fund assets under management for the management of the Appleton Growth Equity Fund. These fees accrue to the Fund's NAV annually, and are paid to Appleton on a monthly basis in arrears.

Limited Negotiability of Advisory Fees: Appleton retains the discretion to negotiate fees on a client-by-client basis. Client facts, circumstances, and needs are considered in determining the fee schedule. Items for consideration may include: the assets to be placed under management; anticipated future assets; related accounts; portfolio style; account allocation; and other relevant factors. The specific annual fee schedule is identified in the investment management agreement between Appleton and each client.

Appleton may group certain related client accounts or groups for the purposes of achieving the minimum account size requirements and/or determining the annualized fee.

Mutual Fund Fees: In some situations, clients will invest in or hold mutual funds in portfolios managed by Appleton. The fees and expenses for a mutual fund are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. If the fund also imposes sales charges, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. A client could feasibly invest in a mutual fund directly, without Appleton's services, and maintain the account separate from the assets managed by Appleton for that client.

All fees paid to Appleton for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds to their shareholders. The Appleton Fund's fee arrangement, termination, and refund policies are described in the Fund's prospectus and statement of additional information, available by calling (877) 41-APPLE or online at www.appletonfunds.com

All mutual fund holdings, except The Appleton Funds, within an Appleton client's portfolio will be included within the Private Wealth Management Fee calculation. In other words, only the total value of the client's investment in The Appleton Funds is excluded from Appleton's quarterly portfolio

Wrap Fee Programs and Separately Managed Account Fees: Outside investment advisors (or "Sponsors") may hire Appleton as a sub-advisor for certain client portfolios to provide a particular expertise in addition to the Sponsor's portfolio program. Clients of these Sponsors, who participate in separately managed account programs which utilize Appleton's portfolio management services, may be charged the Sponsor's program fees in addition to an advisory fee charged by Appleton. Such fees may include the investment advisory fees of the Sponsor, which may be charged as part of a wrap fee arrangement. In a wrap fee arrangement, clients generally pay a single fee to the Sponsor for advisory, brokerage, and custodial services. Depending on the arrangement, the client's portfolio transactions may be executed without commission charges. In evaluating such wrap fee arrangements, the client should consider, depending upon the level of the wrap fee, the amount of portfolio activity in the client's account and other relevant factors. Client should note that the wrap fee may or may not exceed the aggregate cost of such services if they were to be provided separately. Clients should discuss any particulars of the wrap fee directly with their contact at the Sponsor firm.

Additional Fees and Expenses: In addition to Appleton's advisory fees, clients are also responsible for the fees and expenses charged by custodians and imposed by broker-dealers. These charges may include, but are not limited to, any transactional charges imposed by a broker-dealer with which an independent investment manager effects transactions for the client's account(s). Please refer to the "Brokerage Practices" section (Item 12) of this Form ADV for additional information.

Minimum Account Requirements: Appleton maintains minimum account requirements, or recommendations, for private wealth management services. Appleton typically recommends a starting account balance of $1.0 million. In most cases, pre-existing advisory clients are subject to Appleton's minimum account requirements and advisory fees in effect at the time the client entered into the investment advisory relationship. Therefore, in some instances, our minimum account requirements, or recommendations, will differ among clients, and will be examined on a client-by-client basis. There is a $1,000 minimum investment requirement for The Appleton Funds.

ERISA Accounts: Appleton may be deemed a fiduciary to advisory clients that are employee benefit plans or individual retirement accounts (IRAs) as guided by the Employee Retirement Income and Securities Act of 1974, as amended ("ERISA"), and regulations under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "IRS Code"), respectively. With regard to these client accounts, Appleton is subject to specific duties and obligations under ERISA and the IRS Code, which may include, among other things, restrictions concerning certain forms of compensation. To avoid engaging in prohibited transactions, Appleton only charges an advisory fee for investment advisory services of assets managed, and does not receive any sort of additional commissions or 12b-1 fees, if they were to apply.

Advisory Fees in General: Clients should note that similar advisory services may or may not be available from other registered or unregistered investment advisers for similar or lower fees.

Limited Prepayment of Fees: Under no circumstances does Appleton require or solicit payment of our investment advisory fees in excess of $1,200 per client, more than six months in advance of services rendered.

ITEM 6 – PERFORMANCE BASED FEES

Appleton does not charge performance-based fees.

ITEM 7 – TYPES OF CLIENTS

Appleton provides investment advisory services to the following types of clients:

- Individuals (other than high net worth individuals);
- High net worth individuals;
- Trust companies, bank and thrift organizations;
- Investment companies (including mutual funds);
- Pension and profit sharing plans (other than plan participants);
- Other pooled investment vehicles;
- Charitable organizations;
- Corporations or other businesses not listed above; and
- State or municipal government entities.

ITEM 8 – METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

METHODS OF ANALYSIS

Appleton employs the following methods of analysis in formulating investment advice and in managing of client assets:

Charting: In this type of technical analysis, Appleton reviews charts of market and security activity in an attempt to identify when the market is moving up or down and to predict how long the trend may last and when that trend might reverse.

Fundamental Analysis: Appleton attempts to measure the intrinsic value of a security by looking at economic and financial factors (including the overall economy, industry conditions, and the financial condition and management of the company itself) to determine if the security is underpriced (indicating it may be a good time to buy) or overpriced (indicating it may be time to sell).

Fundamental analysis does not attempt to anticipate market movements. This presents a potential risk, as the price of a security may move up or down along with the overall market regardless of the economic and financial factors considered in evaluating the security.

Technical Analysis: Appleton analyzes past market movements and applies that analysis to the present in an attempt to recognize recurring patterns of investor behavior and potentially predict future price movements.

Technical analysis does not consider the underlying financial condition of a company. This presents a risk in that a poorly-managed or financially unsound company may underperform regardless of market movement.

Cyclical Analysis: In this type of technical analysis, Appleton measures the movements of a particular security against the overall market in an attempt to predict the price movement of the security.

Risks for All Forms of Analysis: In determining which securities to purchase or sell, Appleton assumes that the companies of traded securities, the rating agencies reviewing these securities, and other publicly-available sources of information regarding these securities are providing accurate and unbiased data. While Appleton is alert to indications that data may be incorrect, there is always a risk that any analysis may be compromised by inaccurate or misleading information.

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

Appleton is a discretionary investment adviser managing both Fixed Income and Equity strategies. Appleton clients typically are invested in one or more of the following Municipal Bond, Taxable Bond, or Equity strategies employed by the Portfolio Management team. Appleton uses the following strategies to manage client accounts: (i) provided that such strategies are appropriate to the needs of the individual client and consistent with the client's investment objectives, risk tolerance, and time horizons, among other considerations; or (ii) when the firm is contracted on a sub-advisory basis.

Appleton Investment Grade Fixed Income Strategies

Short-Term Municipal: The Short-Term Municipal strategy seeks the preservation and growth of capital in a tax-efficient manner with disciplined management of liquidity risk, credit risk, and limited rate risk. Supported by intensive research, the customized portfolio design process reflects an individual client's state preferences, tax needs, and risk profile. The Short-Term Municipal strategy focuses on bonds maturing between one (1) and six (6) years, and positions are investment grade.

Intermediate Municipal: The Intermediate Municipal strategy seeks the preservation and growth of capital in a tax-efficient manner with disciplined management of liquidity risk, interest rate risk, and credit risk. Supported by intensive research, the customized portfolio design process reflects an individual client's state preferences, tax needs, and risk profile. The Intermediate Municipal strategy focuses on bonds maturing between three (3) and twelve (12) years, and positions are investment grade.

Long Municipal: The Long Municipal strategy seeks the preservation and growth of capital in a tax-efficient manner with disciplined management of liquidity risk, credit risk and rate risk. Supported by intensive research, the customized portfolio design process reflects an individual client's state preferences, tax needs, and risk profile. The Long Municipal strategy focuses on bonds maturing between five (5) and fifteen (15) years, and positions are investment grade.

4-Year Municipal: The 4-Year Municipal strategy seeks the preservation and growth of capital in a tax-efficient manner with disciplined management of liquidity risk, credit risk, and rate risk. Supported by intensive research, the customized portfolio design process reflects an individual client's state preferences, tax needs, and risk profile. The 4-Year Municipal strategy focuses on bonds maturing between two (2) and eight (8) years, and positions are investment grade.

Intermediate Taxable: Through extensive research and market expertise focused on positioning portfolios to benefit from high-grade asset classes (i.e., U.S Treasury Notes/TIPS, Government-sponsored Entities, Investment Grade Corporates, and Investment Grade Taxable Municipals), the Intermediate Taxable strategy seeks to preserve and grow capital by focusing on yield curve positioning, sector rotation, and security selection within management guidelines to mitigate interest rate risk and credit risk. The Intermediate Taxable strategy focuses on bonds maturing between two (2) and ten (10) years, and positions are investment grade.

Tactical Intermediate Fixed Income: The customized Tactical Intermediate Fixed Income strategy seeks to achieve preservation and growth of capital with disciplined management of liquidity risk, interest rate risk, and credit risk utilizing a combination of taxable and tax-exempt securities. The portfolio design process combines the strategies of both the Intermediate Municipal strategy and Intermediate Taxable strategy to optimize an individual client's after-tax returns and increase portfolio diversification. The Tactical Intermediate Fixed Income strategy focuses on bonds maturing between two (2) and twelve (12) years, and positions are investment grade.

Appleton Equity Strategies

Large Cap Growth Equity: The Large Cap Growth Equity strategy seeks to earn returns in excess of the S&P 500 and Russell 1000 Growth indices by investing primarily in domestic large-cap companies with the prospect of robust and sustainable relative growth. The portfolio design process employs a layered approach to generate a diversified, growth-focused portfolio, whereby macroeconomic themes are combined with company-specific fundamental and technical analyses to form buy/sell decisions and determine the timing of entry and exit points.

Income Advantage Equity: The Income Advantage Equity strategy seeks to earn returns in excess of the S&P 500 Index by developing a separately management balanced account that focuses on incoming generation, resulting in a high-quality income yielding portfolio with growth potential. The portfolio design process utilizes a customized blend of large-cap stocks with above-market and growing dividends, plus strong fundamentals providing principal growth potential. Exchange-traded funds ("ETFs"), including master limited partnerships, real estate investment trusts, preferred stock, and international funds may be used to enhance yield and provide diversification.

Value Opportunity Equity: The Value Opportunity Equity strategy seeks to preserve capital while generating attractive, absolute risk-adjusted returns. Through fundamental research in areas known to generate mispricing, including under-covered companies, spin-offs, post-reorganization equities, and transformational mergers and acquisitions, best value is sought across industries and market capitalizations.

RISK OF LOSS

Securities investments are not guaranteed and clients may lose money on investments. Stock markets and bond markets fluctuate over time and the market value of a specific stock or bond may decline due to general market conditions unrelated to the specific company or issuer. Factors that could contribute to market fluctuations include, but are not limited to, changes in real or perceived economic conditions, changes in interest rates, or changes in investor sentiment.

While Appleton seeks to monitor the markets for economic pressures that may affect a security's value, long-term and short-term purchase strategies could also potentially pose risks to a client's portfolio. A long-term purchase strategy assumes that by holding a security for an extended period of time, Appleton may not take advantage of short-term gains that may be profitable to a client. Moreover, if Appleton's predictions prove incorrect and the reaction time delayed, a security may decline in value before a decision is made to sell the position.

Conversely, in certain asset classes, a short-term purchase strategy may pose a risk should the anticipated price swing not materialize. Appleton would then be left with the option of having a long-term investment in a security that was designed to be a short-term purchase or potentially taking a loss. In addition, a short-term purchase strategy potentially involves more frequent trading than does a longer-term strategy, and may result in increased brokerage and other transaction-related costs, as well as less favorable tax treatment of short-term capital gains.

Clients should work with Appleton to continually understand and determine an appropriate risk tolerance for client accounts.

ITEM 9 – DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION

Appleton is required to disclose any legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of advisory services or the integrity of the firm's management. There are no applicable legal or disciplinary events relating to Appleton.

ITEM 10 – OTHER FINANCIAL INDUSTRY ACTIVITIES AND AFFILIATIONS

THE APPLETON FUNDS

As described in previous sections, Appleton serves as the investment adviser to The Appleton Funds, an investment company registered under the Investment Company Act. Appleton launched The Appleton Funds in 2001, and has continuously served as the investment adviser since that time. The investment and management personnel of Appleton, who work on The Appleton Funds, report to an independent Board of Directors and meet with them on a quarterly basis.

Further information on The Appleton Funds may be found in the fund prospectus and statement of additional information, which are available on-line at www.appletonfunds.com or by calling (877) 41-APPLE. Prospective investors should review these documents carefully before making any investment in The Appleton Funds to assess its suitability to their particular investment needs.

CAMBRIDGE APPLETON TRUST, NA

In January 1999, CATNA was established as a joint venture between Cambridge Savings Bank and Appleton. CATNA offers trust and estate planning services, along with portfolio management services, to individuals or family groups seeking this combination from one firm. Appleton serves as the investment adviser to CATNA, as described in Item 4 of the Brochure, and has a minority ownership stake in the organization. Both Appleton and CATNA are operationally independent, maintain separate management and technology systems, personnel, Board of Directors and corporate ownership structure. CATNA is governed by the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (the "OCC"), and is a registered National Trust Association without depository account (checking or savings) services.

FURTHER INFORMATION

While no Appleton client is obligated to use the services of either of the two related companies (the "Affiliates"), where appropriate, Appleton may present and/or recommend the services of The Appleton Funds and/or the investment-related services of CATNA to advisory clients. Likewise, the Affiliates and their employees may also recommend the advisory services of Appleton to their clients. The services provided by The Appleton Funds and CATNA are separate and distinct from Appleton's advisory services.

POTENTIAL CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

As Appleton receives asset based compensation for managing The Appleton Funds, it may have an incentive to recommend The Appleton Funds to its advisory clients. To mitigate this conflict of interest, if a private wealth management client does own The Appleton Fund, Appleton will not include those assets in the billed market value of the private wealth management account.

Appleton endeavors at all times to put the interests of the firm's clients first and foremost, and does not impose or obligate clients to seek either of these additional services. As part of the firm's fiduciary duties as a registered investment adviser, Appleton takes the following measures to mitigate this potential conflict of interest:

- Appleton discloses to clients the existence of material conflicts of interests, including the ability of to earn compensation from an Affiliate, through a client's relationship with that Affiliate, listed above;
- Appleton discloses to clients that they are not obligated to invest in any recommended investment service from an Affiliate;
- Appleton collects, maintains and solicits relevant client background information, including the client's financial goals, objectives, risk tolerances, and any subsequent changes which may have an effect on their financial situation;
- The Appleton portfolio management team conducts regular reviews of client accounts to verify that the recommendations made to a client are suitable to the client's needs and circumstances;
- Appleton requires that employees disclose any relationship or obligations to an outside firm or Board that may conflict with or compromise their fiduciary responsibilities to clients; and
- Appleton educates employees regarding fiduciary obligations, including the need for having reasonable and independent bases for the investment advice provided to clients.

ITEM 11 – CODE OF ETHICS

PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING

Appleton has adopted a Code of Ethics (the “Code”), which sets forth high ethical standards of business conduct required of all employees, including compliance with applicable federal securities laws. Employees are required to agree to and sign a copy of Appleton's Code as a condition of employment, and reaffirm adherence to the Code on an annual basis.

Appleton and its employees owe a duty of loyalty, fairness and good faith towards all clients, and have an obligation to adhere not only to the specific provisions of the Code, but to the general principles that guide the Code.

The Code includes policies and procedures governing the review of Appleton employees' quarterly securities transactions reports, as well as initial and annual securities holdings reports that must be submitted by Appleton's access persons. Among other things, the Code requires pre-clearance approval for a purchase or sale of a private placement or an initial public offering. Appleton's Code also provides for oversight, enforcement, and recordkeeping provisions.

The Code also includes a policy governing the misuse of material non-public information. While Appleton believes its employees do not have any particular access to non-public information, all employees are reminded that should such information be revealed in some fashion, it may not be used in a personal or professional capacity.

The Code is designed to monitor employees' personal securities transactions, activities, and interests so as to promote their fulfillment of Appleton's fiduciary responsibilities to clients. The premise of the Code is to guide employees in making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own personal accounts.

Per the provisions in our Code, Appleton employees may buy or sell securities identical to, or different from, those recommended to clients for their own personal accounts. In addition, the Code permits that employees may have an interest or position in securities which may also be recommended and held by clients.

To obtain the most current version of the Code, please call Appleton at (617) 338-0700 or send an email to Michele D. Hubley, Chief Compliance Officer, at mhubley@appletonpartners.com.

ITEM 12 – BROKERAGE PRACTICES

Appleton will endeavor to select those brokers or dealers that provide the best services at the lowest prices and commission rates, where applicable. The reasonableness of prices and commissions is based on the broker's stability, reputation, ability to provide professional services, competitive commission rates and prices, research, trading platform, and other services which will support Appleton in providing investment management services to clients. The determining factor in the selection of a broker to execute transactions for client accounts is not necessarily the lowest possible transaction cost, but whether the broker can provide what Appleton believes to be the best qualitative execution.

When contemplating a trade, the client's portfolio manager will first determine that the purchase or sale of the particular security involved is appropriate for the client and consistent with the client's investment objectives and any investment guidelines or restrictions applicable to the client's account.

When trading for client accounts, Appleton will "bunch" or "block" trades, where possible and when advantageous to clients. Bunching or blocking trades is the practice of buying or selling of a security for the accounts of multiple clients in a single transaction. The blocking of trades permits this trading of aggregate blocks of a security for multiple client accounts, so long as transaction costs are shared equally and on a pro-rated basis between all accounts included in any such block.

Block trading may allow Appleton to execute equity trades in a more timely and equitable manner, at an average share price. Appleton will typically aggregate trades among clients whose accounts can be traded at a given broker. Appleton is not obligated to include any client account in a blocked trade; however, blocked trades are placed when the portfolio manager reasonably believes that the combination of the transactions will benefit, and enable Appleton to seek best execution for, each client participating in the aggregated order. This requires a good faith judgment at the time the order is placed for the execution, and does not mean that the determination made in advance of the transaction must always prove to be correct in the light of hindsight perspective. Transactions for any client account may not be aggregated for execution if the practice is prohibited by or inconsistent with the client's advisory agreement with Appleton.

Generally, each client that participates in the aggregated order must do so at the average price for all separate transactions made to fill the order, and must share in the commissions, as applicable, on a pro rata basis in proportion to the client's participation. Under the client's agreement with the custodian/broker, transaction costs may be based on the number of shares traded for each client.

Appleton's client account records separately reflect, for each account in which the aggregated transaction occurred, the securities which are held by, and bought and sold for, that account. Funds and securities for aggregated orders are clearly identified on Appleton records and to the broker-dealers or other intermediaries handling the transactions.

No client or account will be favored over another.

Consistent with obtaining best execution for clients, Appleton may direct brokerage transactions for a client's portfolio to brokers who provide research and execution services to Appleton and, indirectly, to clients. These services, referred to as soft dollar arrangements, are of the type described in Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act") and are designed to augment Appleton's own internal research and investment strategy capabilities. Generally, but not exclusively, directed brokerage and soft dollar transactions are executed for equity trading. Such transactions may be completed at Appleton's discretion and without a client's prior understanding or approval. Research services obtained through this use of soft dollars may be developed by the broker to whom brokerage is directed, or by third-parties directly compensated by the broker. Appleton does not attempt to put a specific dollar value on these services rendered or to allocate the relative costs or benefits of those services among clients. Rather, Appleton believes that the research received helps fulfill the fiduciary responsibilities to all clients. Appleton may not use each particular research service, however, to service each client's account. As a result, a client may pay brokerage commissions that are used, in part, to purchase research services that are not used to benefit that specific client. Selected broker-dealers may charge commissions for effecting transactions for Appleton clients that exceed the amounts other broker-dealers would have charged. However, Appleton may determine in good faith that such amounts are reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and/or research services provided by those broker-dealers, viewed either in terms of a particular transaction or the overall duty to all clients' accounts.

Potentially, certain items obtainable with soft dollars may be used for services outside of execution or research services. The cost of such "mixed-use" products or services would be fairly allocated and Appleton would make a good faith effort to determine the percentage of such products or services that may be considered as investment research. The portions of the costs attributable to non-research usage of such products or services would be paid by Appleton to the broker-dealer in accordance with the provisions of Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

By using client brokerage commissions to obtain research or brokerage services, Appleton receives a benefit, in that the firm does not have to produce such products internally or compensate third-parties with firm money for the delivery of such services. Therefore, the use of client brokerage commissions may be considered a conflict of interest, as Appleton may have an incentive to direct client brokerage to those brokers who provide research and services utilized by the firm, even if these brokers do not offer the lowest price or commission rates for clients.

A client may direct Appleton to use a particular broker-dealer to execute some or all of the transactions in his/her account. In this case, the client is responsible for negotiating the terms and arrangements for the account with that broker-dealer. Appleton may not be able to negotiate commissions, obtain volume discounts, or best execution. In addition, under these circumstances, a difference in commission charges may exist between the commissions charged to clients who direct Appleton to use a particular broker or dealer and other clients who do not.

Clients may make changes to this brokerage arrangement as they wish by notifying Appleton directly in writing.

Within the last fiscal year, through soft dollar arrangements, Appleton has obtained several independent research sources and financial analysis software tools.

When appropriate, Appleton may recommend that clients establish brokerage accounts with the Schwab Institutional division of Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab"), a FINRA registered broker-dealer, member SIPC, or with National Financial Services LLC, and Fidelity Brokerage Services LLC ("Fidelity") to maintain custody of their assets and to effect trades for their accounts. Although Appleton may make this recommendation, it is the client's decision to custody assets with Schwab or Fidelity. Appleton is independently owned and operated and not affiliated with either of these two custodians.

For Appleton client accounts maintained in their custody, Schwab and Fidelity generally do not charge separately for custody services, but are compensated by account holders through commissions and other transaction-related or asset-based fees for securities trades that are executed through them or that settle into accounts held by them.

From time to time, Schwab and Fidelity may offer services intended to help Appleton manage and further develop various facets of the firm's business. These services may include publications, conferences, and educational seminars on pertinent industry related issues or specific product information as they apply to asset classes, best practice management, compliance, and hot topics in the marketplace.

In evaluating whether to recommend that clients custody their assets at Schwab, we may take into account the availability of some of the above mentioned services as part of the total mix of factors we consider and not solely on the nature, cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided by either company which may create a potential conflict of interest.

Appleton also participates in the TD Ameritrade Institutional Program. TD Ameritrade Institutional is a division of TD Ameritrade, Inc. ("TD Ameritrade"), member FINRA/SIPC/NFA. TD Ameritrade is an independent and unaffiliated SEC-registered broker-dealer. TD Ameritrade offers independent investment advisers various services including the custody of securities, trade execution, clearance, and settlement of transactions. Investment advisers receive some benefits from TD Ameritrade through its participation in the program. (For further information regarding this relationship, please refer to the disclosure contained under Item 14 regarding Client Referrals.

ITEM 13 – REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

The Appleton portfolio management team monitors the underlying securities held by clients and is responsible for cash reviews and daily management. The portfolio management team typically consists of the client's Portfolio Manager and Client Service Manager, who works in conjunction with the firm's Operations Department. From an investment standpoint, the Portfolio Manager generally reviews the client account on at least a quarterly basis. The account reviews take into consideration the effectiveness of strategy and suitability in meeting the client's objectives, given prevailing market conditions, as the firm perceives them to be. More frequent reviews may be triggered by material changes in variables, such as the client's individual circumstances, the market, political or economic environment. The accounts are also reviewed with the client directly, with the method, frequency and location at his/her discretion.

In addition to the statements and confirmations of transactions that clients receive directly from their custodian and/or broker-dealer, direct clients also receive, at least quarterly, a reconciled appraisal of their assets from Appleton, summarizing account performance, balances, holdings, transactions during the period, and a gains/loss summary. With this quarterly appraisal from Appleton, clients also receive an overview letter with our insight and commentary on current economic, global, and market conditions.

MUTUAL FUND MANAGEMENT SERVICES

Appleton reviews and monitors The Appleton Fund's holdings in accordance with the investment objectives outlined in the Fund's Prospectus. The individual securities held in The Appleton Fund are monitored in the same way as those held in the individual client accounts. Clients will find information regarding regular reports to the Fund by Appleton in the Fund's prospectus, as well as information provided to Shareholders. Clients may refer to the Fund's website at www.appletonfunds.com or by calling (877) 41.APPLE.

CONSULTING SERVICES

We review mutual fund selections within the Cambridge Appleton Trust program on a regular basis and at least quarterly. Mutual fund selections start with Appleton's top down view of the markets, identifying those asset classes which should be emphasized. Quantitative screens are then deployed using Lipper, Morningstar and S&P databases highlighting those funds stacking up favorably against their peers in the areas of performance, risk, expenses and management continuity. Quantitative output is further examined along with qualitative factors by engaging in dialogue with fund management to develop comfort and confidence with the sustainability of process and results.

ITEM 14 – CLIENT REFERRALS

Appleton currently pays referral fees to individuals and/or entities for referring advisory clients to the firm. If a client is introduced to Appleton by a solicitor, the firm may pay that solicitor an ongoing referral fee constituting a percentage of the referred client's advisory fee paid to Appleton for the duration of the advisory relationship.

Payment of referral fees for prospective client referrals creates a potential conflict of interest to the extent that such a referral is not unbiased and the solicitor is, at least partially, motivated by financial gain. As these situations represent a potential conflict of interest, Appleton has established the following restrictions in order to ensure the firm's fiduciary responsibilities are upheld:

- All such referral fees are paid in accordance with the requirements of Rule 206(4)-3 of the Advisers Act, and any corresponding state securities law requirements;
- Any such referral fee will be paid solely from Appleton's investment management fee, and will not result in any additional charge to the client;
- If the client is introduced to Appleton by an unaffiliated solicitor, the solicitor, at the time of the solicitation, will disclose the nature of his/her/its solicitor relationship and provide each prospective client with a copy of Appleton's Form ADV Part 2 Brochure, together with a copy of the written disclosure statement from the solicitor to the client. The solicitor's written disclosure statement must disclose the terms of the solicitation arrangement between the firm and the solicitor, including the compensation to be received by the solicitor from Appleton; and
- All referred clients will be carefully screened to ensure that Appleton fees, services, and investment strategies are suitable to their investment needs and objectives.

Charles Schwab & Co., Inc.

Appleton receives client referrals from Schwab through Appleton's participation in the Schwab Advisor Network[®] (the "Service"). The Service is designed to help investors find an independent investment adviser. Schwab is a broker-dealer independent of and unaffiliated with Appleton. Schwab does not supervise Appleton and has no responsibility for Appleton's management of clients' portfolios or Appleton's other advice or services. Appleton pays Schwab fees to receive client referrals through the Service. Appleton's participation in the Service may raise potential conflicts of interest described below.

Appleton pays Schwab a Participation Fee on all referred clients' accounts that are maintained in custody at Schwab and a Non-Schwab Custody Fee on all accounts that are maintained at, or transferred to, another custodian. The Participation Fee paid by Appleton is a percentage of the fees the client owes to Appleton, or a percentage of the value of the assets in the client's account, subject to a minimum Participation Fee. Appleton pays Schwab the Participation Fee for so long as the referred client's account remains in custody at Schwab.

The Participation Fee is billed to Appleton on a quarterly basis and may be increased, decreased or waived by Schwab from time to time. The Participation Fee is paid by Appleton and not by the client. Appleton has agreed not to charge clients referred through the Service any fees or costs greater than the fees or costs Appleton charges clients with similar portfolios who were not referred through the Service.

Appleton generally pays Schwab a Non-Schwab Custody Fee if custody of a referred client's account is not maintained by, or assets in the account are transferred from, Schwab. The Non-Schwab Custody Fee is a one-time payment equal to a percentage of the assets placed with a custodian other than Schwab, and does not apply if the client was solely responsible for the decision not to maintain custody at Schwab. The Non-Schwab Custody Fee is higher than the Participation Fees an adviser generally would pay in a single year. Thus, Appleton has an incentive to recommend that client accounts be held in custody at Schwab.

The Participation and Non-Schwab Custody Fees will be based on assets in accounts of Appleton's clients who were referred by Schwab and those referred clients' family members living in the same household. Thus, Appleton will have incentives to encourage household members of clients referred through the Service to maintain custody of their accounts and execute transactions at Schwab.

Clients will instruct Schwab to debit Appleton's fees directly from the accounts. For accounts of Appleton's clients maintained in custody at Schwab through the Service, Schwab will not charge the client separately for custody, but will receive compensation from Appleton's clients in the form of commissions or other transaction-related compensation on securities trades executed through Schwab.

Schwab also will receive a fee (generally lower than the applicable commission on trades it executes) for clearance and settlement of trades executed through broker-dealers other than Schwab. Schwab's fees for trades executed at other broker-dealers are in addition to the other broker-dealer's fees. Thus, Appleton may have an incentive to cause trades to be executed through Schwab rather than another broker-dealer. Appleton, nevertheless, acknowledges its duty to seek best execution of trades for client accounts. Trades for client accounts held in custody at Schwab may be executed through a different broker-dealer than trades for Appleton's other clients. Thus, trades for accounts with custody at Schwab may be executed at different times and different prices than trades for other accounts that are executed at other broker-dealers.

TD Ameritrade

As also disclosed under Item 12, Appleton participates in TD Ameritrade's institutional customer program and may recommend TD Ameritrade to clients for custody and brokerage services. There is no direct link between Appleton's participation in the program and the investment advice it gives to its clients, although Appleton may receive economic benefits through its participation in the program that are typically not available to TD Ameritrade retail investors.

These benefits may include: (i) receipt of duplicate client statements and confirmations; (ii) research related products and tools; consulting services; access to a trading desk serving adviser participants; (iii) access to block trading; (iv) the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from client accounts; (v) access to an electronic communications network for client order entry and account information; (vi) access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers; and (vii) potentially discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to Appleton by third party vendors. TD Ameritrade may also have paid for business consulting and professional services received by Appleton's related persons.

Some of the products and services made available by TD Ameritrade through the program may benefit Appleton, but may not benefit the firm's client accounts. These products or services may assist Appleton in managing and administering client accounts, including accounts not maintained at TD Ameritrade. Other services that may be available by TD Ameritrade could be intended to help Appleton manage and further develop its business enterprise.

The benefits received by Appleton through participation in the program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade. As part of the firm's fiduciary duties to clients, Appleton endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by Appleton in and of itself may create a potential conflict of interest and may indirectly influence Appleton's choice of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services.

ITEM 15 - CUSTODY

Although Appleton does not take physical possession of client funds or securities, it is deemed to have constructive custody over certain client assets under current SEC rules. On at least a quarterly basis, the qualified custodian is required to send directly to the client's address a statement showing all transactions within the account during the reporting period.

It is important for clients to review their custodial statements to verify their accuracy. Clients should contact Appleton directly if they believe there may be a discrepancy between a custodial quarterly statement received and their Appleton quarterly statement.

ITEM 16 – INVESTMENT DISCRETION

Clients who would consider hiring Appleton to manage their portfolio investments should understand that the firm provides discretionary asset management services. In this practice, with the authority of investment discretion from our client, Appleton buys or sells securities in a client's account without contacting the client prior to each trade to obtain their permission.

Appleton's discretionary authority includes the ability to do the following without contacting the client:

- Determine the security to buy or sell;
- Determine the amount of the security to buy or sell; and/or
- Determine the timing of such transactions.

Clients grant Appleton discretionary authority when they enter into a relationship with the firm by signing the investment management agreement. Only in particular circumstances may a client limit this authority and such limitation is agreed upon by both parties and in writing. Clients may also change/amend such limitations by once again providing Appleton with written instructions.

ITEM 17 – VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Appleton votes proxies for all client accounts. However, Appleton clients always retain the right to vote proxies themselves, and may exercise this right by instructing the firm in writing to not vote proxies on behalf of their account.

Appleton has retained a third-party proxy voting service, and has concurrently adopted voting guidelines determined to be in the best interest of firm clients. Through this proxy voting service, Appleton retains the proxy voting books and records for the requisite period of time and a record of votes cast.

Clients may obtain a copy of Appleton's complete proxy voting policies and procedures by contacting Michele Hubley, Chief Compliance Officer, in writing at the contact information listed on the cover of the Brochure. Clients may also request, in writing, information on how proxies for account shares were voted. If any client requests a copy of our proxy policies and procedures or how proxies for their account were voted, Appleton will promptly provide that information.

Appleton will neither advise nor act on behalf of clients in legal proceedings involving companies whose securities are held in a client's account. This also includes, but is not limited to, the filing of "Proofs of Claim" in class action settlements. If desired, clients may direct Appleton to send copies of class action notices directly to them or to a third party. Upon such direction, Appleton will make commercially reasonable efforts to forward such notices in a timely manner.

With respect to ERISA accounts, Appleton will vote proxies unless the plan documents specifically reserve the plan sponsor's right to vote proxies. To direct Appleton to vote a proxy in a particular manner, clients should contact Michele Hubley, Chief Compliance Officer, by telephone, email, or in writing.

ITEM 18 – FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Appleton is not required to include a Financial Statement in this Brochure, as the firm, under no circumstances, requires or solicits payments of the investment advisory fees in excess of $1200 per client, more than six months in advance of services rendered.

As an SEC registered investment advisory firm, Appleton is also required to disclose any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair the firm's ability to meet its contractual obligations with clients. Appleton has no additional financial circumstances to report.

Further, Appleton is required to disclose that the firm has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any point during the previous ten years.

WHO WE ARE

Who is providing this notice?

APPLETON PARTNERS, INC. ("APPLETON")

WHAT WE DO

How does Appleton protect my personal information?

To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, our firm utilizes security measures which comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings.

Appleton restricts access to your non-public personal information only to those employees who need to know that information to service your account.

How does Appleton collect my personal information?

Our firm collects your personal information, for example, when you:

- Sign an Appleton investment management agreement or open a brokerage/custodial account;
- Communicate with our firm or purchase or sell securities;
- Deposit or withdraw funds, provide or update your investment profile; and/or
- Instruct your broker, custodian, or bank to forward your statements to Appleton or grant our firm access to your statements.

Why can't I limit all sharing?

Federal law grants you the right to limit only:

- Sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes— information about your credit worthiness;
- Affiliates from using your information to market to you; and
- Sharing for non-affiliates to market to you.

State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing.

DEFINITIONS

Affiliates

Companies related by common ownership or control. They may be financial and non-financial companies.

Appleton is affiliated with Cambridge Appleton Trust, N.A. by common ownership. Our firm will only share client information with this affiliate to the extent necessary to service a client's investment account.

Non-Affiliates

Companies not related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and non-financial companies

Appleton will not share client information with any non-affiliates unless such sharing is necessary to service a client account or is required by law.

Joint Marketing

A formal agreement between non-affiliated financial companies that together market financial products or services to you.

Appleton has not entered any joint marketing agreements.

OTHER IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Appleton considers the protection of your privacy to be an issue of great importance.

Our firm will send all existing clients an updated Privacy Notice on an annual basis.
