Item 2 – Material Changes

This Brochure is an amendment to our Brochure dated February 14, 2014, which includes the following material changes:

1. M. Lane Kerns is retired. It is expected that Mr. Kerns will occasionally work in a consulting role for KCM.
2. KCM is the Investment Advisor to the Valarian Market Neutral and Long/Short investment strategies. These strategies are available to qualified investors via separate account. KCM charges a performance based fee of between 10-20% in connection with its Valarian Market Neutral and Long/Short investment strategies. It is not foreseen that trades in the Valarian strategies will conflict with trades made in other KCM strategies, including the KCM Macro Trends Fund, due to their differing investment objectives and focus. In rare circumstances, there could be a common trade among KCM strategies in a large cap stock but the market impact of the trade should be immaterial to the performance of another strategy due to the highly liquid nature (abundant market supply) of large cap stocks.

Pursuant to new SEC Rules, we will ensure that you receive a summary of any materials changes to this and subsequent Brochures within 120 days of the close of our business' fiscal year. We may further provide other ongoing disclosure information about material changes as necessary.

We will further provide you with a new Brochure as necessary based on changes or new information, at any time, without charge.

Currently, our Brochure may be requested by contacting Martin Kerns, President and Chief Compliance Officer, at (713) 993-0949 or Marty@KernsCapital.com. Our Brochure is also available on our website, www.KernsCapital.com, free of charge.

Additional information about Kerns Capital Management, Inc. ("KCM") is also available via the SEC's website, www.adviserinfo.sec.gov. The SEC's website also provides information about any persons affiliated with KCM who are registered, or are required to be registered, as investment adviser representatives of KCM.

Item 4 – Advisory Business

Kerns Capital Management, Inc. (“KCM”) is an independent, fee-based, SEC-Registered Investment Advisor. The firm was founded in 1994 by Lane Kerns. Martin Kerns is the firm’s Chief Executive Officer, President and Chief Compliance Officer. Martin Kerns is the firm’s sole shareholder.

Initial Visit

Our greatest desire is to have a continued working relationship with our clients. We are aware that many people are hesitant to engage the services of an investment advisor merely on the recommendation of another person. We also understand that no one wants to be charged for the first visit only to find out they may not need our assistance. Similarly, we have no desire to enter into an advisory agreement unless there can exist a good working relationship between the parties and our services can be beneficial to the client. For these reasons we offer our initial consultation without obligation and at no charge. This gives us both an opportunity to establish some rapport and to address any questions you may have.

Investment Advisory Services

KCM provides discretionary portfolio management and retirement plan consulting services.

1. Portfolio Management. KCM offers active money management services to individuals, mutual funds, hedge funds, corporate pension and profit-sharing plans, trusts and foundations.
 - a. Investment Philosophy. We believe strong long-term investment results and wealth are best achieved through the avoidance of major losses and the compounding of reasonable gains. If we can miss the majority of major market cycle downturns and capture the majority of major market upturns we will not only protect client assets, but the long-term growth of those assets will be substantially greater than market growth.
 - b. Investment Strategies. We employ flexible investment strategies with the freedom to invest in all asset classes, long or short. We combine fundamental (“bottom-up”) and technical (“top-down”) analysis in seeking to profit from market trends, biases and the future expectations of companies, industries, regions and countries. We principally use stocks, bonds, exchange traded funds, and no load securities in the management of client assets. Item 8 further describes our Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risks of Loss.

- c. KCM Models Portfolios. We offer several risk-tolerance based model portfolios, i.e., stable, conservative, moderate and aggressive growth, for client selection and investment. We do not tailor our advisory services to the individual needs of clients. Clients generally may not impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities.
 - d. 401(k) and 403(b) Account Management. We offer investment advisory services to 401(k) and 403(b) participants including advice tailored to the investments in their plan.
 - e. KCM Macro Trends Mutual Fund. KCM is the Investment Advisor to the KCM Macro Trends Fund, an investment company (“mutual fund”) registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940.
 - f. KCM Valarian Strategies. KCM is the Investment Advisor to the Valarian Market Neutral and Long/Short investment strategies. These strategies are available to qualified investors via separate account.
 - g. Sub-Advisory. KCM provides trading signals to other investment management companies.
2. Retirement Plan Consulting. KCM has been advising company retirement plan sponsors in the fulfillment of their fiduciary responsibilities under ERISA since its inception in 1994.

Under ERISA, plan fiduciaries are required to act with the skill, knowledge and expertise of a prudent expert with respect to plan-related decisions regarding investments, service providers, plan administration, and general ERISA compliance issues. If they do not have this expertise they are required to obtain it, or risk personal liability.

KCM offers fiduciary advisory services in all facets of ERISA plan management, including plan design, investment due diligence, vendor searches, fee-benchmarking and employee education.

- a. Plan Design. Through our close affiliation with ML Kerns & Associates, LLC, a benefits consulting and third party administrator, KCM is uniquely positioned to help clients design, implement and maintain the right plan for their business and employees.

- b. Investment Due Diligence. Choosing and monitoring the appropriate investments to be offered in the plan is perhaps the most serious fiduciary task as it can impact a participant's retirement experience.

ERISA §404(a) charges investment fiduciaries of a qualified plan, such as a 401(k) plan, with the duty to provide a prudent variety of diversified investment options. It also offers fiduciaries a so called "insurance policy" in the form of ERISA §404(c). It states that, by prudently selecting and monitoring the investment options in the plan and complying with the §404(c) requirements, the fiduciary will not be liable for the investment decisions made by the participants. These requirements include the duty to provide plan participants with a broad (well-diversified) investment menu that is consistent with the principals of Modern Portfolio Theory.

KCM offers independent, ongoing investment analysis to assist clients in this important responsibility. Services include establishing the plan investment policy statement, recommending and monitoring plan investment options to satisfy ERISA §404(a) & §404(c) requirements, and providing employee investment education.

- c. Fee Benchmarking and Vendor Searches. Benchmarking plan provider services, investment opportunities and total plan fees can overwhelm even the most diligent plan sponsor. We shoulder the responsibility of a thorough market analysis, offering advice and support throughout the process.
- d. Employee Education & Communication. We deliver proactive consulting solutions that are comprehensive, compelling and technically proficient. As a result, participants are better informed about asset allocation and risk tolerance, and most importantly better prepared for retirement.

As of February 13, 2014, KCM manages client assets of $192,379,651, including $113,403,319 on a discretionary basis and $78,976,332 on a non-discretionary basis.

KCM does not provide financial planning, legal or tax advice.

Item 5 – Fees & Compensation

KCM charges fees for its investment advisory services that are based on a percentage of the client's total assets under management and/or performance. Fees are negotiable and therefore may vary by client.

Investment Management

For accounts other than those charged performance fees (see Item 6 below) KCM's annual investment management fee can range from 0.5% to 2.5%, with a minimum annual fee of $1,500.

The percentage of management fee assessed against the account depends on the strategy selected, size of the account (assets under management), type of asset class (i.e., stocks, bonds, cash), securities used (i.e., stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange traded funds, cash, etc.) and the amount of predicted time devoted to the management process. Fee amounts, including minimum fees, may also differ due to the type of account held by the client, e.g., standard brokerage account vs. company 401(k) retirement account.

KCM uses money market funds and cash defensively and tactically in its management process. Assets invested in money market funds and cash are subject to KCM's management fee.

Retirement Plan Consulting

KCM's annual fee can range from 0.15% to 1.0% of the total plan assets under management, with a minimum annual fee of $4,000. KCM may charge a flat fee in lieu thereof on a per job basis. The percentage of management fees assessed against the account depends on the size of the account and the consulting services requested.

Investment Advisory Agreement

The specific manner in which fees are charged by KCM is established in the client's written investment advisory agreement with KCM.

KCM bills its fees on a monthly or quarterly basis in arrears. KCM's fee is based on the total value of the account on the last day of the management period. Fees are deducted from the client's account whenever possible. Plan Sponsor clients may elect to be billed directly for fees or authorize KCM to directly debit fees from the plan account.

Accounts initiated or terminated during the billing period will be charged a prorated fee. Upon termination of any account, any prepaid, unearned fees will be promptly refunded, and any earned, unpaid fees will be due and payable. The client has the right to terminate an agreement without penalty within five business days after entering into the agreement.

KCM's fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses which shall be incurred by the Client. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third party investment and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual funds and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. These charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to KCM's fee, and KCM shall not receive any portion of those commissions, fees, and costs, except as relating to the KCM Macro Trends Fund.

KCM is the Investment Advisor to the KCM Macro Trends Fund ("the fund") and receives a management fee for its advisory services. KCM may elect to invest all or a significant portion of a client's assets in this fund, in which case any management fee received on a client's assets invested in the fund, less fund platform expenses incurred by KCM, will be applied to reduce the regular advisory fee charged the client.

Item 12 further describes the factors that KCM considers in selecting or recommending broker-dealers for client transactions and determining the reasonableness of their compensation (e.g., commissions).

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees & Side By Side Management

KCM charges a performance-based fee (fees based on a share of capital gains or on capital appreciation of the assets of a client) in connection with its Valarian Market Neutral and Long/Short investment strategies. It is not foreseen that trades in the Valarian strategies will conflict with trades made in other KCM strategies, including the KCM Macro Trends Fund, due to their differing investment objectives and focus. In rare circumstances, there could be a common trade among KCM strategies in a large cap stock but the market impact of the trade should be immaterial to the performance of another strategy due to the highly liquid nature (abundant market supply) of large cap stocks.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

KCM provides services to individuals, mutual funds, hedge funds, corporate pension and profit-sharing plans, trusts and foundations,

To open an account with us for individual portfolio management services, we typically require a minimum account size of $250,000. We will aggregate client accounts for purposes of this requirement.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis & Investment Strategies

KCM employs flexible investment strategies in the management of client assets, meaning we have the freedom to invest globally in companies of all sizes and in all sectors, long or short, fixed income securities, and to hold cash.

KCM invests principally in open ended, no load mutual funds (mutual funds), domestic and foreign equity securities (common stock), and exchange traded funds ("ETFs").

The goal of all KCM strategies is long-term growth of capital. As a secondary goal, KCM's strategies seek to manage volatility and market risk.

We utilize all or parts of a multi-faceted approach in managing assets, including fundamental, technical and quantitative analysis, depending on the strategy selected.

We generally begin with economic analyses to determine the phase of the business cycle for each major global market segment (a "Segment"). Examples of Segments include the U.S., Europe, Asia and Latin America. We then assess the relative strength of each Segment's currency to the U.S. dollar. Using research and analyses we rank the Segments to determine the market's direction, i.e., "uptrend," "downtrend" or "trading range", and the momentum of the direction. We adjust market exposure depending on how clearly our research reflects the market's direction.

Our next step is to identify individual sectors and/or securities in attractive Segments. We base our investment decisions on a wide array of fundamental and technical factors. Fundamental factors include but are not limited to measures such as earnings growth rates, return on capital, dividend yield and free cash flow. Technical factors include measures such as price performance, volatility and trading volume.

KCM is the Investment Advisor to the KCM Macro Trends Fund ("the Fund"). KCM may elect to invest all or a significant portion of a client's assets in this fund. The fund employs the investment strategies described. The term "macro" in the Fund's name refers to its focus on the broad macroeconomic environment. A macro strategy focuses on broad trends and is generally distinguished from a strategy that focuses on the prospects of particular companies or issuers. We attempt to control risk by owning a large number of securities, selling securities held long that are in or are about to enter into a down trend, and by conducting hedging from time to time using inverse ETFs, futures and/or options. If we believe the overall market is overvalued and/or technically vulnerable to a decline, or if we cannot find a sufficient number of stocks with near term appreciation potential, we have the discretion to move all or a portion of the Fund's assets into fixed income securities, including cash, in order to take a more defensive position. The fixed income securities will generally be investment grade cash equivalents with maturities under 91 days. The fund may also be net short during periods KCM anticipates declining market conditions. We employ these additional strategies within in the fund, as opposed to individual accounts, to minimize trading costs and avoid investment minimums. Investors should carefully consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of the KCM Macro Trends Fund before investing.

As a part of our investment strategy and during periods in which we have limited market exposure, we may invest in money market funds or other short-term interest-bearing instruments.

KCM is also the Investment Advisor to the Valarian Market Neutral and Long/Short investment strategies which are available to qualified investors via separate account. These strategies employ the fundamental, technical and quantitative strategies described above, with a limited focus on Value oriented stocks. They also maintain a constant hedge, which varies in degree depending on the strategy selected, in effort to management risk, control volatility and minimize portfolio drawdowns.

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.

Mutual Fund & Exchange Traded Fund Risk. There are specific risks involved in the management of mutual funds and Exchange Traded Funds (collectively "funds") which are described in detail in their prospectus. Each fund exposes KCM's strategies to the strategy-specific risk of that fund and the value of your portfolio will fluctuate in response to the performance of the funds in which your account is invested.

Market Risk. Stock markets can be volatile. In other words, the prices of stocks can fall rapidly in response to developments affecting a specific company or industry, or to changing economic, political or market conditions. Investments may decline in value if the stock markets perform poorly. There is also a risk that the investments will underperform either the securities markets generally or particular segments of the securities markets.

Portfolio Turnover Risk. Portfolio turnover refers to the rate at which investments are replaced. The higher the rate, the higher the transactional and brokerage costs associated with the turnover which may reduce the return, unless the securities traded can be bought and sold without corresponding commission costs. Active trading of securities may also increase your realized capital gains or losses, which may affect the taxes you pay.

Foreign Risk. Foreign markets can be more volatile than the U.S. market due to increased risks of adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market, or economic developments and can perform differently from the U.S. market. Special risks associated with investments in foreign companies include exposure to currency fluctuations, less liquidity, less developed or less efficient trading markets, lack of comprehensive company information, political instability and differing auditing and legal standards.

Small and Medium-Size Company Risk. Small and medium size companies may have narrower markets and more limited managerial and financial resources than do larger, more established companies. As a result, their performances can be more volatile and they may face a greater risk of business failure.

Issuer-Specific Risk. The value of a specific security can be more volatile than the market as a whole and can perform differently from the value of the market as a whole. The value of securities of smaller issuers can be more volatile than that of larger issuers. The value of certain types of securities can be more volatile due to increased sensitivity to adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market, or economic developments.

Short Selling Risk. Positions (purchases) in shorted securities are speculative and more risky than "long" positions (purchases) because the cost of the replacement security is unknown. Therefore, the potential loss on the short sale is unlimited, whereas the potential loss on long positions is limited to the original purchase price. Any strategy that includes selling securities short could suffer significant losses. Short selling will also result in higher transaction costs (such as interest and dividends), which reduce return, and may result in higher taxes.

Derivatives Risk. Investments in futures and options are considered "derivative" investments. A small investment in derivatives could have a potentially large impact on performance. The use of derivatives involves risks different from, or possibly greater than, the risks associated with investing directly in the underlying assets. Derivatives can be highly volatile, illiquid and difficult to value, and there is the risk that the hedging technique will fail if changes in the value of a derivative held do not correlate with the portfolio securities being hedged.

Put and Call Options Risk. There are risks associated with the sale and purchase of call and put options. As seller (writer) of a covered call option, assumes the risk of a decline in the market price of the underlying security below the purchase price of the underlying security less the premium received, and gives up the opportunity for gain on the underlying security above the exercise price of the option. If the option is uncovered, and the Seller must purchase the security at the current market price because the option is exercised, the loss could be significant. The buyer of a put or call option risks losing the entire premium invested in the option if they do not exercise the option.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

None.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliates

KCM is the Investment Advisor to the KCM Macro Trends Fund (the “fund”), an investment company (“mutual fund”) registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940. See Item 11 below for additional information.

KCM is related by common ownership and management to M.L. Kerns & Associates, LLC (“ML Kerns”), a pension consulting, actuarial and administrative firm. Clients of ML Kerns may receive advice from KCM in the selection and monitoring of plan investments or in the active management of plan assets.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics

KCM has adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the firm describing its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at KCM must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

KCM anticipates that, in appropriate circumstances, consistent with client’s investment objectives, it will cause accounts over which KCM has management authority to effect, or will recommend to investment advisory clients or prospective clients, the purchase or sale of securities in which KCM, its affiliates and/or clients, directly or indirectly, have a position of interest.

As previously described, KCM is the Investment Advisor to the KCM Macro Trends Fund (the “fund”), a registered mutual fund, and receives a management fee for its advisory services. KCM may elect to invest all or a significant portion of a client’s assets in this fund. This practice presents a conflict of interest because it gives us an incentive to invest client assets in the fund based on additional compensation received rather than client needs. We address this conflict by offsetting, against our regular advisory fee, any amounts earned or otherwise received from the fund, less custodial platform expenses, such that our compensation will not be increased by use of the fund. KCM employs this same offset procedure in company retirement plans that use the fund such that our compensation remains level.

KCM's employees and persons associated with KCM are required to follow KCM's Code of Ethics. Subject to satisfying this policy and applicable laws, officers, directors and employees of KCM may trade for their own accounts in securities which are recommended to and/or purchased for KCM's clients. The Code of Ethics, which prohibits "front running" and provides that trades for the firm and trades for employees of the firm may occur only simultaneously with or after trades are placed for clients in the same security, is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of the employees of KCM will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts. Nonetheless, because the Code of Ethics in some circumstances would permit employees to invest in the same securities as clients, there is a possibility that employees might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by an employee. Employee trading is continually monitored under the Code of Ethics, and to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between KCM and its clients.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

The Custodian and Brokers We Use

KCM does not maintain custody of your assets [that we manage/on which we advise], although we may be deemed to have custody of your assets if you give us authority to withdraw our management fees from your account (see Item 15 – Custody, below). Your assets must be maintained in an account at a "qualified custodian," generally a broker-dealer or bank.

The qualified custodian will hold your assets in a brokerage account and buy and sell securities when we instruct them to. While we may recommend that you use a particular custodian, you will decide whether to do so and will open your account with them by entering into an account agreement directly with them. We do not open the account for you, although we will assist you in doing so. Even though your account is maintained by a particular custodian, we may still use other brokers to execute trades on your account as described below (see "Your Brokerage and Custody Costs").

KCM participates in the institutional advisor program (the "Program") offered by TD Ameritrade Institutional. TD Ameritrade Institutional is a division of TD Ameritrade Inc., member FINRA/SIPC/NFA ("TDA"), an unaffiliated SEC-registered broker-dealer and FINRA member. TDA offers to independent investment advisors services which include custody of securities, trade execution, clearance and settlement of transactions. Advisor receives some benefits from TDA through its participation in the Program.

How We Select Brokers/Custodians

We seek to recommend a custodian/broker who will hold your assets and execute transactions on terms that are, overall, most advantageous when compared to the other available providers and their services. We consider a wide range of factors, including among others:

- Combination of transaction execution services and asset custody services (generally without a separate fee for custody)
- Capability to execute, clear, and settle trades (buy and sell securities for your account)
- Capability to facilitate transfers and payments to and from account (wire transfers, check requests, bill payment, etc.)
- Breadth of available investment products (stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds [ETFs], etc.)
- Availability of investment research and tools that assist us in making investment decisions
- Quality of services
- Competitiveness of the price of those services (commission rates, margin interest rates, other fees, etc.) and willingness to negotiate the prices
- Reputation, financial strength, and stability
- Prior service to us and our other clients
- Availability of other products and services that benefit us, as discussed below (see "Products and Services Available to Us From Schwab")

Your Brokerage and Custody Costs

TDA and Schwab generally do not charge you separately for custody services but are compensated by charging you commissions or other fees on trades that it executes or that you settle into your Schwab account.

We generally trade no-load mutual funds. There is no commission or fee expense for you associated with trading no load mutual funds. Commissions and fees are instead paid to the custodian by the fund company for access to their platform and your account, which is a benefit to you.

In addition to the commission and asset based fees, TDA or Schwab may charge you a flat dollar amount as a “Prime Broker” or “trade away” fee for each trade that we have executed by a different broker but where the securities bought or the funds from the securities sold are deposited (settled) into your account. These fees are in addition to the commissions or other compensation you pay the executing broker-dealer. Because of this, in order to minimize your trading costs, we have TDA or Schwab execute most trades for your account. We have determined that having them execute most trades is consistent with our duty to seek “best execution” of your trades. Best execution means the most favorable terms for a transaction based on all relevant factors, including those listed above (see “How We Select Brokers/Custodians”).

Client Directed Brokerage. If the client directs that trades be executed through another broker-dealer, the client is responsible for negotiating the terms and conditions (including, but not limited to, commission rates) relating to all services to be provided by that broker-dealer. KCM will assume no responsibility for obtaining the “best execution” of your trade.

Products and Services Available to Us From TDA & Schwab

TD Ameritrade Institutional (TDA) and Schwab Advisor Services™ (formerly called Schwab Institutional®) (Schwab) serve independent investment advisory firms like us. They provide us and our clients with access to institutional brokerage-trading, custody, reporting and related services – many of which are not typically available to retail customers. They also makes available various support services. Some of those services help us manage or administer our clients’ accounts, while other help us manage and grow our business. Their support services generally are available on an unsolicited basis (we don’t have to request them) and at no charge to us.

Services that Benefit You. TDA and Schwab’s institutional brokerage services include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions, monthly statements, and custody of client assets. The investment products available through TDA and Schwab include some to which we might not otherwise have access or that would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment by our clients. These services generally benefit you and your account.

Services That May Not Directly Benefit You. TDA and Schwab may also makes available to us other products and services that benefit us but may not directly benefit you and your account. These products and services assist us in managing and administering our clients’ accounts. They include investment research: their own and that of third parties. We may use this research to service all or a substantial number of our clients’ accounts, including accounts not maintained at TDA or Schwab. In addition to investment research, TDA and Schwab also make available software and other technology that:

- Provide access to client account data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements)
 - Facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts
 - Provide pricing and other market data
 - Facilitate payment of our fees from our clients' accounts
 - Assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting

Services That Generally Benefit Only Us. TDA and Schwab also offer other services intended to help us manage and further develop our business enterprise. These services include:

- Educational conference and events
- Consulting on technology, compliance, legal and business needs
- Publications and conferences on practice management and business succession
- Access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants and insurance providers

TDA and Schwab may provide some of these services (without cost or at a discount). In other cases, they will arrange for third-party vendors to provide the services to us. TDA and Schwab may also discount or waive their fees for some of these services or pay all or a part of a third party's fees. TDA and Schwab may also provide us with other benefits, such as occasional business entertainment for our personnel.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Martin Kerns reviews client accounts on a quarterly basis. KCM provides, for accounts with balances of $100,000 or more, written quarterly reports that include account balance, performance and fee information.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

KCM may compensate third parties for client referrals. Clients whose accounts are the subject of referral fees will receive full written disclosure, in advance, of the terms of the referral arrangement.

As disclosed under Item 12, above, KCM participates in the institutional customer programs of TDA and Schwab and Advisor may recommend TDA or Schwab to Clients for custody and brokerage services. There is no direct link between KCM's participation in the program and the investment advice it gives to its Clients, although KCM receives economic benefits through its participation in the programs that are typically not available to TDA or

Schwab retail investors. These benefits include the following products and services (provided without cost or at a discount): receipt of duplicate Client statements and confirmations; research related products and tools; consulting services; access to a trading desk serving Advisor participants; access to block trading (which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to Client accounts); the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from Client accounts; access to an electronic communications network for Client order entry and account information; access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers; and discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to KCM by third party vendors. TDA or Schwab may also have paid for business consulting and professional services received by KCM's related persons. Some of the products and services made available by TD Ameritrade through the program may benefit KCM but may not benefit its Client accounts. These products or services may assist KCM in managing and administering Client accounts, including accounts not maintained at TDA or Schwab. Other services made available by TDA or Schwab are intended to help KCM manage and further develop its business enterprise. The benefits received by KCM or its personnel through participation in the program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TDA or Schwab. As part of its fiduciary duties to clients, KCM endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by KCM or its related persons in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest and may indirectly influence the KCM's choice of TDA or Schwab for custody and brokerage services.

KCM also receives from TDA certain additional economic benefits ("Additional Services") that may or may not be offered to any other independent investment Advisors participating in the program. Specifically, the Additional Services include Schwab Performance Technologies Portfolio Center.

TDA provides the Additional Services to KCM in its sole discretion and at its own expense, and KCM does not pay any fees to TDA for the Additional Services. KCM and TDA have entered into a separate agreement ("Additional Services Addendum") to govern the terms of the provision of the Additional Services.

KCM's receipt of Additional Services raises potential conflicts of interest. In providing Additional Services to KCM, TDA most likely considers the amount and profitability to TDA of the assets in, and trades placed for, KCM's Client accounts maintained with TDA. TDA has the right to terminate the Additional Services Addendum with Advisor, in its sole discretion, provided certain conditions are met. Consequently, in order to continue to obtain the Additional Services from TDA, KCM may have an incentive to recommend to its Clients that the assets under management by KCM be held in custody with TDA and to place transactions for Client accounts with TDA. KCM's receipt of Additional Services does not diminish its duty to act in the best interests of its Clients, including to seek best execution of trades for Client accounts.

Item 15 - Custody

Under government regulations, we are deemed to have custody of your assets if, for example, you authorize us to instruct your broker dealer, bank or other qualified custodian, e.g., TDA or Schwab (collectively called "custodian"), to deduct our advisory fees directly from your account. Your custodian, however, maintains actual custody of your assets. You will receive account statement directly from your custodian at least quarterly. The will be sent to the email or postal mailing address you provided the custodian. You should carefully review these statements promptly when you receive them. KCM urges you to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account statements you will receive from us. Our statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Item 16 - Investment Discretion

KCM manages money on a discretionary and non-discretionary basis. Clients opening discretionary accounts are required to execute an Investment Advisory Agreement and limited power of attorney that, among other things, grants us authority to manage their assets on a discretionary basis, meaning we have the authority to select the identity and amount of securities to be bought or sold in the clients' account. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objective for the particular client account.

As stated above in Item 4, clients may generally not impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities.

When selecting securities and determining amounts, KCM observes the investment policies, limitations and restrictions of the clients for which it advises, if any. For registered investment companies, KCM's authority to trade securities may also be limited by certain federal statutes rather than based on your interest in receiving the best value in custody services and the most favorable execution of your transactions. This is a potential conflict of interest. We believe, however, that our selection of a particular custodian and/or broker is in the best interests of our client.

KCM Macro Trends Fund - Soft Dollar Benefits

Knight Direct, LLC, (“KD”) provides prime brokerage services to the KCM Macro Trends Fund (the “fund”), including trade execution. KCM, in its management of the fund, receives research or other products or services other than execution (“soft dollar benefits”) from KD in connection with security transactions for the fund.

KD, pursuant to its Broker Select client commission program, has established a pool of credits based on commissions for trades routed by KCM for execution by KD on behalf of the fund. The credit rate for executions is $0.0030 for Equities and $.50 for Options contracts. KD, at KCM’s request, uses the credits to pay for “research” services as defined in Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 that have been or will be used by KCM in the investment decision-making process for the fund.

In the last year, KCM has used these credits to pay for proprietary research created and developed by leading services including Ned Davis Research, Inc. and Bloomberg. This research assists us in investment decision-making and trade execution. KD reviews and pays for these research services directly.

When KCM uses brokerage commissions to obtain research or other products or services, it receives a benefit because it does not have to produce or pay for the research, products or services. This benefit may provide us with the incentive to select a broker-dealer based on our interest in receiving the research or other products or services rather than on our shareholders in receiving most favorable execution. This is a conflict of interest. We believe, however, that our selection of KD as broker, and receipt of soft-dollar benefits, is in the best interests of the fund’s shareholders.

KCM’s use of the soft dollar benefits received from KD is limited to our management of the fund.

Item 17 – Voting Securities

KCM does not vote proxies on behalf of advisory clients. Clients retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in client portfolios. . Proxies are mailed to each client directly by Schwab.

KCM votes proxies for the KCM Macro Trends Fund. Clients may obtain a copy of our proxy voting policies and procedures upon request.

Item 18 – Financial Information

KCM has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.
