Item 4 – Services, Fees and Compensation

Monetary Management Group, Inc. (“Monetary Management”, “We” or the “Firm”) is located in St Louis, Missouri. The firm has been providing services to client since 1983. The principal owner is Thomas G. Wright, Sr. In addition Thomas G. Wright Jr., Lisa Brunts, Kathleen Gorman, Elizabeth Wright-Gayda and Gayle Wright all have ownership in the firm.

Monetary Management provides investment supervisory services to clients. This activity includes continuous advice concerning investment of money consistent with the objectives with each client. Monetary Management provides consulting services to companies and individuals on profit sharing and 401k plans.

Discretionary Wrap Program

We provide discretionary investment advisory services to some of our clients through a managed account program (“Discretionary Wrap Program”). Through the Discretionary Wrap Program, we manage the investment and reinvestment of the clients’ portfolio assets on a discretionary basis and provide such investment advisory services and brokerage services on a “wrap” fee basis. Our Wrap Program utilizes a comprehensive single fee (i.e., all-inclusive fee covers costs of commissions, research, etc.).

Discretionary Accounts

With discretionary accounts, when a client requests or instructs Monetary to direct a portion of the securities transactions for its account to a specified broker-dealer, Monetary will treat the client’s direction as a decision by the client to retain, to the extent of the direction, the discretion that Monetary would otherwise have in selecting broker-dealers to effect transactions and in negotiating commissions generally for the client’s account. Although Monetary will attempt to effect such transactions in a manner consistent with its policy of seeking best execution and price on each transaction, there may be occasions where it is unable to do so, in which case Monetary will continue to comply with the client’s instructions on the foregoing basis. The client, therefore, should consider whether, under its direction, commissions, execution, clearance and settlement capabilities, and fees for custodial and other services provided the client by the broker-dealer (if applicable) will be comparable to those otherwise obtainable. A client making such a designation also should understand that it might lose the possible advantage that non-designating clients derive from aggregation of orders for several clients as a single transaction for the purchase or sale of a particular security.

Non-Discretionary Accounts

With non-discretionary accounts, client appoints Monetary as its investment adviser for the Accounts, on a non-discretionary basis. Client shall maintain complete and total discretion in the investment of the Assets. Client will authorize Monetary as agent to buy, sell and trade in stocks, fixed income securities and any other securities and or contracts relating to the same for the Accounts, in accordance with the prior approval of Client.

Assets Under Management

Our assets under management as of our 2014 fiscal year-end are $313,715,428.

Fees and Compensation

Monetary Management manages client funds on both a fully discretionary or non-discretionary basis. Fees may be negotiable based on such factors as the size of the account and asset mix of account. The fee is calculated quarterly per account and is based on the average assets under management during said quarter. Fees are payable quarterly in arrears.

The fee schedule is as follows

Equities	1.0% per annum
Fixed	.50% per annum

Minimum fee: $2,500 annually. All fees are subject to negotiation.

The client is generally charged a single, all-inclusive fee (sometimes referred to as a “wrap fee” and referred to herein as a “comprehensive fee”) based upon a percentage of the market value of the client’s account. The comprehensive fee generally covers all services for: (1) recommendations of investments in the client’s portfolio; (2) execution of portfolio transactions without brokerage commissions and, in some instances, without dealer mark-ups or mark-downs by the designated broker; (3) reports on the assets in the client’s portfolio, which also includes providing the client with trade confirmations and monthly statements; (4) periodic evaluation and comparison of account performance; and (5) continuing consultation on the client’s investment objectives. Each client should evaluate whether such a program is suitable for the client’s needs, given factors such as the size of the account, frequency of transactions and the client’s investment objectives.

To the extent mutual funds are selected the annual advisory fee set forth above does not include the customary fees and expenses associated with investing in mutual funds or other costs of establishing and maintaining an account with mutual funds including Rule 12b-1 fees and expenses. In addition to the annual advisory fee each mutual fund in which your assets are invested will incur separate investment advisory fees and other expenses for which you will bear a proportionate share. With the exception of the discretionary wrap portion of our services, the client is advised that in addition to the annual advisory fee set forth above, mutual funds have their own fees, which the client will pay. These fees are not paid directly by the client; rather they are deducted off the NAV of each mutual fund daily.

Clients whose portfolio contains Mutual Funds will pay both a direct management fee to the adviser and an indirect management fee through the Mutual Fund. Monetary Management has clients who do not pay a management fee but rather pay commissions on each trade. This pertains to non-discretionary accounts and the commissions are paid to the broker dealer.

The section referred to as “Brokerage Practices” and the Wrap Fee Brochure for further describes the factors that we consider in selecting or recommending broker-dealers for transactions and determining the reasonableness of their compensation (e.g., commissions).

Termination

This agreement may be terminated at any time upon 30 days written notice by either party to the other. Since fees are paid in arrears, pro-ration of fees will occur upon termination of the agreement.

Fee Payment Options

As indicated in our advisory agreement with you, there are two options you may select to pay for our services:

- Direct debiting (preferred): at the inception of the relationship and each quarter thereafter, we will notify your custodian of the amount of the fee due and payable to us through our fee schedule and contract. The custodian does not validate or check our fee, its calculation on the assets on which the fee is based. They will “deduct” the fee from your Account(s) or, if you have more than one account from the account you have designated to pay our advisory fees.
 - Each month, you will receive a statement directly from your custodian showing all transactions, positions and credits / debits into or from your account; the statements after the quarter end will reflect these transactions, including the advisory fee paid by you to us.
- Pay-by-check: At the inception of the Account and each quarter thereafter, we issue you an invoice for our services and you pay us by check or wire transfer within 15 days of the date of the invoice.

Additional Fees and Expenses

Advisory fees payable to us do not include all the fees you may pay when we purchase or sell securities for your Account(s). The following list of fees or expenses are what you pay directly to third parties, whether a security is being purchased, sold or held in your Account(s) under our management. Fees charged are by the broker dealer / custodian.

We may receive, directly or indirectly any of these fees charged to you. These may be construed as additional management fees. They are paid to your broker, custodian or the mutual fund or other investment you hold. The fees may include:

- Brokerage commissions;
- Transaction fees;
- Exchange fees;
- SEC fees;
- Advisory fees and administrative fees charged by Mutual Funds (MF), Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs)
- Advisory fees charged by sub-advisers (if any are used for your account);

- Custodial Fees;
 - Deferred sales charges (on MF or annuities);
 - Odd-Lot differentials;
 - Deferred sales charges (charged by MFs);
 - Transfer taxes;
 - Wire transfer and electronic fund processing fees;
 - Commissions or mark-ups / mark-downs on security transactions

Item 5 – Account Requirements and Types of Clients

Account Requirements

Our minimum account size is typically $500,000.00. The account size is negotiable and we reserve the right to accept lesser amounts due to client relationship.

Types of Clients

We provide our services to a number of Clients:

- Individuals, including high net worth individuals
- Trusts, estates and charitable organizations
- Pension and profit sharing plans
- Taft Hartley
- Among others

Item 6 – Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation

All of the investment advisor representatives of Monetary Management act as a portfolio manager for the Wrap Program.

Some advisory teams are one hundred percent portfolio managers and run their own models, while some teams only manage a portion of their client's assets as a portfolio manager, with the remainder going to mutual funds. Their activities are monitored and there is an annual review by management of client and portfolio information so as to confirm that the program is suitable for the client.

When the IARs manage on the non-wrap platform, they have discretion, and when agreed to in the client agreement, they may charge a cents per share or a transaction fee, in addition to the annual fee to cover clearing charges assessed to the IAR. This creates conflict of interest; however, we monitor their activities to confirm that the portfolio activities are consistent with the investment objectives of the client and that the IARs trading activity is consistent with his fiduciary duty to the client. This conflict is not as profound with respect to the non-discretionary wrap as the client approves all transactions.

Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

We do not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

Analysis Methods

Our security analysis methods include fundamental analysis, technical analysis, and cyclical analysis.

Sources of Information

In conducting security analysis, we utilize a broad spectrum of information, including financial publications, third-party research materials, annual reports, prospectuses, regulatory filings, company press releases, corporate rating services, and meetings with management of various companies.

Investment Strategies

We employ a range of investment strategies to implement the advice we give to clients including: long-term purchases, short-term purchases, trading, margin transactions, option strategies including writing covered options, uncovered options and spreading strategies.

Frequency Trading

Strategies involving frequent trading of securities can affect investment performance.

Risk of Loss

All investments in securities include a risk of loss of your principal (invested amount) and any profits that have not been realized (the securities were not sold to “lock in” the profit). As you know, stock markets, bond markets fluctuate substantially over time. In addition, as recent global and domestic economic events have indicated, performance of any investment is not guaranteed. As a result, there is a risk of loss of the assets we manage that may be out of our control. We will do our very best in the management of your assets; however, we cannot guarantee any level of performance or that you will not experience a loss of your account assets. Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.

Voting Client Securities

It is the policy of Monetary Management to vote proxies for all accounts for which it has voting authority in accordance with client instructions and in a manner in which Monetary Management believes it to be in the best interests of its clients. Monetary Management generally votes in accordance with the recommendations of the issuer/s existing management, unless it is not prudent to do so. A written copy of the proxy policies and procedures are available upon request. Monetary Management uses ADP to vote proxies electronically.

Item 7 – Client Information Provided to Portfolio Managers

Information is gathered by each IAR to determine investment goals and objectives and suitability of the respective client. The Firm requires a Customer Suitability Form to be completed. This is reviewed by the CCO or President of the Firm. Based on the above information the IAR makes a determination of the program and associated manager that would best suit the needs to each client.

We will collect information about the client's financial circumstances, which may include investment objectives, risk tolerance, and investment time horizon for the account (collectively "financial information"), and any reasonable restrictions that the client wishes to impose on the management of the account in writing. Clients are responsible for notifying the Firm promptly, in writing, of any changes to the information provided to us and for providing the Firm with additional information as we may request from time to time to assist it in providing services under the wrap program. Clients are also responsible for providing to us in writing any investment policies or other guidelines applicable to the client's wrap program account. Such investment policies and guidelines are subject to acceptance by the firm in its sole discretion. Any restrictions on the management of the wrap program account imposed by the client or by such written investment policies or guidelines may cause us or any underlying portfolio manager to deviate from the investment decisions it otherwise would make in providing services under the wrap program.

Item 8 – Client Contact with Portfolio Managers

All of the investment advisor representatives of Monetary Management act as a portfolio manager for the Wrap Program.

Each portfolio manager will be reasonably available to you for consultation regarding your financial situation and objectives, and the management by the respective portfolio manager and or sub-managers of your investment portfolio.

Item 9 – Additional Information

Disciplinary

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of Monetary Management. The firm does not have any events that are applicable to this item.

Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Thomas G. Wright, Sr., and Thomas G. Wright, Jr. each own a 15% equity interest in an insurance brokerage firm Turvey & Federko Benefit Group.

Advisory representatives are registered with Moloney Securities Co., Inc., an unaffiliated broker dealer which is registered with the SEC and various state jurisdictions, and a member firm of Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA).

Code of Ethics

No security may be bought or sold by a principal or employee of Monetary Management before the firm's clients accounts have had the opportunity to make such transactions as appropriate. All applicant principal and employee trades will be reviewed by the compliance officer. As a general rule, Monetary Management deals in very liquid securities and the size of transactions, in both share and dollar amounts is not large enough to move the price of individual stocks. Therefore, front running, trading in front of clients is not a major concern. However, if Monetary Management employees trade in the same security on the same day as its clients, clients will always receive the better price.

The Supervisory Procedures require that all trades made by employees or related persons of Monetary Management, who make recommendations or participate in the determination of which recommendation shall be made, will be reviewed by the designated person responsible. Monetary Management will also maintain quarterly reports on all personal securities transactions, except transactions in exempt transactions. Further, such Written Supervisory Procedures impose certain policies and procedures concerning the misuse of material non-public information that are designed to prevent insider trading by any officer, partner, or associated person of Monetary Management.

We have adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the firm describing its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at Monetary Management Group, Inc. must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

We anticipate that, in appropriate circumstances, consistent with clients' investment objectives, it will cause accounts over which Monetary Management Group, Inc. has management authority to effect, and will recommend to investment advisory clients or prospective clients, the purchase or sale of securities in which Monetary Management Group, Inc., its affiliates and/or clients, directly or indirectly, have a position of interest. Our employees and persons are required to follow Monetary Management Group, Inc.'s Code of Ethics.

Participation in Client Transactions

Subject to satisfying this policy and applicable laws, officers, directors and employees of Monetary Management Group, Inc. and its affiliates may trade for their own accounts in securities which are recommended to and/or purchased for Monetary Management Group, Inc.'s clients. The Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of our employees will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts. Under the Code certain classes of securities have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would materially not interfere with the best interest of Monetary Management Group, Inc.'s clients.

Personal Trading

Employee trading is continually monitored under the Code of Ethics, and to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between Monetary Management Group, Inc. and its clients.

Prohibition on Use of Insider Information

We have also adopted policies and procedures to prevent the misuse of "insider" information (material, non-public information). You may request a complete copy of our Code by contacting us at the address, telephone or email on the cover page of this Part 2.

Brokerage Practices

Allocation of Investment Opportunities and Orders

We have adopted the following policies and procedures related to the fair allocation of investment opportunities. These policies are designed to help ensure that each client receives fair and equitable treatment in the investment process:

- Investment ideas and/or research analyst recommendations are equally disseminated among all appropriate investment professionals responsible for selecting investments.
- Transactions in the same security on behalf of more than one client are aggregated to facilitate best execution and to reduce brokerage commissions and/or other costs.
- When orders cannot be aggregated, we employ a trading rotation process that is fair and objective among institutional and private client accounts, managed account sponsors and passively managed accounts.

- Aggregated executions to participating accounts are allocated in a fair, equitable and objective manner and permissible reasons are delineated for deviating from the standard methodology and the related approval requirements.
 - Accounts in which our employees or affiliates have a beneficial interest, or in which Monetary Management Group, Inc. has a conflict of interest, do not receive preferential treatment.

Our allocation procedures differ for each of our equity strategies.

Brokerage Selection

Broker Analysis

In an effort to achieve best execution, we consider the following factors in selecting brokers:

- Execution capability
- Order size and market depth
- Availability of competing markets
- Trading characteristics of the security
- Availability of accurate information comparing markets
- Quantity and quality of research received from the broker dealer
- Financial responsibility of the broker-dealer
- Confidentiality
- Responsiveness
- Ability and willingness to commit capital
- Availability of accurate information comparing markets
- The technology to process such data
- Other factors that may bear on the overall evaluation of best price and execution

Research Services/Soft Dollars

We do not participate in research or soft dollar transactions.

Cross Transactions

It is our policy not to engage in buying or selling of securities from one managed account to another (typically referred to as a “cross trade”). The vast majority of trades made for our client accounts will be executed through the open market.

Trading Aggregation Practices

When we trade the same security in more than one client account, we generally attempt to batch or “bunch” the trades in order to create a “block transaction.” Generally, buying and selling in blocks helps create trading efficiencies, prompt attention and desired price execution. We will place all or substantially all transactions to purchase or sell common stocks with the client’s

“directed” broker, when applicable. (See the discussion below entitled, “Directed Brokerage”) Whenever possible, we will attempt to batch or aggregate trades for clients who use the same directed brokers in order to create a “block transaction.”

Directed Brokerage

Unless the client instructs Monetary Management to do otherwise, Monetary Management will place orders for the execution of transactions through Moloney Securities who clears securities transactions through RBC Capital Markets or we may place all or a portion of the transactions with a broker with whom the client has a special advisory or consulting relationship. Such transactions are placed with a broker who may have provided manager selection services, performance measurement services, asset allocation services, or a variety of other consulting or monitoring assistance, all with the specific knowledge and full approval of the client. Clients are not required to execute transactions through Moloney Securities and are encouraged to evaluate the reasonableness of the brokerage commission paid based on a comparison with other similar brokers with similar expertise in those specific areas rather than strictly on the rate of the commissions.

We do not maintain agreements with referring brokers regarding our internal allocation of brokerage transactions. However, all or a sizable portion of a particular clients’ brokerage transaction business may be directed to a particular broker if the client has directed, agreed or stipulated us to do so. Commissions are not intended to compensate brokers for client referrals.

With regard to client directed brokerage, we are required to disclose that we may be unable to negotiate commissions, block or batch client orders or otherwise achieve the benefits described above, including best execution, if you limit our brokerage discretion. Directed brokerage commission rates may be higher than the rates we might pay for transactions in non-directed accounts. Also, clients that restrict our brokerage discretion may be disadvantaged in obtaining allocations of new issues of securities that we purchase or recommend for purchase in other clients’ accounts. It is our policy that such accounts not participate in allocations of new issues of securities obtained through brokers and dealers other than those designated by the client. As a general rule, we encourage each client to compare the possible costs or disadvantages of directed brokerage against the value of the custodial or other services provided by the broker to the client in exchange for the directed broker designation.

Other Fees in Connection with Trading

In our efforts to achieve best execution of portfolio transactions, we may trade securities for client accounts by utilizing electronic marketplaces or trading platforms. Some of these electronic systems may impose additional service fees or commissions. We may pay these fees directly to the provider of the service or these fees may be included in the execution price of a security. Our intention is that we will only use such systems and incur such fees if we believe that doing so helps us to achieve the best execution of the applicable transaction, taking into account all relevant factors under the circumstances. For example, we will consider the speed of the transaction, the price of the security, our ability to block the transaction and other factors discussed in this Brokerage Practices section in connection with trading of stocks and bonds.

Accounts with Different Investment Objectives

It is possible that we or our affiliates may manage accounts of clients whose investment objectives are substantially different from one another. As a result, it is possible that it would be appropriate for us to sell a security “short” from one account while holding it “long” in another account. This may occur if we manage an account that involves significant short term trading or pursues unique options strategies. In general, however, our positions with regard to any security will be net long. We seek to avoid a conflict of interest by attempting to limit such situations to, for example, an instance in which there is a readily available supply of the securities being purchased or sold and the transactions in a security do not affect its market price.

Review of Accounts

We review our investment advisory accounts and managed portfolios frequently, with a general review occurring weekly, and more specific reviews made less frequently but at least quarterly. We do not have a limitation on the number of client accounts assigned to any particular account officer, nor is there a precise sequence or review schedule. All portfolios are reviewed continuously rather than periodically. Accounts are reviewed by Thomas G. Wright, Sr., Chief Investment Officer and Thomas G. Wright Jr., Chief Compliance Officer.

In addition, all clients receive separate monthly accounting reports from their portfolio custodian detailing all cash and asset transactions and activity.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Monetary Management does not participate in solicitation arrangements.

Custody

We do not have custody of client assets. Therefore, each client must select a custodian and may be required to pay custodian fees. Also, clients will incur brokerage and other transaction costs in the course of our management of their accounts. (See the section in this brochure entitled, “Brokerage Practices” for a discussion of how we make brokerage decisions that affect client accounts.) Clients will receive account statement from one or more qualified custodians covering the funds and securities in their account(s).

Clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client’s investment assets. Monetary Management urges you to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account statements that we may provide to you. Our statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Investment Discretion

Monetary Management Group, Inc. usually receives discretionary authority from the client at the outset of an advisory relationship to select the identity and amount of securities to be bought or sold, commission rates to be determined and broker dealer to be used. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client account.

When selecting securities and determining amounts, Monetary Management Group, Inc. observes the investment policies, limitations and restrictions of the clients for which it advises. For registered investment companies, Monetary Management Group, Inc.'s authority to trade securities may also be limited by certain federal securities and tax laws that require diversification of investments and favor the holding of investments once made.

Monetary Management has no obligation to seek the lowest commission cost or charge the lowest advisory fee. Monetary Management fixed income securities may be entered with a broker dealer and could contain a markup or mark down.

Discretionary Management

We have discretionary authority to make determinations regarding the securities that are to be bought and sold, as well as the quantities of such securities, for most clients. Such authority is provided in our contract with each client. In many cases, this discretion is subject to mutually agreed upon investment guidelines relative to the client's portfolio. We have model portfolio guidelines available for clients to adopt, in whole or in part, if they do not have their own. Client investment guidelines may or may not limit the scope of potential investments. As a result, clients can impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities. Within client guidelines and instructions, our Management Team (described above) makes decisions as to the nature and quantity of securities to be bought or sold.

We maintain a limited Power of Attorney for all discretionary accounts for directing and or effecting investments on behalf of the managed account, for the direct payment of our fees and or the payment of commissions, custodial fees and or other charges incurred by your managed account.

Financial Information

Registered investment advisers are required in this Item to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about Monetary Management Group, Inc.'s financial condition.

Monetary Management Group, Inc. has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.

We do not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance, therefore have no material additional financial disclosures to make. Since the firm charges fees in arrears, this does not apply the firm.

Business Continuity Plan

We have a Business Continuity Plan that addresses how the Firm will respond to events that may disrupt its business. If the main telephone line is inactive, the emergency number is 800-243-9386. If the emergency line is down, please contact your custodian. We will resume operations as quickly as possible (preferably within twenty-four hours) depending on the severity of the business disruption. Our Business Continuity Plan covers data backup and recovery, mission critical systems financial and operational assessments, alternative communications, alternate business locations, regulatory reporting and the assurance of prompt access to funds and securities for our customers. Additional details regarding the firm's Business Continuity Plan are available upon request.

Privacy Notice To Customers

We do not disclose nonpublic personal information about our individual clients or former clients except as permitted by law. We restrict access to nonpublic personal information about you (that we may obtain from your account and your transactions) to those employees who need to know that information to provide products or services to you or to alert you to new, enhanced or improved products or services we provide. We maintain physical, electronic and procedural safeguards that comply with federal standards to safeguard your nonpublic personal information. Note that corporate, municipal, and other institutional clients may be identified as such in our firm's representative client or reference lists (the identities of individual, i.e. "natural person" clients are never so disclosed absent written client permission).
