ADV Item 4: Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. Business

Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. (“Advisor”) offers portfolio investment management services to meet the needs of its Clients. Compensation is based on a percentage of assets under management and is fully described on the following page in the section “Fees and Compensation.”

Asset Management: Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. (“Advisor”) manages investment accounts for Clients on a continuous, discretionary basis. Investments selected to implement the Advisor’s investment strategy for Clients are primarily no-load and load-waived mutual funds chosen to create a diversified portfolio with an asset allocation that is deemed by Advisor to be appropriate in relation to the Client’s circumstances and investment objectives.

Investment Policy Statement: Each Client is required to enter into a written, mutually agreed upon Investment Policy Statement (“IPS”) that outlines the Client’s investment objectives, basic investment strategy and guidelines for pursuing the Client’s objectives, and a measurable, objective means to evaluate account performance relative to an appropriate benchmark.

Investment Advisory Agreement: Each Client is required to enter into a written Investment Advisory Agreement with Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. prior to the commencement of investment management services. Clients have five business days after signing an Investment Advisory Agreement to cancel it, without penalty or incurring management fees. Notice of cancellation must be made by written or email contact with the Advisor. After five (5) business days, either the Client or Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. may terminate the Investment Advisory Agreement upon ten (10) days written notice. Any unearned portion of that quarter’s fee will be refunded on a prorated basis.

Nature and Frequency of Regular Reports to Clients on Their Accounts: Client will receive monthly statements from their custodian (a third party qualified custodian as defined by SEC Rule 206(4)-2) and timely broker confirmations of purchases and sales of investment positions executed by Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. In addition, Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. will provide each Client with quarterly statements showing each individual investment position, quantity, share price, and market value at the end of each calendar quarter. Also provided each quarter are the actual portfolio performance and the performance of the Client’s selected appropriate benchmark, as identified in the Client’s written Investment Policy Statement, for the prior full quarter and year, a quarterly invoice including the calculation and amount of management fees, and a written commentary discussing investment tactics, strategies, financial market developments, and/or some other topic Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. deems relevant to investing and important to its Clients.

Periodic “Open Client Meetings”: Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. and its owner/managers conduct periodic meetings (“Open Client Meetings”), not less than semi-annually, for the purpose of interacting with clients in an open forum to discuss concerns and interests, elicit their comments, review financial market developments, and disseminate financial ideas and information to clients and other interested individuals at no cost. Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. has conducted such meetings since 1988.

Assets Under Management: As of June 30, 2014, Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. managed assets totaling $170,567,753: $140,283,472 on a discretionary basis and $30,284,281 on a supervisory basis.

ADV Item 5: Fees and Compensation

5A: Compensation

Investment Management Fees: Fees for investment management services are based on a layered fee schedule that results in a declining average annual percentage rate fee for accounts that exceed $250,000. The larger the account value, the lower the annual overall percentage rate. The layered fee schedule is based on the value of the account managed and is:

Assets Under Management	Annual Fee Rate
up to $250,000	1.50%
and balance above $250,000 up to $500,000	1.25%
and balance above $500,000 up to $1,000,000	1.00%
and balance above $1,000,000	0.50%

5B: Billing Methods

Fees are billed quarterly, in advance, based upon the portfolio value on the last day of the prior quarter. No billing adjustment is made for interim fluctuations in account value, although Advisor will adjust the billing with regard to material interim additions or withdrawals from an account. Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. prefers to have fees paid directly by the custodian of the Client's account upon billing by the Advisor. Clients that choose this arrangement will be mailed an invoice detailing the computation and amount of their quarterly management fee, followed by the Advisor's presentment of such fee to the custodian of their funds for payment from Client's account. Advisor's management fees are separate from fees and expenses charged by mutual funds, brokers, and the custodian of a Client's account. The Client or Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. may terminate the Investment Advisory Agreement upon ten (10) days written notice, and any unearned portion of that quarter's fee paid will be refunded on a prorated basis.

Account Minimums: A minimum account value of $250,000 will normally be considered for management, although Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. reserves the right and sole discretion to service or decline an offered account. Accounts below the stated minimums may be accepted on an individual basis at the discretion of Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. For accounts in excess of $1,000,000 and/or in certain or unusual situations, the fee schedule described above may be negotiated.

No Performance Based Fees: Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. does not charge fees based on a share of profits, capital gains or capital appreciation of the assets managed for Clients.

No Referral Fees or Fee-sharing: Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. does not receive referral fees nor does it pay referral fees or engage in fee-sharing or other compensation of any kind to any person or company for referring clients to the firm.

5C: Other Fees and Expenses

All mutual funds and exchange-traded funds have operating expenses that are separate and in addition to investment advisory fees charged by Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. and applicable brokerage commissions or custodial expenses, if any. The objectives, investment strategies, share classes, and types of securities utilized by various mutual funds vary widely, as do their operating expenses. The types and amounts of operating expenses vary for each specific fund and are fully disclosed in the prospectus that each mutual fund provides to each of its shareholders. Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. does not receive, directly or indirectly, any portion of mutual fund operating expenses. Mutual funds may make certain distributions that are taxable to their shareholders (except in the instance of tax-qualified accounts such as IRAs and Pension accounts.) Certain mutual funds and/or the custodian of a Client account may charge redemption fees for selling shares within a finite period of time. If so, redemption charges are deducted directly from the sale proceeds of such mutual fund and as such are a direct expense to the Client. Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. does not receive, directly or indirectly, any portion of redemption charges levied by mutual funds or the custodian.

5D: Fees Paid In Advance

Fees are billed quarterly, in advance, based upon the portfolio value on the last day of the prior quarter. The Client or Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. may terminate the Investment Advisory Agreement upon ten (10) days written notice, and any unearned portion of that quarter's fee paid will be refunded on a prorated basis.

ADV Item 6: Performance Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. does not charge fees based on a share of capital gains or on capital appreciation of the assets of a client and therefore, does not engage in side-by-side management.

ADV Item 7: Types of Clients

Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. provides investment advisory services to individuals, couples, trusts and retirement accounts. The majority of accounts managed are tax-sheltered retirement plans, primarily IRAs and IRA Rollover accounts for individuals. Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. may also accept accounts for corporations and other businesses.

Types of Investments

Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. constructs portfolios that consist primarily of no-load and load-waived mutual funds that are mostly classified as "balanced funds." Balanced funds consist of a diversified mix of stocks, bonds, cash and other types of securities and assets. In special circumstances portfolios may also contain individual stocks and bonds, exchange-traded funds ("ETFs"), preferred stocks, convertible bonds, certificates of deposits, cash or cash equivalents, and other securities as deemed appropriate and agreed upon with individual Clients.

ADV Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis: Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. utilizes fundamental analysis that incorporates regulatory required publications and filings, third party research and data, and a proprietary mutual fund screening and selection process. This process uses advanced statistical and analytical tools to evaluate risk-reward characteristics of an investment on an absolute basis and in relation to other similar investments, and evaluate the potential contribution an investment might have individually and in conjunction with a portfolio of other investments. Although there can be no assurance that the Advisor will be successful in achieving Clients' investment objectives, and past performance of investments selected for Client portfolios does not guarantee future performance, Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. endeavors to identify top performing mutual funds for multi-year periods, on a risk-adjusted basis, from a predetermined universe of candidates deemed by Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. to be appropriate and suitable in relation to a Client's written Investment Policy Statement.

Investment Strategy: Our investment strategy embraces a balanced approach to investing, relying upon a diversified mix of stocks, bonds, cash and other types of assets. Portfolios are constructed primarily of no-load and load-waived mutual funds that are mostly classified as balanced mutual funds. We believe that windows of investment opportunity open and close as economies and investment markets change and seek mutual fund managers that engage in proactive management and security selection. The goal of our investment strategy, which may or may not be attained, is to harness the brains, research and abilities of a select team of mutual fund managers with investment objectives similar to ours, with the intention of achieving investment results that are superior to the average performance of a composite of similar balanced mutual funds. No assurance can be given that this strategy will succeed. Past performance does not guarantee or assure that future returns or future outcomes will be successful or similar to past results.

Risk: There is always some risk connected with investing, whether securities, certificates of deposit or any other type of investment. There is risk of loss of principal and also risk of loss of purchasing ("buying") power. AAA attempts to do its best to help customers mitigate both risks over time. One way to lessen risk is to diversify investment portfolios so that when some fall in value, others may rise in value. The following is a discussion of some types of risk that customers may encounter in securities investing:

Risk of Loss: Investing in securities involves a risk of loss of capital that cannot be ascertained in advance. Investment results cannot be assured or guaranteed. Investments purchased for Clients can and will fluctuate in value. Therefore, no assurances can be made about the future value of an investment(s). Anyone that is not willing to possibly incur a loss of capital should not invest.

Credit Risk: The issuer of a security in which a customer invests, either directly or through a mutual fund, may default or in some cases may even decide to stop or reduce dividends. If the issuer of the security falls out of favor or has its credit rating cut, the price could fall and customers could lose money if there is a need to sell the security before maturity. If the issuer goes bankrupt, the customer could lose the entire investment.

Economic Risk: The state of the nation's or the world's economy may change and that may affect investments.

Inflation Risk: If inflation should rise, the after-inflation return on bond mutual funds can be negatively affected. As a result the bond mutual fund would likely lose value.

Interest Rate Risk: If customers invest to realize a certain amount of income and that income stream is dependent on the investment paying a certain interest rate or dividend rate, changing conditions may affect that interest rate or dividend rate and the customer's income from that investment may vary.

Liquidity Risk: If an investment has gained value since the customer purchased it but there is no buyer to purchase it, it is considered to be illiquid at that point and the security may not be able to be liquidated for its current intrinsic value. This generally does not apply to open-ended mutual funds.

Market Risk: In making an investment customers are usually anticipating that the financial market will behave in a way that will be advantageous to the customer. That is not always the case over a long or short term period of time. Market fluctuations may cause investments to increase or decrease in value.

Volatility Risk: This is the risk of the variability in the future price of an asset. If an asset has rapid price swings, volatility is high. If an asset price is consistent and rarely changes, volatility will be low. All mutual fund investments are subject to some degree of price volatility.

ADV Item 9: Disciplinary Information

We are required to disclose whether there are legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of our advisory business or the integrity of our management. If our firm or IARs have been involved in one of these events, we must disclose that information in our ADV 2A brochure for ten years following the date of the event, unless (1) the event was resolved in our or the IAR's favor, or was reversed, suspended or vacated, or (2) the event is not material.

Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. and its employees and IARs have not been involved in any legal or disciplinary events in the past ten years that would be material to a client's evaluation of the company or its personnel."

ADV Item II: Code of Ethics and Business Conduct, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions, and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics and Business Conduct: The Board of Directors of Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. has adopted a Code of Ethics and Business Conduct in connection with its oversight of the management and business affairs of Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. and the ethical conduct of every officer and employee.

Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc.'s Clients depend on the firm to be trustworthy, honest and loyal to their interests as provided in Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc.'s agreements with them. Each Advisory Representative is expected to strive to act at all time in accordance with fundamental principles of openness, integrity, and honesty. In addition, Allocation Advisors, Inc. and its Advisory Representatives have certain legal obligations to conduct themselves as fiduciaries and adhere to applicable federal securities laws including the rules and regulations adopted under the Investment Advisors Act.

Each Investment Advisor Representative of Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. receives a copy of the Code of Ethics and Business Conduct and must acknowledge in writing that he or she has received it. A copy of Asset Allocation Advisors' Code of Ethics and Business Conduct is available upon request.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions: Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. has adopted policies and procedures that restrict officers and employees from directly or indirectly buying or selling for their own (or related) accounts, any securities recommended to Clients unless such transactions are at least two days before or after Clients' primary positions have been placed, except in the instance of open-end investment company shares (mutual funds), exchange traded funds (ETFs), and United States Treasury obligations. The Advisor's pension plan, "Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. Profit Sharing Trust," Mr. Schultz, and Mr. Grenke, either directly and/or indirectly, invest in substantially the same investments selected for client accounts. This is also known as "we eat our own cooking." Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. is an independent, fee-only investment management firm and has no proprietary interests in any investments recommended to Clients.

Personal Trading: Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc., its officers and advisory representatives may purchase the same securities that are recommended to Clients. It is the policy of Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. to not permit associated persons to trade in a manner that takes advantage of price movements caused by clients' transactions. Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. will put its Clients' needs first and will follow all related securities regulations in executing the securities trades.

ADV Item 12: Brokerage Practices

Brokerage Commissions: Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. uses its judgment and discretion to determine which specific securities, and the quantities of such securities, will be purchased for Clients, utilizing uniform brokerage commission schedules (of which Advisor does not receive any portion of) available to all Clients of Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc., and thereby neither favoring nor disfavoring any individual Client.

Brokers effecting transactions for Clients will be selected by Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. and will be paid brokerage commissions from the Clients' accounts at levels to be determined by Advisor in consideration of availability of numerous no-load and load-waived mutual funds, special execution capabilities, cost and time saving electronic interface systems, reputation, financial strength and stability.

Recommended Brokerage: Based on Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc.'s perception of the breadth of services offered, the quality and cost of order execution, Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. recommends that Clients use Charles Schwab as their broker for discretionary transactions in managed accounts. Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. is not compensated or endorsed by Charles Schwab for such recommendation. Schwab Advisor Services provides Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. with access to its institutional trading and operations services, which are typically not available to Schwab retail customers, and includes mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise available only to institutional investors or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment or carry a sales load that is waived for its Institutional clients.

Lowest Commission Rates Not Guaranteed: Although Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc., does not have control over the pricing policies of the broker, the firm endeavors to obtain commission schedules for Clients that are better than commission schedules available to non-institutional retail investors using the same broker. However, notwithstanding these efforts, the client may pay commissions or fees that are higher or lower than those that may be obtained from other broker-dealers for similar services.

No "Soft Dollar" Arrangements: Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. does not use Client brokerage commissions (or markups or markdowns) to obtain research or other products or services from Schwab or anyone else. Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. does not engage in "soft dollar" arrangements that allow the advisor to pay for or receive research or research-related services from a broker or third-party provider, in addition to the normal execution of transactions, in exchange for brokerage commissions from transactions for Client accounts. Restated, Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. is an independent fee-only investment advisor that does not receive cash or other compensation, either directly or indirectly to the firm or any person associated with or employed by the firm, from non-clients in connection with giving advice to Clients or the selection of various investments for Clients or in exchange for directing Client accounts to a broker.

ADV Item 13: Review of Accounts

Each account is managed to the asset allocation, policies and guidelines as determined by the Client's written Investment Policy Statement and Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. and its Advisory Representatives. Investment positions are monitored on a continuous basis. Client accounts are reviewed monthly or more frequently if warranted.

The asset allocation mix of each account is reviewed periodically to assure conformance with guidelines set forth in the Client's written Investment Policy Statement. For an account in which a Client receives scheduled periodic cash distributions, cash availability is reviewed as frequently as needed to facilitate uninterrupted cash distributions. Each investment position is evaluated monthly to assess its contribution and effectiveness toward meeting Client investment objectives. In addition, each mutual fund investment is further reviewed periodically for its consistency in abiding by stated investment objectives, investment process, continued appropriateness and suitability for Clients, and qualification for inclusion among the Advisor's investment selections, as determined by Advisor. Special circumstances, including but not limited to changes in a Client's circumstances, or dramatic financial market and/or economic events, may activate additional non-routine reviews of a Client's account and/or specific holdings in a Client's portfolio. Mr. Schultz and Mr. Grenke, the owners, officers, managers and Investment Advisor Representatives of the firm, share responsibility and involvement in the discussion and execution of investment tactics and account reviews for all accounts managed by Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc.

ADV Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. does not pay compensation of any kind to any person or company, directly or indirectly, for the referral of Clients. Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. and its employees do not engage in activities, such as sales contests or incentives, with non-clients to gain economic benefits.

ADV Item 15: Custody

Custody of Funds: Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. does not maintain custody of funds or securities held in Clients' accounts. Assets held in a Client's account will not be held by or be in the name of the Advisor. Advisor is authorized to select or engage one or more qualified custodians, including brokerage firms, banks or trust companies as custodians for assets held in a Client's account. Advisor is not liable for any act, error or omission to act by account custodian. In essence, the custodian of a Client's account (e.g., Schwab) serves as an independent third party that holds a Client's assets for safe-keeping, analogous to the role of a title company holding funds in escrow if you were to buy or sell a property. It is important that the custodian of Client assets is separate from the investment manager making decisions to buy and sell investments.

ADV Item 16: Investment Discretion

Advisor Discretion to Buy and Sell Investments: Advisor maintains limited discretion and limited power of attorney in Client accounts held at a custodial broker-dealer by which Advisor has discretion to buy and sell investments in Client's account without first consulting the Client prior to executing the purchase or sale. This is in contrast to a non-discretionary account in which Advisor would only purchase or sell an investment after obtaining Client's prior approval.

Limited Power of Attorney: Each Client enters into an Investment Advisory Agreement whereby Client authorizes Advisor to be the Client's agent and attorney-in-fact and conduct transactions in the Client's account, at the discretion of Advisor, including all other actions necessary or incidental to the execution of such transactions. Advisor is not authorized to withdraw or direct disbursement of assets from the account other than in connection with Client payment of management fees as described earlier in "Fees and Compensation." All withdrawals made by a Client from their account must be authorized by the Client, either in writing or verbally directly with the Custodian of their account. Advisor will provide all forms to Client, as needed, but only the custodian has authority to disburse funds to Client.

ADV Item 17: Voting Client Securities

Proxy Voting: Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc., as a matter of policy and practice, does not have nor will it accept authority to vote proxies on behalf of advisory Clients.

ADV Item 18: Financial Information

As an investment advisory firm that maintains discretionary authority, we are required to disclose any financial condition that would be likely to impair our ability to meet our contractual obligations or obligations to our clients. Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. has no such financial conditions to report. Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. is not and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.

Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. does not require or solicit prepayment of fees in excess of $1,200 and six months or more in advance, and does not maintain custody of customer assets. Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. is not required to file financial information with the Securities & Exchange Commission or with the state of California.

ADV Item 19: Requirements for State Registered Advisors

Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. is an SEC registered investment advisor. In addition to SEC disclosure requirements, states have additional disclosure requirements regarding any legal or disciplinary actions that would be material to your evaluation of each investment advisor firm or representative providing investment advice to you. There are no such disclosures to report for Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. and its Investment Advisor Representatives.

Additional Information

Business Continuity Plan (Emergency/Business Resumption Plans): Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. has developed a Business Continuity Plan ("BCP") that addresses the possibility of a future significant business disruption and how we plan to respond to events of varying scope and impact. The firm backs up its electronic records daily by using a cloud based, third party back-up system. Two external hard drives are also utilized for information back-up and retention. Our Business Continuity

Plan is designed with the objective of ensuring the integrity and continuity of our systems, including customer data management, as well as continuity of Client services. While no contingency plan can eliminate all risks of a business disruption, our intent is to mitigate all reasonable risks and their impact to our Clients and we are confident our current plans are reasonably adequate to protect our Clients' records and the services we provide to Clients, as well as Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc.'s business interests.

Education and Business Standards: Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. requires that all associated Advisor Representatives or related persons (other than clerical or ministerial personnel) that provide investment advice have a college education or at least twenty-five years investment work experience. The co-owners of Asset Allocation Advisors, Inc. are Gregory E. Schultz and Bruce D. Grenke. They have worked together since 1985 and co-founded the firm in 1987. In addition to being the firm's co-owners, they also serve as the firm's Investment Advisor Representatives and, as a team, manage client portfolios, perform investment research, counsel Clients, and attend to the needs of their Clients.
