Portfolio Construction and Analysis

Form ADV Part 2B, Item 2

The East End Financial Group, Inc. uses security analysis methods which include: Fundamental, technical, cyclical, and on-site product due-diligence when deemed appropriate.

Sources of information include: Financial newspapers and magazines; inspections of corporate activities; research materials prepared by others; corporate rating services; annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission; and company press releases.

The investment strategies used by The East End Financial Group, Inc. to implement any investment advice given to clients include: Long term purchases (securities held at least 1 year); East End Financial Institutional Management used model portfolios of mutual funds, exchange traded funds (ETFs) and variable annuity sub accounts provided by a number of institutional investment strategists, and based on the information researched, asset allocation methodology and investment strategies of these institutional strategists. While The East End Financial Group, Inc. does not implement short term (securities sold within a year) or trading (securities sold within 30 days) strategies, there may be times when a long term purchase needs to be sold due to poor performance or distribution requirements or other reasons.

All of these methods of analysis and investment strategies involve risk of loss that clients must be prepared to bear.
