In May 1993, he earned his Certified Financial Planner practitioner credentials through the International Board of Standards and Practices for Certified Financial Advisors in Denver, CO. CFP[®]:

The CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER[™], CFP[®] and federally registered CFP (with flame design) marks (collectively, the “CFP[®] marks”) are professional certification marks granted in the United States by Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. (“CFP Board”).

The CFP[®] certification is a voluntary certification; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP[®] certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients. Currently, more than 62,000 individuals have obtained CFP[®] certification in the United States.

To attain the right to use the CFP[®] marks, an individual must satisfactorily fulfill the following requirements:

- Education – Complete an advanced college-level course of study addressing the financial planning subject areas that CFP Board’s studies have determined as necessary for the competent and professional delivery of financial planning services, and attain a Bachelor’s Degree from a regionally accredited United States college or university (or its equivalent from a foreign university). CFP Board’s financial planning subject areas include insurance planning and risk management, employee benefits planning, investment planning, income tax planning, retirement planning, and estate planning;
- Examination – Pass the comprehensive CFP[®] Certification Examination. The examination, administered in 10 hours over a two-day period, includes case studies and client scenarios designed to test one’s ability to correctly diagnose financial planning issues and apply one’s knowledge of financial planning to real world circumstances;
- Experience – Complete at least three years of full-time financial planning-related experience (or the equivalent, measured as 2,000 hours per year); and
- Ethics – Agree to be bound by CFP Board’s Standards of Professional Conduct, a set of documents outlining the ethical and practice standards for CFP[®] professionals.

Individuals who become certified must complete the following ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP[®] marks:

- Continuing Education – Complete 30 hours of continuing education hours every two years, including two hours on the Code of Ethics and other parts of the Standards of Professional Conduct, to maintain competence and keep up with developments in the financial planning field; and
- Ethics – Renew an agreement to be bound by the Standards of Professional Conduct. The Standards prominently require that CFP® professionals provide financial planning services at a fiduciary standard of care. This means CFP® professionals must provide financial planning services in the best interests of their clients.

CFP® professionals who fail to comply with the above standards and requirements may be subject to CFP Board’s enforcement process, which could result in suspension or permanent revocation of their CFP® certification.

Item 4 - Other Business Activities

Advisory representatives of our firm are also Investment Adviser Representatives ("IAR"), with LPL Financial. In such a capacity, they may offer advisory accounts through LPL Financial. This presents a conflict of interest to the extent that the IAR recommends that a client open an account in which compensation is received as an IAR with LPL Financial.

Advisory representatives of our firm are registered representatives as well as IARs of LPL Financial ("LPL"), an SEC registered broker-dealer and FINRA member.

Acting as registered representatives or independent insurance agents, advisors of our firm may suggest that clients implement recommendations set forth in their financial plan through LPL Financial. If the client chooses to do so, this would present a conflict of interest to the extent that the Advisor would receive normal and customary commissions as a registered representative or licensed insurance agent. Clients may implement and execute such transactions through an Advisor of our firm. However, clients are under no obligation to accept recommendations, or to execute transactions through our firm or LPL Financial.

Advisory representatives and some advisory affiliates of our firm are licensed insurance agents through numerous insurance companies. In such a capacity, they may offer insurance products and receive normal and customary commissions as a result of such a purchase. This presents a conflict of

When we review a legal or disciplinary event involving Mr. Hatch to determine whether it is appropriate to rebut the presumption of materiality, we consider all of the following factors: (1) the proximity of Mr. Hatch to the advisory function; (2) the nature of the infraction that led to the disciplinary event; (3) the severity of the disciplinary sanction; and (4) the time elapsed since the date of the disciplinary event. If we conclude that the materiality presumption has been overcome, we prepare and maintain a file memorandum of our determination in our records. We follow SEC rule 204-2(a)(14)(iii) and similar state rules.
