Fees and Compensation

Consulting Fees:

The planning fees are based on the complexity of the Client's needs and whether there is a fit and are established at the time of signing the Financial Advisory Agreement. In no case will Koss Olinger collect fees of $500 or more six months in advance. Fee will be paid when the Financial Advisory Agreement is signed. In most cases, these recommendations will be in writing, but in the case of financial advice on only one or two topics, the advice may be provided in a face-to-face meeting.

Investment Advisory Account Fees:

Private Client Accounts

The Adviser provides a managed account program to its clients referred to as "Private Client Accounts" or "PCA." The fee charged to clients covers the fee for investment advisory services, as well as commissions for brokerage execution, in most circumstances.

"Unsolicited trades" (i.e., those trades requested by the Client) will be charged applicable commissions and/or transaction fees. Trades solicited by Koss Olinger will, most often, have either no transaction/commission charged for the transaction or Koss Olinger will reduce the quarterly fee by the amount of transaction/commissions charged to the Client by the custodian for the account, Charles Schwab. The majority of trades solicited by Koss Olinger will be for mutual funds, which have no transaction charge or commission imposed by Charles Schwab. Koss Olinger does not share in any transaction fees or commissions charged or earned by Charles Schwab.

Fees will be billed quarterly in advance based on the market value of the Client's account on the last day of the previous quarter. The initial fee under the fee schedule is calculated from the date of inception to the end of the initial calendar quarter under the terms of the Client Agreement. Fees will be pro-rated with respect to amounts added to or withdrawn from accounts during each quarter. Adviser's fees will be automatically deducted from the Client's custodial account (i.e., Schwab account).

Fees to Koss Olinger are as follows:

Market Value of Client Asset	Annual Fee
$1 to $1,000,000	1.00%
$1,000,001 to $2,000,000	0.90%
$2,000,001 to $3,000,000	0.80%
$3,000,001 to $4,000,000	0.70%
$4,000,001 to $5,000,000	0.60%
$5,000,001 to $7,500,000	0.50%
$7,500,001 to $10,000,000	0.45%
$10,000,001 to $20,000,000	0.40%
$20,000,001 or more	0.35%

The Client will receive a statement showing the amount of the fee and the value of the Client's assets on which the fee was based. The Client is responsible for verifying the accuracy of the fee calculation, as the Client's custodian will not determine whether or not the fee was properly calculated. Fees may be negotiated or waived under certain circumstances. For instance, related accounts, i.e., households, family relationships, can be consolidated for valuation of assets to determine the negotiation of the fees to be charged.

GENERAL NOTES

Form ADV - Part 2A

Advisory fees charged are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds, which may be recommended to clients. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by third parties other than the Adviser. A description of these and other expenses are available in each fund's prospectus.

The Adviser will not be compensated on the basis of a share of capital gains or on capital appreciation of the funds or any portion of the funds of the Client.

All information and advice furnished by either to the other, including their agents and employees, shall be treated as confidential and not disclosed to third parties except as agreed upon in writing or required by law.

The Client may choose to use the programs individually or in combination. They are not restricted to only financial planning, for example. All fees may be negotiable at the sole discretion of the Adviser.

The Client or the Adviser may cancel the Agreement at any time with 10 days' written notice to the other. In the event that the Client wishes to cancel the Agreement prior to any services being performed, any advance payments shall be fully refunded. If the Client cancels the Agreement after Adviser has begun the services requested, the Client shall be charged for the services completed and the remainder of any advance payments, if any, shall be refunded to the Client within 30 days of the written request. If additional payment is due Adviser (time spent exceeds the deposit), an invoice shall be presented to the Client and will be due upon receipt. Should the Client terminate the Agreement within five business days after signing, no charges or penalties will be assessed. The Client will be responsible for any fees or charges incurred by the Client from third parties as a result of maintaining the account or for any securities transactions executed.

Should outside consultants be required in areas of special concern or expertise, their fee and/or time charge will be in addition to the planner's fee.

A Client may invest in some mutual funds directly without the services of Adviser. In that case, the Client would not receive the services provided by Adviser, which are designed, among other things, to assist the Client in determining which investment management programs and money managers are most appropriate to the Client's financial situation and objectives. The Client should review both the fees charged by the funds and the fees charged by Adviser and the other investment advisers chosen to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the Client. Only then will the Client be able to fully evaluate the advisory services being provided and the fees being paid.

In addition, the Client may pay fees for custodial services, account maintenance, transaction fees and other fees associated with maintaining an account. Adviser does not share in any portion of such fees. Additional assets deposited into the account after the calendar quarter begins will be charged a pro-rata fee based upon the number of days remaining in the quarter. No fee adjustments will be made for partial withdrawals or for account appreciation or depreciation.

The Client will receive a statement at least quarterly from the custodian of their account, detailing all transactions and fees deducted from the account for that calendar quarter.

Additional Compensation:

Associated persons of the Adviser when acting as registered representative of ValMark Securities, Inc. may receive commissions through the sale of securities and insurance products to clients of the Adviser. This may create a conflict of interest. Commission rates may be found at other broker/dealers which may be higher or lower than those charged at ValMark Securities, Inc. All accounts of the Adviser have been researched to the extent needed to produce financial advice or make investment suggestions for the Client based on Client goals, objectives, risk tolerances, and needs.

Koss Olinger Consulting, LLC

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

The Adviser evaluates clients' investments to ascertain that the fundamental features are synchronized with the clients' financial objectives. A proposed portfolio is designed to help the client attain future financial security, and the investments in the portfolio are stated in generic terms (for example, "growth stocks", "Municipal bonds").

Methods of analysis and investment strategies used by Koss Olinger in formulating our investment advice or managing of the assets are as follows. The material risks involved with each investment strategy are also explained herewith.

1. Fundamental Method: Valuation ratios such as Price to Earnings (P/E), Price to Book (P/B), Shiller P/E (10 year-smoothed earnings), profit margins, and growth forecasts for each nation (GDP). These measures allow us to evaluate whether the market is expensive or cheap relative to historical valuations. Also gives a good idea of the risk-reward available for each security/asset class. Other valuation components are ROE, ROA, projected growth, Free Cash Flow, and Debt to Equity Ratio. However, there are still risks in this strategy and investing in securities involves risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear.

Material Risk: This strategy still has risk as the market can be irrational from time to time, so even though fundamentally everything is sound, outside or unforeseen events can cause a loss of principle. The main types of risk that are present are market risk (entire stock market falls out of favor a declines as a whole), interest rate risk (sudden increases in interest rates may cause the value of principal to decrease), however; through proper diversification some specific business risk can be mitigated (holding an individual stock exposes you to the risks specifically of that one company).

2. Technical: 200-day, 50-day simple and exponential moving averages help display overbought or oversold conditions relative to the current price. We use this for specific asset classes to make tactical recommendations for our annual portfolio construction. However, there are still risks in this strategy and investing in securities involves risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear.

Material Risk: This strategy is useful for getting an overall idea as to where the market /security came from (its past pathway to the current price). One main risk with this strategy is that alone, it can be very dangerous to use as a primary tool because trend following can often lead to sharp losses of principal.

3. Other: The Adviser evaluates clients' investments to ascertain that the fundamental features are synchronized with the clients' financial objectives. A proposed portfolio is designed to help the client attain future financial security, and the investments in the portfolio are stated in generic terms (for example, "Large Growth Stocks", "Municipal bonds"). Even though the adviser obtains information that is deemed to be accurate by the client, there are still risks in this strategy and investing in securities involves risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear.

Material Risk: The risk of this strategy is mainly miscommunication. The adviser communicates with the client in order to get the best idea as to what risk tolerance they are and what type of securities they should be in. If the client fails to disclose any outside assets or information that may hinder the adviser's ability to make a sound decision this could be risky.

The main securities recommended are mutual funds, closed end funds, ETFs, bonds, and stocks

- a. Mutual funds: market risk, manager risk
- b. Closed End Funds: market risk, manager risk, liquidity risk (some trade at discounts for prolonged periods of time)
- c. ETFS: market risk
- d. Bonds: Interest rate risk, reinvestment risk, liquidity risk, default risk
- e. Stocks: company risk (specific), market risk

Custody

As a matter of policy and practice, Koss-Olinger does not permit employees or the firm to accept or maintain custody of client assets. It is our policy that we will not accept, hold, directly or indirectly, client funds or securities, or have any authority to obtain possession of them, including direct debiting of advisory fees. Koss-Olinger will not intentionally take custody of client cash or securities. Advisers that deduct fees directly from client accounts will be deemed to have custody and must comply with the requirements of the new rule in lieu of no-action letters issued by SEC staff. However, advisers that have custody only because they deduct fees may continue to answer "no" to the custody questions in Item 9 of Form ADV Part 1.

The custody rule under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 defines custody as "holding, directly or indirectly, client funds or securities, or having any authority to obtain possession of them." The custody definition now includes three examples to clarify what constitutes custody for advisers as follows:

1. possession of client funds or securities, unless an adviser receives them inadvertently e.g., from a client. If the adviser returns them within three business days of receipt, custody can be avoided (inadvertent custody);
2. any arrangement which authorizes or permits an adviser to withdraw client funds or securities, e.g., a general power of attorney, direct debiting of advisory fees, etc.; and
3. any capacity, e.g., general partner of a limited partnership, trustee, etc., that gives an adviser, or supervised person, legal ownership or access to client funds or securities.

The custody rule requires advisers with custody to maintain client funds and securities with "qualified custodians," which include banks, registered broker-dealers, and certain foreign custodians, which provide at least quarterly account statements directly to the adviser's clients.

SEC advisers with custody of client funds or securities or with any client relationships which could cause them to be deemed to have custody, were required to be in compliance with the revised SEC custody rule by April 1, 2004.

Robert E. Eberhard, as Chief Compliance Officer has the responsibility for the implementation and monitoring of our policies, practices, disclosures and record keeping to ensure we are not deemed a custodian. Mr. Eberhard may be contacted at 352-373-3337 or BobE@kofinancial.com.

Form ADV - Part 2A

Koss Olinger Consulting, LLC

Investment Discretion

Koss Olinger may exercise discretion upon rebalancing accounts based on the Client's investment policy summary. Rebalancing will be prepared as needed, as per the Client's Investment Policy Summary.

Koss Olinger Consulting, LLC

Voting Client Securities

Koss Olinger has adopted the following policies and the procedures regarding proxy voting for its clients' accounts:

Currently, Adviser has chosen not to retain voting authority over its clients' proxy voting and has left the voting authority to the Clients. All proxy ballots will be sent directly to the Client and not to the Adviser. Should the Client wish to speak with the Adviser about advice on how to vote their proxies, they may do so by contacting Koss Olinger at 352-373-3337.

At all times, Adviser has a "duty of care" to its Clients, and Koss Olinger recognizes and accepts this responsibility. Should the Adviser exercise voting authority over its Clients' proxies, it must ensure that all proxies are handled in the best interests of its Clients.

Requirements for State-Registered Advisers

Koss Olinger is a Registered Investment Adviser with The Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission" or "SEC"). As a firm that has over $100 million of assets under management, Koss Olinger has met the definition of investment adviser under the Advisers Act and has registered with the SEC as an investment adviser.

The Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission" or "SEC") regulates investment advisers, primarily under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the "Advisers Act"), and the rules adopted under that statute (the "rules"). One of the central elements of the regulatory program is the requirement that a person or firm meeting the definition of "investment adviser" under the Advisers Act register with the Commission, unless exempt or prohibited from registration. Generally only larger advisers that have $25 million or more of assets under management or that provide advice to investment company clients are permitted to register with the Commission. Registration with the SEC does not in any way constitute an endorsement by the SEC of an investment adviser's skill or expertise. Further, registration does not imply or guarantee that a registered adviser has achieved a certain level of skill, competency, sophistication, expertise or training in providing advisory services to its clients.

The CFP® certification is a voluntary certification; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP® certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients. Currently, more than 62,000 individuals have obtained CFP® certification in the United States.

- Ethics – Agree to be bound by CFP Board's Standards of Professional Conduct, a set of documents outlining the ethical and practice standards for CFP® professionals.

Individuals who become certified must complete the following ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP® marks:

- Ethics – Renew an agreement to be bound by the Standards of Professional Conduct. The Standards prominently require that CFP® professionals provide financial planning services at a fiduciary standard of care. This means CFP® professionals must provide financial planning services in the best interests of their clients.

CFP® professionals who fail to comply with the above standards and requirements may be subject to CFP Board's enforcement process, which could result in suspension or permanent revocation of their CFP® certification.

(for more information regarding the CFP® designation: <http://www.cfp.net/>)

The Chartered Financial Consultant® (ChFC®) credential was introduced in 1982 as an alternative to the CFP® mark. This designation has the same core curriculum as the CFP® designation, plus two or three additional elective courses that focus on various areas of personal financial planning. As a firm that has over $100 million of assets under management, Koss Olinger has met the definition of investment adviser under the Advisers Act and has registered with the SEC as an investment adviser.

The Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission" or "SEC") regulates investment advisers, primarily under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the "Advisers Act"), and the rules adopted under that statute (the "rules"). One of the central elements of the regulatory program is the requirement that a person or firm meeting the definition of "investment adviser" under the Advisers Act register with the Commission, unless exempt or prohibited from registration. Generally only larger advisers that have $25 million or more of assets under management or that provide advice to investment company clients are permitted to register with the Commission. Requirements for State-Registered Advisers

Koss Olinger is a Registered Investment Adviser with The Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission" or "SEC"). As a firm that has over $100 million of assets under management, Koss Olinger has met the definition of investment adviser under the Advisers Act and has registered with the SEC as an investment adviser.

The Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission" or "SEC") regulates investment advisers, primarily under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the "Advisers Act"), and the rules adopted under that statute (the "rules"). One of the central elements of the regulatory program is the requirement that a person or firm meeting the definition of "investment adviser" under the Advisers Act register with the Commission, unless exempt or prohibited from registration. Generally only larger advisers that have $25 million or more of assets under management or that provide advice to investment company clients are permitted to register with the Commission. Koss Olinger fully meets these criteria under the definition. Smaller advisers register under state law with state securities authorities.

Registration with the SEC does not in any way constitute an endorsement by the SEC of an investment adviser's skill or expertise. Further, registration does not imply or guarantee that a registered adviser has achieved a certain level of skill, competency, sophistication, expertise or training in providing advisory services to its clients.

Koss Olinger Consulting, LLC

Requirements for State-Registered Advisers

Koss Olinger is a Registered Investment Adviser with The Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission" or "SEC"). As a firm that has over $100 million of assets under management, Koss Olinger has met the definition of investment adviser under the Advisers Act and has registered with the SEC as an investment adviser.

The Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission" or "SEC") regulates investment advisers, primarily under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the "Advisers Act"), and the rules adopted under that statute (the "rules"). One of the central elements of the regulatory program is the requirement that a person or firm meeting the definition of "investment adviser" under the Advisers Act register with the Commission, unless exempt or prohibited from registration. Generally only larger advisers that have $25 million or more of assets under management or that provide advice to investment company clients are permitted to register with the Commission. Koss Olinger fully meets these criteria under the definition. Smaller advisers register under state law with state securities authorities.

Registration with the SEC does not in any way constitute an endorsement by the SEC of an investment adviser's skill or expertise. Further, registration does not imply or guarantee that a registered adviser has achieved a certain level of skill, competency, sophistication, expertise or training in providing advisory services to its clients.
