Item 4 Advisory Business

Resource Investment Architects, Inc. (hereinafter "RIA") is a SEC-registered investment adviser with its principal place of business located in California. RIA began conducting business in 1984.

Listed below are the firm's principal shareholders (i.e., those individuals and/or entities controlling 25% or more of this company).

- Glen David Haddock

RIA offers the following advisory services to our clients:

INVESTMENT SUPERVISORY SERVICES ("ISS") INDIVIDUAL PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT

Our firm provides continuous advice to a client regarding the investment of client funds based on the individual needs of the client. Through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based on a client's particular circumstances are established, we develop a client's personal investment policy and create and manage a portfolio based on that policy. During our data-gathering process, we determine the client's individual objectives, time horizons, risk tolerance, and liquidity needs. As appropriate, we also review and discuss a client's prior investment history, as well as family composition and background.

We manage these advisory accounts on a discretionary basis. Account supervision is guided by the client's stated objectives (i.e., maximum capital appreciation, growth, income, or growth and income), as well as tax considerations.

Clients may impose reasonable restrictions on investing in certain securities, types of securities, or industry sectors.

Our investment recommendations are not limited to any specific product or service offered by a broker-dealer or insurance company and will generally include advice regarding the following securities:

- Exchange-listed securities
- Securities traded over-the-counter
- Variable life insurance
- Variable annuities
- Mutual fund shares
- hedge fund of funds
- hedge funds

Because some types of investments involve certain additional degrees of risk, they will only be implemented/recommended when consistent with the client's stated investment objectives, tolerance for risk, liquidity and suitability.

MANAGER OF MANAGERS PROGRAM

RIA offers advisory management services to clients through our Manager of Managers Program. We provide the client with an asset allocation strategy developed through personal discussions in which the client's goals and objectives are established based on the client's particular circumstances. This asset allocation strategy is drafted into the client's Personal Investment Policy Statement.

RIA performs management searches of various registered investment advisers. Based on the client's individual circumstances and needs (as exhibited in the client's Personal Investment Policy Statement) we determine which selected registered investment adviser's ("adviser" or "asset manager") portfolio management style is appropriate for that client. Factors considered in making this determination include account size, risk tolerance, the opinion of each client and the investment philosophy of the selected asset manager. Clients should refer to the asset manager's Firm Brochure or other disclosure document for a full description of the services offered. Client meetings are available on a regular basis, or as determined by the client, to review the account.

Once we identify the most appropriate asset manager(s), our firm provides the selected adviser with the client's Personal Investment Policy Statement, who then creates and manages the client's portfolio based on that Personal Investment Policy Statement.

On an ongoing basis, we monitor the performance of the asset manager(s). If we determine that a particular adviser is not providing sufficient management services to the client, or is not managing the client's portfolio in a manner consistent with that client's Personal Investment Policy Statement, then we may move the client's portfolio to a different asset manager and/or program sponsor. Under this scenario, our firm retains the discretion to hire and fire the asset manager and/or move the client's portfolio to a different program.

At least annually, we meet with the client to review and update, as necessary, the client's Personal Investment Advisory Statement. However, should there be any material change in the client's personal and/or financial situation, we should be notified immediately to determine whether any review and/or revision of the client's Personal Investment Advisory Statement is warranted.

SELECTION AND MONITORING OF THIRD-PARTY MONEY MANAGERS

We also offer advisory management services to our clients through our Selection and Monitoring of Third-Party Money Managers programs (hereinafter, "Programs").

Our firm provides the client with an asset allocation strategy developed through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based on the client's particular circumstances are established. This asset allocation strategy is drafted into the client's Personal Investment Policy Statement ("PIPS").

Based on the client's individual circumstances and needs (as exhibited in the client's PIPS) we will then perform management searches of various unaffiliated registered investment advisers to identify which registered investment adviser's portfolio management style is appropriate for that client. Factors considered in making this determination include account size, risk tolerance, the opinion of each client and the investment philosophy of the selected registered investment adviser. Clients should refer to the selected registered investment adviser's Firm Brochure or other disclosure document for a full description of the services offered. We are available to meet with clients on a regular basis, or as determined by the client, to review the account.

Once we determine the most suitable investment adviser(s) for the client, we provide the selected adviser(s) with the client's PIPS. The adviser(s) then creates and manages the client's portfolio based on the client's individual needs as exhibited in the PIPS.

We monitor the performance of the selected registered investment adviser(s). If we determine that a particular selected registered investment adviser(s) is not providing sufficient management services to the client, or is not managing the client's portfolio in a manner consistent with the client's PIPS, we may suggest that the client contract with a different registered investment adviser and/or program sponsor. Under this scenario, our firm assists the client in selecting a new registered investment adviser and/or program. However, any move to a new registered investment adviser and/or program is solely at the discretion of the client.

We carefully review documents supplied by the client, including a questionnaire completed by the client, and prepare a written report. Should the client choose to implement the recommendations contained in the plan, we suggest the client work closely with his/her attorney, accountant, insurance agent, and/or stockbroker. As of 12/31/2010, RIA actively managed $35,000,000 of clients' assets on a discretionary basis plus $142,000,000 of clients' assets on a non-discretionary basis.

Specific services that we provide include the following:

(a) RIA, Curtis Campbell, Creg Shaffer and Wealth Architects, LLC work with Private WealthGroup, LLC (PWG) an SEC registered investment advisor as co-advisors for the provision of services to clients. These services may include one or more of the following investment programs. 1) The hiring of third party managers for either actively managing or providing guidance to PWG for active management of client's bond or equity portfolio(s). One such independent third party manager is Green Investment Management (<http://www.gimlink.com/>) who provides management services over client's bond portfolio(s). 2) PWG provides active management services on a discretionary basis managing client's equity portfolio which may include investment in open or closed end mutual funds, exchange traded funds (ETF), stocks, REIT's, or limited partnerships investing in real estate, oil & gas, or Advisory fees charged by RIA and PWG may be withheld directly from custodians including those of "hedge funds" or "funds of hedge funds" and paid directly to RIA and PWG, respectively.

In regards to the services described in the preceding paragraph, RIA associates may perform one or more of a variety of functions for the client. RIA associates may search for and identify appropriate independent investment advisors to manage specific portions of a client's account based on the individual needs and circumstances of the client. Factors considered in this determination include the sum of the client's investments relative to total dollar value of the client's overall portfolio or net worth, the client's general risk tolerance, investment objectives and prior investment experience, the client's opinion of the recommended outside manager(s), and the compatibility of the investment philosophy of the client with that of the outside manager. The outside manager will determine the individual portfolio content based on the client's specific investment objectives, risk tolerance and investment time horizon. RIA associates will monitor the outside manager on behalf of the client and provide the client with periodic reports reviewing the manager's performance. RIA associates will work with PWG in searching out the best management alternatives for clients.

(d) Curtis Campbell, Creg Shaffer and Wealth Architects, LLC also offer Family Office services which are discussed in more detail below. The minimum investable assets under management to be eligible for this relationship is generally $5,000,000.

Family Office Services:

Advisors' Duties. Advisors shall work with one another to devise and implement appropriate investment strategies for Client. In addition to Advisors' direct management of the Investable Portfolio, as defined in Section 4 of this Agreement, Advisors may also select on a discretionary basis subadvisors to manage portions of the Investable Portfolio at Pershing LLC (individually and collectively "Subadvisors"), as well as recommend using the services of other independent investment management firms (individually and collectively "Outside Managers"). It is anticipated that the general services provided by Advisors shall be as follows: (a) RIAI shall conduct necessary investor suitability analysis for Client and manage the Client relationship to include facilitating Client communications, meetings and discussions on account performance, overall strategy and investment recommendations; (b) Advisors shall identify and conduct due diligence on investments that may be suitable for Client and will manage the administrative aspects of Client's accounts such as coordinating periodic performance reports and the processing of fee billing; (c) Advisors shall identify and conduct due diligence on Subadvisors and Outside Managers and may select Subadvisors and recommend Outside Managers to manage portions of the Investable Portfolio. In instances where the services of Outside Managers are included in the management of the portfolio, Advisor shall manage Client's relationship with such Outside Managers. In such instances, it is anticipated that the Outside Managers shall manage the day-to-day affairs of Client with respect to Client's investment decisions and will handle the administrative aspects of Client's accounts such as generating periodic performance reports and processing billings for itself and Advisors. Notwithstanding the foregoing general breakdown of services, the specific services Advisors shall provide to Client are identified in Appendix A and Appendix B attached to this Agreement, and the general breakdown is qualified by Appendix A and Appendix B accordingly.

Advisors' Associates. In providing services to Client, Advisors shall act through their various individual officers, employees and independent representatives. Specific individuals shall include Curtis Campbell, Creg Shaffer, Gerald Dorn, Bradley Anderson and Stephen Segundo. Messrs. Campbell, Shaffer, Dorn and Anderson are advisory associates and independent contractors of RIAI. Mr. Segundo is President and an advisory associate of PWG. It is anticipated that these individuals will provide, on behalf of their respective Advisor, most or all of Advisors' substantive services set forth in Section 2 above as qualified in Appendix A and Appendix B of this Agreement.

Scope of Services and Authority. The definition of "Household Assets" shall include any and all individual and joint investment holdings of Client. The "Investable Portfolio" shall include all of Client's Household Assets that are invested pursuant to the specific recommendations of Advisors and are custodied at Pershing LLC, as well as all Household Assets that are directly invested in any hard assets such as numismatics, physical precious metals bullion, art, collectables or otherwise ("Hard Assets"), and in private investment vehicles such as hedge funds and funds of hedge funds ("Private Investments") pursuant to the specific recommendations of Advisors. The scope of this Agreement shall be limited to the Investable Portfolio, and Advisors shall have no duties or obligations as to Client's other assets absent a separate written agreement with Client. Advisors shall exercise limited discretion over the Investable Portfolio. Thus, Advisors shall select individual investments and Subadvisors on a discretionary basis, and recommend Outside Managers for Client's approval on a non-discretionary basis. Advisors may reposition the Investable Portfolio between investment positions and between Client's accounts held at Pershing LLC without Client's advance consent, but limited by the Allocation Guidelines as defined in Appendix A of this Agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Advisors shall exercise no discretionary powers with respect to investments in Hard Assets and Private Investments, as well as with respect to Outside Managers; and, each such investment shall require prior written approval by Client. Any Subadvisors selected by Advisors are independent of Advisors, shall participate in managing a portion of the Investable Portfolio, and shall be given discretionary trading authority over the portion of the Investable Portfolio allocated to them. Any Outside Managers recommended by Advisors and approved by Client are independent of Advisors, shall participate in managing a portion of the Investable Portfolio, and shall exercise fully-discretionary management powers over the portion of the Investable Portfolio allocated to them. Notwithstanding the foregoing, PWG's services specifically exclude Client's investments in Private Investments managed by PWG.

Client's Duties. Client shall keep Advisors apprised of Client's address and telephone number at all times and shall comply with all reasonable requests of Advisors in a timely manner. Client agrees to cooperate with Advisors in all aspects of this Agreement, including providing complete and truthful information to Advisors regarding Client's financial and investment background, objectives, income, expenses, assets, liabilities, investment time horizon and risk tolerance. Client acknowledges that the quality of Advisors' services will be directly affected by Client's cooperation throughout the investment management planning process. Client agrees to hold harmless, defend and indemnify Advisors from and against any losses or claims caused by Client providing to Advisors materially false or misleading information or by omitting to provide any material, relevant information about Client or Client's investment objectives, risk tolerance, investment time horizon or financial resources. Client represents that with respect to the portion of the Investable Portfolio comprised of the assets of a revocable living trust or other entity, Client has full legal authority to enter into this Agreement on behalf of each such entity.

Advisors' Compensation. In exchange for the services to be provided by Advisors under this Agreement, Client shall pay fees and other charges to Advisors in accordance with the schedule set forth in Appendix A. Generally, such the fees and charges shall be due and payable quarterly in advance and shall be based on the prior quarter-end market value of the Investable Portfolio. For new accounts, the initial quarterly fee shall be prorated based upon the starting date within that calendar quarter. These arrangements are qualified by the specific terms and conditions set forth in Appendix A. Advisors shall collect directly from Client's accounts all fees due to Advisors under this Agreement. Additionally, Advisors shall collect directly from Client's account any amounts due to Subadvisors. Any Outside Manager contracted by Client shall collect all fees due to Outside Manager and Advisors directly from Client's accounts. Client accordingly authorizes Advisors and Outside Managers to charge and collect direct from Client's accounts all fees and charges due Advisors, Subadvisors and Outside Managers under this Agreement.

Additional Fees and Charges Disclosures. Client acknowledges that the fees and other charges payable under this Agreement may be higher or lower than fees charged by other advisors performing similar services and that such advisors may provide greater or lesser services than Advisors hereunder. Client further acknowledges that, in addition to Advisors' fees and charges, brokers, custodians, Subadvisors and Outside Managers shall receive fees and charges of their own from Client's accounts for services they provide. Client acknowledges that the above-described fees and charges are in addition to the internal fees and expenses of any mutual funds, exchange-traded funds and Private Investments held by Client.

Risk and Tax Disclosures. Client understands that there are risks inherent in all investments and that the Client's accounts serviced by Advisors could increase or decrease in value substantially. Client accordingly acknowledges the possibility of loss of Client's principal funds due to various investment risks, and Advisors make no guarantees, representations or warranties to Client as to investment returns or avoidance of losses which may be realized in Client's account(s). Advisors moreover are not income tax specialists and recommend that Client consult with an attorney, accountant or other income tax professional on all personal, business, and income tax matters relating to services performed under the Agreement.

RIA does not control the fees or the billing arrangements of any selected asset manager. For a complete description of the fee arrangement including billing practices, minimum account requirements and account termination provisions, clients should review the independent investment adviser's Firm Brochure or other disclosure document.

Fees Billed in Advance or Arrears: Our advisory fees are charged in one of two ways as agreed upon with the client:

- In advance: Advisory fees are billed in advance at the beginning of each calendar quarter based upon the asset value (market or fair market value in the absence of market value, plus any credit balance or minus any debit balance), of the client's account equity at the end of the previous quarter.

- In arrears: Advisory fees are billed in arrears at the end of each calendar quarter based upon the asset value (market or fair market value in the absence of market value), of the client's account at quarter-end.

When authorized by the client, fees are debited from the account in accordance with the terms set forth in the Client Management Agreement.

SELECTION and MONITORING of THIRD-PARTY MONEY MANAGERS FEES

We are paid by the independent adviser selected by the client for portfolio management services. Our fee is based on a percentage of the client's managed assets (typically ranging up to 50% of the fee charged by the independent investment adviser, depending on the size of the account), which is included in the independent investment adviser's annual management fee. The portion of the advisory fee paid to us does not increase the client's ultimate advisory fee paid to the selected independent investment adviser.

Clients are provided with a separate disclosure document describing the fee paid to us by such independent registered investment advisers. The total asset management fee, including the referral fee paid to our firm, is disclosed in the independent investment adviser's disclosure document.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Termination of the Advisory Relationship: A client agreement may be canceled at any time, by either party, for any reason upon receipt of 30 days written notice. As disclosed above, certain fees are paid in advance of services provided. Upon termination of any account, any prepaid, unearned fees will be promptly refunded. In calculating a client's reimbursement of fees, we will pro rate the reimbursement according to the number of days remaining in the billing period.

Mutual Fund Fees: All fees paid to RIA for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds and/or ETFs to their shareholders. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. If the fund also imposes sales charges, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. A client could invest in a mutual fund directly, without our services. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by our firm which are designed, among other things, to assist the client in determining which mutual fund or funds are most appropriate to each client's financial condition and objectives. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds and our fees to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client and to thereby evaluate the advisory services being provided.

Wrap Fee Programs and Separately Managed Account Fees: Clients participating in separately managed account programs may be charged various program fees in addition to the advisory fee charged by our firm. Such fees may include the investment advisory fees of the independent advisers, which may be charged as part of a wrap fee arrangement. In a wrap fee arrangement, clients pay a single fee for advisory, brokerage and custodial services. Client's portfolio transactions may be executed without commission charge in a wrap fee arrangement. In evaluating such an arrangement, the client should also consider that, depending upon the level of the wrap fee charged by the broker-dealer, the amount of portfolio activity in the client's account, and other factors, the wrap fee may or may not exceed the aggregate cost of such services if they were to be provided separately. We will review with clients any separate program fees that may be charged to clients.

Additional Fees and Expenses: In addition to our advisory fees, clients are also responsible for the fees and expenses charged by custodians and imposed by broker dealers, including, but not limited to, any transaction charges imposed by a broker dealer with which an independent investment manager effects transactions for the client's account(s). Please refer to the "Brokerage Practices" section (Item 12) of this Form ADV for additional information.

Grandfathering of Minimum Account Requirements: Pre-existing advisory clients are subject to RIA's minimum account requirements and advisory fees in effect at the time the client entered into the advisory relationship. Therefore, our firm's minimum account requirements will differ among clients.

ERISA Accounts: RIA is deemed to be a fiduciary to advisory clients that are employee benefit plans or individual retirement accounts (IRAs) pursuant to the Employee Retirement Income and Securities Act ("ERISA"), and regulations under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (the "Code"), respectively. . As such, our firm is subject to specific duties and obligations under ERISA and the Internal Revenue Code that include among other things, restrictions concerning certain forms of compensation. To avoid engaging in prohibited transactions, RIA may only charge fees for investment advice about products for which our firm and/or our related persons do not receive any commissions or 12b-1 fees, or conversely, investment advice about products for which our firm and/or our related persons receive commissions or 12b-1 fees, however, only when such fees are used to offset RIA's advisory fees.

Advisory Fees in General: Clients should note that similar advisory services may (or may not) be available from other registered (or unregistered) investment advisers for similar or lower fees.

Limited Prepayment of Fees: Under no circumstances do we require or solicit payment of fees in excess of $1200 more than six months in advance of services rendered.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

RIA does not charge performance-based fees.

Item 7 Types of Clients

RIA provides advisory services to the following types of clients:

- Individuals (other than high net worth individuals)
- High net worth individuals
- Pension and profit sharing plans(other than plan participants)
- Other pooled investment vehicles(e.g., hedge funds)
- Corporations or other businesses not listed above

As previously disclosed in Item 5, our firm has established certain initial minimum account requirements, based on the nature of the service(s) being provided. For a more detailed understanding of those requirements, please review the disclosures provided in each applicable service.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

METHODS OF ANALYSIS

We or our co-advisors may use any of the following methods of analysis in formulating our investment advice and/or managing client assets:

Charting. In this type of technical analysis, we review charts of market and security activity in an attempt to identify when the market is moving up or down and to predict how long the trend may last and when that trend might reverse.

Fundamental Analysis. We attempt to measure the intrinsic value of a security by looking at economic and financial factors (including the overall economy, industry conditions, and the financial condition and management of the company itself) to determine if the company is underpriced (indicating it may be a good time to buy) or overpriced (indicating it may be time to sell).

Fundamental analysis does not attempt to anticipate market movements. This presents a potential risk, as the price of a security can move up or down along with the overall market regardless of the economic and financial factors considered in evaluating the stock.

Technical Analysis. We analyze past market movements and apply that analysis to the present in an attempt to recognize recurring patterns of investor behavior and potentially predict future price movement.

Technical analysis does not consider the underlying financial condition of a company. This presents a risk in that a poorly-managed or financially unsound company may underperform regardless of market movement.

Cyclical Analysis. In this type of technical analysis, we measure the movements of a particular stock against the overall market in an attempt to predict the price movement of the security.

Quantitative Analysis. We use mathematical models in an attempt to obtain more accurate measurements of a company's quantifiable data, such as the value of a share price or earnings per share, and predict changes to that data.

A risk in using quantitative analysis is that the models used may be based on assumptions that prove to be incorrect.

Qualitative Analysis. We subjectively evaluate non-quantifiable factors such as quality of management, labor relations, and strength of research and development factors not readily subject to measurement, and predict changes to share price based on that data.

A risk is using qualitative analysis is that our subjective judgment may prove incorrect.

Asset Allocation. Rather than focusing primarily on securities selection, we attempt to identify an appropriate ratio of securities, fixed income, and cash suitable to the client's investment goals and risk tolerance.

A risk of asset allocation is that the client may not participate in sharp increases in a particular security, industry or market sector. Another risk is that the ratio of securities, fixed income, and cash will change over time due to stock and market movements and, if not corrected, will no longer be appropriate for the client's goals.

Mutual Fund and/or ETF Analysis. We look at the experience and track record of the manager of the mutual fund or ETF in an attempt to determine if that manager has demonstrated an ability to invest over a period of time and in different economic conditions. We also look at the underlying assets in a mutual fund or ETF in an attempt to determine if there is significant overlap in the underlying investments held in another fund(s) in the client's portfolio. We also monitor the funds or ETFs in an attempt to determine if they are continuing to follow their stated investment strategy.

A risk of mutual fund and/or ETF analysis is that, as in all securities investments, past performance does not guarantee future results. A manager who has been successful may not be able to replicate that success in the future. In addition, as we do not control the underlying investments in a fund or ETF, managers of different funds held by the client may purchase the same security, increasing the risk to the client if that security were to fall in value. There is also a risk that a manager may deviate from the stated investment mandate or strategy of the fund or ETF, which could make the holding(s) less suitable for the client's portfolio.

Third-Party Money Manager Analysis. We examine the experience, expertise, investment philosophies, and past performance of independent third-party investment managers in an attempt to determine if that manager has demonstrated an ability to invest over a period of time and in different economic conditions. We monitor the manager's underlying holdings, strategies, concentrations and leverage as part of our overall periodic risk assessment. Additionally, as part of our due-diligence process, we survey the manager's compliance and business enterprise risks.

A risk of investing with a third-party manager who has been successful in the past is that he/she may not be able to replicate that success in the future. In addition, as we do not control the underlying investments in a third-party manager's portfolio, there is also a risk that a manager may deviate from the stated investment mandate or strategy of the portfolio, making it a less suitable investment for our clients. Moreover, as we do not control the manager's daily business and compliance operations, we may be unaware of the lack of internal controls necessary to prevent business, regulatory or reputational deficiencies.

Risks for all forms of analysis. Our securities analysis methods rely on the assumption that the companies whose securities we purchase and sell, the rating agencies that review these securities, and other publicly-available sources of information about these securities, are providing accurate and unbiased data. While we are alert to indications that data may be incorrect, there is always a risk that our analysis may be compromised by inaccurate or misleading information.

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

We use the following strategy(ies) in managing client accounts, provided that such strategy(ies) are appropriate to the needs of the client and consistent with the client's investment objectives, risk tolerance, and time horizons, among other considerations:

Long-term purchases. We purchase securities with the idea of holding them in the client's account for a year or longer. Typically we employ this strategy when:

- we believe the securities to be currently undervalued, and/or
- we want exposure to a particular asset class over time, regardless of the current projection for this class.

A risk in a long-term purchase strategy is that by holding the security for this length of time, we may not take advantage of short-term gains that could be profitable to a client. Moreover, if our predictions are incorrect, a security may decline sharply in value before we make the decision to sell.

Short-term purchases. When utilizing this strategy, we purchase securities with the idea of selling them within a relatively short time (typically a year or less). We do this in an attempt to take advantage of conditions that we believe will soon result in a price swing in the securities we purchase.

A short-term purchase strategy poses risks should the anticipated price swing not materialize; we are then left with the option of having a long-term investment in a security that was designed to be a short-term purchase, or potentially taking a loss.

In addition, this strategy involves more frequent trading than does a longer-term strategy, and will result in increased brokerage and other transaction-related costs, as well as less favorable tax treatment of short-term capital gains.

Trading. We purchase securities with the idea of selling them very quickly (typically within 30 days or less). We do this in an attempt to take advantage of our predictions of brief price swings.

Utilizing a trading strategy creates the potential for sudden losses if the anticipated price swing does not materialize. Moreover, under those circumstances, we are left with few options:

- having a long-term investment in a security that was designed to be a short-term purchase, or
- the potential of having to taking a loss.

In addition, because this strategy involves more frequent trading than does a longer-term strategy, there will be a resultant increase in brokerage and other transaction-related costs, as well as less favorable tax treatment of short-term capital gains.

Risk of Loss. Securities investments are not guaranteed and you may lose money on your investments. We ask that you work with us to help us understand your tolerance for risk.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

We are required to disclose any legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of our advisory business or the integrity of our management.

The following are disciplinary events relating to our firm and/or our management personnel:

In 2005, the National Association of Securities Dealer's, Inc. (NASD) now known as FINRA censured and fined Investment Architects, Inc. and David Haddock, its due diligence officer (hereafter collectively referred to as IAI), $7,500 citing a violation of SEC Rules 15c2-4 and 10b-9 as well as NASD Rules 2110 and 3010. The sanctions arose from three related and highly profitable private real estate offerings for which proper escrow procedures had not been followed. Further, the sponsor failed to promptly send notice to investors in one of the offerings reflecting the extension of the offering period beyond its original closing date though it had confirmed to IAI that it was doing so. While these initial errors were made by legal counsel for the sponsor, IAI was expected to detect and prevent the errors. IAI had known and reviewed the work of said counsel for over 20 years and considered counsel to be experts in this area of law. It should be noted that IAI did detect the escrow errors and brought them to the attention of the sponsor's legal counsel (who had drafted the errant documents). This attorney believed that the structure was legally compliant, and IAI trusted the attorney's judgment. However the NASD concluded that IAI should not have relied upon counsel which they did not themselves hire. The NASD also concluded that IAI did not maintain adequate written supervisory procedures for this type problem, though IAI relied on a voluminous due diligence guide book published by the College for Financial Planning, IAI subsequently expanded their written supervisory procedures to specifically address the weaknesses NASD identified. The attorney for the offerings indemnified IAI and Haddock for the cost of the fine and legal fees.

This disclosure is being made in the event that this information is deemed material to a client's evaluation of RIA's integrity.

Note that Investment Architects, Inc. is not a party to your advisory relationship with your advisory associate. Further Mr. Haddock as the President of RIA is involved in the general planning and due diligence on products and services offered by RIA he is not generally involved in the day to day specific advice provided to clients by their advisory associate. The exception would be advice Mr. Haddock provides to his personal clients.

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Management personnel and some of RIA's advisors are also separately licensed as registered representatives of Investment Architects, Inc., an affiliated broker-dealer. These individuals, in their separate capacity, can effect securities transactions for which they will receive separate, yet customary compensation.

While RIA and these individuals endeavor at all times to put the interest of the clients first as part of our fiduciary duty, clients should be aware that the receipt of additional compensation itself creates a conflict of interest, and may affect the judgment of these individuals when making recommendations. These advisors do not receive additional compensation for accounts that they provide advisory services to.

RIA typically recommends Freeman & Williams, LLC. (Freeman hereafter) to advisory clients in need of accounting services. Accounting services provided by Freeman are separate and distinct from our advisory services, and are provided for separate and typical compensation. There are no referral fee arrangements between our firms for these recommendations. Except for Family Office accounts no RIA client is obligated to use Freeman for any accounting services and conversely, no accounting client is obligated to use the advisory services provided by us. Except for Family Office services which are specifically contracted for Freeman's accounting services do not include the authority to sign checks or otherwise disburse funds on any of our advisory client's behalf. Family Office clients sign an advisory agreement with RIA that includes services to be provided by both RIA and Freeman.

Bradley Anderson & Gerald Dorn, are associated advisors of RIA and are attorneys licensed to practice law in the state of Nevada. These individuals currently provide legal services to many of RIA's clients in that capacity and provide estate planning services to RIA advisory clients.

Clients should be aware that receipt of additional compensation by RIA and its management persons or employees creates a conflict of interest that may impair the objectivity of our firm and these individuals when making advisory recommendations. RIA endeavors at all times to put the interest of its clients first as part of our fiduciary duty as a registered investment adviser; we take the following steps to address this conflict:

- we disclose to clients the existence of all material conflicts of interest, including the potential for our firm and our employees to earn compensation from advisory clients in addition to our firm's advisory fees;
- we disclose to clients that they are not obligated to purchase recommended investment products from our employees or affiliated companies;
- we collect, maintain and document accurate, complete and relevant client background information, including the client's financial goals, objectives and risk tolerance;
- we require that our employees seek prior approval of any outside employment activity so that we may ensure that any conflicts of interests in such activities are properly addressed;

- we periodically monitor these outside employment activities to verify that any conflicts of interest continue to be properly addressed by our firm; and
- we educate our employees regarding the responsibilities of a fiduciary, including the need for having a reasonable and independent basis for the investment advice provided to clients.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Our firm has adopted a Code of Ethics which sets forth high ethical standards of business conduct that we require of our employees, including compliance with applicable federal securities laws.

RIA and our personnel owe a duty of loyalty, fairness and good faith towards our clients, and have an obligation to adhere not only to the specific provisions of the Code of Ethics but to the general principles that guide the Code.

Our Code of Ethics includes policies and procedures for the review of quarterly securities transactions reports as well as initial and annual securities holdings reports that must be submitted by the firm's access persons. Among other things, our Code of Ethics also requires the prior approval of any acquisition of securities in a limited offering (e.g., private placement) or an initial public offering. Our code also provides for oversight, enforcement and recordkeeping provisions.

RIA's Code of Ethics further includes the firm's policy prohibiting the use of material non-public information. While we do not believe that we have any particular access to non-public information, all employees are reminded that such information may not be used in a personal or professional capacity.

A copy of our Code of Ethics is available to our advisory clients and prospective clients. You may request a copy by email sent to ad@iai.bz, or by calling us at 707-763-7861.

Our Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of our employees will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts.

Our firm and/or individuals associated with our firm may buy or sell for their personal accounts securities identical to or different from those recommended to our clients. In addition, any related person(s) may have an interest or position in a certain security(ies) which may also be recommended to a client.

It is the expressed policy of our firm that no person employed by us may purchase or sell any security prior to a transaction(s) being implemented for an advisory account, thereby preventing such employee(s) from benefiting from transactions placed on behalf of advisory accounts.

We may aggregate our employee trades with client transactions where possible and when compliant with our duty to seek best execution for our clients. In these instances, participating clients will receive an average share price and transaction costs will be shared equally and on a pro-rata basis. In the instances where there is a partial fill of a particular batched order, we will allocate all purchases pro-rata, with each account paying the average price. Our employee accounts will be included in the pro-rata allocation.

As these situations represent actual or potential conflicts of interest to our clients, we have established the following policies and procedures for implementing our firm's Code of Ethics, to ensure our firm complies with its regulatory obligations and provides our clients and potential clients with full and fair disclosure of such conflicts of interest:

1. No principal or employee of our firm may put his or her own interest above the interest of an advisory client.
2. No principal or employee of our firm may buy or sell securities for their personal portfolio(s) where their decision is a result of information received as a result of his or her employment unless the information is also available to the investing public.
3. It is the expressed policy of our firm that no person employed by us may purchase or sell any security prior to a transaction(s) being implemented for an advisory account. This prevents such employees from benefiting from transactions placed on behalf of advisory accounts.
4. Our firm requires prior approval for any IPO or private placement investments by related persons of the firm.
5. We maintain a list of all reportable securities holdings for our firm and anyone associated with this advisory practice that has access to advisory recommendations ("access person"). These holdings are reviewed on a regular basis by our firm's Chief Compliance Officer or his/her designee.
6. We have established procedures for the maintenance of all required books and records.
7. Clients can decline to implement any advice rendered.
8. All of our principals and employees must act in accordance with all applicable Federal and State regulations governing registered investment advisory practices.
9. We require delivery and acknowledgement of the Code of Ethics by each supervised person of our firm.
10. We have established policies requiring the reporting of Code of Ethics violations to our senior management.
11. Any individual who violates any of the above restrictions may be subject to termination.

As disclosed in the preceding section of this Brochure (Item 10), related persons of our firm are separately registered as securities representatives of Investment Architects, Inc. a broker-dealer, and/or licensed as an insurance agent/broker of various insurance companies. Please refer to Item 10 for a detailed explanation of these relationships and important conflict of interest disclosures.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

For some services RIA may require that clients provide us with written discretionary authority to provide full family office services. This discretionary authority may extend to legal services provided by Anderson & Dorn, LLC and accounting and check writing services provided by Freeman & Williams, LLC.

Clients must include any limitations on this discretionary authority in this written authority statement. Clients may change/amend these limitations as required. Such amendments must be provided to us in writing.

RIA will block trades where possible and when advantageous to clients. This blocking of trades permits the trading of aggregate blocks of securities composed of assets from multiple client accounts, so long as transaction costs are shared equally and on a pro-rated basis between all accounts included in any such block.

Block trading may allow us to execute equity trades in a timelier, more equitable manner, at an average share price. RIA will typically aggregate trades among clients whose accounts can be traded at a given broker, and generally will rotate or vary the order of brokers through which it places trades for clients on any particular day. RIA's block trading policy and procedures are as follows:

- 1) Transactions for any client account may not be aggregated for execution if the practice is prohibited by or inconsistent with the client's advisory agreement with RIA, or our firm's order allocation policy.
- 2) The trading desk in concert with the portfolio manager must determine that the purchase or sale of the particular security involved is appropriate for the client and consistent with the client's investment objectives and with any investment guidelines or restrictions applicable to the client's account.
- 3) The portfolio manager must reasonably believe that the order aggregation will benefit, and will enable RIA to seek best execution for each client participating in the aggregated order. This requires a good faith judgment at the time the order is placed for the execution. It does not mean that the determination made in advance of the transaction must always prove to have been correct in the light of a "20-20 hindsight" perspective. Best execution includes the duty to seek the best quality of execution, as well as the best net price.
- 4) Prior to entry of an aggregated order, a written order ticket must be completed which identifies each client account participating in the order and the proposed allocation of the order, upon completion, to those clients.

5) If the order cannot be executed in full at the same price or time, the securities actually purchased or sold by the close of each business day must be allocated pro rata among the participating client accounts in accordance with the initial order ticket or other written statement of allocation. However, adjustments to this pro rata allocation may be made to participating client accounts in accordance with the initial order ticket or other written statement of allocation. Furthermore, adjustments to this pro rata allocation may be made to avoid having odd amounts of shares held in any client account, or to avoid excessive ticket charges in smaller accounts.

6) Generally, each client that participates in the aggregated order must do so at the average price for all separate transactions made to fill the order, and must share in the commissions on a pro rata basis in proportion to the client's participation. Under the client's agreement with the custodian/broker, transaction costs may be based on the number of shares traded for each client.

7) If the order will be allocated in a manner other than that stated in the initial statement of allocation, a written explanation of the change must be provided to and approved by the Chief Compliance Officer no later than the morning following the execution of the aggregate trade.

8) RIA's client account records separately reflect, for each account in which the aggregated transaction occurred, the securities which are held by, and bought and sold for, that account.

9) Funds and securities for aggregated orders are clearly identified on RIA's records and to the broker-dealers or other intermediaries handling the transactions, by the appropriate account numbers for each participating client.

10) No client or account will be favored over another.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

INVESTMENT SUPERVISORY SERVICES ("ISS") INDIVIDUAL PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT

REVIEWS: While the underlying securities within Individual Portfolio Management Services accounts are continually monitored, these accounts are reviewed periodically, usually quarterly. Accounts are reviewed in the context of each client's stated investment objectives and guidelines. More frequent reviews may be triggered by material changes in variables such as the client's individual circumstances, or the market, political or economic environment.

These accounts are reviewed by: Curtis Campbell and/or Creg Shaffer

MANAGER OF MANAGERS PROGRAM

REVIEWS: The performance of the registered investment adviser(s) selected to manage client portfolios within our Manager of Managers Program is continually monitored by RIA. These accounts are reviewed by: Curtis Campbell and/or Creg Shaffer

REPORTS: In addition to the monthly statements and confirmations of transactions that these clients receive from their respective broker-dealer, the asset manager(s) selected by RIA to manage the client's portfolio(s) within our Manager of Managers Program provides the client with written quarterly performance reports. Unless otherwise contracted for, we do not typically provide additional reports.

SELECTION and MONITORING of THIRD-PARTY MONEY MANAGERS

REVIEWS: These client accounts should refer to the independent registered investment adviser's Firm Brochure (or other disclosure document used in lieu of the brochure) for information regarding the nature and frequency of reviews provided by that independent registered investment adviser.

REPORTS: These clients should refer to the independent registered investment adviser's Firm Brochure (or other disclosure document used in lieu of the brochure) for information regarding the nature and frequency of reports provided by that independent registered investment adviser.

RIA does not typically provide reports in addition to those provided by the independent registered investment adviser selected to manage the client's assets.

REPORTS: These client accounts will receive reports as contracted for at the inception of the advisory engagement.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

It is RIA's policy not to engage solicitors or to pay related or non-related persons for referring potential clients to our firm.

It is RIA's policy not to accept or allow our related persons to accept any form of compensation, including cash, sales awards or other prizes, from a non-client in conjunction with the advisory services we provide to our clients.

Item 15 Custody

We previously disclosed in the "Fees and Compensation" section (Item 5) of this Brochure that our firm directly debits advisory fees from client accounts.

As part of this billing process, the client's custodian is advised of the amount of the fee to be deducted from that client's account. On at least a quarterly basis, the custodian is required to send to the client a statement showing all transactions within the account during the reporting period.

Because the custodian does not calculate the amount of the fee to be deducted, it is important for clients to carefully review their custodial statements to verify the accuracy of the calculation, among other things. Clients should contact us directly if they believe that there may be an error in their statement.

Our firm does not have actual or constructive custody of client accounts.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

Clients may hire us to provide discretionary asset management services, in which case we place trades in a client's account without contacting the client prior to each trade to obtain the client's permission.

Our discretionary authority includes the ability to do the following without contacting the client:

- determine the security to buy or sell; and/or
- determine the amount of the security to buy or sell

Clients give us discretionary authority when they sign a discretionary agreement with our firm, and may limit this authority by giving us written instructions. Clients may also change/amend such limitations by once again providing us with written instructions.

MANAGER OF MANAGERS PROGRAM

As previously disclosed in Item 4 of this brochure, we do not "manage" client portfolios in the traditional sense of the definition, rather RIA manages the managers of client portfolios within this program. Accordingly, clients participating in this program grant us authority to hire and fire the selected asset manager(s) managing client accounts.

Clients give us this authority when they sign a discretionary agreement with our firm, and may limit this authority by giving us written instructions. Clients may change/amend these limitations by once again providing us with written instructions.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy, we do not vote proxies on behalf of clients. Therefore, although our firm may provide investment advisory services relative to client investment assets, clients maintain exclusive responsibility for: (1) directing the manner in which proxies solicited by issuers of securities beneficially owned by the client shall be voted, and (2) making all elections relative to any mergers, acquisitions, tender offers, bankruptcy proceedings or other type events pertaining to the client's investment assets. Clients are responsible for instructing each custodian of the assets, to forward to the client copies of all proxies and shareholder communications relating to the client's investment assets.

We may provide clients with consulting assistance regarding proxy issues if they contact us with questions at our principal place of business.

Item 18 Financial Information

Under no circumstances do we require or solicit payment of fees in excess of $1200 per client more than six months in advance of services rendered. Therefore, we are not required to provide audited financial statements.

As an advisory firm that maintains discretionary authority for client accounts we are also required to disclose any financial condition that is reasonable likely to impair our ability to meet our contractual obligations. RIA has no additional financial circumstances to report.

RIA has never been the subject of a bankruptcy petition..
