Item 4 Advisory Business

Fieldpoint Private Advisors, Inc. is an SEC-registered investment adviser with its principal place of business located at 400 Park Avenue, New York, New York. Fieldpoint Private Advisors began conducting business in 2001, originally under the name Analytic Asset Management Inc..

Listed below are the firm's principal shareholders (i.e., those individuals and/or entities controlling 25% or more of this company).

- Fieldpoint Private Bank & Trust, 100%

Fieldpoint Private Advisors offers the following advisory service to its clients:

INVESTMENT SUPERVISORY SERVICES ("ISS")

Fieldpoint Private Advisors provides continuous advice to clients regarding the investment of client funds based on each client's individual needs. Through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based on a client's particular circumstances are established, we work with the client to develop a customized investment policy statement and create and manage a portfolio based on that policy. During our data-gathering process, we determine the client's individual objectives, time horizons, risk tolerance, and liquidity needs. As appropriate, we also review and discuss a client's prior investment history, as well as, among other things depending on the circumstances, family composition and background.

We manage all these advisory accounts on a discretionary basis currently, though we will consider managing on a non-discretionary basis. Account supervision is guided by the client's stated objectives (i.e., maximum capital appreciation, growth, income, or growth and income), as well as tax considerations.

As of December 31, 2012, Fieldpoint Private Advisor had a total of $250,339,108 in assets under management, all on a discretionary basis.

Clients may request that reasonable restrictions be imposed on investing in certain securities, types of securities, or industry sectors. We will accept client-imposed restrictions provided that, in our opinion, such restrictions are reasonable and would not unduly interfere with our ability to provide the investment advisory service necessary to facilitate achievement of the client's goals. If FPA determines it cannot accept any client-imposed restriction, the client will be so notified.

Our investment recommendations are not limited to any specific products or services offered by a broker-dealer, insurance company or other type of institution, and will generally include advice regarding any or all of the following securities:

- Exchange-listed securities
- Securities traded over-the-counter
- Warrants

- Corporate debt securities (other than commercial paper)
- Commercial paper
- Certificates of deposit
- Municipal securities
- Mutual fund shares
- United States governmental securities
- Options contracts on securities

Only investments that are consistent with the client's stated investment objectives, tolerance for risk, liquidity, suitability, and other applicable circumstances will be recommended/implemented in the client's Fieldpoint Private Advisors portfolio.

Item 5 Fees and Compensation

INVESTMENT SUPERVISORY SERVICES ("ISS")

Our annual fees for Investment Supervisory Services are based upon a percentage of assets under administration

Assets Under Administration	Investment Advisory Fee
<$10 Million	1.50%
On the next $10 million	1.25%
On the next $15 million	1.00%
On the next $25 million	0.75%
On amounts over $60 million	0.50%

The minimum Investment Advisory Fee is $30,000. The annualized fee for investment advisory services is charged as a percentage of assets under management. Fees are billed quarterly, and in the majority of cases, the fee is subsequently deducted directly from the client account. Related client accounts may be grouped for purposes of achieving the minimum account size and determining the annualized fee.

Limited Negotiability of Advisory Fees: Although Fieldpoint Private Advisors has established the aforementioned fee schedule(s), we retain the discretion to negotiate alternative fees on a client-by-client basis. Client facts, circumstances and needs may be considered if we agree to negotiate the fees. Factors could include the complexity of the client's needs, assets to be placed under management, anticipated future additional assets, related accounts, portfolio style, account composition, and reports required, as well as other factors. The specific annual fee schedule is stated in the agreement entered into between Fieldpoint Private Advisors and each client.

Discounts not generally available to our advisory clients may be offered to family members and friends of persons associated with the firm.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Termination of the Advisory Relationship: A client agreement may be canceled at any time, by either party, for any reason upon receipt of written notice. As discussed above, advisory fees are paid in advance of services provided. Upon termination of any account, any prepaid, unearned fees will be refunded. In calculating a client's reimbursement of fees, we will pro rate the reimbursement according to the number of days remaining in the billing period.

Mutual Fund Fees: All fees paid to Fieldpoint Private Advisors for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds and/or ETFs to their shareholders. Such fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and often a distribution fee. A client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge where such charge is imposed by the particular fund. A client may invest in a mutual fund directly, without the services available from our firm (and, accordingly, without incurring the fees associated with such services, as described above). In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by our firm, which are designed to, among other things, assist the client in determining which mutual fund or funds are most appropriate to each client's financial condition and objectives. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds and our fees to fully understand the agreement amount of fees to be paid by the client, so as to be able to make a fully-informed decision as to whether to invest directly with the fund or utilize our services.

Additional Fees and Expenses: In addition to our advisory fees, clients are also responsible for the fees and expenses charged by custodians and imposed by broker dealers, including, but not limited to, any transaction charges imposed by a broker dealer with which an independent investment manager effects transactions for the client's account(s). Please refer to the "Brokerage Practices" section (Item 12) of this Form ADV for additional information.

Grandfathering of Minimum Account Requirements: Fieldpoint Private Advisors' minimum account requirements and advisory fees may be revised from time to time. Clients are subject to the minimum account requirements and advisory fees that were in effect at the time their advisory relationship was first established. Therefore, minimum account requirements and advisory fees may differ among clients.

ERISA Accounts: Fieldpoint Private Advisors is deemed to be a fiduciary to advisory clients that are employee benefit plans or certain individual retirement accounts (IRAs) pursuant to the Employee Retirement Income and Securities Act ("ERISA"), and regulations under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986. As such, our firm is subject to specific duties and obligations under ERISA and the Internal Revenue Code that include, among other things, restrictions concerning certain forms of compensation. To avoid engaging in prohibited transactions, Fieldpoint Private Advisors may only charge fees for investment advice about products for which our firm and/or our related persons do not receive any commissions or 12b-1 fees, or conversely, investment advice about products for which our firm and/or our related persons receive commissions or 12b-1 fees provided such fees are used to offset Fieldpoint Private Advisors' advisory fees.

Advisory Fees in General: Clients should note that similar advisory services may (or may not) be available from other registered (or unregistered) investment advisers for similar or lower fees.

Limited Prepayment of Fees: Under no circumstances do we require or solicit payment of fees in excess of $1200 more than six months in advance of services rendered.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Fieldpoint Private Advisors does not charge performance-based fees. As noted above, fees are generally billed quarterly, in advance, based on the assets under management at the start of the quarter. Fees are deducted directly from client accounts, although clients have the option of sending payment upon receipt of an invoice.

Item 7 Types of Clients

Fieldpoint Private Advisors provides advisory services to the following types of clients:

- Individuals (other than high net worth individuals)
- High net worth individuals
- Charitable organizations
- Corporations or other businesses not listed above

As previously disclosed in Item 5, our firm has established certain initial minimum account requirements, based on the nature of the service(s) being provided.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

METHODS OF ANALYSIS

Fieldpoint Private Advisors uses the following methods of analysis in formulating investment advice and/or managing client assets:

Fundamental Analysis. We attempt to measure the intrinsic value of a security by looking at economic and financial factors (including the overall economy, industry conditions, and the financial condition and management of the issuer itself) to determine if the company is underpriced (indicating it may be a good time to buy) or overpriced (indicating it may be an appropriate time to sell).

Fundamental analysis does not attempt to anticipate market movements. This presents a potential risk, as the price of a security can move up or down along with the overall market regardless of the economic and financial factors considered in evaluating the security.

Technical Analysis. We review charts of market and security price activity in an attempt to identify when the market is moving up or down and to predict how long the trend may last and when that trend might reverse. We analyze past market movements in an attempt to identify recurring patterns of investor behavior and predict potential future price movement. Future price movement of any security is subject to many factors not considered in technical analysis, and actual price movement may therefore vary significantly from the prediction. For instance, technical analysis does not consider the underlying financial condition of a company. This presents a risk in that a poorly-managed or financially unsound company may underperform regardless of market movement.

Cyclical Analysis. In this type of technical analysis, we measure the movements of a particular stock against the overall market in an attempt to predict the price movement of the security. Future price movement of any security is subject to many factors, and actual price movement may therefore vary significantly from the prediction.

Mutual Fund and/or ETF Analysis. We look at the experience and track record of the manager of the mutual fund or ETF in an attempt to determine if that manager has demonstrated an ability to invest over a period of time and in different economic conditions. We also look at the underlying assets in different mutual funds and/or ETFs held in the client's portfolio in an attempt to determine if there is significant overlap. In addition, we monitor the funds and/or ETFs in an attempt to determine if they are continuing to follow their stated investment strategy.

A risk of mutual fund and/or ETF analysis is that, as in all securities investments, past performance does not guarantee future results. A manager who has been successful may not be able to replicate that success in the future. In addition, as we do not control the underlying investments in a fund or ETF, managers of different funds/ETFs held by the client may purchase the same security(ies) for the funds/ETFs they manage, increasing the risk to the client if that security or securities were to fall in value. There is also a risk that a manager might deviate from the stated investment mandate or strategy of the fund or ETF, which could make the holding(s) less suitable for the client's portfolio.

Risks for all forms of analysis. Our securities analysis methods rely on the assumption that the companies whose securities we purchase and sell, the rating agencies that review these securities, and other publicly-available sources of information about these securities are providing accurate and unbiased data. However, we do not independently verify such information. While we are alert to indications that data may be incorrect, there is always a risk that our analysis may be compromised by inaccurate or misleading information.

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

We use the following strategy(ies) in managing client accounts, provided that such strategy(ies) are appropriate to the needs of the client and consistent with the client's investment objectives, risk tolerance, and time horizons, among other considerations:

Asset Allocation. Rather than focusing primarily on securities selection, we attempt to identify an appropriate ratio of equity securities, fixed income, and cash suitable to the client's investment goals and risk tolerance, as well as prudent diversification from an aggregate portfolio risk standpoint.

A risk of asset allocation is that the client may not participate in sharp increases in a particular security, industry or market sector. Another risk is that the ratio of securities, fixed income, and cash will change over time due to stock and market movements and, if not corrected, will no longer be appropriate for the client's goals.

Long-term purchases. We purchase securities with the idea of holding them in the client's account for a year or longer. Typically we employ this strategy when:

- We believe the securities to be currently undervalued, and/or
- We believe exposure to a particular asset class over time is appropriate, regardless of the current projection for this class.

A risk in a long-term purchase strategy is that by holding the security for an extended period, we may not take advantage of short-term gains that could be profitable to a client. Moreover, if our predictions are incorrect, a security may decline sharply in value before the decision to sell is made.

Short-term purchases. When utilizing this strategy, we purchase securities with the idea of selling them within a relatively short time (typically a year or less). We do this in an attempt to take advantage of conditions that we believe will soon result in a price swing in the client's favor.

Risk of Loss. Securities investments are not guaranteed and you may lose money on your investments. We ask that you work with us to help us understand your tolerance for risk. It is important that you promptly notify us of any changes in your financial or personal circumstances that might warrant a reconsideration of the strategy(ies) being used for your portfolio. Clients should understand that investing in any securities, including mutual funds, involves a risk of loss of both income and principal.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

We are required to disclose any legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of our advisory business or the integrity of our management.

Our firm and personnel have no reportable disciplinary events to disclose.

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

We are a registered investment adviser and a wholly owned subsidiary of Fieldpoint Private Bank & Trust (the "Bank"), a national thrift association that offers clients access to customized private banking, business banking, wealth management services, trust solutions and personalized family office services. Our firm is under common ownership and control with another wholly owned subsidiary of the Bank, :

- Fieldpoint Private Securities, LLC , a registered investment adviser and FINRA member broker-dealer.

With respect to Fieldpoint Private Advisors, the Bank and Fieldpoint Private Securities are collectively referred to as the "Related Companies."

Where appropriate, Fieldpoint Private Advisors and our employees may recommend the various investment and investment-related services of the Related Companies to our advisory clients. The Related Companies and their employees may also recommend the advisory services of our firm to their clients. The services provided by the Related Companies are separate and distinct from our advisory services, and are provided for separate and additional compensation. There may also be arrangements between Fieldpoint Private Advisors and these Related Companies where Fieldpoint Private Advisors and/or the Related Companies and their employees receive payment in exchange for client referrals. No Fieldpoint Private Advisors client is obligated to use the services of any of the Related Companies.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading Fieldpoint Private Advisors has adopted a Code of Ethics which sets forth high ethical standards of business conduct that we require of our employees, including compliance with applicable federal securities laws.

Fieldpoint Private Advisors and our personnel owe a duty of loyalty, fairness and good faith to our clients, and have an obligation to adhere not only to the specific provisions of the Code of Ethics but to the general principles that guide the Code, including the obligation to always put the interests of our clients ahead of the interests of the firm or any of its personnel.

Fieldpoint Private Advisors' Code of Ethics includes the firm's policy prohibiting the use of material non-public information. While we do not believe that we have any particular access to non-public information, all employees are reminded that such information may not be used in a personal or professional capacity.

A copy of our Code of Ethics is available to our advisory clients and prospective clients. You may request a copy by email sent to hkummerfeld@fieldpointprivate.com, or by calling us at 203-682-6553.

Fieldpoint Private Advisors and individuals associated with our firm are prohibited from engaging in principal transactions and agency cross transactions.

Our Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of our employees will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts. In this regard, the Code of Ethics includes policies and procedures regarding the personal trading activities of the firm's access persons.¹

Individuals associated with our firm may buy or sell for their personal accounts securities identical to or different from those recommended to our clients. In addition, any related person(s) may have an interest or position in a certain security(ies) which may also be recommended to a client.

It is the expressed policy of our firm that no person employed by us may purchase or sell any security prior to a transaction in the same security being implemented for an advisory account, thereby preventing such employee(s) from benefiting from transactions placed on behalf of advisory accounts.

We may aggregate our employee trades with client transactions where possible and when compliant with our duty to seek best execution for our clients. In these instances, participating clients will receive an average share price. In instances where there is a partial fill of a particular batched order, we will allocate all purchases pro-rata, with each account paying the average price. Our employee accounts will be included in the pro-rata allocation.

As these situations represent actual or potential conflicts of interest, and to ensure ongoing compliance with our regulatory obligations and our obligation to provide our clients with full and fair disclosure of such conflicts, we have established the following policies and procedures for implementing the Code of Ethics:

1. No principal or employee of our firm may put the firm's or his or her own interest above the interest of an advisory client.
2. No principal or employee of our firm may buy or sell securities for their personal portfolio(s) where their decision is a result of information received as a result of their employment, unless the information is also available to the investing public.
3. No employee may purchase or sell any security prior to a transaction in the same security being implemented for an advisory account.
4. Prior approval is required for any IPO or private placement investments by persons associate with the firm or their related persons.
5. A list of all reportable securities holdings for our firm and any access person is maintained. These holdings are reviewed on a regular basis by our firm's Chief Compliance Officer or his/her designee.

¹ An "access person" is any supervised person of the firm who (a) has access to nonpublic information regarding any clients' purchase or sale of securities, or nonpublic information regarding the portfolio holdings of any reportable fund, or (b) is involved in making securities recommendations to clients, or who has access to such recommendations that are nonpublic. All directors and officers are presumed to be access persons.

6. Procedures for the maintenance of all required books and records have been established and are enforced.
7. All clients are fully informed that related persons may receive separate commission compensation when effecting transactions during the implementation of any investment recommendation.
8. Clients may decline to implement any advice rendered, except in situations where the firm has been granted discretionary authority.
9. All of our principals and employees must act in accordance with all applicable Federal and State regulations governing registered investment advisory practices.
10. Delivery of the Code of Ethics to each supervised person, and acknowledgment of it by each such person, is required.
11. Policies requiring the reporting of Code of Ethics violations to our senior management have been established.
12. Any individual who violates any of the above restrictions may be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

As disclosed in Item 10 above, Fieldpoint Private Advisors has two related companies. Please refer to Item 10 for an explanation of these relationships and important conflict of interest disclosures. A potential conflict of interest would exist if Fieldpoint Private Advisors refers business to a related company in exchange for a potential incentive fee, unless the referral is based solely on the capabilities of the related company and the suitability of the referral for the client.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

Fieldpoint Private Advisors requires that clients provide us with authority to determine the broker dealer to use for execution of securities transactions and the commission costs that will be charged for such transactions.

Fieldpoint Private Advisors will enter trades on a block basis where possible and when advantageous to clients. This permits the aggregate trading of securities for multiple client accounts, so long as transaction costs are shared equally and on a pro-rata basis between all accounts included in any such block.

Block trading may allow us to execute equity trades in a timelier, more equitable manner, at an average share price. Fieldpoint Private Advisors will typically aggregate trades among clients whose accounts can be traded at a given broker, and generally will rotate or vary the order of brokers through which it places trades for clients on any particular day. Fieldpoint Private Advisors' block trading policy and procedures are as follows:

1. Transactions for any client account may not be aggregated for execution if the practice is prohibited by or inconsistent with the client's advisory agreement, or our firm's order allocation policy.
2. The Portfolio manager must determine that the purchase or sale of the particular security involved is appropriate for each client to be included in the block trade, and consistent with the client's investment objectives and any investment guidelines or restrictions applicable to the client's account.

3. The portfolio manager must reasonably believe that the order aggregation is consistent with Fieldpoint Private Advisor's obligation to seek best execution for each client participating in the aggregated order. This requires a good faith judgment at the time the aggregated order is placed. It does not mean that the determination made in advance of the transaction must always prove to have been correct in the light of a "20-20 hindsight" perspective. Best execution includes the duty to seek the best quality of execution, as well as the best net price. Thus, price alone is not the sole determinant of best execution.
4. Prior to entry of an aggregated order, a written order ticket must be completed which identifies each client account participating in the order and the proposed allocation of the order, upon completion, to those accounts.
5. If an order cannot be executed in full in one business day, the securities actually purchased or sold by the close of each business day must be allocated pro rata among the participating client accounts in accordance with the initial order ticket or other written statement of allocation prepared prior to execution. However, adjustments to this pro rata allocation may be made to participating client accounts in accordance with the initial order ticket or such other written statement of allocation, for instance, to avoid having odd amounts of shares held in any client account, or to avoid excessive ticket charges in smaller accounts.
6. Generally, each client that participates in the aggregated order will do so at the average price for all separate transactions made to fill the order, and must share in the commissions on a pro rata basis in proportion to the client's overall participation. Under the client's agreement with the custodian/broker, actual transaction costs may be based on the number of shares traded for each client.
7. If the order will be allocated in a manner other than that stated in the initial order ticket or other written statement of allocation, a written explanation of the change must be provided to and approved by Compliance no later than the morning following the execution of the aggregate trade.
8. Fieldpoint Private Advisors' client account records separately reflect, for each account in which the aggregated transaction occurred, the securities which are held by, and bought and sold for, that account.
9. Funds and securities for aggregated orders are clearly identified on Fieldpoint Private Advisors' records and to the broker-dealers or other intermediaries handling the transactions, by the appropriate account numbers for each participating client.
10. No client or account will be favored over another.

Fieldpoint Private Advisors, in executing trades in accounts, may utilize various brokerage firms other than the broker dealer where the account is held in custody. Fieldpoint Private Advisors may receive investment research or other services ("soft dollars") in exchange for sending orders to particular brokerage firms.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

INVESTMENT ADVISORY SERVICES INDIVIDUAL PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT

REVIEWS: All Individual Portfolio Management Services accounts are continually monitored and reviewed. Accounts are reviewed in the context of each client's stated investment objectives and guidelines. The frequency of reviews may be impacted by various factors, including, but not limited to, material changes in the client's individual circumstances, or the market, political or economic environment. Accounts are reviewed by any or all of the following persons:

Richard Arkwright, President

Jill Harvey, Managing Director

Taylor Gray, Managing Director

REPORTS: In addition to the monthly statements and confirmations of transactions that clients receive from their broker-dealer, we provide quarterly reports summarizing account performance, balances and holdings. Clients should carefully examine the statements received from the custodian(s) of their assets to confirm that the values on the quarterly reports match the values shown on the custodian statements.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

It is Fieldpoint Private Advisors' policy not to engage solicitors or to pay related or non-related persons for referring potential clients to our firm.

It is Fieldpoint Private Advisors' policy not to accept or allow our related persons to accept any form of compensation, including cash, sales awards or other prizes, from any third party in conjunction with the advisory services we provide to our clients.

Item 15 Custody

As disclosed in the "Fees and Compensation" section (Item 5) of this Brochure, Fieldpoint Private Advisors directly debits advisory fees from client accounts.

As part of this billing process, the client's custodian is advised of the fee amount to be deducted from that client's account. On at least a quarterly basis, the custodian is required to send to the client a statement showing all transactions within the account during the reporting period.

Because the custodian does not calculate the amount of the fee to be deducted, it is important for clients to carefully review their custodial statements to verify the accuracy of the calculation, among other things. Clients should contact us directly if they believe that there may be an error in their statement.

In addition to the periodic statements that clients receive directly from their custodians, we also send account statements directly to our clients on a regular basis. We urge our clients to carefully compare the information provided on these statements to ensure that all account transactions, holdings and values are correct and current.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

Clients may hire us to provide discretionary asset management services, in which case we will place trades in a client's account without contacting the client prior to each trade and without the client's specific prior authorization for each trade.

Our discretionary authority includes the ability to do the following without contacting the client:

- determine the security to buy or sell;
- determine the amount of the security to buy or sell; and/or
- determine the brokerage firm through which to execute the order.

Clients give us discretionary authority when they sign a discretionary advisory services agreement with our firm, and may limit this authority by giving us written instructions. Clients may also change/amend such limitations by providing subsequent written instructions.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

We vote proxies for the majority of client accounts; however, clients always have the right to vote proxies themselves. Clients can exercise this right by instructing us in writing to not vote proxies in their account.

We will vote proxies in what we believe to be the best interests of our clients and in accordance with our established policies and procedures. Our firm will retain all proxy voting books and records for the requisite period of time, including a copy of each proxy statement received, a record of each vote cast, a copy of any document created by us that was material to making the decision how to vote proxies, and a copy of each written client request for information on how the proxies were voted. If our firm has a conflict of interest in voting a particular action, we will so notify the client and retain an independent third-party to cast the vote.

Clients may obtain a copy of our complete proxy voting policies and procedures by contacting us in writing. Clients may request, in writing, information on how proxies for their shares were voted. All such information will be promptly provided upon request.

We will neither advise nor act on behalf of the client in legal proceedings involving companies whose securities are held in the client's account(s), including, but not limited to, the filing of "Proofs of Claim" in class action settlements. If desired, clients may direct us to transmit copies of class action notices to them or a third party. Upon such direction, we will make commercially reasonable efforts to forward such notices in a timely manner.

With respect to ERISA accounts, we will vote proxies unless the plan documents specifically reserve the plan sponsor's right to vote proxies.

To direct us to vote a proxy in a particular manner, clients should contact us by telephone, email, or in writing.

Item 18 Financial Information

As an advisory firm that maintains discretionary authority for client accounts OR is deemed to have custody we are required to disclose any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair our ability to meet our contractual obligations. Fieldpoint Private Advisors has no such financial circumstances to report.

Under no circumstances do we require or solicit payment of fees in excess of $1200 per client more than six months in advance of services rendered. Therefore, we are not required to include a financial statement.

Fieldpoint Private Advisors has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time during the past ten years.
