Item 2 – Material Changes

This Item is designed to discuss only specific material changes that have been made to our Brochure and provide clients with a summary of such changes. We will also reference the date of our last annual update of our Brochure.

This Brochure dated March 30, 2012 is our annual update to Form ADV and updates our previous Form ADV dated August 29, 2011, which was the last update of our Brochure. This update to our Form ADV includes an update to our assets under management as of the most recently completed quarter dated December 31, 2011. It also updates our internal Proxy Voting Policy with the newest version. The updated policy gives greater detail on how to obtain a copy of BCM's policy and how our clients can obtain information regarding how we voted any proxies on their behalf. The Proxy Voting Policy can be found in Item 17 on page 10 of this document. We filed the August 29, 2011 version to update our business address. We had previously filed another update to Form ADV on July 28, 2011 which corrected a typo regarding our phone number on several of the Brochure Supplement pages of the previous document. We also updated our assets under management to reflect the most recently completed quarter dated June 30, 2011. Prior to this Brochure our most recent annual update was dated March 31, 2011.

In the past we have offered or delivered information about our qualifications and business practices to clients on at least an annual basis. Pursuant to new SEC Rules, we will ensure that you receive a summary of any material changes to this and subsequent Brochures within 120 days of the close of our business' fiscal year. We may further provide other ongoing disclosure information about material changes as necessary.

We will further provide you with a new Brochure as necessary based on changes or new information, at any time, without charge.

Currently, a free copy of our Brochure may be requested by contacting us at 512-542-1083.

Additional information about Bares Capital Management, Inc. is also available via the SEC's web site www.adviserinfo.sec.gov. The SEC's web site also provides information about any persons affiliated with BCM who are registered, or are required to be registered, as investment adviser representatives of BCM.

Item 4 – Advisory Business

Bares Capital Management, Inc. was founded in 2000 by Brian T. Bares. We were originally registered with the States of Texas and Nebraska due to the amount of assets under management. In 2005 as assets under management passed $30 million we became a registered investment adviser with the SEC. BCM is entirely owned by the principals of the firm, of which Mr. Bares is the only owner of 25% or more of the firm.

BCM provides investment management services predominantly for institutional and family office clients. We manage our client accounts in long-only concentrated Micro-Cap and Small-Cap strategies. In these strategies we invest in the equity of publicly-traded companies predominantly domiciled in the United States. Our typical client in these strategies utilizes a number of other managers that specialize in different investment strategies from ours. This diversification at the manager level alleviates us from the need for a diversified portfolio in the traditional definition and allows us to remain invested in 10-20 of our best investment ideas in each portfolio. We identify candidates for investment using fundamental research. We consider the financial condition of the candidate as well as qualitative factors relevant to the future performance of the candidate. Our qualitative research focuses on the competitive aspects of the business under consideration and an evaluation of management capability.

BCM also markets a modern "endowment model" strategy under the trade name Town Lake Capital Management, which we market to foundations, endowments, family offices, and high net worth individual investors. Many foundations and endowments have evolved over time from a traditional 60/40 split between stocks and bonds, to a modern implementation that includes a variety of uncorrelated, high-return asset classes and reduced reliance on lower returning fixed income instruments. The goal of the endowment model is to reduce volatility and increase returns using a multitude of uncorrelated asset classes that have an underlying performance similar to that of equities. This strategy is more diversified than our Micro- and Small-Cap strategies and is more appropriate for management of a client's entire portfolio. In this strategy we actively manage exposure to asset classes by utilizing mutual and/or exchange traded funds and equity of publicly traded companies. While our primary research focus is on individual securities, we will use mutual funds and other types of investment vehicles to obtain access to certain areas of the market where it is either more efficient or in our client's best interest.

Our individual client accounts that are not part of our concentrated investment strategies are invested according to an investment policy statement that details each individual's unique circumstances. We update each client's IP statement at least annually, but each individual client is advised that it remains his/her responsibility to promptly notify us when there is any material change to their financial situation and/or financial objectives for the purpose of reviewing, evaluating, or revising previous recommendations and/or services. In performing its services BCM is not required to verify any information received from the client or from the client's other professionals. The investment advice we offer is limited to the equity of common stock, mutual funds, and exchange traded funds we invest in. We do not offer tax planning advice or financial planning services. Clients may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities. This must be done in writing and be signed by the client and BCM. We will, no less than annually, send clients a market commentary that may include opinions and outlooks for specific investments or the market in general. This commentary will usually accompany one of the periodic quarterly portfolio statements.

Assets under management of BCM are held by independent custodians, including TD Ameritrade, Charles Schwab, State Street, or others, in the client's name. We do not act as a custodian of client assets, although we may at times be considered by the SEC to technically have "custody" over certain accounts held at independent custodians. This occurs primarily because we are typically given authority to bill management fees directly from client accounts. We will have discretionary authority over client accounts when implementing the investment strategy.

As of December 31, 2011, BCM managed approximately $455,407,000 in total assets. Approximately $452,399,000 is managed on a discretionary basis and $3,008,000 on a non-discretionary basis.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

All fees are subject to negotiation.

The specific manner in which fees are charged by BCM is established in a client's written agreement with BCM. BCM will generally bill its fees on a quarterly basis. In most cases we bill clients in advance but in some cases we have agreed to bill clients in arrears each calendar quarter. BCM is typically given authority to directly debit fees from client accounts, but in some cases we have agreed to bill clients directly for management fees. Management fees shall be prorated for each capital contribution and withdrawal made during the applicable calendar quarter (with the exception of de minimis contributions and withdrawals). Accounts initiated or terminated during a calendar quarter will be charged a prorated fee. Upon termination of any account, any prepaid, unearned fees will be promptly refunded, and any earned, unpaid fees will be due and payable.

BCM's fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses which shall be incurred by the client. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third party investment and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual funds and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Such charges, fees, and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to BCM's fee, and BCM shall not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs.

Our concentrated Micro-Cap strategy has a fee structure of 1.25% of assets under management per annum. Our concentrated Small-Cap strategy has a fee structure of 1.50% of assets under management per annum. The fee structure for Town Lake Capital Management varies from .50% to 1.00% per annum. Our current fee structure for individual investor clients is 1.00% per annum.

Item 12 further describes the factors that BCM considers in selecting or recommending broker-dealers for client transactions and determining the reasonableness of their compensation (e.g., commissions).

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

BCM does not currently charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client). In some cases, we would be willing to enter into performance fee arrangements with qualified clients: such fees are subject to individualized negotiation with each such client. BCM will structure any performance or incentive fee arrangement subject to Section 205(a)(1) of the Investment Advisors Act of 1940 (The Advisors Act) in accordance with the available exemptions thereunder, including the exemption set forth in Rule 205-3. In measuring clients' assets for the calculation of performance-based fees, BCM shall include realized and unrealized capital gains and losses. Performance based fee arrangements may create an incentive for BCM to recommend investments which may be riskier or more speculative than those which would be recommended under a different fee arrangement. Such fee arrangements also create an incentive to favor higher fee paying accounts over other accounts in the allocation of investment opportunities. BCM has procedures designed and implemented to ensure that all clients are treated fairly and equally, and to prevent this conflict from influencing the allocation of investment opportunities among clients.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

BCM provides portfolio management services to charitable institutions, foundations, endowments, high net worth individuals, individuals, and trust programs.

We impose minimum dollar value of assets per account for new clients in each of our strategies, all of which we may waive at our discretion. The minimum initial investment in our concentrated Micro-Cap strategy is $2 million, but we are currently not accepting additional capital in the strategy. The minimum initial investment in our concentrated Small-Cap strategy is $5 million. The minimum initial investment in our Town Lake Capital Management strategy is $2 million.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

BCM identifies candidates for investment using fundamental research. Our research style is most often considered bottom-up, in that we focus more on the individual company more than the general state of the economy or overall price to value ratio of the equity markets. We consider the financial condition of the candidate as well as qualitative factors relevant to the future performance of the candidate. Our qualitative research focuses on the competitive aspects of the business under consideration and an evaluation of management capability. Since we take a long-term view of financial performance, clients should note that we are not “market timers” and do not buy and sell securities because we think the markets in general are undervalued or overvalued. Our primary focus is on individual securities and their prospects over multi-year periods.

In our concentrated Micro- and Small-Cap strategies we invest in the equity of publicly traded companies predominantly denominated in the United States. In our endowment model strategy, which we offer to clients via Town Lake Capital Management, we purchase mutual and/or exchange traded funds and equity of publicly traded securities. We do not purchase derivatives, use leverage, or take short positions in publicly traded companies.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. Included in these risks are the risk of permanent loss of capital, interest-rate risk, inflation risk, currency risk, reinvestment risk, business risk, liquidity risk, financial risk, and volatility risk.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of BCM or the integrity of BCM's management. BCM has no information applicable to this Item.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

As an independently owned and operated investment advisory, BCM does not have any other financial industry affiliations. Our day-to-day investment management activities include interaction and relationships with various broker-dealers, custodians, and third-party administrators. BCM has neither a financial investment nor ownership position in any such entity.

BCM will, from time to time, pay marketing agents to promote BCM's investment strategies. The management fee we charge will not be higher because of the fees paid to solicitors. Maury McCoy dba McCoy & Associates, a third-party solicitor, exclusively represented the Bares Capital Management, Inc. Micro-Cap Equity strategy until assets in the strategy reached $50 million. Maury McCoy's recommendation of BCM may have been biased as a result of this exclusivity. Maury McCoy is paid on a sliding scale ranging from 15-13% of the management fee. Maury McCoy dba McCoy & Associates no longer solicits clients on behalf of Bares Capital Management, Inc.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

BCM has adopted the CFA Institute's Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct for all access persons of the firm. The Code of Ethics recognizes BCM's fiduciary duty to our clients, a high standard of business conduct, adherence to federal securities laws, and promotes a culture of honesty, integrity, and professionalism among our employees. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All access persons at BCM must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

BCM's clients or prospective clients may obtain a free copy of our Code of Ethics by calling our office and requesting such.

BCM and/or the firm's employees may hold, purchase, and sell securities that are also held, purchased, or sold by our clients. Many of our clients prefer that we have some "skin in the game" and invest our personal accounts in the same securities that we purchase for their accounts. We may not own all of the securities that our clients own and we may own securities that we have not purchased for client accounts, but investors should be aware that the potential for conflict exists. In addition to our Code of Ethics requirement to prioritize the securities transactions of our clients before those of our own, we also have internal rules and policies that are designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities, and interests of the access persons of BCM will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing access persons to invest for their own accounts. Under our internal policies certain classes of securities have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would materially not interfere with the best interest of BCM's clients. In addition, our internal policies require pre-clearance of all non-exempt transactions and restrict trading until the day following the completion of client trading activity in that particular security. Nonetheless, because our internal policies permit access persons to invest in the same securities as clients, there is a possibility that we might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by an access person. Access person trading is continually monitored by our Chief Compliance Officer in an attempt to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between BCM and our clients.

BCM may engage in agency cross transactions for its advisory clients. Pursuant to Rule 206(3)-2, BCM will not knowingly engage in such agency cross transactions without prior consent of the advisory clients. BCM may initiate or maintain existing discretionary purchases for clients in the same securities as are being sold as a part of client directed cash raisings, tax sales, or liquidations. BCM may use different prices limits or trading venues to mitigate the possibility of securities being inadvertently purchased and sold between BCM client accounts that trade at the same broker.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

All BCM client assets are maintained in a separate account at a qualified custodian. Most of our institutional clients inform us of their preference of custodian. BCM recommends discount brokerage firms to custody our individual client accounts. Currently all of our individual clients' assets are held at either Charles Schwab & Co. and/or TD Ameritrade. We recommend custodians based on the proven integrity and financial responsibility of the firm, best execution of orders at reasonable commission rates, and the quality of client service. Custodians will hold your assets in a brokerage account and buy and sell securities when we instruct them to do so. BCM is independently owned and operated and is not affiliated with any custodian or broker-dealer. BCM does not receive fees or commissions from any of these arrangements, although we may receive soft dollar benefits such as electronic delivery of client information, electronic trading platforms, proprietary and/or third-party research, continuing education, practice management advice, and other services provided by custodians for the benefit of clients. Soft dollar benefits are not limited to those clients who may have generated a particular benefit although certain soft dollar allocations are connected to particular clients or groups of clients.

BCM clients are responsible for all brokerage transaction costs and fees. In some cases the custodian of your assets has a set schedule of transaction costs and fees that are non-negotiable. Some custodians offer lower transaction costs for larger accounts, but these discounts are determined by the custodians, not BCM.

In all transactions on behalf of clients we seek what is referred to as "best execution." The SEC defines this as the execution of securities transactions for clients in such a manner that the client's total costs or proceeds in each transaction are the most favorable under the circumstances. The key phrase is "under the circumstances." As discussed above, BCM does not always have discretion over the costs and fees charged by your custodian, therefore you will pay such charges according to the related schedules of such custodians. In some cases we may establish "Prime Broker" relationships with broker-dealers. In such a case the custodian will allow BCM to buy securities from other broker-dealers and have them delivered into client accounts. When buying or selling through such broker-dealers, clients will pay the related costs and fees charged by such entities, which often results in higher transaction costs and fees to the client. We do the majority of our trading using Electronic Crossing Networks (ECNs) and dark pools, which allow us to aggregate the trades for many accounts together into one trade and allocate the shares across the applicable accounts, with each client receiving the same price. We use such services for five primary reasons: access to blocks of stock (i.e. large quantities of stock that are generally not available in the open market on a day-to-day basis); accumulation or disposition of large quantities of stock in the open market; competitive pricing structure (we generally pay between $.01 and $.03 per share); allocation of shares to multiple accounts at the average price executed; and anonymity while trading.

When utilizing ECNs, dark pools, and Prime Brokers we evaluate a wide range of criteria in seeking best execution for client accounts. Such criteria includes, but is not limited to, implicit trading costs, access to securities with limited liquidity, software functionality and flexibility, efficiency of execution, research capabilities, financial strength and stability, perceived value of various financial industry conferences held by such broker-dealer, and prior experience in working with such networks, systems, and broker-dealers. Under such circumstances, clients should think of “best execution” as not necessarily the best “price,” although in some situations it is, but rather a confluence of factors that allow BCM to seek the best way of doing business on behalf of our clients.

If we are either unable to aggregate the trades of multiple accounts or deem doing so to not be in the best interest of our clients, we utilize a rotation to ensure fairness of trade order over time. In this case each client account would be responsible for the particular trade executed on their behalf. In all cases with respect to allocation of securities bought and sold it is BCM’s objective to distribute such transactions in a fair and equitable manner. Due to the number of specific client factors considered in each allocation (e.g. available cash, tax implications, risk tolerance, portfolio holdings, size of transaction, multiple account overlap, etc.) accounts with the same investment objectives may vary in terms of the quantity of securities purchased or sold, as well as the average price paid or derived for such transactions, respectively.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

All client reviews are done by Brian T. Bares, President, and/or James S. Bradshaw, Compliance Officer, and/or Clayton A. Ripley, Managing Director of Town Lake Capital Management, at least annually with each client, except as noted below. If a client’s financial situation changes in some material way, reviews may be performed more often. Reviews include, but are not limited to, an Investment Policy Statement that includes return objectives, risk tolerance, and various other constraints. Reviews may be triggered by client request, changes in market condition, new information about an investment, changes in tax laws, or other important changes.

No Investment Policy Statements or reviews are completed for clients that hire BCM specifically to manage accounts in the concentrated Micro-Cap and Small-Cap strategies. The clients for which these strategies are appropriate typically use them as one part of an overall investment strategy. These clients sign a contract with BCM specifically stating the desired strategy they wish BCM to implement.

Written reports are sent to clients quarterly and may consist of account positions, investing commentary, and performance computations.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

BCM has been fortunate to receive many client referrals over the years. The referrals have come from current clients, employees, personal friends of employees, and other sources. Other than as discussed in Item 10 above, BCM does not pay for referrals.

BCM does not accept referral fees or any form of remuneration from other professionals when a prospect or client is referred to them.

Item 15 – Custody

Clients can choose to have assets held at any qualified custodian. BCM does not have physical custody of any assets held for clients, but most clients permit us to deduct advisory fees directly from the account, request checks to be issued to the account holder and sent to the address of record, and in some instances transfer funds between like-titled accounts at the same custodian. In addition to these services, clients authorize us to give the custodian instructions for the purchase, sale, conversion, redemption, exchange, or retention of any security, cash or cash equivalent, or other investments for the client's account.

Clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker-dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets. BCM urges you to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account statements that we may provide to you. Our statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

Since BCM is a discretionary investment manager, clients provide written authority (e.g. limited power of attorney) for us to conduct account management services as defined in our investment management contract and your independent custodian agreement/contract. Any limitations of such authority are included in these written and signed agreements/contracts. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client account.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

Clients may delegate proxy voting authority over their account to BCM. Such delegation may be made by the client through notice to the account custodian. In the event a client delegates proxy voting authority to us, it remains the client's obligation to direct their account custodian to forward applicable proxy materials to BCM so their account shares can be voted. BCM will not vote shares unless we receive the proxy materials on a timely basis from the custodian. Clients may revoke our voting authority without notice to BCM.

BCM will vote all proxies received by the firm in the best interest of the beneficiaries of client accounts. All proxies will be voted by firm Research Analysts. The objective in the voting is to support proposals and director nominees that maximize the value of our clients' investments over the long term. Each proposal will be evaluated on its merits, based on the particular facts and circumstances as presented. The responsibility of ensuring that all properly received proxies are voted in a timely manner will fall to the Compliance Officer.

Should a conflict of interest exist between BCM and client(s) regarding the outcome of certain proxy votes, BCM is committed to resolving the conflict in the best interest of clients before it votes the proxy in question. We may take the following courses of action to resolve the conflict: (i) disclose the conflict to clients and obtain consent before voting; (ii) suggest that client(s) engage another party to determine how the proxy should be voted.

Clients may obtain a copy of BCM's proxy policy on request by contacting Jim Bradshaw, Compliance Officer. Clients may also obtain information from BCM about how we voted any proxies on behalf of their account(s). Jim Bradshaw, Compliance Officer is responsible for tracking and delivery of the proxy policy or specifics on how proxies were voted upon client's request.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Registered investment advisers are required in this Item to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about BCM's financial condition. BCM has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding. A balance sheet is not required to be provided because BCM does not serve as a custodian for client funds or securities, other than as described above, and does not require prepayment of fees of more than $1,200 per client, six months or more in advance.
