Advisory Business

Firm Description

Schroeder Capital Management, LLC, an SEC registered investment advisor in Lafayette, California, provides investment counsel to private individuals and institutions throughout the world. The company was purchased in May 2002 as the successor entity to Van Kasper Advisers, a San Francisco-based investment advisory firm and affiliate of Wells Fargo Securities, LLC.

The firm's sole owner, G. Frederick Schroeder, has investment experience that spans over 30 years, during which time he conducted fundamental research, formulated investment strategy, built and managed individual client and institutional portfolios. Schroeder was formerly associated with the ITT Corporation, Transamerica, Templeton Portfolio Advisory, an affiliate of Franklin Templeton Worldwide, and Van Kasper Advisers before forming Schroeder Capital Management, LLC.

The foundation of Schroeder Capital Management, LLC, is its unique broad-based knowledge and understanding of global markets. As Senior Portfolio Manager of Templeton Portfolio Advisory, Schroeder directed all the investment activities of the company's $2 billion Private Client Group. Today, Schroeder Capital's clients benefit from the significant experience Schroeder had with the Templeton Worldwide organization, its investment research group, portfolio managers, and especially his relationship with the late Sir John Templeton, of Nassau, Bahamas, known as the "father of international investing." These elements have provided Schroeder Capital Management, LLC, with a unique perspective and solid platform of knowledge of international economics, securities analysis, broad understanding of global investment strategy, and proven portfolio building disciplines used to create globally diversified, custom-tailored private accounts that meet specific client needs and investment objectives.

Principal Owners

G. Frederick Schroeder, President, and Chief Investment Officer, is sole owner of Schroeder Capital Management, LLC. He is a Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA), and a Registered Investment Adviser (RIA), with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Types of Advisory Services

Schroeder Capital is engaged in building customized, taxable and tax exempt individual accounts for its clients. The firm has total discretion over client assets in the creation of portfolios based on a defined investment strategy at the time of account inception. In addition to publically traded domestic securities, Schroeder uses American Depositary Receipts (ADRs) for international investments in the portfolio building process.

Tailored Relationships

Portfolios are tailored to the specific needs, investment objectives, and risk tolerance of Schroeder Capital's clients. Customized separate accounts typically contain approximately 35-40, well-diversified securities. Client-specific risk tolerance considerations will often determine the number and type of securities held in a portfolio, specific country exposure, and the market capitalization or liquidity of the selections.

Wrap Fee Programs

Schroeder Capital does not engage in wrap fee programs with any entity.

Client Assets

Total assets under management at December 31, 2010 were $43.2 million and were computed by totaling the closing market value of all securities in all individually managed client portfolios.

Fees and Compensation

Description

Schroeder Capital is a fee-based investment manager. Compensation provided to Schroeder is negotiable and varies, but typically Schroeder charges its clients an annual fee. The percentage of the annual fee varies depending upon the nature and size of the account. Management fees generally are as follows:

Account Assets Under Management	Annual Fee
Equity & Balanced
Amount up to $2,000,000	1.25%
Amount over $2,000,000 to $5,000,000	1.00%
Amount over $5,000,000	Negotiable

Global & International Equity

Amount up to $1,000,000	1.50%
Amount over $1,000,000 to $ 5,000,000	1.25%
Amount over $5,000,000	Negotiable

Fixed Income

Amount up to $1,000,000	0.75%
Amount over $1,000,000 to $5,000,000	0.50%
Amount over $5,000,000	Negotiable

Minimum account fees may also apply if the balance in an account falls below a specified minimum balance, but the fee will not in any event exceed 3% of the account balance per annum. The annual fee is typically payable quarterly in arrears (depending on the provisions of each client's account agreement), based on the average capital value of the account over the preceding quarter. Schroeder believes that its fees are competitive with fees charged by other investment advisers for comparable services.

Fee Billing

Schroeder offers clients both direct billing of quarterly account management fees or authorizing Schroeder Capital to deduct management fees incurred.

Other Fees

Clients will incur transaction costs associated with each security trade that is either deducted from the asset value of the trade by the brokerage firm or can be satisfied through a pre-negotiated, monthly flat rate deduction from the client account based on the average monthly value of the managed portfolio.

Fees Paid in Advance

Schroeder Capital bills its clients in arrears for account management services. Fees are based on the average monthly value of the managed portfolio for the preceding three month period. A client may terminate an individually managed account by giving 30 days' written notice. In all cases, expenses and the pro rata portion of the annual fee through the date of termination are charged to the client.

Additional Compensation

Schroeder Capital receives no compensation other than fee income from managed accounts.

Performance-Based Fees & Side-by-Side Management

Sharing of Capital Gains or Capital Appreciation

Schroeder Capital does not offer performance-based fee services on managed accounts. We are a fee-based manager and charge clients on the basis of assets under management.

Types of Clients

Description

Schroeder Capital offers investment advisory services for individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, and corporations.

Account Minimums

Schroeder Capital generally requires a minimum of $250,000 to open an individually managed account, but reserves the right to waive this minimum.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

Schroeder Capital's investment philosophy and methodology is fundamentally-based and uses both growth and value securities in customized portfolios. Fundamental, bottom-up analysis targets companies that have the potential to achieve superior investment returns. Selections are made from a broad universe of U.S. stocks and international ADRs. A comprehensive analysis of relative global interest rates, economic growth prospects, and geopolitical developments are important ingredients in providing a basis for fundamental research. We evaluate product/service uniqueness, relative industry standing, demand factors, inherent cyclicity, pricing power, and potential influences that could dramatically change operating and financial conditions within a company.

Critical financial analysis focuses on operating cash flow, balance sheet quality, peer-relative profitability measures, and the ability of an enterprise to self-finance its growth through capital reinvestment. We are particularly attracted to companies that have little or no debt and a high rate of capital reinvestment. In addition, management's philosophy toward improving shareholder value over the long-term and consistently maintaining effective communication with shareholders and the investment community are important components of our analysis.

Employing disciplines of relative global attractiveness in valuing individual companies is essential to identify the best investment candidates whether in the U.S. or abroad. Security price disciplines include the application of absolute and relative historical ratios in the evaluation of corporate earnings prospects, analyzing earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization (EBITDA), adjusted book value (eliminating intangible assets and potential balance sheet overstatements), operating cash flow, and dividend yield.

Investment Strategies

Schroeder Capital provides several investment strategies to address the needs and financial goals of its clients. Customized portfolios can be created using the following investment strategies:

Global Equity: Security selection emphasizes a balance of mid-to-large capitalization American Depository Receipts (ADRs) and multi-cap U.S. equities. The account objective is to capture long-term growth with a well-diversified mix of both international and US investment opportunities.

International Diversified Equity: Security selection focuses on well-diversified, mid-to-large capitalization American Depository Receipts (ADRs). Emerging market investments are emphasized to capture more rapidly growing global opportunities. The account objective is long-term capital appreciation with a strict discipline of diversification by both country and industry to minimize portfolio risk.

U.S. Core Equity: Security selection focuses on a range of small-to-large capitalization companies, multi-cap, with an emphasis on balancing growth stocks with those representing value-oriented investment opportunities. A key ingredient of this strategy is to achieve long-term account growth and employ strategic diversification to avoid undue market risk.

Balanced Growth: Security selection emphasizes more conservative growth and value stocks balanced with fixed income securities including U.S. Treasuries and agencies, corporate bonds, and preferred stocks. While the account objective is to grow principal and generate income, strict disciplines to avoid portfolio and market risk are employed.

Risk of Loss

Each investment strategy above carries a degree of risk to invested capital. Fixed income securities carry risk since valuation is tied to the financial health of the underlying entity that issues the securities and potential changes in interest rates within the economy. Stocks carry risk related to future growth and profitability of the company in which an investment is made.

At Schroeder Capital, risk avoidance measures and the suitability of investments for clients are key ingredients in the security selection and portfolio building process. We employ portfolio management disciplines that are focused on risk aversion. Broad diversification of holdings and the use of qualitative measures such as analyzing balance sheet strength and profitability are critical factors in reducing risk. Regularly scheduled account reviews target changes in the investment fundamentals of each portfolio position.
