Item 4 – Advisory Business

WRFA is owned by Partners of the accounting firm WebsterRogers LLP and has been providing advisory services since 1999.

As of December 31, 2015, WRFA managed $176,221,841 on a discretionary basis and $57,000,000 on a non-discretionary basis..

Investment Management Services

WRFA will work with the client to determine the client's investment objectives and investor risk profile and will design a written investment policy statement. WRFA uses investment and portfolio allocation software to evaluate alternative portfolio designs. WRFA evaluates the client's existing investments with respect to the client's investment policy statement. WRFA works with new clients to develop a plan to transition from the client's existing portfolio to the portfolio recommended by WRFA. WRFA will then continuously monitor the client's portfolio holdings and the overall asset allocation strategy and hold regular review meetings with the client regarding the account as necessary.

WRFA will typically create a portfolio of no-load mutual funds, and may use model portfolios if the models match the client's investment policy. WRFA will allocate the client's assets among various investments taking into consideration the overall management style selected by the client. WRFA primarily recommends portfolios consisting of mutual funds offered by Dimensional Fund Advisors (DFA). DFA sponsored mutual funds follow a passive asset class investment philosophy with low holdings turnover. Client portfolios may also include some individual equity securities.

WRFA manages mutual fund and equity portfolios on a discretionary or nondiscretionary basis. WRFA may impose any reasonable restrictions on WRFA's discretionary authority, including restrictions on the types of securities in which WRFA may invest client's assets and on specific securities, which the client may believe to be appropriate.

In certain circumstances, clients may already own individual equity securities. WRFA will monitor these securities and recommend their sale for tax harvesting purposes. WRFA does not provide advice on the merits of purchasing, selling or holding these securities apart from the tax consequences to the client.

On an ongoing basis, WRFA will answer clients' inquiries regarding their accounts and review periodically with clients the performance of their accounts. WRFA will periodically, and at least annually, review client's investment policy, risk profile and discuss the re-balancing of each client's accounts to the extent appropriate. WRFA will provide to investment manager any updated client financial information or account restrictions necessary for investment manager to provide sub-advisory services. Complete, laddered fixed income portfolios generally require a minimum investment of $500,000.

In addition to managing the client's investment portfolio, WRFA may consult with clients on various financial areas including income and estate tax planning, business sale structures, college financing planning, retirement planning, insurance analysis, personal cash flow analysis, establishment and design of retirement plans, and trust designs, among other things. These consultations are not specifically identified as contractual terms between the client and WRFA and will be provided as mutually deemed necessary by WRFA and the client.

Investment Consulting/ Financial Planning Services

WRFA may also provide investment consulting and/or financial planning services apart from the Investment Management Services listed above. Among other things, WRFA will work with clients to determine the client's investment objectives and investor risk profile, and will analyze the client's current investment program, making recommendations (including asset allocation models) where appropriate. WRFA may provide advice on various financial planning topics to clients as mutually deemed necessary by WRFA and a client.

Employee Benefit Retirement Plan Services

WRFA also provides advisory services to the sponsors/plan fiduciaries of participant-directed retirement plans. WRFA will analyze the plan's current investment platform, and assist the plan in creating an investment policy statement defining the types of investments to be offered and the restrictions that may be imposed. WRFA will recommend investment options to achieve the plan's objectives, provide participant education meetings, and monitor the performance of the plan's investment vehicles.

WRFA will recommend changes in the plan's investment vehicles as may be appropriate from time to time. WRFA will review the plan's investment vehicles and investment policy as necessary.

WRFA will also assist the plan sponsor/trustee select a third party administrator for plan administration, and assist the plan to coordinate activities with an administrator. WRFA will recommend one or more third party administrators that generally offer platforms enabling transaction in securities recommended by WRFA, and daily account access to participants.

In certain circumstances, an attendee at a participant education meeting may ask the WRFA person leading the session to address issues specific to that attendee's situation. The WRFA representative may choose to privately address that person's questions. Any such specific advice will be provided to that participant only and at no charge, in the hope the participant may be interested in using WRFA's services. All such specific advice is entirely separate and distinct from the education services provided to pension plan participants by WRFA.

WRFA will continue to work with plans to monitor plan investments, provide fiduciary plan advice including regular considerations of the goals and objectives of the plan, and provide participant education services to the plan.

Watermark Adviser Solutions

WRFA receives back office services from Watermark Adviser Solutions™ (“Watermark”), which is a division of McLean Asset Management Corporation (“MAMC”) a registered investment adviser founded in 1984. Average Daily Balance of All WRFA Managed Accounts	Rates per Quarter*	Rates Annualized
Up to $500,000	.375%	1.50%
From $500,001 to $999,999	.3125%	1.25%
From $1,000,000 to $3,000,000	.2500%	1.00%
From $3,000,001 to $5,000,000	.1875%	.85%
Greater than $5,000,000	.1250%	.50%

All accounts for members of the clients family (husband, wife and dependent children) or related businesses (non-fiduciary status accounts) may be assessed fees based on the total balance of all accounts.

A minimum of $250,000 of assets under management is required for investment management services. A minimum of $500,000 is generally required for management services of portfolios of individual fixed income securities. A minimum fee of $3,750, which is the application of our fee schedule to $250,000 in assets under management, is required.

Clients will be invoiced in advance at the beginning of each calendar quarter based upon the value (market value based on independent third party sources or fair market value in the absence of market value; client account balances on which WRFA calculates fees may vary from account custodial statements based on independent asset valuations and other accounting variances, including mechanisms for including accrued interest in account statements), of the client's account at the end of the previous quarter on the average daily balance.

Investment Consulting/ Financial Planning Services

Clients will be billed an hourly rate for this service, ranging from $125 per hour to $250 per hour, based on the nature and complexity of the client's situation. Fees are payable within 30 days of presentation of the bill to the client.

Employee Benefit Retirement Plan Services

The annual fee for plan services will be charged as a percentage of assets within the plan as follows:

Assets Under Management	WRFA's Annual Fee

Over a $1,000,000	.75%

New accounts are charged a prorated fee for the remainder of the quarter in which the account is incepted (date of first trade).

A minimum of $350,000 of assets under management is required for participant-directed retirement plan services. A minimum fee of $4,025, which is the application of our fee schedule to $350,000 in assets under management, is required.

In certain circumstances, all fees, account minimums and their applications to family circumstances may be negotiable.

In 2012 and prior years WRFA followed separate fee schedules, which remain in effect with clients who signed agreements with WRFA during such period and who have not agreed to an amended advisory fee schedule.

WRFA may request authority from clients to receive quarterly payments directly from the client's account held by an independent custodian. Clients may provide written limited authorization to WRFA to withdraw fees from the account. Fees for certain pension plan clients using third party administration services are otherwise calculated by the third party administration service provider rather than WRFA, and the third party administration service provider remits the fee to WRFA.

A client agreement may be canceled at any time, by either party, for any reason upon receipt of 30 days written notice. Upon termination of any account, any prepaid, unearned fees will be promptly refunded and any earned, unpaid fees will be due and payable. Investment Consulting fees may be refunded to clients who hire WRFA for Investment Management services within 30 days of the payment of the consulting bill.

All fees paid to WRFA for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds to their shareholders. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. A client could invest in mutual funds directly, without the services of WRFA. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by WRFA which are designed, among other things, to assist the client in determining which mutual fund or funds are most appropriate to each client's financial condition and objectives. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds and the fees charged by WRFA to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client and to thereby evaluate the advisory services being provided WRFA's fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses which shall be incurred by the client. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, and other third parties such as custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to WRFA's fee, and WRFA shall not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

WRFA does not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client). All fees are calculated as described above and are not charged on the basis of income or capital gains or capital appreciation of the funds or any portion of the funds of an advisory client.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

WRFA manages investment portfolios for individuals, qualified retirement plans, trusts, and small businesses.

WRFA requires a minimum account of $250,000 for investment management services and a minimum of $350,000 for participant-directed retirement plan services. These account sizes may be negotiable under certain circumstances.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategy

WRFA's services are based on long-term investment strategies incorporating the principles of Modern Portfolio Theory. WRFA's investment approach is firmly rooted in the belief that markets are "efficient" over periods of time and that investors' long-term returns are determined principally by asset allocation decisions, rather than market timing or stock picking. WRFA recommends diversified portfolios, principally through the use of passively managed, asset class mutual funds. WRFA selects or recommends to clients portfolios of securities, principally broadly-traded open end mutual funds or conservative fixed income securities to implement this investment strategy.

Although all investments involve risk, WRFA's investment advice seeks to limit risk through broad diversification among asset classes and, as appropriate for particular clients the investment directly in conservative fixed income securities to represent the fixed income class. WRFA's investment philosophy is designed for investors who desire a buy and hold strategy. Frequent trading of securities increases brokerage and other transaction costs that WRFA's strategy seeks to minimize.

In the implementation of investment plans, WRFA therefore primarily uses mutual funds and, as appropriate, portfolios of conservative fixed income securities. WRFA may also utilize Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs) to represent a market sector.

Clients may hold or retain other types of assets as well, and WRFA may offer advice regarding those various assets as part of its services. Advice regarding such assets will generally not involve asset management services but may help to more generally assist the client.

WRFA's strategies do not utilize securities that we believe would be classified as having any unusual risks, and we do not recommend frequent trading, which can increase brokerage and other costs and taxes.

WRFA receives supporting research from economists affiliated with Dimensional Fund Advisors ("DFA"). WRFA utilizes DFA mutual funds in client portfolios. DFA mutual funds follow a passive asset class investment philosophy with low holdings turnover. DFA provides historical market analysis, risk/return analysis, and continuing education to WRFA.

Analysis of a Client's Financial Situation

In the development of investment plans for clients, including the recommendation of an appropriate asset allocation, WRFA relies on an analysis of the client's financial objectives, current and estimated future resources, and tolerance for risk. To derive a recommended asset allocation, WRFA may use a Monte Carlo simulation, a standard statistical approach for dealing with uncertainty. As with any other methods used to make projections into the future, there are several risks associated with this method, which may result in the client not being able to achieve their financial goals. They include:

- The risk that expected future cash flows will not match those used in the analysis
- The risk that future rates of return will fall short of the estimates used in the simulation
- The risk that inflation will exceed the estimates used in the simulation
- For taxable clients, the risk that tax rates will be higher than was assumed in the analysis

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.

All investments present the risk of loss of principal – the risk that the value of securities (mutual funds, ETFs and individual bonds), when sold or otherwise disposed of, may be less than the price paid for the securities. Even when the value of the securities when sold is greater than the price paid, there is the risk that the appreciation will be less than inflation. In other words, the purchasing power of the proceeds may be less than the purchasing power of the original investment.

The mutual funds and ETFs utilized by WRFA may include funds invested in domestic and international equities, including real estate investment trusts (REITs), corporate and government fixed income securities and commodities. Equity securities may include large capitalization, medium capitalization and small capitalization stocks. Mutual funds and ETF shares invested in fixed income securities are subject to the same interest rate, inflation and credit risks associated with the underlying bond holdings.

Among the riskiest mutual funds used in WRFA's investment strategies funds are the U.S. and International small capitalization and small capitalization value funds, emerging markets funds, and commodity futures funds. Conservative fixed income securities have lower risk of loss of principal, but most bonds (with the exception of Treasury Inflation Protected Securities, or TIPS) present the risk of loss of purchasing power through lower expected return. This risk is greatest for longer-term bonds.

Certain funds utilized by WRFA may contain international securities. Investing outside the United States involves additional risks, such as currency fluctuations, periods of illiquidity and price volatility. These risks may be greater with investments in developing countries.

More information about the risks of any particular market sector can be reviewed in representative mutual fund prospectuses managing assets within each applicable sector.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of WRFA or the integrity of WRFA's management. WRFA has no information applicable to this Item.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Members and employees of WRFA are also partners and employees of WebsterRogers LLP, an accounting firm. WebsterRogers LLP (hereinafter "WR") may recommend WRFA to accounting clients in need of advisory services. WRFA may recommend WR to advisory clients in need of accounting services. Accounting services provided by WR are separate and distinct from the advisory services of WRFA, and are provided for separate and typical compensation. There are no referral fee arrangements between WRFA and WR for these recommendations. No WRFA client is obligated to use WR for any accounting services. WR also offers administration services to pension plans, which are also separate and distinct.

WRFA is affiliated with the accounting firm WebsterRogers LLP (hereinafter "WR"), and other companies affiliated with WR (collectively ("WR personnel")). WRFA has agreements with WR personnel to compensate them with a portion of the advisory fees received by WRFA for new clients in the first year of an advisory relationship. WR Personnel include Partners of WR who are not Members of WRFA and employees of WR who are not otherwise involved in the business of WRFA. To be eligible to receive such fees, WR Personnel must also adhere to WRFA's Code of Ethics and provide referrals of accounting clients or other persons to WRFA only when in the best interests of such client.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

WRFA has adopted a Code of Ethics expressing the firm's commitment to ethical conduct. WRFA's Code of Ethics describes the firm's fiduciary duties and responsibilities to clients and sets forth WRFA's practice of supervising the personal securities transactions of employees with access to client information. Individuals associated with WRFA may buy or sell securities for their personal accounts identical or different than those recommended to clients. It is the expressed policy of WRFA that no person employed by the firm shall prefer his or her own interest to that of an advisory client or make personal investment decisions based on investment decisions of advisory clients.

To supervise compliance with its Code of Ethics, WRFA requires that anyone associated with this advisory practice with access to advisory recommendations provide annual securities holding reports and quarterly transaction reports to the firm's principal. WRFA also requires such access persons to receive approval from the Chief Compliance Officer prior to investing in any IPO's or private placements (limited offerings).

WRFA's Code of Ethics further includes the firm's policy prohibiting the use of material non-public information and protecting the confidentiality of client information. WRFA requires that all individuals must act in accordance with all applicable Federal and State regulations governing registered investment advisory practices. Any individual not in observance of the above may be subject to discipline.

WRFA will provide a complete copy of its Code of Ethics to any client or prospective client upon request.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

With respect to client portfolios managed on a discretionary basis, WRFA will have the client's written authority to determine which securities are to be bought and sold on a client's behalf, the amount of the securities to be bought and sold, the timing of such transactions, and (absent specific client direction) the broker to be used for executing the transaction(s). WRFA's discretion is based upon a "limited trading authorization agreement" that the client approves when the client's account is opened, or when WRFA is added as adviser to an existing account. All existing and new accounts are registered in the name of the client, not WRFA. WRFA delegates this authority to MAMC.

WRFA participates in the Schwab Advisor Services (SAS) program offered to independent investment advisers by Charles Schwab & Company, Inc., member FINRA/SIPC, and the Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services (FIWS) program offered to independent investment advisers, sponsored by Fidelity Brokerage Services, LLC ("Fidelity"), member FINRA/SIPC. Schwab and Fidelity are unaffiliated SEC-registered broker dealers and FINRA member broker dealers.

The Schwab and Fidelity brokerage programs will generally be recommended to advisory clients for custody and brokerage services. WRFA regularly reviews these programs to ensure that its recommendations are consistent with its fiduciary duty. These trading platforms are essential to WRFA's service arrangements and capabilities, and WRFA may not accept clients who direct the use of other brokers. As part of these programs, WRFA receives benefits that it would not receive if it did not offer investment advice (See the disclosure under Item 14 of this Brochure). Not all investment advisers require clients to direct the use of specific brokers.

Schwab and Fidelity do not generally charge clients a custody fee and are compensated by account holders through commissions or other transaction-related fees for securities trades that are executed through the broker or that settle into the clients' accounts at the brokers. Trading client accounts through other brokers may result in fees (including mark-ups and mark-downs) being charged by the custodial broker and an additional broker..

WRFA also does not have any arrangements to compensate any broker dealer for client referrals. WRFA does not maintain any client trade error gains. WRFA makes client whole with respect to any trade error losses incurred by client caused by WRFA.

WRFA generally does not aggregate any client transactions in mutual fund or other securities. Client accounts are individually reviewed and managed, and transaction costs are not saved by aggregating orders in almost all circumstances in which WRFA arranges transactions.

WRFA anticipates that client transactions will receive best execution by arranging all transactions with clients' custodian(s). WRFA regularly considers and evaluates Schwab and Fidelity's services and costs to determine that these providers are in client's best interests. WRFA considers a number of factors including but not limited to, execution capability, experience and financial stability, reputation, and the quality of services provided.

Investment Consulting/ Financial Planning Services

WRFA may, if requested by the client, assist the client in the selection of a stock broker. Recommendations are made based on several factors, including (but not limited to) the broker's reputation, commission cost, the ability of the broker to provide any specialized services required by the client, and WRFA's experience with the broker. Except for the benefits received from Schwab and Fidelity described below, WRFA receives no benefits from any recommended broker-dealer.

Employee Benefit Retirement Plan Services

WRFA does not arrange for the execution of securities transactions for participant directed retirement plans as a part of this service. Transactions are executed directly through employee plan participation and a third party administrator.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

As indicated under the disclosure for Item 12, SAS and FIWS each respectively provide WRFA with access to services, which are not available to retail investors. These services generally are available to independent investment advisors on an unsolicited basis at no charge to them.

These services benefit WRFA but may not benefit its clients' accounts. Many of the products and services assist WRFA in managing and administering clients' accounts. These include software and other technology that provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements), facilitate trade execution (and allocation of aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts), provide research, pricing information and other market data, facilitate payment of WRFA's fees from its clients' accounts, and assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting. Many of these services generally may be used to service all or a substantial number of WRFA's accounts. Recommended brokers also make available to WRFA other services intended to help WRFA manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services may include consulting, publications and conferences on practice management, information technology, business succession, regulatory compliance, and marketing.

WRFA does not enter into any commitments with the brokers for transaction levels in exchange for any services or products from brokers.

WRFA also receives software from DFA, which WRFA utilizes in forming asset allocation strategies and producing performance reports. DFA also provides continuing education for WRFA personnel. These services are designed to assist WRFA plan and design its services for business growth.

Item 15 – Custody

Clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets. WRFA urges you to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account statements that we may provide to you. Our statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

For discretionary accounts, WRFA requests that it be provided with written authority to determine which securities and the amounts of securities that are bought or sold. Any limitations on this discretionary authority shall be included in this written authority statement. Clients may change/amend these limitations as required. Such amendments shall be submitted in writing.

For fixed income portfolios, certain account review responsibilities are delegated to a third party investment manager as described above in Item 4.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy and practice, WRFA does not have any authority to and does not vote proxies on behalf of advisory clients. Clients retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in client portfolios. Clients will receive applicable proxies directly from the issuer of securities held in clients' investment portfolios. WRFA may provide advice to clients regarding the clients' voting of proxies.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Registered investment advisers are required in this Item to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about WRFA's financial condition. WRFA has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.
