Our Services

Service:	Wrap Programs
Service description:	On occasion, we may recommend certain wrap programs to you. A “wrap fee program” is a program that offers participants a suite of services such as asset allocation; portfolio management; trade execution; and certain administrative activities, all for a single fee – typically an annual, asset-based fee. A wrap fee program is designed to assist clients in obtaining professional asset management, brokerage, custodial, and administrative services for a convenient, "wrapped" fee. There are several main roles that can be served in relation to a wrap program. Lead Sponsor – The lead sponsor is the investment adviser firm that principally organizes the wrap program and determines which program managers will be made available in the wrap program; which broker-dealers and/or custodians will be used in the wrap program; as well as the overall fee structure for the wrap program. The lead sponsor would also generally coordinate the engagement of other investment advisers (referring parties, or solicitors) who may refer clients of their own to participate in the wrap program. The lead sponsor in some cases may and in some cases may not provide the hands on management of a wrap client’s assets within the wrap program. In some cases, the lead sponsor may be responsible for selecting the specific program manager that will be responsible for providing the hands on management of a wrap client’s assets within the wrap program. Solicitor – A solicitor generally does not serve as the lead sponsor and does not serve as a program manager within the wrap program. The solicitor simply recommends that its clients participate in the wrap program and in some cases, the solicitor may recommend one or more program managers made available within the wrap program. In certain circumstances, a solicitor may also be considered a sponsor but generally not the lead sponsor. Program Manager – The program manager(s) are generally investment adviser firms that are responsible for the hands on management of a wrap client’s assets within the wrap program. The program managers generally are selected by the lead sponsor as investment advisers available within the wrap program. In relation to wrap programs, we participate in the following manner. <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Program Manager (within a wrap program sponsored by another investment adviser). As Program Manager, we provide the hands on management (discretionary) of a wrap client’s program assets. We will offer a wrap fee brochure or other appropriate disclosure document to any advisory clients who are recommended to participate in a wrap program; whether ours or another investment adviser’s wrap program. The wrap fee brochure provides wrap program participants with important information about the wrap fee program itself. We will also provide a copy of current wrap brochure and/or other disclosure document for the specific investment manager(s) selected to manage a client's assets in a wrap program. A wrap program participant should consider all of the information within the wrap fee brochure and the selected investment manager's disclosure document(s) before participating in a wrap fee program. We receive a portion of the wrap fees paid by you.

The authorization will remain valid unless and until we receive a written revocation of such authorization from you. In connection with this fee deduction process, the custodian will send you a statement, at least quarterly, indicating: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • all amounts disbursed from the account, and • the amount of advisory fees deducted from your account.

	Direct billing. If so desired, you may choose to be billed directly by us for our service fees. If so chosen, you will be invoiced by the fifth business day of the month subsequent to the most recently ended billing period. Payments are due on or by the final business day of the month in which the invoice is generated.
Fee frequency/timing:	For the service described above, the frequency and timing of our fee collection process occurs as follows: <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> quarterly, <input type="checkbox"/> monthly, <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> advance, or <input type="checkbox"/> arrears.
Advanced billing and refunds:	As described above, our advisory fees may be charged in advance. Fees paid in advance will be considered earned and non-refundable to you up to the effective termination of your investment management agreement as the termination process is described in your investment management agreement. Upon receipt of a proper notice of termination (“Termination Notice”) as described in your investment management agreement, we will calculate a prorata refund of any fees not yet earned by us after the effective termination date of your investment management agreement. The prorata refund will equal the total number of calendar days remaining in the billing period after the date of the termination of the Agreement to the end of that billing period divided by the total number of calendar days in that billing period. The result of that calculation will be multiplied by the total fee already paid for that billing period. The result of that calculation will represent the refund owed to you. Refunds of advance payments owed back to you shall be paid as soon as reasonably possible but not sooner than ten (10) business days after our receipt of a proper Termination Notice.

IV.(C). Customization of Advisory Services

To the fullest extent possible, we will endeavor to tailor our advisory services to meet the specific needs of each and every client. In order to determine a suitable course of action for an individual client, we will perform a review of our clients’ financial circumstances. Such review may include, but would not necessarily be limited to, investment objectives, consideration of a client’s overall financial condition, income and tax status, personal and business assets, risk profile, and other factors unique to a client’s particular circumstances.

In making investment recommendations on behalf of a client, we will rely on a data gathering document, which would be completed based on information provided by a client.

Our clients are free to impose any restrictions or other conditions with regard to how we provide our advisory services. If we agree to such restrictions and/or conditions, please be advised that restrictions and guidelines imposed by a client may affect the composition and performance of custom portfolios (as a result, performance of custom portfolios within the same investment objective may differ and a client should not expect that the performance of a custom portfolio will be identical to any other individual’s portfolio performance) as well as any recommendations provided to the client.

IV.(D). Wrap Fee Program Participation

Refer to item IV.(B). above for details as to our participation/involvement with wrap programs.

IV. (E). Assets Under Management¹ (“AUM”)

AUM (discretionary): $ 46,500,000
AUM (non-discretionary): $ 300,000
Total AUM²: $ 46,800,000
Date of AUM calculation: December 31, 2011

V. Fees and Compensation

V.(A). AIM Advisory Fees

Refer above to Item IV.(B).

V.(B). Fee Collection Process

Refer above to Item IV.(B).

V.(C). Other Fee/Expenses.

Refer above to Item IV.(B).

V.(D). Fees Charged in Advance

Refer above to Item IV.(B).

V.(E). Additional Compensation

Certain individuals who are associated with us, if properly registered and licensed to do so, may also receive compensation (i.e. commissions) related to the sale of securities or other investment products. Transaction-based compensation (“Additional Compensation”) such as this is separate and distinct from the other fees we may receive in connection with our investment advisory services as described above in Item V.(A).

V.(E).(1). Conflicts of Interest

The instructions in the Form ADV require us to tell you that the receipt or potential for the receipt of Additional Compensation gives our supervised persons an incentive to recommend investment products based on the Additional Compensation received, rather than on your specific needs. Although we are obligated to tell you this, our objective as a firm, which is shared by our supervised persons, is to place nothing before your best interests.

¹ The term, “assets under management” shall carry the same meaning as that term is defined by Form ADV.

² Rounded to the nearest $100,000

How we address these conflicts. First and foremost, we address the conflicts described above in relation to Additional Compensation by disclosing them to you in this Brochure as well as your representative's Brochure Supplement. As a matter of general policy, we aggressively discourage activities that put your interests anywhere but first. Additionally, we have instituted a comprehensive supervisory process, detailed in our Written Supervisory Procedures ("WSPs") that was designed to address, among other things, conflicts of interest such as Additional Compensation. In addition, we have designated a Chief Compliance Officer, as set forth on Schedule A of our Form ADV, to be the party responsible for the overall application and oversight of our supervisory process and our WSPs. Our Chief Compliance Officer has the authority to delegate certain supervisory responsibilities to other supervised persons within our firm in order to ensure that our overall system of supervision is being adequately carried out and in a timely manner.

The potential conflict of interest resulting from the Additional Compensation described above is commonplace in the investment industry and we believe that such arrangements are not only appropriate but that they are proper in light of the added examination, licensing, registration, and other regulatory oversight that also takes place in the brokerage area of the investment industry. Our supervised persons have satisfied various regulatory examination and registration requirements that allow not only for the offering of the types of products and services described in the information related to the Additional Compensation described above but also the receipt of the normal and customary compensation that any similarly registered, licensed, and qualified person could receive in the form of sales compensation for those same products/services.

Bear in mind that even if our supervised persons were not registered/licensed to sell the types of products/services addressed in the preceding section, the majority of your investments or transactions involving such products would still result in you paying some sort of commission for those products. In the case of our supervised persons, their active registration/licensing may allow them to be able to receive such Additional Compensation as opposed to the executing financial institution keeping that compensation for themselves.

Any Additional Compensation received by our supervised persons in connection with the products/services described in the preceding section is deemed routine and customary compensation for such activities and is not believed to be inappropriate.

Procedures for disclosing these conflicts. In an effort to inform you of these conflicts of interest, we have prepared this Brochure and have provided it to you, in part, for the purpose of disclosing these conflicts. You are always welcome to request a current copy of our Brochure. We are obligated to provide you a copy of this Brochure no later than the time you sign our IMA and on an annual basis, we are required to provide you either (1) a copy of our current Brochure or (2) a set of instructions as to how you can request a copy of our current Brochure.

If we recommend mutual funds to our clients, we may often or occasionally recommend no-load funds.

V.(E).(2). Client-Directed Brokerage

You have the ability to purchase investment products that we recommend through any broker-dealer or other financial institution you choose. If you choose to use a firm other than the broker-dealer(s) we may normally recommend, we may not be able to properly monitor your assets and therefore we cannot be held responsible for the success or failure of any investment products or strategies that you implement at firms other than those we recommend. In other words, our services and responsibilities will not apply to transactions you effect on your own whether through firms you choose on your own or through any broker-dealer we may recommend.

V.(E).(3). Brokerage Compensation

AIM is not registered as a broker-dealer and thus, it does not receive transaction-based compensation for securities-related activities.

V.(E).(4). Advisory Fee Offset

In the event that we or our supervised persons receive compensation other than our advisory fees as described above in Item IV.(B), we will not adjust our advisory fees to offset those other fees.

VI. Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

We do not charge performance-based fees.

VII. Types of Clients

We will generally provide our services to the following types of clients.

- Individuals
- High net worth individuals
- Pension plans / profit sharing plans
- Foundations / charitable organizations
- Trusts
- Estates
- Business or corporate entities

For information on any minimum fees, minimum initial/ongoing account balances, or other conditions we may impose, please refer to Item IV.(B).

VIII. Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

VIII.(A). Methods of Analysis

In the course of our management process and as appropriate on a case by case basis, we will employ some or all of the following methods of analysis. For a description of the risks related to each particular method of analysis, see the information following each analysis method description. A description of each key risk appears later in this section.

Charting / Technical –

The terms “charting” and “technical” analysis are generally used synonymously and therefore, for the purpose of this document, we will use the term, “technical analysis.” In most cases, technical analysis involves the evaluation of historical market data such as price and volume of a particular security or investment instrument. Technical analysis often times involves the use of charts, graphs, and other tools to evaluate historical factors relating to the investment instrument and perhaps the market as a whole. The goal of technical analysis is to try to identify historical trading patterns that suggest future trading activity or price targets.

Key risk(s): Economic Risk, Financial Risk, Inflation Risk, Interest Rate Risk, Legal/Regulatory Risk, Market Risk, Operational Risk, and Strategy Risk.

Fundamental

Fundamental analysis is generally the considered the opposite approach to technical analysis. Fundamental analysis involves the attempt to identify the intrinsic value (i.e. the actual, true/real value) of an investment instrument by examining any related economic, financial, and other quantitative/qualitative factors relevant to that instrument. Fundamental analysis can take into account anything that may impact the underlying value of the instrument. Examples of such things may include large-scale economic issues such as the overall condition or current cycle of the economy, industry-specific or sector-specific conditions, etc. Other company/issuer-specific factors may also be taken into consideration such as the company's/issuer's current financial condition, management experience and capabilities, legal/regulatory matters, the overall type and volume of current and expected business, etc.

One of the goals of fundamental analysis is to attempt to derive a value that can be compared to the current market price for a particular financial instrument in hopes of determining whether the instrument is overpriced (time to sell) or underpriced (time to buy).

Key risk(s): Economic Risk, Financial Risk, Inflation Risk, and Interest Rate Risk.

Cyclical

Cyclical analysis involves the evaluation of an investment instrument or perhaps its issuer for the purpose of identifying whether (and if so, to what extent) it/they may be impacted by fluctuations in the overall economic conditions throughout time. As an example, as more and more people lose their jobs, broad industries like housing or the automotive industries can be negatively impacted because consumers are less able to purchase things like homes and automobiles.

Key risk(s): Capital Risk, Economic Risk, Financial Risk, and Inflation Risk.

Investing in securities or other investment products involves the risk of loss and you should be prepared to bear such losses.

VIII.(A). (cont.) Investment Strategies

In the course of our management process and as appropriate on a case by case basis, we will employ any of the following investment strategies. For a description of the risks related to each particular investment strategy, see the information following each strategy description. The codes used below relate to risks described further below in this section.

Long-Term Purchases

Long-term purchases generally involve the acquisition of an investment instrument and holding it for a period of at least one year.

Key risk(s): Capital Risk, Economic Risk, Financial Risk, and Inflation Risk.

Short-Term Purchases

Short-term purchases generally involve the acquisition of an investment instrument and holding it for a period of not more than one year.

Key risk(s): Capital Risk, Economic Risk, Financial Risk, and Inflation Risk.

Investing in securities or other investment products involves the risk of loss and you should be prepared to bear such losses.

VIII.(B). Risk Disclosures

Capital Risk

Capital risk is one of the most basic, fundamental risks of investing; it is the risk that you may lose 100 percent of your money. All investments carry some form of risk and the loss of capital is generally a risk for any investment instrument.

Credit Risk

Credit risk can be a factor in situations where an investment's performance relies on a borrower's repayment of borrowed funds. With credit risk, an investor can experience a loss or unfavorable performance if a borrower does not repay the borrowed funds as expected or required. Investment holdings that involve forms of indebtedness (i.e. borrowed funds) are subject to credit risk.

Currency Risk

Fluctuations in the value of the currency in which your investment is denominated may affect the value of your investment and thus, your investment may be worth more or less in the future. All currency is subject to swings in valuation and thus, regardless of the currency denomination of any particular investment you own, currency risk is a realistic risk measure. That said, currency risk is generally a much larger factor for investment instruments denominated in currencies other than the most widely used currencies (U.S. dollar, British pound, German mark, Euro, Japanese yen, French franc, etc.).

Economic Risk

The prevailing economic environment is important to the health of all businesses. Some companies, however, are more sensitive to changes in the domestic or global economy than others. These types of companies are often referred to as cyclical businesses. Countries in which a large portion of businesses are in cyclical industries are thus also very economically sensitive and carry a higher amount of economic risk. If an investment is issued by a party located in a country that experiences wide swings from an economic standpoint or in situations where certain elements of an investment instrument are hinged on dealings in such countries, the investment instrument will generally be subject to a higher level of economic risk.

Financial Risk

Financial risk is represented by internal disruptions within an investment or the issuer of an investment that can lead to unfavorable performance of the investment. Examples of financial risk can be found in cases like Enron or many of the dot com companies that were caught up in a period of extraordinary market valuations that were not based on solid financial footings of the companies.

Higher Trading Costs

For any investment instrument or strategy that involves active or frequent trading, you may experience larger than usual transaction-related costs. Higher transaction-related costs can negatively affect overall investment performance.

Inflation Risk

Inflation risk involves the concern that in the future, your investment or proceeds from your investment will not be worth what they are today. Throughout time, the prices of resources and end-user products generally increase and thus, the same general goods and products today will likely be more expensive in the future. The longer an investment is held, the greater the chance that the proceeds from that investment will be worth less in the future than what they are today. Said another way, a dollar tomorrow will likely get you less than what it can today.

Interest Rate Risk

Certain investments involve the payment of a fixed or variable rate of interest to the investment holder. Once an investor has acquired or has acquired the rights to an investment that pays a particular rate (fixed or variable) of interest, changes in overall interest rates in the market will affect the value of the interest-paying investment(s) they hold. In general, changes in prevailing interest rates in the market will have an inverse relationship to the value of existing, interest paying investments. In other words, as interest rates move up, the value of an instrument paying a particular rate (fixed or variable) of interest will go down. The reverse is generally true as well.

Legal/Regulatory Risk

Certain investments or the issuers of investments may be affected by changes in state or federal laws or in the prevailing regulatory framework under which the investment instrument or its issuer is regulated. Changes in the regulatory environment or tax laws can affect the performance of certain investments or issuers of those investments and thus, can have a negative impact on the overall performance of such investments.

Liquidity Risk

Certain assets may not be readily converted into cash or may have a very limited market in which they trade. Thus, you may experience the risk that your investment or assets within your investment may not be able to be liquidated quickly, thus, extending the period of time by which you may receive the proceeds from your investment. Liquidity risk can also result in unfavorable pricing when exiting (i.e. not being able to quickly get out of an investment before the price drops significantly) a particular investment and therefore, can have a negative impact on investment returns.

Market Risk

The market value of an investment will fluctuate as a result of the occurrence of the natural economic forces of supply and demand on that investment, its particular industry or sector, or the market as a whole. Market risk may affect a single issuer, industry or sector of the economy or may affect the market as a whole. Market risk can affect any investment instrument or the underlying assets or other instruments held by or traded within that investment instrument.

Operational Risk

Operational risk can be experienced when an issuer of an investment product is unable to carry out the business it has planned to execute. Operational risk can be experienced as a result of human failure, operational inefficiencies, system failures, or the failure of other processes critical to the business operations of the issuer or counter party to the investment.

Past Performance

Charting and technical analysis are often used interchangeably. Technical analysis generally attempts to forecast an investment's future potential by analyzing its past performance and other related statistics. In particular, technical analysis often times involves an evaluation of historical pricing and volume of a particular security for the purpose of forecasting where future price and volume figures may go. As with any investment analysis method, technical analysis runs the risk of not knowing the future and thus, investors should realize that even the most diligent and thorough technical analysis cannot predict or guarantee the future performance of any particular investment instrument or issuer thereof.

Strategy Risk

There is no guarantee that the investment strategies discussed herein will work under all market conditions and each investor should evaluate his/her ability to maintain any investment he/she is considering in light of his/her own investment time horizon. Investments are subject to risk, including possible loss of principal.

VIII.(C). Investment-Specific Risks

There is no single type of investment instrument that we predominantly recommend, however, please be mindful that all investments carry some form and degree of risk. Certain types of investments carry greater types and levels of risk than others and you should make sure that you fully understand not only the investment product itself but also the attendant risk factors associated with such products.

X. Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

The following information will address any active or pending financial industry affiliations that you need to know about for the purpose of identifying any related conflicts of interest that you might consider material in regard to letting us handle your investment advisory needs.

X.(A). Broker-Dealers

Neither AIM nor any of its management persons is registered as a broker-dealer nor do either parties have an application pending or otherwise in process for the purpose of seeking registration as a broker-dealer, however, certain of our management persons are currently or may become registered as registered representatives of a broker-dealer.

X.(B). Futures Commission Merchants, Introducing Brokers, Commodity Trading Advisors, Commodity Pool Operators

Further, none of our management persons are registered as or currently seeking registration as associated persons of any of these types of firms.

X.(C). Related Persons

The following information will address any relationship or arrangement that is material to our advisory business or our clients that we or any of our management persons have with any of our related persons. In any such case, the related person is identified below and we have also addressed the nature of any conflict(s) arising out of this relationship/arrangement and how we address such conflict(s).

No such relationships exist.

X.D Use of Other Investment Advisers

We do not use other investment advisers in the course of the services described above in Item IV.(B).

XI. Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

XI.A Code of Ethics

We take great pride in our commitment to serving our clients' needs and the integrity with which we conduct our business. In our recent history, the financial services industry has come under significant scrutiny, especially in the area of the inherent responsibility of financial professionals to behave in the best interests of their clients.

We have developed a Code of Ethics ("Code") as a means of memorializing our vision of appropriate and professional conduct in carrying out the business of providing investment advisory services. Our Code addresses issues such as the following:

- Standards of conduct and compliance with applicable laws, rules, and regulations
- Protection of material non-public information
- The addressing of conflicts of interest
- Employee disclosure and reporting of personal securities holdings and transactions
- The firm's IPO and private placement policy
- The reporting of violations of the Code
- Educating employees about the Code
- Enforcement of the Code

Each of our representatives has been furnished with a copy of our Code and has signed their names to a written acknowledgement attesting to their understanding of the Code and acceptance of its terms. A copy of our Code is available to all current and/or prospective clients upon request.

XI.(B) Participation in Client Trading

The information in this item is intended to address situations in which we or one of our related persons may have a material financial interest in the investment instruments we may recommend to you.

No such arrangements exist.

XI.(C) Trading Alongside Our Clients

On occasion, we may invest for our own accounts or have a financial interest in the same securities or other investments that we recommend or acquire for the accounts of our clients. Further, we may also engage in transactions that are the same as or different than transactions recommended to or made for our client's accounts. Such transactions are permitted if effected, pre-cleared and reported in compliance with our policy on personal securities transactions. Generally, personal securities transactions will not be pre-cleared when an order for the same or a related security is pending for the account of a client. Our Designated Supervisor reviews reports of personal transactions in securities by all of our associated persons quarterly or more frequently if required.

Investment Policy

None of our associated persons may effect for himself/herself or for accounts in which he/she holds a beneficial interest, any transactions in a security which is being actively recommended to any of our clients, unless in accordance with the following procedures.

Firm Procedures

In order to implement our Investment Policy, the following procedures have been put into place.

- 1) If we are recommending that any of our clients buy any security, no associated person may purchase that security prior to a client's purchase of that security; and
- 2) If we are recommending that any of our clients sell any security, no associated person may sell that security prior to a client's sale of that security.

As an alternative to the procedures described in the preceding points, we may include our own order(s) in a batch order with other client orders that would involve average pricing for the entire batch such that we would receive the same pricing as all other clients participating in the batch.

It is the primary intent of these procedures to ensure that the best interests of our clients are always served over that of our own. Trading on our own behalf that results in our own interests being served over that of our clients could be considered a breach of our fiduciary duty and thus, is aggressively discouraged.

XI.(D) Trading Around the Same Time as Clients

Transactions for the client's account generally will be effected independently, unless we decide to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at the same or approximately the same time. We may (but are not obligated to) combine or "batch" such orders in order to obtain best execution or to negotiate more favorable transaction rates. To the extent that we elect to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which our associated persons may invest, we will generally do so in accordance with the parameters set forth in SEC No-Action Letter, SMC Capital, Inc. We will not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of a batched order.

XII. Brokerage Practices

The purpose of this Item is to present to you the factors that we take into consideration when (1) selecting or recommending broker-dealers to you for the purpose of effecting transactions on your behalf and (2) for determining the reasonableness of such broker-dealers' compensation related to such transactions.

AIM is not a broker-dealer. Unless the client directs otherwise, AIM shall generally recommend that all the client's accounts be maintained at, by, or through certain other firms that are unaffiliated with AIM. Such firms shall generally be broker-dealers that may also maintain registrations that allow such firms to engage in other types of businesses outside of their broker-dealer activities.

Any such other firm may act in the capacity of "broker of record" for the client's accounts, in which case, another firm may serve as the custodian for the Client account(s). Alternatively, any such other firm may serve as both the "broker of record" and "custodian" for the client's accounts. In no case shall AIM act or attempt to act in the capacity of "broker of record" or "custodian" of the client's account, funds, or other assets.

Although not all-inclusive, AIM may recommend the following broker of record and its corresponding custodian:

Broker of Record	Custodian
Triad Advisors, Inc.	National Financial Services, LLC

Factors that AIM considers in recommending certain broker-dealers or custodians to clients may include such entity's financial strength, reputation, execution, pricing, and service. In return for effecting securities transactions through certain broker-dealers/custodians, AIM or certain of its representatives may receive certain support services that may assist AIM in its investment decision-making process for all of AIM's clients.

In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not always the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a brokerage services, including factors such as execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Accordingly, although AIM will seek competitive rates, it may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for the client's account transactions.

XII.(A).(1). Research and Soft Dollar Benefits

Soft dollar benefits are items such as research or other products or services (other than the typical execution and other brokerage services available to all other investment advisers) that we may receive from a broker-dealer or other party in connection with the client securities transactions we direct to that/a broker-dealer(s).

We do not participate in any soft dollar arrangements.

XII.(A).(2). Brokerage for Client Referrals

In certain circumstances, firms like ours may receive client referrals as a result of recommending particular broker-dealers or other service providers. We, however, do not participate in any formal arrangements wherein we receive client referrals from any particular broker-dealer in return for selecting or recommending such broker-dealer.

XII.(A).(3). Directed Brokerage

This item is intended to address situations where we may recommend, request, or require you to provide us instructions as to how to direct brokerage activity on your behalf.

XII.(A).(3)(a). Directed Brokerage – Recommended, Requested, or Required

Not all investment advisers require their clients to direct brokerage activity through any particular broker-dealer. We do not routinely recommend, request, or require that you direct us as to how to execute brokerage transactions on your behalf (i.e. using a particular broker-dealer for execution purposes).

XII.(A).(3)(b). Directed Brokerage – Permitted

Not all investment advisers require their clients to direct brokerage activity through any particular broker-dealer, however, you may direct us to use a particular broker-dealer (subject to our right to decline such a request) to execute some or all transactions for your account or otherwise on your behalf. In such an event, we will not negotiate terms and arrangements for the account with the other broker-dealer, and we will not seek better execution services or prices from other broker-dealers or be able to "batch" the transactions for execution through other broker-dealers with orders for other accounts we manage. As a result, you may pay higher commissions or other transaction costs or greater spreads, or receive less favorable net prices, on transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case.

XII.(B). Order Batching

Transactions for the client's account generally will be effected independently, unless we decide to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at the same or approximately the same time. We may (but are not obligated to) combine or “batch” such orders in order to obtain best execution or to negotiate more favorable transaction rates. Reasoning for attempting to effect a batch order is that we may need to trade in the same security for multiple accounts at or around the same time and batching may allow us to achieve a more favorable price on average for all clients. Batching, however, doesn’t guarantee the lowest possible price for execution, however, it is intended to reduce the overall volatility in execution price for a large # of orders that if not batched together, may experience significantly different execution prices. Conversely, in the event that we do not batch a group of orders that otherwise may be a prime candidate for a batched order, the resulting cost for some clients may be higher or lower than what we might be able to achieve by processing a batched order for the benefit of those same clients.

To the extent that we elect to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which our associated persons may invest, we will generally do so in accordance with the parameters set forth in SEC No-Action Letter, SMC Capital, Inc. We will not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of a batched order.

XIII. Review of Accounts

XIII.(A). Review of Accounts or Financial Plans

Review of client accounts.

We will review your accounts on a monthly basis. The Designated Supervisor (i.e. the person named in our written supervisory procedures as the responsible party for this function) will review your accounts for best execution, suitability, and service. The Designated Supervisor will review the performance and cost basis for your transactions. Your investment objectives are used to review for suitability. Quarterly, transactions are reviewed referencing your investment objectives for any transaction that may not fit your stated objectives, or our understanding of your investment objectives will be flagged and reviewed with the investment adviser representative placing the trade.

Name and title of Designated Supervisor: John E. Allison, President, Chief Compliance Officer, and Chief Investment Officer.

Mr. Allison will employ the procedures noted above for the client’s accounts subject to AIM’s investment advisory services.

Review of Financial Plans.

Not applicable; we do not offer financial planning services.

XIII.(B). Non-Periodic Account Reviews

Events that may trigger further client account reviews in addition to the standard quarterly review process may include, but would not be limited to, a notable increase in the volume of requests by the client to effect transactions in his/her accounts, where such transactions may appear to be inconsistent with the client’s previously stated investment objectives. Other factors may include requests by the client to liquidate certain securities positions/contracts where such transactions may appear to be inconsistent with the client’s previously stated investment objectives. Additional triggering factors could be the performance on an individual account being an outlier to the performance of accounts with similar investment objectives, and a very important trigger would be customer complaints. This last trigger would be a prime example of a trigger for an intermittent review of a client account.

XIII.(C). Reports to Clients

Account statements will be provided no less frequently than quarterly by the custodian, not by us. Account statements will identify account positions, balances, and transaction details. Upon your request, a quarterly account appraisal (written or electronic) may be created for you as well as an annual year-end statement.

Additionally, you will receive a quarterly performance accounting from us showing performance relative to an agreed upon benchmark for the previous quarter, year-to-date, and since inception. Accompanying this report, we will send you a market analysis, including a description of our current investment strategy. You are encouraged to phone or write us as often as you like to receive information regarding investment tactics being followed.

XIV. Client Referrals and Other Compensation

XIV.(A). Compensation we Receive

Other than the compensation arrangements described above in Item V, neither AIM nor any of its supervised persons receive any other compensation in connection with the investment advisory services provided to AIM's clients.

XIV.(B). Compensation we Pay

Under certain circumstances, firms like ours may compensate other parties for having referred clients or potential investment advisory clients them. These sorts of arrangements are generally referred to as "solicitor" arrangements. We do not participate in any solicitor arrangements.

XV. Custody

We engage in certain activities that result in us being deemed to have custody of certain of our client's funds and/or securities.

- ☒ Automatic fee deduction from your brokerage or other trading accounts
- ☐ Physical possession or control (even temporary) of client funds or securities
- ☐ The ability to gain access to any client funds and/or securities
- ☐ One of our related persons has custody of funds and/or securities subject to our investment advisory services
- ☐ We or one of our related persons serves as the general partner, managing member, or other similar type of control person to an investment fund to which we provide investment advisory services.

As stated previously in Item XIII.(C)., your account statements will be provided by the qualified custodian that maintains physical possession of your accounts/assets. In the event that we also provide you information related to your accounts, you are urged to review that information to the information contained on the account statements or other statements received from the qualified custodian.

XVI. Investment Discretion

As part of our investment advisory services, we will generally seek and obtain your authorization to carry out part of our services on a purely discretionary basis. We will memorialize your authorization of our discretionary authority in our Investment Management Agreement.

If you have authorized us to do so, we will exercise discretion over the following areas.

- 1) Securities to be bought or sold;
- 2) Amount of the securities to be bought or sold; and
- 3) Timing as to when such securities are to be bought or sold.

We will have authority to exercise complete discretion with regard to the above named factors without restriction. If done so on a non-discretionary basis, we will make certain recommendations that must be authorized by you prior to our facilitation of any such transactions. As may be separately agreed to in writing, we will observe any other specific limitations that may be imposed by you in relation to this discretionary authority.

In the event that we have discretionary authority or custody of any of our clients' assets or if we require or solicit prepayment of more than $500 in fees per client, six months or more in advance, we are required to disclose any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair our ability to meet contractual commitments with our clients.
