This brochure ("Brochure") provides information about the qualifications and business practices of BARR Financial Services, LLC ("BARR"). You should review this Brochure in conjunction with our separate brochure supplement ("Supplement"). The Supplement(s) has been prepared for the purpose of providing information about the qualifications and background of the supervised person(s) working with you on our behalf or who may otherwise participate in the advisory services provided to you. The information in this Brochure has not been approved or verified by the United States Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") or by any state securities authority.

If you have any questions about the contents of this Brochure or our Supplement(s), please contact us at 407-622-0018 or kyoung@barrllc.com. Additional information about BARR or any of our supervised persons (who are registered under our firm) is also available on the SEC's Investment Adviser Public Disclosure ("IAPD") which can be found at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov.

The format/layout of this Brochure has been dictated by the SEC. As such, the Brochure's table of contents can be found after the "Material Changes" section of this Brochure, not at the beginning of the Brochure. The subsections appearing under each heading shall follow the mandated ordering of the items required to be addressed in this Brochure as set forth in the instructions and guidance issued by the SEC in regard to Part 2A of the Form ADV. BARR's response to each such item shall immediately follow each numbered item. We encourage any reader of this Brochure to also refer to the SEC's instructions and guidance related to Part 2A of the Form ADV. Throughout this Brochure, any references to "we," "our," "ours," "us," etc. are meant to refer to BARR.

Key Definitions

There are several terms used throughout this Brochure that are defined in the Glossary of the Form ADV. The full Form ADV and its glossary can be found on the SEC's web site at <http://www.sec.gov/about/forms/formadv.pdf>, however, several of the more important terms that are used throughout this Brochure are provided below for your reference. The definitions appear below as they appear in the glossary of the ADV so be mindful that all references made to "you," "your," or "yours" are intended to refer to BARR. Each term is presented in alphabetical order, not necessarily its order of appearance or use in this Brochure.

Advisory Affiliate: Your advisory affiliates are (1) all of your officers, partners, or directors (or any person performing similar functions); (2) all persons directly or indirectly controlling or controlled by you; and (3) all of your current employees (other than employees performing only clerical, administrative, support or similar functions).

Control: Control means the power, directly or indirectly, to direct the management or policies of a person, whether through ownership of securities, by contract, or otherwise. Each of your firm's officers, partners, or directors exercising executive responsibility (or persons having similar status or functions) is presumed to control your firm. A person is presumed to control a corporation if the person: (i) directly or indirectly has the right to vote 25 percent or more of a class of the corporation's voting securities; or (ii) has the power to sell or direct the sale of 25 percent or more of a class of the corporation's voting securities. A person is presumed to control a partnership if the person has the right to receive upon dissolution, or has contributed, 25 percent or more of the capital of the partnership. A person is presumed to control a limited liability company ("LLC") if the person: (i) directly or indirectly has the right to vote 25 percent or more of a class of the interests of the LLC; (ii) has the right to receive upon dissolution, or has contributed, 25 percent or more of the capital of the LLC; or (iii) is an elected manager of the LLC. A person is presumed to control a trust if the person is a trustee or managing agent of the trust.

Management Persons: Anyone with the power to exercise, directly or indirectly, a controlling influence over your firm's management or policies, or to determine the general investment advice given to the clients of your firm. Generally, all of the following are management persons: Your firm's principal executive officers, such as your chief executive officer, chief financial officer, chief operations officer, chief legal officer, and chief compliance officer; your directors, general partners, or trustees; and other individuals with similar status or performing similar functions; The members of your firm's investment committee or group that determines general investment advice to be given to clients; and If your firm does not have an investment committee or group, the individuals who determine general investment advice provided to clients (if there are more than five people, you may limit your firm's response to their supervisors).

Person: A natural person (an individual) or a company. A company includes any partnership, corporation, trust, limited liability company ("LLC"), limited liability partnership ("LLP"), sole proprietorship, or other organization.

Related Person: Any advisory affiliate and any person that is under common control with your firm.

Supervised Person: Any of your officers, partners, directors (or other persons occupying a similar status or performing similar functions), or employees, or any other person who provides investment advice on your behalf and is subject to your supervision or control.

IV.(A). BARR at a Glance

Firm Profile

BARR Financial Services is an independent, full service, wealth management firm specializing in Personal, Business and Estate Planning. We empower clients through education to make confident, informed financial decisions and find comfort with those decisions.

We are a Life Planning firm that assists our clients in utilizing their success to accomplish what they want during their lifetime and transition it properly to accomplish what they'd like after they are gone.

Creating harmony with the health, financial and social aspects of our lives is important to most of us and serves as a guiding force in establishing a Family Mission Statement, yet we often forget to spend time with the things that are truly important to us.

We have separated financial guidance from products, so we can help lead you into your financial future.

Years in Business

Date of formation: November 3, 2000.

Our Services

Service:	Recommendation of Other Investment Advisers and Use of Wrap Programs
	Recommendation of Other Investment Advisers
	Sub-Advisers
	Under this service, we may select other investment advisers (“Sub-Advisers”) on a sub-advisory basis to provide the specific investment management services related to your assets. Our services in relation to the Sub-Advisers we may recommend generally will include assisting you in choosing investment objectives and asset allocation, setting restrictions or limitations on the management of the account, explaining portfolio strategies and transactions, and answering any of your questions. We will monitor such Sub-Advisers’ performance with respect their management of your assets. A description of the specific services and fees available from each Sub-Adviser can be found in such the specific Sub-Adviser’s current disclosure document(s) (i.e. Form ADV, Part 2A and/or Appendix 1 of Part 2A).
Service description:	We will retain the authority to engage or terminate each such Sub-Adviser. Any decision to engage or terminate a particular Sub-Adviser will be based upon continued suitability and performance of the Sub-Adviser in relation to its management of your assets.
	Other Investment Advisers
	Alternatively, without specifically selecting other investment advisers to provide the specific investment management services related to your assets, we may simply recommend other investment advisers that would provide such services (not on a sub-advisory basis). Our services in relation to the other investment advisers we may recommend generally will include assisting you in choosing investment objectives and asset allocation, setting restrictions or limitations on the management of the account, explaining portfolio strategies and transactions, and answering any of your questions. We will monitor such outside investment advisers’ performance with respect their management of your assets.

We will NOT retain the authority to engage or terminate such other investment advisers. At all times, you will retain the authority to engage or terminate such other investment advisers that we may recommend.

A description of the specific services and fees available from each Sub-Adviser or other investment adviser can be found in such adviser's current disclosure document(s) (i.e. Form ADV, Part 2A and/or Appendix 1 of Part 2A).

On occasion, we may recommend certain wrap programs to you. Our involvement with wrap programs is addressed below in the "Wrap Program" section.

Wrap Program

A "wrap fee program" is a program that offers participants a suite of services such as asset allocation; portfolio management; trade execution; and certain administrative activities, all for a single fee – typically an annual, asset-based fee. A wrap fee program is designed to assist clients in obtaining professional asset management, brokerage, custodial, and administrative services for a convenient, "wrapped" fee.

There are several main roles that can be served in relation to a wrap program.

Lead Sponsor – The lead sponsor is the investment adviser firm that principally organizes the wrap program and determines which program managers will be made available in the wrap program; which broker-dealers and/or custodians will be used in the wrap program; as well as the overall fee structure for the wrap program. The lead sponsor would also generally coordinate the engagement of other investment advisers (referring parties, or solicitors) who may refer clients of their own to participate in the wrap program. The lead sponsor in some cases may and in some cases may not provide the hands on management of a wrap client's assets within the wrap program. In some cases, the lead sponsor may be responsible for selecting the specific program manager that will be responsible for providing the hands on management of a client's assets within the wrap program.

Solicitor – A solicitor generally does not serve as the lead sponsor and does not serve as a program manager within the wrap program. The solicitor simply recommends that its clients participate in the wrap program and in some cases, the solicitor may recommend one or more program managers made available within the wrap program. In certain circumstances, a solicitor may also be considered a sponsor but generally not the lead sponsor.

Program Manager – The program manager(s) are generally investment adviser firms that are responsible for the hands on management of a client's assets within the wrap program. The program managers generally are selected by the lead sponsor as investment advisers available within the wrap program.

In relation to wrap programs, we may participate in any of the following manners.

☒ Solicitor

- Selection (on a discretionary basis) of Sub-Advisers to provide the specific investment management services related to your assets.
- Recommendation (not discretionary selection) of a wrap program(s) sponsored by another party.
- Recommendation (not discretionary selection) of specific program managers within a wrap program.
- Provide ongoing monitoring of the activities and performance of program managers recommended or selected to manage your wrap program assets.

	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Program Manager <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Provide the hands on management (non-discretionary) of a wrap client's program assets. We will provide periodic investment recommendations to you and if such recommendations are approved/authorized, we will ensure that the authorized recommendations are carried out for you. We will offer a wrap fee brochure or other appropriate disclosure document to any advisory clients who are recommended to participate in a wrap program; whether ours or another investment adviser's wrap program. The wrap fee brochure provides wrap program participants with important information about the wrap fee program itself. We will also provide a copy of current wrap brochure and/or other disclosure document for the specific investment manager(s) selected to manage a client's assets in a wrap program. A wrap program participant should consider all of the information within the wrap fee brochure and the selected investment manager's disclosure document(s) before participating in a wrap fee program. We receive a portion of the wrap fees paid by you.
Use of discretion:	In connection with the services described above, we may retain the authority to engage or terminate any Sub-Adviser we may select for you. Any decision to engage or terminate a particular Sub-Adviser will be based upon continued suitability and performance of the Sub-Adviser in relation to its management of your assets. We do not possess or exercise investment discretion in connection with the underlying assets managed by any Sub-Adviser or other outside investment adviser.
Service fees:	For the service described above, we will typically charge an asset-based fee. 	The fee schedule above is BARR's fee schedule. Sub-Advisers or other investment advisers recommended or selected by us generally charge their own advisory fees for managing client assets. Such fees are generally based on a percentage of the assets under management. Our fees are subject to negotiation, however, any other adviser's fees may not be negotiable. Our fees are separate and distinct from those other advisers' fees and our fees will not increase the overall fees charged by Sub-Advisers or other investment advisers who are actively managing your assets. Additional details related to fees charged by Sub-Advisers or other investment advisers will be explained in any such adviser's disclosure document(s). Your specific fee arrangements will be set forth in your advisory agreement ("Agreement") with us.
	Referral Fees Fees related to our services described in this section may be considered "referral" fees since we will be referring our clients to certain outside investment advisers.
Other fees:	In addition to our service fees, you may be assessed other fees by parties independent from us. You may also incur, relative to certain investment products (such as mutual funds), charges imposed directly at the investment product level (i.e. advisory fees, administrative fees, and other fund expenses.) Brokerage fees/commissions charged to you for securities trade executions may be billed to you by the broker-dealer or custodian of record for your account, not us. Any such fees are exclusive of, and in addition to our compensation. You will be solely and directly responsible for all fees, including fees other than those we may bill directly to you. Refer to Item V.(E) and Item 12 for additional information regarding other fees such as sales compensation, brokerage fees, custodial fees, etc.
Fee frequency/timing/ collection:	For the service described above, the frequency and timing of our fee collection process occurs as follows: <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> quarterly, <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> monthly, <input type="checkbox"/> in advance, or <input type="checkbox"/> in arrears. Additionally, we receive our service fees by the following method(s): <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> automatic fee deduction via the custodian <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> via the other investment adviser(s) managing your assets Billing Via Custodian. Contemporaneously with the execution of the Agreement, you will be asked to sign an authorization that will allow the custodian of any of your accounts to debit the account(s) the amount of our service fees and remit the fee to us. The authorization will remain valid unless and until we receive a written revocation of such authorization from you. Use of Sub-Advisers or Other Investment Advisers: If another investment adviser is managing your assets, we will not bill or invoice you directly for our fees related to the recommendation or selection of other investment advisers. The fees charged by other investment advisers are assessed by such parties. Such fees may be charged in advance or in arrears; monthly, quarterly, or annually. Further, fees may be collected via the custodian or by way of direct billing by such investment adviser. Regardless of the other investment adviser's billing practices,

	our compensation will be received from the other investment adviser in accordance with the normal and customary billing practices as outlined in that outside investment adviser's disclosure document(s). For more details, please refer to the Sub-Adviser's or other investment adviser's current disclosure document(s) (i.e. Form ADV, Part 2A and/or Appendix 1 of Part 2A). Your specific fee arrangements will be set forth in your Agreement with us.
Advanced billing and refunds:	As described above, our advisory fees may be charged in advance. Fees paid in advance will be considered earned and non-refundable to you up to the effective termination of the Agreement as the termination process is described in the Agreement. Upon receipt of a proper notice of termination ("Termination Notice") as described in the Agreement, we will calculate a pro rata refund of any fees not yet earned by us after the effective termination date of the Agreement. The pro rata refund will equal the total number of calendar days remaining in the billing period after the date of the termination of the Agreement to the end of that billing period divided by the total number of calendar days in that billing period. The result of that calculation will be multiplied by the total fee already paid for that billing period. The result of that calculation will represent the refund owed to you. Refunds of advance payments owed back to you shall be paid as soon as reasonably possible but not sooner than ten (10) business days after our receipt of a proper Termination Notice. Use of other Investment Advisers: If another investment adviser(s) is used to manage your assets, any available refund process for fees that may be collected in advance will be dictated by such other investment adviser's disclosure document(s) and/or service agreement(s) with you. For more details, please refer to the Sub-Adviser's or other investment adviser's current disclosure document(s) (i.e. Form ADV, Part 2A and/or Appendix 1 of Part 2A). Your specific fee arrangements will be set forth in your Agreement with us.
IRA Rollover Considerations	As an investment advisor we are and have acted as a fiduciary in our relationships with our clients. We follow the fiduciary standard required by the provisions of the Investment Advisor's Act of 1940. A recommendation to take a distribution from a plan or to transfer (or withdraw from) an IRA are fiduciary acts. As such, the recommendation must be prudent and in the best interest of the participant or IRA owner. Providing education regarding distribution options is an important consideration for selecting among those options. The following is a discussion of those options and considerations: As part of our investment advisory services to you, we may recommend that you withdraw the assets from your employer's retirement plan and roll the assets over to an individual retirement account ("IRA") that we will manage on your behalf. If you elect to roll the assets to an IRA that is subject to our management, we will charge you an asset based fee as set forth in the agreement you executed with our firm. This practice presents a conflict of interest because persons providing investment advice on our behalf have an incentive to recommend a rollover to you for the purpose of generating fee based compensation rather than solely based on your needs. You are under no obligation, contractually or otherwise, to complete the rollover. Moreover, if

	you do complete the rollover, you are under no obligation to have the assets in an IRA managed by our firm. Many employers permit former employees to keep their retirement assets in their company plan. Also, current employees can sometimes move assets out of their company plan before they retire or change jobs. In determining whether to complete the rollover to an IRA, and to the extent the following options are available, you should consider the costs and benefits of: An employee will typically have four options: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Leaving the funds in your employer's (former employer's) plan. 2. Moving the funds to a new employer's retirement plan. 3. Cashing out and taking a taxable distribution from the plan. 4. Rolling the funds into an IRA rollover account. Each of these options has advantages and disadvantages and before making a change we encourage you to speak with your CPA and/or tax attorney. If you are considering rolling over your retirement funds to an IRA for us to manage here are a few points to consider before you do so: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Determine whether the investment options in your employer's retirement plan address your needs or whether you might want to consider other types of investments. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> a. Employer retirement plans generally have a more limited investment menu than IRAs. b. Employer retirement plans may have unique investment options not available to the public such as employer securities, or previously closed funds. 2. Your current plan may have lower fees than our fees. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> a. If you are interested in investing only in mutual funds, you should understand the cost structure of the share classes available in your employer's retirement plan and how the costs of those share classes compare with those available in an IRA. b. You should understand the various products and services you might take advantage of at an IRA provider and the potential costs of those products and services. 3. Our strategy may have higher risk than the option(s) provided to you in your plan. 4. Your current plan may also offer financial advice. 5. If you keep your assets titled in a 401k or retirement account, you could potentially delay your required minimum distribution beyond age 70.5. 6. Your 401k may offer more liability protection than a rollover IRA; each state may vary. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> a. Generally, federal law protects assets in qualified plans from creditors. Since 2005, IRA assets have been generally protected from creditors in bankruptcies. However, there can be some exceptions to the general rules so you should consult with an attorney if you are concerned about protecting your

	retirement plan assets from creditors. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 7. You may be able to take out a loan on your 401k, but not from an IRA. 8. IRA assets can be accessed any time; however, distributions are subject to ordinary income tax and may also be subject to a 10% early distribution penalty unless they qualify for an exception such as disability, higher education expenses or the purchase of a home. 9. If you own company stock in your plan, you may be able to liquidate those shares at a lower capital gains tax rate. 10. Your plan may allow you to hire us as the manager and keep the assets titled in the plan name. It is important that you understand the differences between these types of accounts and to decide whether a rollover is best for you. Prior to proceeding, if you have questions contact your investment adviser representative, or call our main number as listed on the cover page of this Disclosure Brochure.

If you elect to act on any of the recommendations, you are under no obligation to effect the transactions through an associated person of BARR regardless of whether such person is a registered representative with Triad Advisors, Inc., a licensed broker dealer.
Use of discretion:	We do not possess or exercise investment discretion in connection with this service offering.
Service fees:	For the service described above, we may charge fees in the following manner: <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Non-annual, flat/fixed fee. Our non-annual, flat/fixed fees for our financial planning services range from $350 to $3,500. For a net worth over $5 million a quote should be requested. <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Hourly fees. Our hourly fee rate for our financial planning services is $270 (minimum of two hours) unless agreed to otherwise between BARR and you. The specific fee for this service will be quoted prior to the financial planning agreement being executed and will be determined according to the complexity of the plan as well as the extent of service you may desire. An estimated fee will be given upon financial plan agreement execution. All fees are negotiable at our sole discretion. Specific fee arrangements will be set forth in your financial planning agreement.

Other fees:	In addition to our service fees, you may be assessed other fees by parties independent from us. You may also incur, relative to certain investment products (such as mutual funds), charges imposed directly at the investment product level (i.e. advisory fees, administrative fees, and other fund expenses.) Brokerage fees/commissions charged to you for securities trade executions may be billed to you by the broker-dealer or custodian of record for your account, not us. Any such fees are exclusive of, and in addition to our compensation. You will be solely and directly responsible for all fees, including fees other than those we may bill directly to you. Refer to Item V.(E) and Item 12 for additional information regarding other fees such as sales compensation, brokerage fees, custodial fees, etc.
Fee collection:	For the service described above, we receive our service fees by the following method(s): <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> direct invoice to you You will be invoiced by the fifth business day of the month subsequent to the most recently ended billing period. Payments are due on or by the final business day of the month in which the invoice is generated. Specific fee arrangements will be set forth in your financial planning agreement with us.
Fee frequency/timing:	For the service described above, the frequency and timing of our fee collection process occurs as follows: <input type="checkbox"/> quarterly, <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> monthly, <input type="checkbox"/> in advance, <input type="checkbox"/> in arrears, or <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> a portion in advance (maximum of $500) and a portion in arrears. Specific fee arrangements will be set forth in your financial planning agreement with us.
Advanced billing and refunds:	As described above, our advisory fees may be charged in advance. Fees paid in advance will be considered earned and non-refundable to you up to the effective termination of the financial planning agreement as the termination process is described in the financial planning agreement. Upon receipt of a proper notice of termination ("Termination Notice") as described in the financial planning agreement, we will calculate a pro rata refund of any fees not yet earned by us after the effective termination date of the financial planning agreement. The pro rata refund will equal the total number of calendar days remaining in the billing period after the date of the termination of the financial planning agreement to the end of that billing period divided by the total number of calendar days in that billing period. The result of that calculation will be multiplied by the total fee already paid for that billing period. The result of that calculation will represent the refund owed to you. Refunds of advance payments owed back to you shall be paid as soon as reasonably possible but not sooner than ten (10) business days after our receipt of a proper Termination Notice. Specific fee arrangements will be set forth in your financial planning agreement with us.

Service:	Educational Classes
Service description:	BARR conducts educational classes involving several topical areas of the financial industry through Emerald Publication. There are two types of educational classes provided by BARR: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Complete Financial Management Workshop • Business Management Workshop
Use of discretion:	We do not possess or exercise investment discretion in connection with this service offering.
Service fees:	The fee for educational classes we conduct is generally $50 to $100 per attendee, payable up front. All fees are negotiable at our sole discretion.
Other fees:	Outside of our service fees, there generally are no other fees a class attendee should expect to experience in connection with the class.
Fee collection:	We collect all class attendance fees in advance of the class.
Advanced billing and refunds:	As described above, our class attendance fees may be charged in advance. Refunds for class attendance fees will only be granted if you request a refund at least ten (10) calendar days prior to the date of the class for which you have provided advance payment. A twenty five (25) percent penalty will be assessed for all refund requests received prior to the ten-day refund request deadline. All refund requests received within the ten (10) day period prior to the class date will be subject to higher refund penalties or no refund at all.

Service:	Business Planning
Service description:	Our business planning services are fundamentally the same as our financial planning services for our individual clients. In other words, the business planning services that we provide to our corporate/business clients are largely the same as those we provide to individual clients as part of our financial planning services described above in section IV.(B).(3). As part of our business planning services, we may address or provide advice in relation to a business or corporate client's financial ratios, buy/sell agreements, key man risk; key man insurance, succession planning, etc.

IV.(C). Customization of Advisory Services

To the fullest extent possible, we will endeavor to tailor our advisory services to meet the specific needs of each and every client. In order to determine a suitable course of action for an individual client, we will perform a review of our clients' financial circumstances and other factors that may influence the investment recommendations we may make to you from time to time. Such review may include, but would not necessarily be limited to, investment objectives, consideration of a client's overall financial condition, income and tax status, personal and business assets, risk profile, and other factors unique to a client's particular circumstances.

In making investment recommendations on behalf of a client, we will rely on a data gathering document or other questionnaire, which would be completed based on information provided by a client.

Our clients are free to impose any restrictions or other conditions with regard to how we provide our advisory services. If we agree to such restrictions and/or conditions, please be advised that restrictions and guidelines that you impose on our investment management functions may affect the composition and performance of custom portfolios (as a result, performance of custom portfolios within the same investment objective may differ and you should not expect that the performance of a custom portfolio will be identical to any other individual's portfolio performance) as well as any recommendations provided to you.

IV.(D). Wrap Fee Program Participation

Refer to item IV.(B). above for details as to our participation/involvement with wrap programs.

IV. (E). Assets Under Management ("AUM")

AUM (discretionary): $ 0
AUM (non-discretionary): $120,466,868
Total AUM: $120,466,868
Date of AUM calculation: December 31, 2016

The term, “assets under management” shall carry the same meaning as that term is defined by Form ADV.

V. Fees and Compensation

V.(A). BARR Advisory Fees

Refer above to Item IV.(B).

V.(B). Fee Collection Process

Refer above to Item IV.(B).

V.(C). Other Fee/Expenses.

Refer above to Item IV.(B).

V.(D). Fees Charged in Advance

Refer above to Item IV.(B).

V.(E). Additional Compensation

Item V.(E) requires us to address situations in which we or any of our supervised persons accepts compensation for the sale of securities or other investment products, including asset-based sales charges or service fees from the sale of mutual funds. Certain individuals who are associated with us, if properly registered and licensed to do so, may also receive compensation (i.e. commissions) related to the sale of securities or other investment products. Transaction-based compensation (“Additional Compensation”) such as this is separate and distinct from the other fees we may receive in connection with our investment advisory services as described above in Item IV.(B).

V.(E).(1). Conflicts of Interest

The instructions in the Form ADV require us to tell you that the receipt or potential for the receipt of Additional Compensation gives our supervised persons an incentive to recommend investment products based on the Additional Compensation received, rather than on your specific needs. Although we are obligated to tell you this, our objective as a firm, which is shared by our supervised persons, is to place nothing before your best interests.

How we address these conflicts. First and foremost, we address the conflicts described above in relation to Additional Compensation by disclosing them to you in this Brochure as well as your representative’s Brochure Supplement. As a matter of general policy, we aggressively discourage activities that put your interests anywhere but first. Additionally, we have instituted a comprehensive supervisory process, detailed in our Written Supervisory Procedures (“WSPs”) that was designed to address, among other things, conflicts of interest such as Additional Compensation. In addition, we have designated a Chief Compliance Officer, as set forth on Schedule A of our Form ADV, to be the party responsible for the overall application and oversight of our supervisory process and our WSPs. Our Chief Compliance Officer has the authority to delegate certain supervisory responsibilities to other supervised persons within our firm in order to ensure that our overall system of supervision is being carried out adequately and in a timely manner.

The potential conflict of interest resulting from the Additional Compensation described above is commonplace in the investment industry and we believe that such arrangements are not only appropriate but that they are proper in light of the added examination, licensing, registration, and other regulatory oversight that also takes place in the brokerage area of the investment industry. Our supervised persons have satisfied various regulatory examination and registration requirements that allow not only for the offering of the types of products and services described in the information related to the Additional Compensation described above but also the receipt of the normal and customary compensation that any similarly registered, licensed, and qualified person could receive in the form of sales compensation for those same products/services.

Bear in mind that even if our supervised persons were not registered/licensed to sell the types of products/services addressed in the preceding section, the majority of your investments or transactions involving such products would still result in you paying some sort of commission for those products. In the case of our supervised persons, their active registration/licensing may allow them to be able to receive such Additional Compensation as opposed to the executing financial institution keeping that compensation exclusively for itself.

Any Additional Compensation received by our supervised persons in connection with the products/services described in the preceding section is deemed routine and customary compensation for such activities and is not believed to be inappropriate.

Procedures for disclosing these conflicts. In an effort to inform you of these conflicts of interest, we have prepared this Brochure and have provided it to you, in part, for the purpose of disclosing these conflicts. You are always welcome to request a current copy of our Brochure. We are obligated to provide you a copy of this Brochure no later than the time you sign our Agreement and on an annual basis, we are required to provide you either (1) a copy of our current Brochure or (2) a set of instructions as to how you can request a copy of our current Brochure.

If we recommend mutual funds to our clients, we may often or occasionally recommend no-load funds.

V.(E).(2). Client-Directed Brokerage

You have the ability to purchase investment products that we recommend through any broker-dealer or other financial institution you choose. If you choose to use a firm other than the broker-dealer(s) we may normally recommend, we may not be able to properly monitor your assets and therefore we cannot be held responsible for the success or failure of any investment products or strategies that you implement at firms other than those we recommend. In other words, our services and responsibilities will not apply to transactions you effect on your own whether through firms you choose on your own or through any broker-dealer we may recommend.

V.(E).(3). Brokerage Compensation

We are not registered as a broker-dealer and thus, we do not receive transaction-based compensation for securities-related activities.

V.(E).(4). Advisory Fee Offset

In the event that we or our supervised persons receive compensation other than our advisory fees as described above in Item IV.(B), we will not adjust our advisory fees to offset those other fees.

VI. Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

We do not charge performance-based fees.

VII. Types of Clients

We will generally provide our services to the following types of clients.

- Individuals
- High net worth individuals
- Trusts
- Estates
- Business or corporate entities

Unless otherwise specified on a per client basis, we generally do not impose (1) a minimum asset/account balance upon engagement by a client or on an ongoing basis or (2) a minimum annual fee.

VIII. Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

VIII.(A). Methods of Analysis

In the course of our management process and as appropriate on a case by case basis, we will employ some or all of the following methods of analysis. For a description of the risks related to each particular method of analysis, see the information following each analysis method description.

Charting / Technical –

The terms “charting” and “technical” analysis are generally used synonymously and therefore, for the purpose of this document, we will use the term, “technical analysis.” In most cases, technical analysis involves the evaluation of historical market data such as price and volume of a particular security or investment instrument. Technical analysis often times involves the use of charts, graphs, and other tools to evaluate historical factors relating to the investment instrument and perhaps the market as a whole. The goal of technical analysis is to try to identify historical trading patterns that suggest future trading activity or price targets.

Key risk(s): Economic Risk, Financial Risk, Inflation Risk, Interest Rate Risk, Legal/Regulatory Risk, Market Risk, Operational Risk, and Strategy Risk.

Fundamental

Fundamental analysis is generally the considered the opposite approach to technical analysis. Fundamental analysis involves the attempt to identify the intrinsic value (i.e. the actual, true/real value) of an investment instrument by examining any related economic, financial, and other quantitative/qualitative factors relevant to that instrument. Fundamental analysis can take into account anything that may impact the underlying value of the instrument. Examples of such things may include large-scale economic issues such as the overall condition or current cycle of the economy, industry-specific or sector-specific conditions, etc. Other company/issuer-specific factors may also be taken into consideration such as the company's/issuer's current financial condition, management experience and capabilities, legal/regulatory matters, the overall type and volume of current and expected business, etc.

One of the goals of fundamental analysis is to attempt to derive a value that can be compared to the current market price for a particular financial instrument in hopes of determining whether the instrument is overpriced (time to sell) or underpriced (time to buy).

Key risk(s): Economic Risk, Financial Risk, Inflation Risk, and Interest Rate Risk.

Investing in securities or other investment products involves the risk of loss and you should be prepared to bear such losses.

VIII.(A). (cont.) Investment Strategies

In the course of our management process and as appropriate on a case by case basis, we will employ any of the following investment strategies. For a description of the risks related to each particular investment strategy, see the information following each strategy description. The codes used below relate to risks described further below in this section.

Long-Term Purchases

Long-term purchases generally involve the acquisition of an investment instrument and holding it for a period of at least one year.

Key risk(s): Capital Risk, Economic Risk, Financial Risk, and Inflation Risk.

Short-Term Purchases

Short-term purchases generally involve the acquisition of an investment instrument and holding it for a period of not more than one year.

Key risk(s): Capital Risk, Economic Risk, Financial Risk, and Inflation Risk.

Margin Trading

Margin trading, or “trading on margin,” as it is generally stated, involves the ability to purchase a dollar value of securities that is greater than the dollar value of funds you have available for the purchase. Essentially, trading on margin means that you can borrow additional funds, generally from the firm that holds your brokerage account, to purchase investment instruments that exceed the amount with which you have funded your account.

Key risk(s): Capital Risk, Credit Risk, Currency Risk, Higher Trading Costs, Inflation Risk, Legal/Regulatory Risk, and Margin Risk.

Investing in securities or other investment products involves the risk of loss and you should be prepared to bear such losses.

VIII.(B). Risk Disclosures

Capital Risk

Capital risk is one of the most basic, fundamental risks of investing; it is the risk that you may lose 100 percent of your money. All investments carry some form of risk and the loss of capital is generally a risk for any investment instrument.

Credit Risk

Credit risk can be a factor in situations where an investment’s performance relies on a borrower’s repayment of borrowed funds. With credit risk, an investor can experience a loss or unfavorable performance if a borrower does not repay the borrowed funds as expected or required. Investment holdings that involve forms of indebtedness (i.e. borrowed funds) are subject to credit risk.

Currency Risk

Fluctuations in the value of the currency in which your investment is denominated may affect the value of your investment and thus, your investment may be worth more or less in the future. All currency is subject to swings in valuation and thus, regardless of the currency denomination of any particular investment you own, currency risk is a realistic risk measure. That said, currency risk is generally a much larger factor for investment instruments denominated in currencies other than the most widely used currencies (U.S. dollar, British pound, Euro, Japanese yen, etc.).

Economic Risk

The prevailing economic environment is important to the health of all businesses. Some companies, however, are more sensitive to changes in the domestic or global economy than others. These types of companies are often referred to as cyclical businesses. Countries in which a large portion of businesses are in cyclical industries are thus also very economically sensitive and carry a higher amount of economic risk. If an investment is issued by a party located in a country that experiences wide swings from an economic standpoint or in situations where certain elements of an investment instrument are hinged on dealings in such countries, the investment instrument will generally be subject to a higher level of economic risk.

Financial Risk

Financial risk is represented by internal disruptions within an investment or the issuer of an investment that can lead to unfavorable performance of the investment. Examples of financial risk can be found in cases like Enron or many of the dot com companies that were caught up in a period of extraordinary market valuations that were not based on solid financial footings of the companies.

Higher Trading Costs

For any investment instrument or strategy that involves active or frequent trading, you may experience larger than usual transaction-related costs. Higher transaction-related costs can negatively affect overall investment performance.

Inflation Risk

Inflation risk involves the concern that in the future, your investment or proceeds from your investment will not be worth what they are today. Throughout time, the prices of resources and end-user products generally increase and thus, the same general goods and products today will likely be more expensive in the future. The longer an investment is held, the greater the chance that the proceeds from that investment will be worth less in the future than what they are today. Said another way, a dollar tomorrow will likely get you less than what it can today.

Interest Rate Risk

Certain investments involve the payment of a fixed or variable rate of interest to the investment holder. Once an investor has acquired or has acquired the rights to an investment that pays a particular rate (fixed or variable) of interest, changes in overall interest rates in the market will affect the value of the interest-paying investment(s) they hold. In general, changes in prevailing interest rates in the market will have an inverse relationship to the value of existing, interest paying investments. In other words, as interest rates move up, the value of an instrument paying a particular rate (fixed or variable) of interest will go down. The reverse is generally true as well.

Legal/Regulatory Risk

Certain investments or the issuers of investments may be affected by changes in state or federal laws or in the prevailing regulatory framework under which the investment instrument or its issuer is regulated. Changes in the regulatory environment or tax laws can affect the performance of certain investments or issuers of those investments and thus, can have a negative impact on the overall performance of such investments.

Liquidity Risk

Certain assets may not be readily converted into cash or may have a very limited market in which they trade. Thus, you may experience the risk that your investment or assets within your investment may not be able to be liquidated quickly, thus, extending the period of time by which you may receive the proceeds from your investment. Liquidity risk can also result in unfavorable pricing when exiting (i.e. not being able to quickly get out of an investment before the price drops significantly) a particular investment and therefore, can have a negative impact on investment returns.

Margin Risk

- You can lose more funds than you deposit in a margin account. A decline in value of securities that are purchased on margin may require you to provide additional funds to the custodian holding your margin account in order to avoid a forced sale of those securities or other securities in your account.
- The custodian holding your margin account can force the sale of securities in your margin account. If the equity in your account falls below the margin maintenance level required by law or below the custodian's "house" requirement, the custodian can sell the securities in your account to cover the margin deficiency. You will be responsible for any shortfall in the account after such sale.
- Securities can be sold without contacting you prior to sale. Some investors mistakenly believe they must be contacted before a margin call becomes valid and that securities in their accounts cannot be liquidated to meet the call unless they have been contacted ahead of time. Most firms will attempt to notify you of margin calls, however, they are not required to do so. Even if the custodian has contacted you to provide a specific date by which you can meet a margin call, the custodian can still take necessary steps to protect its financial interests, including immediately selling the securities without notice to you.

- You are not entitled to choose which securities in your margin account are liquidated or sold to meet your margin call. Because the securities are used as collateral for the margin loan, the custodian has the right to decide which securities to sell in order to protect its interests.
- The custodian can increase its “house” maintenance requirement at any time and is not required to provide you with advance, written notice. These changes in policy can take effect immediately and may result in the issuance of a margin maintenance call. Your failure to satisfy this call may cause a forced liquidation in your account.
- You are not entitled to an extension of time on a margin call. While an extension of time to meet margin requirements may be available to clients under certain conditions, a client does not have the right to the extension.

Market Risk

The market value of an investment will fluctuate as a result of the occurrence of the natural economic forces of supply and demand on that investment, its particular industry or sector, or the market as a whole. Market risk may affect a single issuer, industry or sector of the economy or may affect the market as a whole. Market risk can affect any investment instrument or the underlying assets or other instruments held by or traded within that investment instrument.

Operational Risk

Operational risk can be experienced when an issuer of an investment product is unable to carry out the business it has planned to execute. Operational risk can be experienced as a result of human failure, operational inefficiencies, system failures, or the failure of other processes critical to the business operations of the issuer or counter party to the investment.

Past Performance

Charting and technical analysis are often used interchangeably. Technical analysis generally attempts to forecast an investment’s future potential by analyzing its past performance and other related statistics. In particular, technical analysis often times involves an evaluation of historical pricing and volume of a particular security for the purpose of forecasting where future price and volume figures may go. As with any investment analysis method, technical analysis runs the risk of not knowing the future and thus, investors should realize that even the most diligent and thorough technical analysis cannot predict or guarantee the future performance of any particular investment instrument or issuer thereof.

Strategy Risk

There is no guarantee that the investment strategies discussed herein will work under all market conditions and each investor should evaluate his/her ability to maintain any investment he/she is considering in light of his/her own investment time horizon. Investments are subject to risk, including possible loss of principal.

VIII.(C). Investment-Specific Risks

There is no single type of investment instrument that we predominantly recommend, however, please be mindful that all investments carry some form and degree of risk. Certain types of investments carry greater types and levels of risk than others and you should make sure that you fully understand not only the investment product itself but also the attendant risk factors associated with such products.

X. Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

The following information will address any active or pending financial industry affiliations that you need to know about for the purpose of identifying any related conflicts of interest that you might consider material in regard to letting us handle your investment advisory needs.

X.(A). Broker-Dealers

Neither BARR nor any of its management persons is registered as a broker-dealer nor do either parties have an application pending or otherwise in process for the purpose of seeking registration as a broker-dealer. Certain representatives of the Firm are registered representatives of Triad Advisors, Inc.

X.(B). Futures Commission Merchants, Introducing Brokers, Commodity Trading Advisors, Commodity Pool Operators

Neither BARR nor any of its management persons is registered as a futures commission merchant, an introducing broker, a commodity trading adviser, or a commodity pool operator, nor do either parties have an application pending or otherwise in process for the purpose of seeking registration as any of these types of firms. Further, none of our management persons are registered as or currently seeking registration as associated persons of any of these types of firms.

X.(C). Related Persons

The following information will address any relationship or arrangement that is material to our advisory business or our clients that we or any of our management persons have with any of our related persons. In any such case, the related person is identified below and we have also addressed the nature of any conflict(s) arising out of this relationship/arrangement and how we address such conflict(s). No such relationships exist.

X.D Use of Other Investment Advisers

From time to time, we may recommend or select other investment advisers for you and in return, we will receive compensation (i.e. solicitor/referral fees) from those other investment advisers. In these cases, we will generally enter into a formal, written agreement (i.e. a solicitor agreement) with such other investment advisers. These sorts of arrangements are often times referred to as “solicitor arrangements” and under such arrangements, we would be serving the role of solicitor for the other investment adviser.

As a result of these such arrangements, we may be incentivized to recommend only the investment advisers from whom we receive solicitor/referral fees as opposed to another investment adviser from whom we do not receive such fees. We continually monitor other investment advisers that we might recommend under a solicitor arrangement in the event that such investment advisers are not meeting the standards that we believe meet your needs, we will seek other investment advisers that may be a better fit for your specific management needs.

Additional details about any such arrangement can be found in the applicable solicitor disclosure document that we are obligated to provide to each of our clients that we may refer to any other investment adviser under one of these solicitor arrangements. You are always welcome to request a copy of our current solicitor disclosure document for any investment adviser that we may have recommended or selected for you.

XI. Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

XI.A Code of Ethics

We take great pride in our commitment to serving our clients' needs and the integrity with which we conduct our business. In our recent history, the financial services industry has come under significant scrutiny, especially in the area of the inherent responsibility of financial professionals to behave in the best interests of their clients.

We have developed a Code of Ethics ("Code") as a means of memorializing our vision of appropriate and professional conduct in carrying out the business of providing investment advisory services. Our Code addresses issues such as the following:

- Standards of conduct and compliance with applicable laws, rules, and regulations
- Protection of material non-public information
- The addressing of conflicts of interest
- Employee disclosure and reporting of personal securities holdings and transactions
- The firm's IPO and private placement policy
- The reporting of violations of the Code
- Educating employees about the Code
- Enforcement of the Code

Each of our representatives has been furnished with a copy of our Code and has signed their names to a written acknowledgement attesting to their understanding of the Code and acceptance of its terms. A copy of our Code is available to all current and/or prospective clients upon request.

XI.(B) Participation in Client Trading

The information in this item is intended to address situations in which we or one of our related persons may have a material financial interest in the investment instruments we may recommend to you. No such arrangements exist.

XI.(C) Trading Alongside Our Clients

On occasion, we may invest for our own accounts or have a financial interest in the same securities or other investments that we recommend or acquire for the accounts of our clients. Further, we may also engage in transactions that are the same as or different than transactions recommended to or made for our client's accounts. Such transactions are permitted if effected, pre-cleared and reported in compliance with our policy on personal securities transactions. Generally, personal securities transactions will not be pre-cleared when an order for the same or a related security is pending for the account of a client. Our Designated Supervisor reviews reports of personal transactions in securities by all of our associated persons quarterly or more frequently if required.

Investment Policy

None of our associated persons may effect for himself/herself or for accounts in which he/she holds a beneficial interest, any transactions in a security which is being actively recommended to any of our clients, unless in accordance with the following procedures.

Firm Procedures

In order to implement our Investment Policy, the following procedures have been put into place.

- 1) If we are recommending that any of our clients buy any security, no associated person may purchase that security prior to a client's purchase of that security; and

- 2) If we are recommending that any of our clients sell any security, no associated person may sell that security prior to a client's sale of that security.

As an alternative to the procedures described in the preceding points, we may include our own order(s) in a batch order with other client orders that would involve average pricing for the entire batch such that we would receive the same pricing as all other clients participating in the batch.

It is the primary intent of these procedures to ensure that the best interests of our clients are always served over that of our own. Trading on our own behalf that results in our own interests being served over that of our clients could be considered a breach of our fiduciary duty and thus, is aggressively discouraged.

XI.(D) Batch Trading

Transactions for the client's account generally will be effected independently, unless we decide to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at the same or approximately the same time. We may (but are not obligated to) combine or "batch" such orders in order to obtain best execution or to negotiate more favorable transaction rates. To the extent that we elect to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which our associated persons may invest, we will generally do so in accordance with the parameters set forth in SEC No-Action Letter, SMC Capital, Inc. We will not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of a batched order.

XII. Brokerage Practices

The purpose of this Item is to present to you the factors that we take into consideration when (1) selecting or recommending broker-dealers to you for the purpose of effecting transactions on your behalf and (2) for determining the reasonableness of such broker-dealers' compensation related to such transactions.

BARR is not a broker-dealer. Although not all-inclusive, BARR may recommend the following brokers of record and their corresponding custodian:

Broker of Record	Custodian
Triad Advisors, Inc.	National Financial Services, LLC

Factors that BARR considers in recommending certain broker-dealers or custodians to clients may include such entity's financial strength, reputation, execution, pricing, and service. In return for effecting securities transactions through certain broker-dealers/custodians, BARR or certain of its representatives may receive certain support services that may assist BARR in its investment decision-making process for all of BARR's clients.

In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not always the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of brokerage services, including factors such as execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Accordingly, although BARR will seek competitive rates, it may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for the client's account transactions.

The client may direct BARR to use a particular broker-dealer (subject to BARR's right to decline and/or terminate the engagement) to execute some or all transactions for the client's account. In such an event, the client will negotiate terms and arrangements for the account with that broker-dealer, and BARR will not seek better execution services or prices from other broker-dealers or be able to "batch" the client's transactions for execution through other broker-dealers with orders for other accounts managed by BARR. As a result, the client may pay higher commissions or other transaction costs or greater spreads, or receive less favorable net prices, on transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case.

XII.(A).(1). Research and Soft Dollar Benefits

Soft dollar benefits are items such as research or other products or services (other than the typical execution and other brokerage services available to all other investment advisers) that we may receive from a broker-dealer or other party in connection with the client securities transactions we direct to that/a broker-dealer(s). We do not participate in any soft dollar arrangements.

XII.(A).(2). Brokerage for Client Referrals

In certain circumstances, firms like ours may receive client referrals as a result of recommending particular broker-dealers or other service providers. We, however, do not participate in any formal arrangements wherein we receive client referrals from any particular broker-dealer in return for selecting or recommending such broker-dealer.

XII.(A).(3). Directed Brokerage

This item is intended to address situations where we may recommend, request, or require you to provide us instructions as to how to direct brokerage activity on your behalf.

XII.(A).(3)(a). Directed Brokerage – Recommended, Requested, or Required

Not all investment advisers require their clients to direct brokerage activity through any particular broker-dealer. We do not routinely recommend, request, or require that you direct us as to how to execute brokerage transactions on your behalf (i.e. using a particular broker-dealer for execution purposes).

XII.(A).(3)(b). Directed Brokerage – Permitted

Not all investment advisers require their clients to direct brokerage activity through any particular broker-dealer, however, you may direct us to use a particular broker-dealer (subject to our right to decline such a request) to execute some or all transactions for your account or otherwise on your behalf. In such an event, we will not negotiate terms and arrangements for the account with the other broker-dealer, and we will not seek better execution services or prices from other broker-dealers or be able to “batch” the transactions for execution through other broker-dealers with orders for other accounts we manage. As a result, you may pay higher commissions or other transaction costs or greater spreads, or receive less favorable net prices, on transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case.

XII.(B). Order Batching

Transactions for the client’s account generally will be effected independently, unless we decide to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at the same or approximately the same time. We may (but are not obligated to) combine or “batch” such orders in order to obtain best execution or to negotiate more favorable transaction rates. Reasoning for attempting to effect a batch order is that we may need to trade in the same security for multiple accounts at or around the same time and batching may allow us to achieve a more favorable price on average for all clients. Batching, however, doesn’t guarantee the lowest possible price for execution, however, it is intended to reduce the overall volatility in execution price for a large # of orders that if not batched together, may experience significantly different execution prices. Conversely, in the event that we do not batch a group of orders that otherwise may be a prime candidate for a batched order, the resulting cost for some clients may be higher or lower than what we might be able to achieve by processing a batched order for the benefit of those same clients.

To the extent that we elect to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which our associated persons may invest, we will generally do so in accordance with the parameters set forth in SEC No-Action Letter, SMC Capital, Inc. We will not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of a batched order.

XIII. Review of Accounts

XIII.(A). Review of Accounts or Financial Plans

Review of client accounts.

Accounts are reviewed quarterly by the Managing Member of the Company, Kirk B. Young, in addition, Mr. Young is available to review accounts upon clients' request. An annual review will be conducted to discuss investments, allocation, financial plan, insurance products and other pertinent areas. There is no minimum number of accounts assigned for the reviewer. The review process contains each of the following elements:

- Assess client's goals and objectives;
- Evaluate the strategy which has been employed;
- Monitor the portfolio; and
- Address the need to rebalance.

Account reviews may be triggered by any one or more of the following events:

- Change in performance;
- Change in management style of any fund, and
- Change in client's objectives.

Review of Financial Plans.

Refer above to Section IV.(B).(3).

XIII.(B). Non-Periodic Account Reviews

Events that may trigger further client account reviews in addition to the standard quarterly review process may include, but would not be limited to, a notable increase in the volume of requests by the client to effect transactions in his/her accounts, where such transactions may appear to be inconsistent with the client's previously stated investment objectives. Other factors may include requests by the client to liquidate certain securities positions/contracts where such transactions may appear to be inconsistent with the client's previously stated investment objectives. Additional triggering factors could be the performance on an individual account being an outlier to the performance of accounts with similar investment objectives, and a very important trigger would be customer complaints. This last trigger would be a prime example of a trigger for an intermittent review of a client account.

XIII.(C). Reports to Clients

Clients will receive monthly statements from the appropriate custodian or issuer for brokerage accounts and quarterly statements from mutual fund companies for Mutual Fund Accounts. Upon clients' request, the Company will provide detailed analysis reports, which display the time-weighted rates of return realized in the clients' account.

XIV. Client Referrals and Other Compensation

XIV.(A). Compensation we Receive

In addition to the compensation arrangements described above in Item V., either BARR or certain of its supervised persons may receive other compensation in connection with the investment advisory services provided to BARR's clients.

Certain of our associated persons, when acting as registered representatives of a broker-dealer, may receive selling compensation from such broker-dealer as a result of the facilitation of certain securities transactions on your behalf through such broker-dealer.

Additionally, certain of our associated persons, through such associated person's association as a licensed insurance agent, may also receive selling compensation resulting from the sale of insurance products to you or other clients of ours.

Arrangements involving someone's receipt of both advisory and brokerage or other compensation in connection with the advisory services we provide to you can be considered "double-dipping." That term carries negative connotations but in the financial services industry, it is not only acceptable but is completely appropriate and within the permissible activities of those individuals and entities who are properly registered and licensed to engage in such activities. You should be aware that some investment advisers do not receive brokerage or other compensation for transactions they may effect on your behalf and as a result of dealing with other firms, you will not necessarily pay any less for the same services that you may receive from us, however, the individual that you may deal with or his/her sponsoring firm may not be eligible to receive brokerage or other compensation other than the investment advisory compensation that would normally expect to pay an investment adviser for the same services.

The unwritten industry standard for a client's overall annual fee for investment advisory services is a cap of 3.0%. This means that most investment advisers will keep their service fees for investment advisory work below 3.0% (of the assets they have been engaged to manage) on an annual basis. That said, a client could easily pay in excess of 3.0% of the assets that their investment adviser has been engaged to manage in light of other fees such as brokerage fees/commissions, execution costs, custodial fees, etc. We routinely monitor our fees to ensure that they are not only consistent with those found in the industry for similar services, but we also review our fees for the purpose of ensuring that our billing practices are consistent with the provisions set for in your advisory agreement with us.

XIV.(B). Compensation we Pay

Under certain circumstances, firms like ours may compensate other parties for having referred clients or potential investment advisory clients them. These sorts of arrangements are generally referred to as "solicitor" arrangements. We do not participate in any solicitor arrangements.

XV. Custody

We engage in certain activities that result in us being deemed to have custody of certain of our client's funds and/or securities.

- ☒ Automatic fee deduction from your brokerage or other trading accounts
- ☐ Physical possession or control (even temporary) of client funds or securities
- ☐ The ability to gain access to any client funds and/or securities
- ☐ One of our related persons has custody of funds and/or securities subject to our investment advisory services
- ☐ We or one of our related persons serves as the general partner, managing member, or other similar type of control person to an investment fund to which we provide investment advisory services.

As stated previously in Item XIII.(C)., your account statements will be provided by the qualified custodian that maintains physical possession of your accounts/assets. In the event that we also provide you information related to your accounts, you are urged to review that information to the information contained on the account statements or other statements received from the qualified custodian.

XVI. Investment Discretion

All of our investment advisory services are provided on a non-discretionary basis.

XVII. Voting Client Securities

XVII.(A). Proxy Voting

We do not vote proxies on behalf of any securities you own.

XVII.(B). Proxy Voting

Since you have not authorized us to vote proxies on your behalf, we will not do so. Proxies related to the securities you own will be disseminated as dictated by the issuer, transfer agent, or as otherwise set forth in the account opening paperwork you completed for the custodian holding your account/assets. If you have questions related to a particular proxy notice, please call us at 407-622-0018.

XVIII. Financial Information

XVIII.(A). Balance Sheet

We do not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance. As a result, we are not required to provide our clients with a copy of our balance sheet from our most recently completed fiscal year.

XVIII.(B). Adverse Financial condition

In the event that we have discretionary authority or custody of any of our clients' assets or if we require or solicit prepayment of more than $500 in fees per client, six months or more in advance, we are required to disclose any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair our ability to meet contractual commitments with our clients. Regardless of the fact that we do not maintain or exercise discretionary authority or have custody of any of our clients' assets and we do not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance, we have no adverse financial conditions to report.

XVIII.(C). Bankruptcy-Related Matters

During the past ten years, BARR has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition.
