Advisory Business

Firm Description

Invesco PowerShares Capital Management LLC ("Invesco PowerShares" or the "Adviser") was founded in 2003.

Invesco PowerShares is the investment adviser to the exchange-traded funds ("ETFs" or "Funds") organized under the PowerShares Exchange-Traded Fund Trust, PowerShares Exchange-Traded Fund Trust II, PowerShares India Exchange-Traded Fund Trust and the PowerShares Actively Managed Exchange-Traded Fund Trust (each a "Trust" and collectively the "Trusts" and each a series therein a "Fund" or "Funds").

For the Funds organized under the PowerShares Exchange-Traded Fund Trust, PowerShares Exchange-Traded Fund Trust II and the PowerShares India Exchange-Traded Fund Trust, the Adviser attempts to replicate, before fees and expenses, the price and yield of a third-party index ("Underlying Index"). These ETFs may be referred to as "Index-based ETFs." ETFs organized under the PowerShares Actively Managed Exchange-Traded Fund Trust are professionally managed by a sub-adviser and do not attempt to replicate an Underlying Index.

In addition, Invesco PowerShares provides portfolio management and certain portfolio operations support ("sub-advisory services") to three affiliates, Invesco Asset Management Ireland Holdings Limited ("IAMIDL"), Invesco Canada Ltd ("Invesco Canada") and Invesco Advisers, Inc. ("IAI").

Invesco PowerShares receives a management fee under its Investment Advisory Agreements (contractual agreements between the Advisor and the Trusts which are reviewed by the Board of Trustees annually) with the Trusts because of its services as investment adviser to the Trusts. Invesco PowerShares does not charge any performance-based fees. The Adviser does not sell annuities, insurance, stocks, bonds, mutual funds, limited partnerships, or other commissioned products. The Adviser does not accept finder's fees for client referrals.

For the sub-advisory services it provides to its affiliates, Invesco PowerShares receives .40% of the management fee charged to the accounts.

Principal Owners

Invesco PowerShares is an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of Invesco Ltd. In May 2007 AMVESCAP, PLC changed its name to INVESCO PLC. Subsequently, on December 4, 2007, INVESCO PLC redomiciled from the United Kingdom to Bermuda under a court-approved United Kingdom Scheme of Arrangement under which INVESCO PLC shareholders received common shares in Invesco Ltd. ("INVESCO"), the new Bermuda parent company, in exchange for their ordinary shares in INVESCO PLC.

Under the PowerShares Exchange-Traded Fund Trust the fees are expressed as a management fee and are based on a fraction of a percent of assets under management and Invesco PowerShares has agreed to cap the total amount of certain expenses of each fund. For two of the Funds under this Trust, Invesco PowerShares charges the Funds a set unitary fee, based on a fraction of a percent of assets under management.

For the PowerShares Exchange-Trade Fund Trust II, the PowerShares India Exchange-Trade Fund Trust and the PowerShares Actively Managed Exchange-Traded Fund Trust, Invesco PowerShares charges the Funds a set unitary fee, based upon a fraction of a percent of assets under management.

Pursuant to the Investment Advisory Agreement, Invesco PowerShares under the unitary fee structure, is responsible for all expenses of the Funds, including the cost of transfer agency, custody, fund administration, legal, audit and other services, except for distribution fees, if any, brokerage expenses, taxes, interest, litigation expenses and other extraordinary expenses.

Description

Invesco PowerShares is the investment adviser to the Funds organized under the Trusts and provides certain portfolio management support to affiliates, IAMIHL, Invesco Canada, and IAI.

Account Minimums

Invesco PowerShares does not maintain client accounts. ETF shares are not individually redeemable and owners of the shares may acquire those shares from a Fund and tender those shares for redemption to the Fund in Creation Unit aggregations only, typically consisting of 50,000 shares through an AP.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

The Adviser attempts to replicate, before fees and expenses, the price and yield of a third-party index ("Underlying Index"). Some of the Funds may not be able to purchase all of the securities in the Underlying Index. Instead the Funds may utilize a representative "sampling" methodology in seeking to achieve their investment objective. Methods of security analysis employed in the sampling process may include charting, fundamental analysis, technical analysis, and credit analysis.

Additionally, the Funds organized under the Active Trust are actively managed by sub-advisers. Methods of security analysis employed may include proprietary stock screening, charting, fundamental analysis, technical analysis, and credit analysis.

The Funds organized under the Active Trust do not seek to replicate an Underlying Index. The Funds in the Active Trust are managed by sub-advisers who seek a stated investment objective per each Fund's prospectus. The Funds under the Active Trust invest in the following securities: 1) stocks in the mega-capitalization universe, 2) securities of companies that are principally engaged in the U. S. real estate industry and 3) investing in U.S. government debt, corporate and agency debt securities.

Investment Strategies

The primary investment strategy for all the Funds organized under the Trusts is stated in each Funds' registration statement. Each Fund's prospectus may be viewed at invescopowershares.com or obtained for free by calling 800.983.0903.

Risk of Loss

All of our Funds have certain risks. Investors should carefully consider a Fund's investment objective, risks, charges and expenses carefully before investing. Please see an individual Fund's prospectus for more complete information, which may be obtained on invescopowershares.com. Broad risks generally faced by investors may be:

- Management Risk: A Fund that is actively managed is subject to management risk because it is an actively managed portfolio. In managing a Fund's portfolio securities, the Sub-Adviser applies investment techniques and risk analyses in making investment decisions for a Fund, but there can be no guarantee that these actions will produce the desired results.
- Concentration Risk: A significant percentage of the Underlying Index may be comprised of issuers in a single industry or sector of the economy. By focusing in an industry or sector, the Fund faces more risks than if it were diversified broadly over numerous industries and sectors of the economy. At times, such industry or sector may be out of favor and underperform other industries or sectors of the market as a whole.
- Currency Risk: A Fund may invest in non-U.S. dollar denominated equity securities of foreign issuers. Because a Fund's net asset value ("NAV") is determined in U.S. dollars, a Fund's NAV could decline if the currency of the non-U.S. market in which a Fund invests depreciates against the U.S. dollar, even if the value of a Fund's holdings, measured in the foreign currency, increases.

- ETF Risk: There are risks involved with investing in ETFs, including possible loss of money. Index-based ETFs are not actively managed. Actively managed ETFs do not necessarily seek to replicate the performance of a specified index. Both index-based and actively managed ETFs are subject to risks similar to stocks, including those related to short selling and margin maintenance. Ordinary brokerage commissions apply.
- Financial Risk: A Fund may invest a significant portion of its assets in securities issued by companies in the financial services sector. A Fund may be susceptible to adverse economic or regulatory occurrences affecting the financial services sector. Investing in the financial services sector involves risks, including the following: financial services companies are subject to extensive government regulation and, as a result, their profitability may be affected by new regulations or regulatory interpretations; unstable interest rates can have a disproportionate effect on the financial services sector; financial services companies whose securities a Fund may purchase may themselves have concentrated portfolios which makes them vulnerable to economic conditions that affect that sector; and financial services companies have been affected by increased competition, which could adversely affect the profitability or viability of such companies.
- Foreign and Emerging Markets Risk: Investments in the securities of non-U.S. issuers and emerging market countries involve risks beyond those associated with investments in U.S. securities and the securities of issuers in developed countries. These additional risks include greater market volatility, the availability of less reliable financial information, higher transactional costs, taxation by foreign governments, decreased market liquidity and political and economic instability. Foreign issuers often are subject to less stringent requirements regarding accounting, auditing, financial reporting and record keeping than are US securities, and, therefore, not all material information regarding these issuers will be available. Securities exchanges or foreign governments may adopt rules or regulations that may negatively impact the Underlying ETF's ability to invest in foreign securities or may prevent the Underlying ETF from repatriating its investments. Liquidity Risk: Shares are not individually redeemable and owners of the shares may acquire those shares from a Fund and tender those shares for redemption to a Fund in Creation Unit aggregations only, typically consisting of 50,000 shares.
- Index Risk: Unlike many investment companies, a Fund does not utilize an investing strategy that seeks returns in excess of the Underlying Index. Therefore, it would not necessarily buy or sell a security unless that security is added or removed, respectively, from the Underlying Index, even if that stock generally is underperforming.

- Market Risk: A Fund's shares may be subject to market fluctuations caused by such factors as economic, political, regulatory or market developments, changes in interest rates and perceived trends in securities prices. Overall securities values could decline generally or could underperform other investments.
- Non-Correlation Risk. The Fund's return may not match the return of the Underlying Index for a number of reasons. For example, the fund incurs operating expenses not applicable to the Underlying Index, and incurs costs in buying and selling securities, especially when rebalancing the Fund's securities holdings to reflect changes in the composition of the Underlying Index. In addition, the performance of the Fund and the Underlying Index may vary due to asset valuation differences between the Fund's portfolio and the Underlying Index resulting from legal restrictions, cost or liquidity constraints.
- Non-Diversified Fund Risk: Because a Fund is non-diversified and can invest a greater portion of its assets in securities of individual issuers than a diversified fund, changes in the market value of a single investment could cause greater fluctuations in Share price than would occur in a diversified fund. This may increase the Fund's volatility and cause the performance of a relatively small number of issuers to have a greater impact on the Fund's performance.

Code of Ethics compliance is managed by a team of compliance professionals at Invesco. The Chief Compliance Officer meets with the manager of this team quarterly to review reports and discuss enhancements to its practices. Any material deficiencies, violations or non-routine matters are brought to the immediate attention of the Adviser's and Trusts' CCOs.

Brokerage Practices

Selecting Brokerage Firms

Invesco PowerShares has supervision over placing orders on behalf of the Funds for the purchase or sale of portfolio securities. The Adviser uses Invesco's Global Trading Desk for agency trade execution of equity securities. If the purchase or sale of portfolio securities by more than one Fund occurs at or about the same time (as may be the case in an Index rebalance), the Adviser allocates transactions in such securities in a pro rata manner across all accounts at an average price and commission rate. If there is a partial or de minimis fill, a pro rata allocation would also apply.

In selecting and reviewing a broker-dealer on behalf of the Trusts, the Adviser will consider the following factors, where relevant: (i) price of the security; (ii) rate of commission; (iii) size and difficulty of the order; (iv) familiarity and experience with ETFs; (v) settlement and clearance efficiencies; (vi) reliability, integrity, general execution and operational capabilities by comparison; (vii) knowledge of and access to the markets for the securities being traded; (viii) ability to maintain confidentiality; and (ix) such other factors as the Adviser deems appropriate under the circumstances. The Adviser monitors the trade execution of the Invesco's Global Trading Desk and continues to have oversight of brokerage allocations and commissions.

The Adviser's Brokerage Committee ("Brokerage Committee") oversees and reviews documentation around brokerage decisions and from time-to-time approves new brokers for equity and fixed-income trades. The Brokerage Committee is comprised of members of senior management and meets periodically.

For Funds investing in fixed-income securities, a determination of best execution is harder to quantify since most securities are not executed through an exchange. When trading fixed income securities, portfolio managers take into account the price, yield, credit-rating, size and issuer. The process often includes soliciting bids from multiple brokers to ensure that the best possible price is achieved. The Adviser's Brokerage Committee reviews on a quarterly basis the notional value of fixed income trades executed per broker.

Best Execution

The Adviser seeks to pay commissions considered fair and reasonable. For all equity Funds, the Adviser currently has a set commission schedule which is $0.01 for domestic equity trades, 0.05% for developed foreign equity security trades and, generally, 0.15% for emerging equities. The Adviser considers the following factors in seeking the most favorable price and execution: the order instruction, the price of the security, the size of the transaction in relation to the average volume, the nature of the market for the security, the timing of the transaction taking into account market prices and trends, the reputation, experience and financial stability of the broker and the quality of the services rendered by the Broker in other transactions. As noted above, the Adviser uses the Invesco Global Trading Desk to route trades to the most efficient and liquid trading markets.

The Brokerage Committee meets periodically to review reports and the factors noted previously are considered when assessing best execution and determining broker performance. Additionally, the Adviser executes a portion of its Index rebalance trades through the in-kind process. The Adviser monitors these trades for liquidity and price impact, though this is beyond the scope of the formal best execution analysis.

Soft Dollars

The Adviser does not currently participate in any soft dollar transactions, commission recapture or directed brokerage for trades executed on behalf of the Trusts or any accounts to which it serves as a subadviser.

Order Aggregation

If the purchase or sale of portfolio securities by more than one Fund occurs at or about the same time (as may be the case in a rebalance), the Adviser allocates transactions in such securities in a pro rata manner across all accounts at an average price and commission rate. If there is a partial or de minimis fill, a pro rata allocation would also apply.
