Item 4 – Investment Advisory Business

Legacy DCP is a specialist structured finance investment advisory firm and a Registered Investment Advisor, formed by James Finkel and Tonko Gast in 2003, with offices in New York City. Legacy DCP manages approximately $269 million in fixed income assets on a notional basis.

Legacy DCP provides investment advice to the pooled investment vehicles described below, which in turn accepts investments from institutional investors.

Legacy DCP acts as collateral manager to issuers of 4 structured finance collateralized bond obligations (“CDOs”), backed by pools of asset-backed securities and collateralized debt obligations. All such vehicles are in a state of wind-down, where no reinvestment or new investment is allowed, and where only limited dispositions occur. Legacy DCP is not currently seeking new investment management business.

The services provided by Legacy DCP as collateral manager for CDO issuers include, but are not limited to: (a) identifying the collateral to be sold (or in the case of synthetic securities credit default swaps to be terminated or assigned), (b) monitoring the performance of the collateral of the CDO, (c) effecting disposition of collateral, if necessary, in accordance with applicable CDO documentation, (d) exercising certain rights on behalf of the CDO, with respect to the CDO vehicle itself, its indenture, or with respect to the underlying CDO collateral portfolio, or (e) performing any other duties as stated in the applicable collateral management agreements.

Legacy DCP, its affiliates and certain of their respective professionals have been eligible to invest in Legacy DCP-sponsored investment funds. None of the CDOs is regulated by the SEC as investment companies based on specific exclusions from the Investment Company Act of 1940.

In addition to the securities mentioned elsewhere in this Part II, Legacy DCP may seek to invest in any type of securities or financial instruments consistent with client investment policies and restrictions. Examples of other types of securities in which the CDO vehicles managed by Legacy DCP currently are invested include, but are not limited to, asset-backed securities, residential mortgage-backed securities, commercial mortgage backed securities, money market instruments, derivatives (such as synthetic collateralized debt obligations, foreign exchange and interest rate swaps, and other swap structures (e.g., credit default and total return swaps), and private placements of debt.

Legacy DCM, LLC, formerly known as Dynamic Credit Management, LLC (“Legacy DCM”) is the administrative affiliate of Legacy DCP. Legacy DCM provides the operational resources for Legacy DCP to perform its investment management business including personnel, office space, technology, and data information.

Legacy DCP tailors its advisory services to the needs of the particular fund or asset pool as per the terms of the offering memorandum or operative document.

Legacy DCP does not participate in wrap fee programs.

Legacy DCP maintains the following assets under management on a discretionary basis as of 2/28/15:

	Collateral Debt Securities (Notional)
Lenox CDO	$84,904,114
Sheffield CDO	$131,621,079
Summit CDO	$39,603,379
Brookville CDO	$12,387,400
Totals	$268,515,972

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

In general, as compensation for its services as CDO collateral manager, Legacy DCP receives a senior management fee ranging from 0.03% to 0.30% per annum of the net performing asset amount of the CDOs. Management fees are generally payable on a quarterly basis, in arrears. In addition, with respect to some of its CDOs, Legacy DCP has contractual entitlements to receive subordinate management fees, and incentive fees ranging from 5% to 25% once certain internal rates of returns are realized by shareholders. The exact amount of fees and how they are calculated as well as the duties and activities of the collateral manager are described in the offering documents for each respective CDO. As of the date of this submission, Legacy DCP believes it will not receive any subordinated management fees or incentive fees with respect to the CDOs which it manages. Legacy DCP also is subject to varying termination provisions in the CDOs which it manages.

Dynamic's fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses which would be incurred by the fund or client, as applicable. Funds or clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third party investment and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to Legacy DCP's fees and Legacy DCP does not, and would not receive any portion of these commissions or fees; however, Legacy DCP does receive reimbursement for some of its data and technology costs from the CDOs.

Item 12 further describes the factors that Legacy DCP considers in selecting or recommending broker-dealers for client transactions and determining the reasonableness of their compensation (e.g., commissions). Please see the third bulleted statement in Item 12 regarding Directed Brokerage – Bulk Trades.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

In some cases, Legacy DCP has entered into performance fee arrangements with qualified clients: such fees are subject to individualized negotiation with each such client. Legacy DCP would seek to structure any performance or incentive fee arrangement subject to Section 205(a)(1) of the Investment Advisors Act of 1940 (The Advisors Act) in accordance with the available exemptions thereunder, including the exemption set forth in Rule 205-3. In measuring clients' assets for the calculation of performance-based fees, Legacy DCP would include realized and unrealized capital gains and losses. Performance based fee arrangements may create an incentive for Legacy DCP to recommend investments which may be riskier or more speculative than those which would be recommended under a different fee arrangement. Such fee arrangements also create an incentive to favor higher fee paying accounts over other accounts in the allocation of investment opportunities. Legacy DCP has procedures designed and implemented to ensure that all clients are treated fairly and equally, and to prevent this conflict from influencing the allocation of investment opportunities among clients.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

In addition to the CDOs described above as investment management clients, Legacy DCP previously had a global group of non-investment advisory clients such as banking or thrift institutions and other funds, businesses, and governmental entities. Legacy DCP ceased its client facing non-investment advisory business on December 15, 2010 upon the sale of such business to Duff & Phelps, LLC, and only conducts limited advisory business as a contractor to Duff & Phelps.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.

Legacy DCP uses economic, fundamental, technical and quantitative analysis.

- Economic analysis, among other things, emphasizes daily and historical review of economic and financial data which impact short, intermediate and long-term credit (default, recovery and downgrade) and interest rate movements.
- Fundamental analysis, among other things, emphasizes reviewing credit risk characteristics of the respective pool of assets and examining the securities' structural terms.
- Technical analysis, among other things, involves a daily and historical analysis of discount margins, yields, trading levels of applicable securities and other indicators as may be deemed appropriate in the marketplace.
- Quantitative analysis involves, among other things, analysis of risk/return characteristics of the securities and portfolios, using both credit rating agency methodologies as well as proprietary techniques.

As its investment strategy, Legacy DCP has used both proprietary and non-proprietary modeling capabilities to assess risk and value of CDOs, ABS, CMBS and other structured credit tranches. Legacy DCP's proprietary methodology includes, among other things, scenario-based cash flow analysis and rating agency criteria. Legacy DCP assesses the characteristics of the underlying collateral pool, using a variety of publicly available data sources, market data and subscription-based data services.

Investment in CDOs involves certain risks. Prospective investors in any product that Legacy DCP acts as investment manager should carefully consider the following factors:

- Investor Suitability. An investment may not be appropriate for all investors as structured investment products are complex instruments that may involve a high degree of risk and are suitable only to sophisticated investors who are capable of understanding and assuming the risks involved.
- Limited Liquidity. There is a limited market for these types of investments and in addition, these investments may be subject to certain transfer restrictions.
- Limited-Recourse Obligations. The CDO investments are payable solely from the Collateral pledged by the Issuer to secure the investment and there can be no assurance that the distributions on the Collateral will be sufficient to make payments
- Nature of the Assets. Asset-Backed Securities are subject to credit, liquidity, interest rate, market, operational, fraud, structural, legal and other risks.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of Legacy DCP or the integrity of Legacy DCP's management. Legacy DCP has no information applicable to this Item.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

One of the principals of Legacy DCP, Tonko Gast, is the CEO of Dynamic Credit Europe B.V. ("DCPE"), located in the Netherlands. As a registered investment advisor with the Netherlands Authority for Financial Markets (AFM), DCPE performs investment advisory services primarily with respect to European structured securities and other debt instruments. DCPE and Legacy DCP/Legacy DCP have entered into mutual administrative and support agreements. Mr. Gast is the majority shareholder of DCPE. Mr. Finkel is not a shareholder of DCPE, nor an officer or director thereof.

Mr. Finkel is a Managing Director of Duff & Phelps, LLC. He no longer holds an officer title at Legacy DCP, but remains a shareholder and Senior Managing Member. Mr. Finkel also is a member of the Supervisory Board of Ithuba Capital AG, in Vienna, Austria.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics

Legacy DCP has adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the firm describing its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, a prohibition of rumor mongering, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at Legacy DCP must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

Legacy DCP anticipates that, in appropriate circumstances, consistent with clients' investment objectives, it will cause accounts over which Legacy DCP has management authority to effect, and will recommend to investment advisory clients or prospective clients, the purchase or sale of securities in which Legacy DCP, its affiliates and/or clients, directly or indirectly, have a position of interest. Legacy DCP's employees and persons associated with Legacy DCP are required to follow Legacy DCP's Code of Ethics. Subject to satisfying this policy and applicable laws, officers, directors and employees of Legacy DCP and its affiliates may trade for their own accounts in securities which are recommended to and/or purchased for Legacy DCP's clients. The Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of the employees of Legacy DCP will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts. Under the Code certain classes of securities have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would materially not interfere with the best interest of Legacy DCP's clients. In addition, the Code requires pre-clearance of many transactions, and restricts trading in close proximity to client trading activity. Nonetheless, because the Code of Ethics in some circumstances would permit employees to invest in the same securities as clients, there is a possibility that employees might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by an employee. Employee trading is continually monitored under the Code of Ethics, and to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between Legacy DCP and its clients.

Legacy DCP's clients or prospective clients may request a copy of the firm's Code of Ethics by contacting James K. Finkel, Managing Member at jkfinkel@dcp-us.com or 212-710-6601.

Legacy DCP, and its shareholders or employees, may purchase and sell securities for its own account, including securities owned by Legacy DCP's customers.

Legacy DCP may on a limited basis recommend funds it manages to buy tranches of other funds managed by Legacy DCP, in which Legacy DCP (and in some cases senior employees) have a direct financial stake.

With regard to certain securities recommended to clients, Legacy DCP or its respective affiliates may have acted as investment manager or structuring agent in respect to certain of the collateral debt securities securing the notes in various pooled securities when such collateral debt securities were originally issued. Legacy DCP may have provided or will be providing financial advisory services and other services to issuers of certain Collateral Debt Securities.

DCM has a Compliance Manual which provides policies and procedures for all employees including full-time and part-time employees and consultants regarding adherence to rules under the Advisers Act. The Compliance Manual sets forth policies and procedures relating to various aspects of Legacy DCP's business and is designed to meet the SEC requirements that registered investment advisors implement and maintain policies and procedures appropriate for their investment advisory business. This Compliance Manual is periodically updated as compliance is an ongoing process that requires the continual review, updating and amendment of procedures.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

- Soft Dollar Arrangements: Legacy DCP does not currently participate in any “soft dollar” arrangements.
- Brokerage for Client Referrals: Legacy DCP buys and sells securities on behalf of its clients within the constraints set forth within the relevant transaction documents.
- Legacy DCP has discretion to select the broker (dealer) to facilitate the purchase or sale of securities for its clients. Commissions are just one factor taken into account when selecting the broker (or dealer).
- Under existing arrangements, certain CDOs managed by Legacy DCP may bear the expenses of specific data or analytic tools from research services.
- Directed Brokerage – Bulk Trades: Legacy DCP manages several structured product portfolios at any given time. While each Portfolio has its own eligibility criteria, (varying by ratings requirements, diversification requirements, tenor, etc.) it is not uncommon for the Portfolios to have overlapping criteria. When criteria overlap, Legacy DCP may make a sale of a security in a single trade that may be allocated across any number of different portfolios (a “Bulk Trade”).
- When Legacy DCP executes a Bulk Trade, the trader/portfolio manager must consider many different factors before the trades are executed and allocated. In addition to eligibility criteria, the trader/portfolio manager should also be aware that any/all portfolio(s) may be in a different stage of their “life-cycle”, hence impacting the suitability and/or size of any sale.
- A Bulk Trade cannot be allocated to a particular portfolio solely to enhance the return or risk profile of the one investment portfolio without careful consideration of other qualifying portfolios. After careful consideration and analysis of all the factors, the security will be allocated in sizes appropriate to the portfolio(s) and the eligibility criteria of the portfolio(s) – including ratings constraints, subtype constraints, size limitations, correlation, etc. If all factors related to two portfolios were equal, the bulk trade would be allocated equally between the two.
- Legacy DCP must exercise extreme care when acting in its fiduciary capacity as either the Investment Manager or Collateral Manager of the investment portfolio.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Legacy DCP reviews the CDOs it manages monthly to ensure the accounts are in compliance with the terms of their indenture or other governing documents, and if non-compliant, attempt to effectuate trades or other adjustments in order to maintain the requisite cash thresholds.

For Legacy DCP's CDOs, these reviews are initiated by Legacy DCP in conjunction with the account Trustee and then escalated as necessary to the CIO or Senior Managing Member.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

In certain circumstances, and in accordance with the applicable law, Legacy DCP may pay a fee to entities that introduce business to Legacy DCP. The amount of fees paid to third-party distributors is negotiated between Legacy DCP and such persons.

Item 15 – Custody

Legacy DCP does not have “custody” of client assets according to Rule 206(4)-2 under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. Legacy DCP does not: hold, directly or indirectly, client funds or securities and does not have any authority to independently obtain possession of them; hold any client's certificates or cash (even temporarily); have the authority to independently withdraw any funds (other than for its fees) or securities from a client's account; or act in any capacity that gives it legal ownership or independent direct access to client funds or securities.

Securities held in Legacy DCP's managed CDOs are all subject to formal custody arrangements, and the vast majority are custodied with the Bank of New York Mellon Trust Company, N.A. Consistent with the liquidation of Dynamic Credit Opportunities Fund II and the direct investment program as well as separately managed accounts under ESE Funding SPC, Ltd., the Administrator for those vehicles, Meridian Fund Services, resigned in December 2013. Representatives of Meridian Fund Services also simultaneously resigned as Directors of such vehicles.

Clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker dealer, trustee, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets. Legacy DCP urges investors to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the estimate statements that it provides. Legacy DCP's statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of holdings.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

Legacy DCP usually receives discretionary authority from the client at the outset of an advisory relationship to select the identity and amount of securities to be bought or sold. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client account. When selecting securities and determining amounts, Legacy DCP observes the investment policies, limitations and restrictions of the clients for which it advises. Investment guidelines and restrictions must be provided to Legacy DCP in writing.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

Dynamic exercises voting authority with respect to most client securities and must review and weigh the issues under consideration in the proposed “vote” to ensure that Legacy DCP votes in a manner consistent with the best interests of such client. The SEC has indicated that a discretionary investment manager is required to exercise voting authority with respect to client securities, even if the investment advisory agreement is silent on this point, unless the client has specifically retained voting authority.

Clients may also obtain information from Legacy DCP about how Legacy DCP voted any proxies on behalf of their account(s).

Item 18 – Financial Information

Registered investment advisers are required in this Item to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about Legacy DCP’s financial condition. Legacy DCP has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.
