Item 4 – Advisory Business

Baker Avenue Asset Management, LP, a Delaware limited liability company also doing business as BakerAvenue, is an SEC-registered investment advisor founded in 2004. The principal owner of BakerAvenue is Simon Baker.

As of February 15, 2017, BakerAvenue managed a total of $863.0m on a discretionary basis and $292.0m on a non-discretionary basis for a total of $1.2bln.

BakerAvenue provides portfolio management services to our Clients. BakerAvenue generally provides services on an investment discretionary basis and for certain Clients (and when requested, only) on a non-discretionary basis.

For non-discretionary Clients, BakerAvenue will require all necessary contact information to obtain consent / approval for any transaction BakerAvenue may recommend for purchase or sale. If BakerAvenue cannot reach a Client on a non-discretionary basis to obtain specific consent it will not place any transactions with such Client's custodian / broker or dealer.

BakerAvenue's advisory services are based upon each Client's unique facts and circumstances as they regard general investing or, for certain investment products, their suitability will be matched to the particular product or strategy.

Services include the following and each is described in more detail in Item 8:

- Dynamic Core
- All Cap Growth
- Global Tactical
- Blue Chip Income
- Fixed Income
- Impact
- Global Income

Services Provided to Introduced Clients of Third Party Firms

In some cases Clients may be introduced to BakerAvenue from third party managers through a dual contract relationship. Dual contract Clients are Clients that have a contract with the third party manager and a separate contract with BakerAvenue. The investment styles provided to these Clients are similar to those described above with some limitations to the types of strategies available depending on the relationship with the Client and the third party platform. The accounts are managed on a discretionary basis, however most Clients participating in these programs direct us to place transactions for their accounts at their broker dealer/custodians.

Clients Introduced to Third Party Managers by BakerAvenue

On occasion, BakerAvenue refers Clients to selected third party managers as part of their asset allocation and investment strategy. Some of the factors considered into referring a third party manager include: BakerAvenue's preference for a particular third party manager, the Client's risk tolerance, goals, and objectives, as well as investment experience, and the amount of Client assets available for investment. The strategies used by these managers are outside of the scope of BakerAvenue's traditional product suite and Clients are not required to use the services of the recommended third party managers.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

The fees and compensation payable to BakerAvenue are negotiable and vary among its Clients. However, the range of compensation is generally as follows:

Asset Based Fee Schedule for Portfolio Management Services ("Total Assets Under Management"):

Under $1mm	1.25% (125 basis points per annum)
$1.0mm to $2.5mm	1.00% (100 basis points per annum)
$2.5mm to $5.0mm	0.90% (90 basis points per annum)
$5.0mm to $10.0mm	0.80% (80 basis points per annum)
$10.0mm and up	0.70% (70 basis points per annum)

Minimum Account Size is $500,000 and is negotiable.

In most cases Fees are paid quarterly, in advance, using the value of the last day of the previous quarter, unless otherwise agreed upon with BakerAvenue. For Accounts opened during a calendar quarter, the fees due and payable will be calculated on a pro-rated basis for the balance of the quarter.

BakerAvenue will charge a pro-rated advisory fee on new accounts opened intra-quarter. The amount(s) due is calculated using the number of days within the calendar quarter the assets are under management. In addition, BakerAvenue will rebate for accounts terminated intra-quarter. The amount rebated is calculated using the number of days within the calendar quarter the assets were not under management.

In most cases, Clients may choose whether to have their fees deducted from their account or receive an invoice. The specific manner in which fees are charged by BakerAvenue is set forth in each Client's written agreement with BakerAvenue.

Advisory Fees Charged to Clients Introduced by Third Party Firms

As indicated above, BakerAvenue provides portfolio management services to Clients introduced to us by third party firms. The advisory fees charged to Clients introduced to us by third party firms are based upon, but are lower than the stated fee schedule used for Clients obtained directly by BakerAvenue (125 basis points (1.25%) up to the first $1.0 million of assets under management, billed quarterly, in advance). The actual fee charged in these various programs are lower, and in some cases, substantially lower than BakerAvenue's standard fee schedule.

Advisory Fees Charged to Clients Introduced to Third Party Managers by BakerAvenue

The advisory fees charged to Clients introduced to third party managers are based upon the stated fee schedule above. The makeup and aggregation of the fee will vary depending on the manager and platform, however, the advisory fee paid to BakerAvenue and the manager does not exceed the standard fee schedule.

General Information on Advisory Services and Fees

Termination and Refunds of Pre-Paid and Un-Earned Advisory Fees: All contracts with Clients may be terminated at any time by either party (the Client or BakerAvenue) by delivering written notice to the other. All transactions placed at the Client's custodian up to BakerAvenue's receipt of the termination notice will be completed by the Client's broker custodian; no other transactions will be placed by BakerAvenue after receipt of the termination notice.

As noted above, all un-earned, pre-paid advisory fees will be promptly refunded to the Client by BakerAvenue upon termination. Termination of the advisory relationship is completed as soon as practically possible.

Expenses: Generally, BakerAvenue's fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses which shall be incurred by the Clients. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to BakerAvenues' advisory fee, and BakerAvenue shall not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs.

The portfolio management services provided by BakerAvenue may include investments in Exchange Traded Funds ("ETFs") and securities of companies registered as investment companies under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended ("Mutual Funds"). In such case, in addition to transaction costs borne by the Client, these securities also charge additional fees and expenses to their shareholders. These are in the form of advisory / management fees, distribution fees (in the case of Mutual Funds), administrative and operational expenses, among others. Therefore, in evaluating BakerAvenue's portfolio management services, potential Clients must take into consideration not only BakerAvenue's advisory fees, but also the fees and expenses of the ETF and Mutual Funds that BakerAvenue may purchase on the Clients' behalf. This information is available in the Fund's prospectus or Clients may contact BakerAvenue to discuss the additional expenses or costs.

Services available from other sources: Clients should also be aware that similar advisory services may be available from other sources at fee levels higher or lower than those charged by BakerAvenue. In addition, Clients do not need to hire BakerAvenue to invest in securities (including ETFs or Mutual Funds); however, they would not receive the value of BakerAvenue's proprietary analysis if BakerAvenue is not hired to manage their assets.

Services to Family and Friends of BakerAvenue: Certain family members or friends of BakerAvenue principals may receive the same or similar advisory services as Clients for advisory fees that are zero or negotiated at a rate lower than what is available to its Clients. These lower advisory fees charged to family or friends are not available to Clients.

Non-Discretionary portfolio management services: BakerAvenue also provides certain Clients with non-discretionary portfolio management services.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Performance Fee

BakerAvenue does not charge fees on the performance or appreciation of the funds or securities held in client portfolios (so-called “performance” or “incentive fees”).

Item 7 – Types of Clients

BakerAvenue provides investment advisory services to individuals, high net worth individuals, corporate pension and profit-sharing plans, charitable institutions, foundations, trusts, and other U.S. institutions.

The minimum account size is $500,000 and is negotiable under special circumstances.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Dynamic Core

The Dynamic Core strategy seeks to provide broad market exposure across a number of different investment geographies, capitalizations and styles. The strategy's tactical allocation approach uses macroeconomic, fundamental and technical factors to actively manage its holdings and overall risk profile. In severe down markets, the strategy may raise its cash weighting to preserve capital. The strategy is broadly diversified and invests primarily in stocks and ETFs to achieve its investment objective of long-term capital appreciation and risk diversification.

All Cap Growth

The All Cap Growth strategy seeks to aggressively grow capital by investing in fundamentally and technically strong stocks and ETFs across all market capitalizations and protect principal by allocating to cash in high risk markets. The strategy utilizes a quantitative and fundamental approach supplemented by macroeconomic analysis in an attempt to control downside losses and protect capital.

Global Tactical

The Global Tactical strategy seeks long term capital appreciation with downside protection by investing in global asset classes and preserving capital in severe down markets by moving up to 100% cash. The strategy employs a quantitative approach to opportunistically rotate between investments in global asset classes and cash in an attempt to protect capital in high risk markets.

Blue Chip Income

The Blue Chip Income strategy seeks long-term capital appreciation with downside protection by investing in a diversified portfolio of high-quality Blue Chip stocks and ETFs in lowrisk markets, and protecting principal in high risk markets by moving up to 100% cash. The strategy proactively monitors long-term market trends to evaluate the risk/reward of having market exposure versus protecting capital.

Global Income

The Global Income strategy seeks to deliver above-average market yields while maintaining below-average market volatility by investing in multiple asset classes of income-producing securities. The strategy employs a quantitative approach to opportunistically rotate between equity and fixed income securities in an attempt to protect capital

Impact

The Impact strategy seeks long-term capital appreciation with downside protection. By adding a socially responsible overlay to our investment approach, we seek to consider both financial return and social good. The strategy invests in a diversified portfolio of stocks and ETFs in low-risk markets, and protects principal in high-risk markets by moving to cash. The strategy proactively monitors long-term market trends to evaluate the risk/reward of having market exposure versus protecting capital.

Fixed Income

The Tactical Fixed Income strategy seeks to provide current income, capital appreciation and preservation by investing in a broadly diversified portfolio of bonds. The strategy employs a quantitative approach to opportunistically rotate between multiple bond sectors to adjust the portfolio through shifting interest rate and credit cycles.

Risks of Investments and Strategies Utilized

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that Clients should be prepared to bear. Since market risks are inherent in all securities investments to varying degrees, there can be no assurance that the investment objective of the Clients will be achieved. Market risks include price risk (will the price of a security in the portfolio rise or fall?), liquidity risk (how easily can a position be sold at a fair price?), event risk (will something unforeseen happen?), market volatility (is the market in general going through a period of upheaval?) and manager risk (how well did BakerAvenue's picks perform?) among others.

General Investment and Trading Risks. Clients may invest in securities and other financial instruments using strategies and investment techniques with significant risk characteristics. The investment program utilizes such investment techniques as option transactions, margin transactions, short sales, forwards, leverage and derivatives trading, the use of which can, in certain circumstances, maximize the adverse impact to which a Client may be subject.

Common Stocks and Equity-Related Securities. Prices of common stock react to the economic condition of the company that issued the security, industry and market conditions, and other factors and may fluctuate widely. Investments related to the value of stocks may rise and fall based on an issuer's actual and anticipated earnings, changes in management, the potential for takeovers and acquisitions, and other economic factors. Similarly the value of other equity-related securities, including preferred stock, warrants and options may also vary widely.

Small- and Mid-Cap Risks. Securities of small-cap issuers may present greater risks than those of large-cap issuers. For example, some small- and mid-cap issuers often have limited product lines, markets, or financial resources. They may be subject to high volatility in revenues, expenses and earnings. Their securities may be thinly traded, may be followed by fewer investment research analysts and may be subject to wider price swings and thus may create a greater chance of loss than investing in securities of larger-cap issuers. The market prices of securities of small- and mid-cap issuers generally are more sensitive to changes in earnings expectations, to corporate developments and to market rumors than are the market prices of large-cap issuers.

Exchange Traded Funds. Exchange-traded funds ("ETFs") are a type of index fund bought and sold on a securities exchange. The risks of owning an ETF generally reflect the risks of owning the underlying securities they are designed to track, although lack of liquidity in an ETF could result in it being more volatile and ETFs have management fees that increase their costs. ETFs are also subject to other risks, including: (i) the risk that their prices may not correlate perfectly with changes in the underlying index; and (ii) the risk of possible trading halts due to market conditions or other reasons that, in the view of the exchange upon which an ETF trades, would make trading in the ETF inadvisable.

Commodities and Derivative Investments. The prices of commodities contracts and derivative instruments, including futures and options, are highly volatile. Price movements of commodities, futures and options contracts are influenced by, among other things, interest rates, changing supply and demand relationships, trade, fiscal, monetary and exchange control programs and policies of governments, and national and international political and economic events and policies. The value of futures and options also depends upon the price of the commodities underlying them. In addition, Client assets are subject to the risk of the failure of any of the exchanges on which its positions trade or of its clearinghouses or counterparties.

Highly Volatile Markets. The prices of financial instruments can be highly volatile. Price movements of forward and other derivative contracts are influenced by, among other things, interest rates, changing supply and demand relationships, trade, fiscal, monetary and exchange control programs and policies of governments, and national and international political and economic events and policies. Clients are also subject to the risk of failure of any of the exchanges on which their positions trade or of its clearinghouses.

Use of Financing. A Client may pledge its securities in order to borrow additional funds for investment purposes. Any event which adversely affects the value of an investment by the Client would be magnified to the extent the Client is leveraged. The cumulative effect of the use of leverage by a Client in a market that moves adversely to the Client's investments could result in a substantial loss that would be greater than if the Client were not leveraged.

Hedging Transactions. While a Client may enter into hedging transactions to seek to reduce risk, such transactions may result in a poorer overall performance for the Client than if it had not engaged in any such hedging transactions. For a variety of reasons, BakerAvenue may not seek to establish a perfect correlation between such hedging instruments and the portfolio holdings being hedged. Such imperfect correlation may prevent a Client from achieving the intended hedge or expose the Client to risk of loss.

Further details regarding the risks of investing with BakerAvenue are provided in the Investment Management Agreement.

The foregoing list of risk factors does not purport to be a complete enumeration or explanation of the risks involved in an investment in the Clients. Investors should read the entire Brochure as well as consult with their own advisers prior to engaging BakerAvenue's services.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to a potential Client's evaluation of BakerAvenue or the integrity of its management. BakerAvenue has no information applicable to this Item.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

BakerAvenue is affiliated with SimonBaker & Partners, an SEC-registered investment advisor based in San Francisco, CA, through common control and ownership. BakerAvenue may recommend that certain Clients use the services of SimonBaker & Partners if such services are appropriate and suitable for such Client's investment objectives and needs. While BakerAvenue advisory services are separate and distinct from the compensation paid by Clients to SimonBaker & Partners and its services, this relationship may create conflicts of interest for BakerAvenue. For example, a Client may be charged a higher fee if it engages SimonBaker & Partners rather than BakerAvenue, and BakerAvenue may be incentivized to recommend that such Clients engage BakerAvenue rather than SimonBaker & Partners. BakerAvenue or its employees may also receive a referral fee from SimonBaker & Partners in return for any Clients who are referred to and engage SimonBaker & Partners. Another potential conflict of interest is created due to the fact that those principals and employees of BakerAvenue who are also affiliated with SimonBaker & Partners must divide their time and attention between Clients of BakerAvenue and clients of SimonBaker & Partners. BakerAvenue has discretion to resolve such conflicts as it determines to be appropriate and at all times in a manner consistent with its fiduciary duties to its Clients.

Item 11: Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading BakerAvenue has adopted a "Code of Ethics" for all supervised persons of the firm describing its high standard of business conduct and fiduciary duty to its Clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of Client information, a prohibition on insider trading, a prohibition of rumor mongering, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts, and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at BakerAvenue must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

Personal and Proprietary Trading:

BakerAvenue recognizes its fiduciary duty to its Clients and is obligated to follow the regulations, rules, and interpretations under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, amended. BakerAvenue's fiduciary obligation to Clients requires placing its Clients' interests first.

When BakerAvenue purchases or sells securities for its own accounts or for those with a beneficial nature (family and other accounts), there is a potential conflict of interest that is inherent in this activity. To meet both fiduciary and regulatory obligations to Clients, BakerAvenue has developed and implemented the following controls to address this potential conflict of interest. These controls include:

1. Code of Ethics
 - a. Restrictions and limitations on the personal trading of all employees;
 - b. Disclosure of brokerage accounts, security holdings;
 - c. Restrictions and limitations on the receipt of or providing gifts, entertainment and political contributions;

2. Prevention and restrictions on activity when in possession of material, non-public, inside information.

In summary, BakerAvenue's Code of Ethics:

- Allows for employees to trade in the same securities recommended to Clients;
- Allows employees to own securities that may be subsequently purchased for the Clients;
- Allows employees to purchase securities that would otherwise not be suitable for, or purchased by, BakerAvenue for Clients;
- Prohibits giving preference to orders for employees over the orders for Clients;
- Requires, when Client and personal trades are aggregated (blocked together), that the shares purchased over time will be "average priced" so all participants receive the same price;
 - If partial fills are completed, Client orders are completely filled before employee or related accounts.

Additional requirements include:

- Act with integrity, competence, diligence, respect in an ethical manner with the public, Clients and affiliates, employees, colleagues, vendors, suppliers and other investment professionals encountered in day-to-day activity;
- Place the integrity of the investment profession, the interests of the Clients ahead of BakerAvenue's own (or the employee's) interests;
- Prohibits the use of an employee's position at BakerAvenue to enrich the employee (or family) or BakerAvenue and;
- Identify potential conflicts of interest and engage BakerAvenue's Chief Compliance Officer;
- Conduct all personal securities trading in compliance with BakerAvenue's Code of Ethics and applicable policies and procedures;
- Use reasonable care and prudence, including sound judgment, when conducting investment analysis, making investment recommendations, or engaging in other professional activities;
- Promote the integrity of BakerAvenue and the profession while encouraging (by example) these standards.

Specific Requirements Related to Personal Securities Trading required by BakerAvenue:

- Pre-Clear certain personal securities transactions;
- Report personal securities accounts, holdings and members of the employees household (and beneficial ownership accounts) initially (at time of employment) and annually thereafter;
- Certify all reportable securities transactions on a quarterly basis to the Chief Compliance Officer.

Clients may request a copy of the BakerAvenue Code of Ethics by contacting Hannah Kim, Chief Compliance Officer, at 415-986-1110 or via email at hk@bakerave.com.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

BakerAvenue seeks to use a broker-dealer and custodian who will safely hold Client assets and execute transactions on terms that are, overall, most advantageous when compared to other providers. BakerAvenue looks at many factors in deciding which brokers to recommend, including transaction costs, execution capability, financial strength, and quality of service, among others.

Brokerage Discretion: For many of its Clients, BakerAvenue has the discretionary authority to pick the broker dealer to use. Typically, but not always, BakerAvenue uses one of the broker dealers discussed below. However, BakerAvenue does have the authority for some (but not all) Clients to trade away from their broker or custodian. Often times, BakerAvenue will have to evaluate the additional costs or charges that are charged by the broker / custodian and evaluate whether the additional charges to trade away (either on a Prime Broker basis, or on a Trade Away basis) is in each Client's best interest. Due to the types of securities BakerAvenue typically purchases or sells for Clients' accounts, BakerAvenue will often determine that the additional costs involved in a Prime Broker or Trade Away transaction are consistent with its fiduciary obligations of best execution.

Clients may request to place limits on BakerAvenue's discretionary authority. However, BakerAvenue reserves the right to reject or not engage a Client or terminate the relationship if determined the restrictions prohibit BakerAvenue from delivering its services as defined in the agreement with the Client.

Brokerage Activity: Clients' assets must be maintained in an account at a "qualified custodian," generally a broker-dealer. BakerAvenue recommends several different broker dealer / custodians to Clients in need of brokerage and custodial services, including:

- Fidelity Investments
- Charles Schwab and Company
- TD Ameritrade

TD Ameritrade, Schwab and Fidelity Brokerage Services LLC ("Fidelity") offer platform services and technology that help BakerAvenue with back office management, trade execution, account management, and asset pricing. BakerAvenue believes these companies are financially solid and provide the range of services necessary at reasonable costs.

BakerAvenue primarily recommends Fidelity, a registered broker dealer and investment adviser with FINRA and the SEC. Fidelity clears all securities transactions on a fully disclosed basis through National Financial Services, LLC ("NFS"), a registered broker dealer. BakerAvenue has negotiated with Fidelity commissions, custodial, and other charges that are beneficial to its Clients and discounted from Fidelity's standard rates. In addition, Fidelity makes available to BakerAvenue certain institutional mutual funds that would otherwise not be available to BakerAvenue and its Clients due to higher purchase minimums imposed by mutual funds. Fidelity also provides prime brokerage services to any BakerAvenue Client portfolio in excess of $100,000. BakerAvenue may, but is not obligated to, aggregate block trades and select executing brokers other than Fidelity to execute those transactions (with settlement at Fidelity); this may allow BakerAvenue to obtain a negotiated or better price.

Clients whose portfolios are under $100,000 are not qualified for prime brokerage and as a result, all securities transactions for these Clients are executed solely at Fidelity at the pre-negotiated commission / transaction charges.

BakerAvenue also recommends Charles Schwab and Company, Inc. and Schwab's Institutional program (collectively, "Schwab") which is similar to the program offered by Fidelity in that to qualify for prime broker trading (away from Schwab) the portfolio minimum is also $100,000.

Clients whose portfolios are under $100,000 are not qualified for prime brokerage and as a result, all security transactions for these Clients are executed solely at Schwab at the pre-negotiated commission / transaction charges.

BakerAvenue also recommends TD Ameritrade which is also similar to the program offered by Fidelity and Schwab in that to qualify for prime broker trading (away from TD) the portfolio minimum is also $100,000.

Clients whose portfolios are under $100,000 are not qualified for prime brokerage and as a result, all security transactions for these Clients are executed solely at TD Ameritrade at the pre-negotiated commission / transaction charges.

It is BakerAvenue's policy to trade away from the custodian for block equity trades above a certain share amount and to trade at the custodian when trading for Clients individually. Clients using the custodial services can typically be charged a trade-away fee for transactions placed and executed by executing brokers other than the custodian. However, the benefits of trading away include having access to better inventory as well as the ability to negotiate more favorable prices for its Clients. Smaller accounts with a market value of under the custodian minimums are not eligible to take part in the prime brokerage program due to their size. The trades for these accounts must be traded at their custodian. Prices obtained for trades placed in the prime brokerage program will be different (sometimes higher, sometimes lower) than prices obtained for accounts that are required to trade at the custodian.

Dual contract Clients are Clients that have a contract with the third party manager and a separate contract with BakerAvenue. The accounts are managed on a discretionary basis, however, most Clients participating in these programs direct us to place transactions for their accounts at their broker dealer/custodians.

Soft dollars: BakerAvenue engages in soft dollars and will only engage in soft dollar transactions that are in compliance with Section 28(e) of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 (the “Exchange Act”) as amended, the so-called “safe harbor” for investment managers to receive research and execution services that provide lawful and appropriate assistance to BakerAvenue in the performance of its investment decision making responsibilities. In addition to research services, BakerAvenue may be offered other benefits by broker-dealers that it engages to execute securities transactions on behalf of its Clients. These benefits may take the form of special execution capabilities:

- Clearance and settlement;
- Online pricing;
- Block trading and block positioning capabilities;
- Willingness to execute related or unrelated difficult transactions in the future;
- Order of call;
- Performance measurement data;
- Consultations;
- Economic and market information;
- Periodical subscriptions (e.g., the Financial Times, Investor’s Business Daily, etc.);
- Portfolio strategy advice;
- Industry and company comments, technical data, recommendations, general reports;
- Efficiency of execution and error resolution;
- The availability of stocks to borrow for short trades;
- Custody;
- Record keeping and similar services.

BakerAvenue has the option to use “soft dollars” generated by Client transactions to assist with its overall costs, in paying for the research or brokerage services described above. Within the last fiscal year, BakerAvenue used “soft-dollars” to receive the following products and services: (i) software and other products that aggregate market data, (ii) research reports, company financial data, economic data, and (iii) equipment in connection with investment analysis and decision making.

The use of brokerage commissions to obtain investment research, in addition to BakerAvenue’s ability to set the soft dollar credits, is a conflict of interest among BakerAvenue and its Clients. This is due to the use of Client assets (brokerage paid) to pay for products or services that benefit BakerAvenue and not exclusively its Clients.

The foregoing benefits may be available for use by BakerAvenue without engaging in soft dollar transaction or in connection with transactions in which all Clients did not participate. The availability of these benefits may influence BakerAvenue to select one broker rather than another to perform services for its Clients. Nevertheless, BakerAvenue’s selection of which brokers to utilize will be driven by a concerted striving for “best execution.” Also, BakerAvenue will attempt to assure that the fees and costs for services provided to us by brokers offering these benefits are reasonable in relation to the fees and costs charged by other equally capable brokers not offering such services.

Not all BakerAvenue Client accounts are eligible for soft dollar transactions yet those accounts may also receive (directly or indirectly) a benefit from the soft dollar products and services purchased by BakerAvenue.

Best Execution: BakerAvenue's criteria for the selection or recommendation of a broker dealer or custodian are consistent across all its decision making when it comes to Clients' transactions. As a fiduciary to its Clients, BakerAvenue is obligated to use broker dealers believed to provide best execution to BakerAvenue and its Clients. Best execution, however, is not a defined term, it is a concept. In seeking best execution for Client transactions BakerAvenue evaluates brokers on the following factors and these may vary transaction-by-transaction. The ultimate goal is not necessarily the best price or lowest commission charge. The ultimate goal of best execution is to achieve, at that point in time, the best overall execution for the Clients for a particular transaction. BakerAvenue evaluates brokers on the following criteria:

- Actual execution
- Ability to promptly and reliably effect transactions
- Commission charges / spreads
- Market of the security
- Consistency of process (minimal trade errors)
- Willingness to work with us
- Clearing and settlement
- The broker's operational efficiency with which transactions are effected, taking into account the size of the order and the difficulty of the transactions
- The financial strength, integrity, and stability of the broker
- The confidential treatment of BakerAvenue's block trades that the broker is working for us
- Competitiveness of commission rates and charges
- Support services that may be provided (non-soft dollars)

Directed Brokerage: This applies to Clients who have dual contract relationships and/or accounts that do not meet their custodian's prime brokerage minimum. Certain Clients may decide to direct BakerAvenue to place all of their security transactions at a designated broker or dealer ("directed brokerage") as BakerAvenue manages their account.

Clients who direct us to use a particular broker or dealer need to understand that in these situations, BakerAvenue will not be in a position to negotiate commissions, block trades, achieve volume discounts, or achieve best execution. Clients may direct us to use a specific broker or dealer for all of the Client's transactions or only when all other considerations are equal (which may never be achieved due to limitations inherent in directed brokerage instructions). Clients have, therefore, negotiated their own commissions or other transactions costs with the broker.

Exception: Directed Brokerage Clients may inquire from BakerAvenue the commissions, custodial, execution, and other variables negotiated by or monitored by BakerAvenue for Clients who do not direct BakerAvenue to use a particular broker or dealer in an effort to evaluate their directed broker.

Rotational System: To treat all Clients in a fair and equitable manner, BakerAvenue has developed and uses the following system to determine which Client transactions are implemented first. This process only applies when BakerAvenue determines to purchase or sell a security across all of its investment products or across all Client accounts (as the case may be).

When the investment decision is made, BakerAvenue places orders by broker dealer / custodian as follows:

- Places orders for all Client accounts held at Fidelity; then
- Rotate (on a random basis) Client accounts held at other custodians.

Trade Allocations / Block Trading: BakerAvenue may, but is not obligated to, aggregate trades for more than one Client with transactions in the same securities at the same time. The benefit to block trading is the ability for BakerAvenue to negotiate price and commission and achieve better (best) execution versus placing the transactions separately. This also allows BakerAvenue to allocate limited investment opportunities across a number of Clients in a fair and equitable manner. BakerAvenue:

- Will identify the aggregate amount of the security needed for a complete fill;
- Will ensure that each participating Client is identified prior to the trade being placed (pre-allocation);
- Will average the prices of multiple transactions executed on a given day to obtain the full amount of the security (the average price of all transactions which is provided to each participating Client);
- For partial fills BakerAvenue will utilize a proportional or random allocation across all participating Client accounts;
- If a pre-execution allocation was not completed, BakerAvenue will allocate as follows:
 - Random or proportional (pro-rated) allocation will be made based on a number of factors such as account suitability, cash available, size of the portfolio, etc.
- BakerAvenue permits the aggregate blocking of personal securities transactions with those of Clients if the block is filled on the same day (average price for all participants);
 - If the order is partially filled or takes multiple days to fill, shares for employee accounts are allocated on a prorated or random basis along with Clients (thus, employee accounts could be allocated shares and Client accounts could not or vice-versa) or else the Employee accounts are excluded; and from the allocation and Clients are allocated on a prorated or random basis
 - Under no circumstance will a partial fill be allocated solely to an employee account.

- Allocation Exceptions: if the executed amount is deemed by the Chief Investment Officer to be de minimis, shares may be allocated to the participating Client accounts that are the smallest (i.e., complete fills, for example share allocations of 150 or less) or allocated to an account that is out of line with the desired allocation or sector weighting).
- For sale transactions, allocations may be given to accounts in need of cash.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

All accounts are reviewed by the lead advisor on the Client account. These reviews are conducted on at least an annual basis. The review looks at the conformity of the account holdings with Client investment objectives and guidelines. BakerAvenue does not assign a specific number of accounts to any specific lead advisor, but allocates the resources to geographic regions across the United States.

In addition, the Portfolio Managers of BakerAvenue continually monitor markets, world and economic events, including securities held by its Clients. This work by the Portfolio Managers provides each Client account or portfolio with an indirect and continual portfolio review.

BakerAvenue does request that Clients contact their lead advisor should any changes occur in their personal financial situation which may impact the portfolio management services BakerAvenue provides to them.

Reports:

BakerAvenue provides each Client, within a household, that has assets under management of $1mm or more, a quarterly report showing holdings and performance of its portfolio(s).

This includes information related to realized gains or losses, interest and dividend income, and other specific details. BakerAvenue has engaged third party service providers to facilitate the generation and delivery of Client reports and uses data provided by their custodians to generate these reports.

These reports are provided in addition to the monthly and/or quarterly reports each Client receives directly from their custodian. BakerAvenue is provided with this same information either by mail, electronically through data downloads, or through access to the custodian's website or other electronic systems.

Notice for all Clients: Under SEC rules that took effect March 12, 2010 related to custody of Client funds or securities, all SEC registered investment advisers (such as BakerAvenue) are required, if periodic reports are sent to their Clients, to disclose the following information (this statement will also be included in the Client's quarterly reports received from BakerAvenue):

BakerAvenue encourages each Client to review their custodial reports received directly from their (qualified) custodian with the quarterly reports received from BakerAvenue. If there are any questions on the information provided by the custodian or BakerAvenue, the Client should contact their BakerAvenue adviser.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

BakerAvenue receives economic benefit from TD Ameritrade, Schwab, and Fidelity (at no cost to us) through its participation in their independent adviser service programs. Although the benefits received through BakerAvenue's participation in these programs provide economic benefit to us, they are not considered research services under Section 28(e) of the Exchange Act.

The economic benefits provided by TD Ameritrade, Schwab, and Fidelity (and Clients who custody with them) include, among others:

- Access to dedicated trading desks;
- Client confirmations and bundled statements for all Client accounts;
- Block trading and prime brokerage services;
- Electronic communication networks for Client information access / portfolios and trading;
- Software, tools and information relevant to independent investment advisers;
- Access to educational or due diligence programs;
- Marketing and other support; and
- Deduction of investment advisory fees due to BakerAvenue from Client accounts (based on a spreadsheet request to custodian from BakerAvenue).

Fidelity Investments Wealth Advisor Services Referral Program:

BakerAvenue participates in the Fidelity Investments Wealth Advisor Solutions® program (the "WAS Program"), through which it receives referrals from Strategic Advisers, Inc. ("SAI"), a registered investment adviser and subsidiary of FMR LLC, the parent company of Fidelity Investments. BakerAvenue is independent and not affiliated with SAI or FMR LLC. SAI does not supervise or control BakerAvenue, and SAI has no responsibility or oversight for BakerAvenue's provision of investment management or other advisory services.

Under the WAS program, SAI acts as a solicitor for BakerAvenue, and BakerAvenue pays referral fees to SAI for each referral received based on assets under management attributable to each Client referred by SAI or members of each Client's household. The WAS Program is designed to help investors find an independent investment advisor, and any referral from SAI to BakerAvenue does not constitute a recommendation or endorsement by SAI of BakerAvenue's particular investment management services or strategies. More specifically, BakerAvenue pays the following amounts to SAI for referrals: for referrals made prior to April 1, 2017, the sum of (i) an annual percentage of 0.10% of any and all assets in client accounts where such assets are identified as “fixed income” assets by SAI and (ii) an annual percentage of 0.25% of all other assets held in client accounts. For referrals made prior to April 1, 2017, these fees are payable for a maximum of seven years. Fees with respect to referrals made after that date are not subject to the seven year limitation. In addition, BakerAvenue has agreed to pay SAI a minimum annual fee amount in connection with its participation in the WAS Program. These referral fees are paid by BakerAvenue and not the client.

To receive referrals from the WAS Program, BakerAvenue must meet certain minimum participation criteria, but BakerAvenue may have been selected for participation in the WAS Program as a result of its other business relationships with SAI and its affiliates, including Fidelity Brokerage Services, LLC (“FBS”). As a result of its participation in the WAS Program, BakerAvenue may have a potential conflict of interest with respect to its decision to use certain affiliates of SAI, including FBS, for execution, custody and clearing for certain Client accounts, and BakerAvenue may have a potential incentive to suggest the use of FBS and its affiliates to its advisory Clients, whether or not those Clients were referred to BakerAvenue as part of the WAS Program. Pursuant to these arrangements, BakerAvenue has agreed not to solicit clients to transfer their brokerage accounts from affiliates of SAI or establish brokerage accounts at other custodians for referred clients other than when BakerAvenue fiduciary duties would so require, and has agreed to pay SAI a one-time fee equal to 0.75% of the assets in a client account that is transferred from SAI’s affiliates to another custodian; therefore, BakerAvenue may have an incentive to suggest that referred clients and their household members maintain custody of their accounts with affiliates of SAI. However, participation in the WAS Program does not limit BakerAvenue’s duty to select brokers on the basis of best execution.

Item 15 – Custody

Under government regulations, BakerAvenue is deemed to have custody of a Client’s assets if the Client has authorized BakerAvenue to instruct its custodian to deduct such Client’s advisory fees directly from the Client’s account. However, the qualified custodian maintains actual custody of the Client’s assets.

Clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker dealer, bank, or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains the Client’s investment assets. BakerAvenue urges Clients to carefully review such statements and compare them to the account statements provided by BakerAvenue. BakerAvenue’s statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

BakerAvenue generally provides investment discretionary portfolio management services to Clients. This means that BakerAvenue has the authority provided in the applicable Client Agreement to purchase or sell securities for Clients’ accounts and determine the amount of securities to purchase or sell without obtaining their consent to the transactions. Of course, BakerAvenue determines securities transactions based on the Client's needs, risk tolerances, and other factors that govern its portfolio management services. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular Client account.

In addition, Clients may impose certain limitations or restrictions on BakerAvenue's services, for example, excluding certain stocks or bonds of companies (sin stocks, anti-union stocks, weapons manufactures, etc.) or sectors or industries or concentrations in any sector or industry from being purchased in their portfolio. However, BakerAvenue reserves the right to reject or not engage a Client or terminate an agreement with a Client, if determined the investment restrictions the Client intends to impose prohibit BakerAvenue from delivering its services as defined in the agreement with the Client. All limitations or restrictions must be provided to BakerAvenue, in writing, and will not be accepted or implemented until signed (accepted) by BakerAvenue.

BakerAvenue may also manage certain accounts (and when requested, only) on a non-discretionary basis.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

Voting Proxies

Under SEC Rule 206(4)-6, investment advisers have a fiduciary obligation to their clients if the adviser has authority to vote their proxies. BakerAvenue is authorized to vote proxies on behalf of Client discretionary accounts, unless directed otherwise in writing. For BakerAvenue strategies as described in Item 4 above, BakerAvenue shall vote the proxies. BakerAvenue does not vote for separately managed accounts or accounts managed by sub-advisors. The Client should refer to the sub-advisor and/or separate manager's Disclosure Brochure (ADV) for proxy voting details.

BakerAvenue retains the obligation to vote its Clients' proxies and has engaged Glass Lewis & Co. ("Glass Lewis") to assist with physical proxy voting matters. Glass Lewis was also selected due to its excellent research tools and advanced technical capabilities. They will act as BakerAvenue's agent to provide certain administrative, clerical, functional recordkeeping, and support services related to the Firm's proxy voting processes/procedures, which include, but are not limited to:

1. The collection of proxy material from Clients' custodians;
2. The facilitation of proxy voting, reconciliation, and disclosure, in accordance with the Firm's proxy policies and direction; and
3. Recordkeeping and voting record retention.

BakerAvenue generally follows Glass Lewis proxy voting policies to vote proxies in a manner deemed to be in the best economic interest of its Clients, as a whole, as shareholders and beneficiaries to those actions. BakerAvenue recognizes that each proxy vote must be evaluated on its own merits. Factors such as a company's organizational structure, executive and operational management, Board of Directors structure, corporate culture and governance process, and the impact of economic, environmental and social implications may all be key elements in voting decisions. BakerAvenue believes that it is in the best interest of shareholders to abstain from voting in countries that participate in share blocking as share blocking limits the trading ability of the portfolio manager.

If applicable, BakerAvenue will consider Client specific preferences and/or develop and apply criteria unique to its Client base, as appropriate, and will communicate this information to Glass Lewis so those Clients' proxies will be voted accordingly. BakerAvenue has reviewed Glass Lewis' capabilities as agent for the administrative services above and is confident in its abilities to provide these services effectively and will monitor such capability on an ongoing basis.

In the absence of express contractual provisions or Client directions to the contrary, BakerAvenue will vote proxies for its discretionary Clients except as noted below.

BakerAvenue maintains proxy guidelines for U.S. domestic and global proxy voting issues. ERISA accounts will be voted in accordance with the U.S. domestic proxy guidelines as ERISA specific guidelines and requirements are incorporated into these guidelines.

BakerAvenue follows different voting recommendations for different categories of Clients such that votes cast on behalf of some Clients may oppose votes cast on behalf of other Clients. Although BakerAvenue does its best to alleviate or diffuse such conflicts, there is no guarantee that all situations have been or will be mitigated through proxy policy incorporation.

Proxy Voting records are available upon request.

Class Action Lawsuits

Occasionally, securities held in the accounts of clients will be the subject of class action lawsuits. BakerAvenue has retained the services of Financial Recovery Technologies (FTP) to provide a comprehensive review of our clients' possible claims to a settlement throughout the class action lawsuit process. FTP files, monitors and expedites the distribution of settlement proceeds in compliance with SEC guidelines on behalf of our clients. FTP's fee is contingent upon the successful completion and distribution of the settlement proceeds from a class action lawsuit. In recognition of FTP's services, it receives 20% of our clients' share of the settlement distribution. Clients may opt out of this service.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Registered investment advisers are required in this Item to provide Clients with certain financial information or disclosures about their financial condition. BakerAvenue has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to Clients, and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.
