Item 2- Material Changes

On July 28, 2010 the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), published “Amendments to Form ADV” which amends the disclosure document that we provide to clients as required by SEC rules. This brochure dated March 29, 2011 has been updated and was prepared according to the SEC’s new requirements and rules. As such, this document is materially different in structure and requires additional information that our previous brochure did not require.

In the future, this Item 2 will discuss only specific material changes that are made to the brochure and provide clients with a summary of such changes. We will also provide the date of our last annual update of the brochure. This brochure updates our last brochure dated June 22, 2010.

In the past we have offered or delivered information about our qualifications and business practices to clients annually. Pursuant to new SEC Rules, we will ensure that you receive a summary of any material changes to this and subsequent brochures within 120 days of the close of our business’ fiscal year. We may further provide other ongoing disclosure information about any material changes as necessary, and will provide you with a new brochure reflecting updated information, at any time, without charge.

Currently, our brochure may be requested by contacting John Horan, Chief Compliance Officer, at 877-334-1283 or john@trinityfiduciary.com. Our brochure is also available free of charge on our web site www.trinityfiduciary.com.

Additional information about Trinity Fiduciary Partners, LLC can also be found on the SEC’s web site www.adviserinfo.sec.gov. The SEC’s web site also provides information about any persons affiliated with Trinity Fiduciary Partners, LLC who are registered, or required to be registered, as investment adviser representatives of Trinity Fiduciary Partners, LLC.

Item 4- Advisory Business

Trinity Fiduciary Partners, LLC (“Trinity”) is an investment advisory company that was founded in 2005. The principal owner of the firm is Samuel J. Saladino III.

Trinity’s business has four areas of focus:

- Trinity serves as the Investment Adviser for the Epiphany Funds Trust. Epiphany Funds is a mutual fund family consisting of three Funds screened according to “Faith and Family Values” (FFV). Another Fund in the Trust is the Dana Large Cap Core Fund. This is an unscreened Fund.
- To facilitate this effort, Trinity developed the FFV Scorecard™, a method of screening, combining the areas of “socially responsible investing” and “Catholic investing”. This is a proprietary technique designed by Trinity to score and screen a large universe of publically traded stocks for the purpose of making investment decisions.
- Trinity offers to individual clients investment supervisory services on a separate account basis. Many of these clients will come to Trinity because of an interest in Catholic investing. These services may include the following:
 1. Interviewing potential clients to determine goals, assess tolerance for risk, and establish cash flow requirements.
 2. Agreement upon and preparation of an Investment Policy Statement (IPS) to address these goals and needs.
 3. Investment portfolio management according to the guidelines contained in the Investment Policy Statement. Investment due diligence as defined in the IPS.
 4. The asset management may be on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis.
 5. Quarterly performance reports by mail.
 6. Annual service meeting to review accounts, and update client profiles.
 7. Phone or e-mail communications throughout the year to answer questions regarding the client accounts.
- Trinity offers consulting with individuals and businesses on a case by case fee-for-service basis.

Clients shall open an investment account at a Custodial firm selected by Trinity, and shall grant a limited power of attorney to Trinity which will permit us to effectively carry out our duties as described in the IPS. Trinity may choose to work with a custodian suggested by the client at Trinity’s discretion.

As of March 29, 2011, Trinity manages $25.4 Million dollars on a discretionary basis, and $573,000 on a non-discretionary basis.

Item 5- Fees and Compensation

The normal annual investment management fee for each client is 1% of assets managed, with a minimum annual fee of $5000. However, ALL FEES ARE NEGOTIABLE at Trinity's discretion. The fee is charged quarterly in advance. It is deducted from the account approximately two weeks after the beginning of each calendar quarter. The billing statement is mailed along with a quarterly statement of account transactions and overall performance by the 18th of April, July, October, and January of each year. The method of calculating the quarterly fee is detailed in Appendix A of the Investment Management Agreement (IMA), a signed copy of which is delivered to each client upon opening the account(s).

Trinity's fees are in addition to any brokerage commissions, transaction fees, custodial fees, wire transfer fees, income taxes, and any other costs or expenses incurred by the client for other professional services. However, Trinity does not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, or costs. Mutual funds and Exchange Traded Funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus.

Trinity acts as the Investment Adviser to the Epiphany Funds Trust, an open-end registered investment company, which includes the following funds:

EPIPHANY FFV FUND

EPIPHANY FFV FOCUSED FUND

EPIPHANY FFV STRATEGIC INCOME FUND

DANA LARGE CAP CORE FUND

Trinity, for its clients, will often purchase and sell shares of the Epiphany Mutual Funds. AN APPARENT CONFLICT OF INTEREST MAY EXIST. In all cases, transactions are effected after explicit disclosure has been made to the client. In some situations a portion of Trinity's advisory fee may be waived. All fees paid by clients are clearly defined in the clients' IMA.

Advisory services shall continue until the agreement is terminated by either party. Clients may terminate services at any time, effective immediately upon Trinity's receipt of written notice from the client. Trinity may terminate services at any time upon at least 30 days written notice to the client. In the event of termination by either party, Trinity will reimburse to the client any unearned investment management fees within ten business days following the date of termination.

Item 6- Performance-based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

Trinity does not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

Item 7- Types of Clients

Trinity provides portfolio management services to individuals, high net worth individuals, registered mutual funds, trusts, estates, and charitable institutions.

Item 8-Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Trinity provides investment management services by prudently selecting investments to fulfill the mandate of the individual investors' IPS. Trinity uses various investments with different and distinct risk/return profiles so that the client can maintain a diversified portfolio designed to achieve the clients' objectives. The primary type of investment used is open-end mutual funds (including Epiphany Funds). Trinity also invests client assets in individual stock securities, exchange traded funds (ETFs), individual government and agency bonds, exchange traded bonds, closed-end bond funds, individual corporate bonds, and real estate investment trusts (REITs). Trinity does NOT use market-timing, frequent trading, margin transactions, futures contracts, or options as part of its investment strategy.

All of Trinity's investment analysis is of a "fundamental" nature. For mutual funds, absolute, bench-mark relative, and peer-relative performance is considered, along with expense ratio, total assets, volatility, and portfolio turnover. For stock funds (both domestic and international), attributes such as PE ratio and average market capitalization are considered. For bond funds, attributes such as average maturity, current yield, and average credit quality are considered. Trinity rarely recommends individual stocks, but will consider individual client preferences. For stocks, Trinity will monitor news concerning ongoing financial condition, as well as general sector/industry conditions and will make changes when, in Trinity's best judgment, it is appropriate to do so. Individual bonds with a credit rating below BBB are not permitted.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.

These risks include:

- Mutual Fund and Exchange Traded Fund Risk. Mutual funds and ETFs are subject to investment advisory and other expenses, which will be indirectly paid by the client. Mutual funds are also subject to management risk as the Adviser to the fund may be unsuccessful in meeting the fund's investment objective and may temporarily pursue strategies which may be inconsistent with the client's objectives.
- Moral Investing Risk. The Adviser invests in some mutual funds only if they meet certain moral and ethical requirements, and as such, the return may be lower than if the adviser made decisions based solely on investment considerations.
- Market Risk. Stock prices can decline due to changes in the economic outlook, interest rates, and economic, political or social events in the U.S. or abroad. All stocks are subject to these risks.
- Investment Style Risk. The Adviser's judgment about the attractiveness, value and potential appreciation of particular asset classes or individual securities in which the client invests may prove to be incorrect and there is no guarantee that the Adviser's judgment will produce the desired results.
- Foreign Investing Risk. Foreign investing involves risks not typically associated with U.S. investments. These risks include, among others, adverse fluctuations in foreign currency values as well as adverse political, social and economic developments affecting a foreign country. In addition, foreign investing involves less publically available information, and more volatile or less liquid securities markets.
- REIT Risk. Investing in REITs involves certain unique risks in addition to those risks associated with investing in the real estate industry in general. Equity REITs may be affected by changes in the value of the underlying property owned by the REIT, while mortgage REITs may be affected by the quality of any credit extended. REITs are dependent upon management skills, are not diversified, and are subject to heavy cash flow dependency, default by borrowers and self-liquidation.
- Credit Risk. The issuer of a bond security may not be able to make interest and principal payments when due. Generally, the lower the rating of the security, the greater the risk that the issuer will default on its obligation, which could result in a loss to the client.
- Interest Rate Risk. Fixed Income securities value and total return will vary in response to changes in interest rates. If rates increase, the value of the client's investments in bonds or bond funds will generally decline.
- Government Risk. The U.S. government's guarantee of ultimate payment of principal and timely payment of interest on certain U.S. government securities owned by the client does not imply that the value of the client's interest in the security will not fluctuate.

Item 9- Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of Trinity or the integrity of Trinity's management. Trinity has no information applicable to this item.

Item 10- Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

As disclosed in Items 4 & 5, Trinity serves as investment adviser to Epiphany Funds trust. Other than this, there are no other activities or affiliations to disclose.

Item 11- Code of Ethics

Trinity has adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the firm. It describes in detail Trinity's high standard of business conduct and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, the prohibition of insider trading, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts, the requirement to report certain gifts and business entertainment activities, personal securities trading procedures, among other things. Trinity maintains and enforces written policies reasonably designed to prevent unlawful use of material non-public information.

Trinity anticipates that, in certain appropriate circumstances, where consistent with clients' investment objectives, it will cause accounts over which Trinity has management authority, and will recommend to clients or prospective clients, the purchase or sale of securities in which Trinity and/or its clients have a position of interest. None of Trinity's supervised persons may effect for himself or herself, for his or her immediate family, or for trusts for which the supervised person serves as trustee, any transaction in a security which is being actively bought or sold on behalf of Trinity's clients. According to Trinity's Code of Ethics, employees and supervised persons are allowed to purchase shares in any of the EPIPHANY FUNDS, provided the shares are held a minimum of one year. Nonetheless, because the Code of Ethics in some circumstances would permit employees to invest in the same securities as clients, the possibility exists that employees might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by an employee. Employee trading is continually monitored by the Firm's Chief Compliance Officer to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between Trinity and its clients.

Trinity's clients or prospective clients may request a copy of the Firm's Code of Ethics by contacting Trinity's Chief Compliance Officer.

Item 12- Brokerage Practices

As a general rule, Trinity clients use Schwab Advisor Services (formerly called Schwab Institutional) as custodian and broker for client accounts. The factors that Trinity considers when recommending Schwab, as well as any other custodian or broker, include financial strength, reputation and stability, breadth of available investment products (stocks, bonds, mutual funds, etc), execution of trades, pricing, research, services (including transfers and payments to and from accounts, wire transfers, check requests, bill payment, etc.), and securities insurance. Trinity is independently owned and operated and is not affiliated with Schwab.

Although Trinity may recommend that clients use Schwab as custodian/broker, clients will decide whether or not to do so and will open accounts with Schwab by entering into an account agreement directly with them. Trinity does not open the account, but may assist in doing so. The commissions and fees paid to the broker/custodian by clients of Trinity shall comply with Trinity's duty to obtain "best execution" pricing. However, a client may pay a commission that is higher than that which another qualified broker-dealer might charge to effect the same transaction, in cases where Trinity determines in good faith, that the commission is reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research received. In seeking best execution the determinative factor is whether or not the transaction represents the best qualitative execution.

The client may direct Trinity in writing to use a particular broker-dealer to execute some or all transactions for the client. In such case, the client will negotiate terms and arrangements for the account with the broker-dealer directly, and Trinity will not seek better execution, services or prices. At its sole discretion, Trinity may decline the client's request.

Trinity may, but is not obligated, to combine or "aggregate" orders. Aggregation may be done to obtain "best execution", to negotiate more favorable commission rates, or to allocate equitably among Trinity's clients, differences in prices and other transaction costs than might have been obtained had such orders been placed independently.

In a "soft dollar" arrangement, an Adviser may receive additional investment research or a payment in exchange for executing trades or otherwise directing business to a particular broker. Trinity has no "soft dollar" agreements, either written or oral, with any broker.

Item 13- Review of Accounts

Trinity maintains and monitors the investment portfolios of its separate account clients as part of an ongoing managed process. The terms of this review are set forth in the Investment Policy Statement (IPS). Reviews are performed by an advisor representative of Trinity. Currently, there is no limit to the number of accounts that can be reviewed by an advisor.

Investment Management clients receive an account statement from Trinity each calendar quarter (January, April, July and October) detailing the performance of the account(s) during the preceding quarter. A transaction history, management fee statement, and performance history of all portfolio holdings are also included. This statement is in addition to the monthly account statement mailed by Schwab and other custodians. Clients are encouraged to compare and reconcile these statements carefully. Clients who discover any apparent discrepancies or do not understand how the return is calculated are encouraged to call the advisor for clarification. When either the client or advisor representative believes that an asset allocation change is appropriate or necessary, a face-to-face meeting is strongly encouraged. In such a case a new IPS is required.

Item 14- Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Trinity does not currently compensate or provide any economic benefit to any individuals who may refer potential clients to Trinity.

Item 15- Custody

Your assets must be maintained in an account at a “qualified custodian”, generally a broker/dealer or bank. We recommend Charles Schwab & Co., Inc., a registered broker/dealer, member SIPC, as the qualified custodian. Trinity does not maintain custody of your assets, although we may be deemed to have custody of your assets if you give us authority to withdraw assets from your account to pay our management fee. You will also give Trinity authority to buy and sell securities in your account when we instruct Schwab to do so.

You will receive account statements directly from Schwab monthly. These statements will be sent to the e-mail or the postal mailing address you provide to Schwab. You should carefully review these statements promptly.

Item 16- Investment Discretion

Trinity usually receives discretionary authority from the client at the beginning of an advisory relationship, to select the identity and amount of the securities to be bought or sold. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated objectives outlined in the Investment Policy Statement of each particular client.

When selecting securities and selecting amounts, Trinity observes the investment policies, limitations and restrictions of the clients for which it advises. For registered investment companies (mutual funds and exchange traded funds), Trinity's authority to trade securities may also be limited by certain federal securities and tax laws that require diversification of investments and favor the holding of investments once made.

Investment guidelines and restrictions must be provided to Trinity in writing.

Item 17- Voting Client Securities

As a matter of Firm practice, Trinity does not have authority to or vote proxies on behalf of advisory clients. Clients usually retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in client portfolios. Trinity may provide advice to clients regarding the voting of proxies.

In its capacity as Investment Adviser to Epiphany Funds Trust, Trinity retains for itself the duty of voting all proxies for securities held in the Mutual Funds. Records of these votes are carefully recorded and reported.

Clients may obtain information from Trinity about how Trinity voted any proxies on behalf of the Funds or their accounts by contacting John C. Horan, Chief Compliance Officer of Trinity.

Item 18- Financial Information

Registered Investment Advisers are required in this item to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about Trinity's financial condition. Trinity has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.
