Item 4 – SERVICES, FEES AND COMPENSATION

A. CMAP (Cambridge Managed Account Platform)

LongView Wealth Management (hereinafter referred to as “LongView”) utilizes an investment management program through Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. (“Cambridge”), registered broker-dealer, member Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (“FINRA”), and Securities Investor Protection Corporation (“SIPC”), called Cambridge Managed Account Platform (“CMAP”). CMAP enables LongView and its Advisory Representative to actively manage client investment portfolios in accordance with the client’s individual needs, objectives and risk tolerance, utilizing various investment products.

CMAP accounts are managed by LongView on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis as agreed to between the client and the Advisory Representative. Accounts managed on a discretionary basis will give LongView the authority to determine the securities to be purchased and sold in the account and alter the securities holdings from time to time, without prior consultation with you. Discretionary authority will be granted by you to LongView by execution of the Client Agreement. If you elect to have your accounts managed on a nondiscretionary basis, no changes will be made to the allocation of your account without prior consultation with you and your expressed agreement.

Accounts are custodied, by selection of Adviser, at Pershing, LLC (“Pershing”) or National Financial Services, LLC (“NFS”), both broker-dealers and members of the New York Stock Exchange (“NYSE”). Clients should be aware that by using Pershing or NFS, client may pay higher account related fees and execution charges than if LongView had selected another clearing firm. There is no affiliation between LongView and Pershing and NFS.

LongView primarily uses open-ended mutual funds and uses no-load and load waived or mutual funds purchased at net asset value (NAV). However, managed accounts are not exclusively limited to mutual funds and may include stocks and bonds which are typically transferred or requested by you and exchange traded funds (ETFs).

The CMAP Program may be offered as a wrap and non-wrap program. A wrap program is where the client will pay one fee and the fee will cover LongView’s advisory fee and any transaction charges. In a non-wrap program the client will pay LongView an advisory fee and will be assessed transaction fees for transactions, unless no transaction fee funds are utilized. Whether you select a wrap option or non-wrap, the management services will be the same. The difference is in how you pay.

Client accounts holding class C shares may be held in the CMAP account and managed, however class C shares will be excluded from the fee calculation.

Clients are advised that transactions in the account, account reallocations and rebalancing may trigger a taxable event for the client, with the exception of IRA accounts and 403(b) accounts and other qualified retirement accounts.

Fees and Compensation

Fees are negotiable and are not based on a share of capital gains upon or capital appreciation of the funds or any portion of the funds. Fees may vary from client-to-client and are detailed on the Client Agreement provided to the client. Fees vary based on the complexity of the services, number of meetings, and the Advisory Representative.

You may make additions to the Account or withdrawals from the Account, provided the Account continues to meet minimum account size requirements. No fee adjustments will be made for Account appreciation or depreciation. No fee adjustments will be made for additional deposits to or partial withdrawals from the client's portfolio during a period for assets held in the CMAP program. Portfolio is defined as all accounts of a client under management. Therefore, if a client opens a new account under management or closes an account under management, there will be no fee adjustment during the quarter.

Advisory Representatives may choose to aggregate all of a client's managed accounts together to determine the fee breakpoint based on the schedule. Thus, all accounts will pay the same fee. Alternatively, Advisory Representatives may choose to charge a fee based on the value of each account under management. Therefore, clients may pay a different fee on each account based on the account value.

LongView may change the above fee schedule upon 30-days prior written notice to you.

CMAP Program Fees*

FROM	TO	MAXIMUM CLIENT FEE
$0	$100,000	1.75%
$100,001	$250,000	1.50%
$250,001	$500,000	1.25%
$500,001	$1,000,000	1.20%
$1,000,001	and higher	0.85%

*Fees may be a flat fee based on the value of the client's managed portfolio or per account size or may be tiered. Clients on a tiered fee schedule will pay a fee based on each level outlined above (e.g. a $1,000,000 account will pay up to 1.75% on the first $100,000, 1.50% on the next $150,000, 1.25% on the next $250,000 and 1.20% on the remaining $500,000).

Advisory fees will generally be collected directly from your account, provided you have given LongView written authorization. You will be provided with an account statement reflecting the deduction of the advisory fee direct from the account custodian. If the Account does not contain sufficient funds to pay advisory fees, LongView has limited authority to sell or redeem securities in sufficient amounts to pay advisory fees. You may reimburse the account for advisory fees paid to LongView, except for ERISA and IRA accounts.

Advisory fees are charged on a calendar quarterly basis in advance or in arrears, depending on the Advisory Representative and as negotiated with the client. Fees for partial quarters (i.e.

LongView Wealth Management

accounts established or closed during a calendar quarter) will be charged a prorated portion of the fee for the calendar quarter. In cases where fees are charged in advance, the initial fee will be based on the value of the account upon establishment and will be prorated based on the number of days remaining in the calendar quarter. In cases where the fee is charged in arrears, the initial fee will be a prorated fee based on the number of days the account was under management and based on the value of the account as of the last business day of the calendar quarter. Thereafter the fees will be calculated based on the value of the account on the last business day of the just completed calendar quarter.

A set up fee not to exceed one percent (1%) of the initial account value may be charged. The set up fee will be billed in full along with the first quarter fee. The set up fee is negotiable.

You are advised Advisory Representatives of LongView are dually registered representatives of Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. ("Cambridge"), a registered broker/dealer, member of the Financial Regulatory Association (FINRA) and SIPC. Advisory Representatives of LongView who are Registered Representative may receive trail commissions (i.e. 12b-1 fees) for a period of time as a result of directing securities transactions through Cambridge. Load and no-load mutual funds may pay annual distribution charges, sometimes referred to as 12b-1 fees. 12b-1 fees come from fund assets, therefore, indirectly from your assets. 12b-1 fees may be initially paid to Cambridge and a portion passed to the Advisory Representatives. The receipt of such fees could represent an incentive for the Advisory Representatives to recommend funds with 12b-1 fees over funds that have no fees or lower fees. As a result, there is a potential conflict of interest.

As stated above, LongView recommends mutual funds that pay 12b-1 fees and no-load funds.

You may purchase the securities recommended by LongView directly or through other brokers or agents not affiliated with LongView.

Termination Provisions

Client may terminate LongView's engagement within five business days following receipt of Part II of Form ADV and receive a full refund of all prepaid fees paid to LongView. Thereafter, client may terminate upon LongView's receipt of client's written notice to terminate and receive a pro rata portion of the prepaid advisory fee based upon the time remaining under the Client Agreement from the date of receipt of client's written notice to terminate to the end of the calendar quarter. Clients who are paying in arrears will be charged a prorated fee for the quarter up to the date of receipt of client's written notice to terminate.

- B. The CMAP Program may cost the client more or less than if the client purchased advisory and execution services separately. If services are purchased separately, it is possible the advisory fee would be less and transaction charges could be controlled or managed based on the frequency of trading and the types of securities purchased (i.e. use of no transaction fee funds). Actively traded accounts may be more suitable for a wrap program, depending on the number of no transaction fee funds utilized. Clients are advised that typically a wrap program is more expensive since LongView will charge a higher fee to cover any transaction expenses.

LongView Wealth Management

Further, there may be an incentive for LongView to limit transactions to no transaction fee funds in an effort to reduce LongView's costs. This is considered a conflict of interest for LongView to cause a client to participate in a wrap program if trading will be infrequent or if a number of no transaction fee funds will be utilized since LongView will be able to retain a larger portion of the management fee since no fees will need to be allocated to trading costs by LongView. Therefore, there is an incentive for LongView to limit transactions to no-transaction fee funds in an effort to reduce LongView's costs.

Clients are advised LongView has several Advisory Representatives who are independent contractors. The Advisory Representatives may not charge an advisory fee in excess of the fee schedule disclosed above. However, each Advisory Representative determines the fee to the client. Therefore, depending on the Advisory Representative selected by the client, the client may pay more or less than another client serviced by another Advisory Representative.

- C. In addition to the advisory fees set forth above, account maintenance fees, custodial fees, and retirement fees for maintaining their portfolio. LongView does not share in any portion of these fees. However, the CMAP Program may be offered as a wrap account whereby the client will not be assessed transactions charges. Instead, the client will pay one all inclusive fee that includes LongView's fee and LongView will pay any transaction fees. Further, there may be an incentive for LongView to limit transactions to no transaction fee funds in an effort to reduce LongView's costs.

Additionally, wrap accounts will be charged transaction fees for any unsolicited transaction (i.e. transactions requested by the client).

Transaction charges will be assessed on those accounts participating in a non-wrap account.

Additionally, you may pay your proportionate share of the fund's management and administrative fees and sales charges as well as the mutual fund adviser's fee of any mutual fund they purchase. Such advisory fees are not shared with LongView and are compensation to the fund-manager. You should read the mutual fund prospectus prior to investing.

- D. Your Advisory Representative has an incentive in the advisory fee paid by the client since the Advisory Representative will receive a portion of the advisory fee collected by LongView. The amount of compensation paid to the Advisory Representative is not more or less than if your Advisory Representative selected another investment option.

Item 5 – ACCOUNT REQUIREMENTS AND TYPES OF CLIENTS

LongView generally requires a minimum amount of assets be deposited to an account for the purpose of obtaining asset management services through the CMAP Program. LongView will generally require you to deposit a minimum of $50,000 (cash or securities) for the CMAP Program. However, under certain circumstances, LongView may waive the minimum account size requirement and accept accounts less than the stated minimums. Such circumstances may include but not be limited to additional assets will soon be deposited or you have other accounts under management with LongView. You are advised performance may suffer due to difficulties with diversifying smaller accounts and due to risk controls potentially being compromised. Performance of smaller accounts may vary from the performance of accounts with more dollars invested due to fluctuations in the market may affect smaller accounts more and the effects of compounding may be greater in larger accounts.

LongView's services are geared toward individuals both high net worth (i.e. clients with a net worth of $1,500,000) and other than high net worth, pension and profit sharing plans, and corporations or other businesses.

Item 6 – PORTFOLIO MANAGER SELECTION AND EVALUATION

As stated above, LongView participates in a program (i.e CMAP (Cambridge Managed Account Platform) which is offered as wrap fee program or a non-wrap program. The CMAP program is more fully described below. The level and type of management does not differ whether you are placed in a wrap or non-wrap program. The difference is in how you pay and how costs are allocated to you. LongView's Advisory Representatives are the portfolio managers. The wrap fee will be allocated to the program sponsor, LongView and to your Advisory Representative.

LongView does not charge performance based fees.

LongView conducts economic analysis and attempts to analyze and determine the trends. Additionally, LongView conducts fundamental analysis. Item 9 – ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

- A. There is no reportable disciplinary information required for LongView or its management persons that is material to your evaluation of LongView, its business or its management persons.

Advisor's investment advisor representatives are registered representatives of Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. (Cambridge), a registered broker/dealer, member FINRA and SIPC. Clients are not obligated to purchase or sell securities through the investment advisor representatives in these separate capacities. However, if clients choose to implement the advice provided by Advisor through its investment advisor representatives in their separate capacities as registered representatives, Cambridge will be used and commissions may be earned in addition to any fees paid for advisory services.

Certain Advisory Representatives may participate in an equity participation plan through Cambridge. The Equity participation plan will give the Advisory Representatives shares of equity in Cambridge that will become vested over a period of time. Clients are advised the equity participation plan may involve conflicts of interest with clients in that the Advisory Representatives will have an incentive to remain registered with Cambridge. Further, the benefits received may increase with increased business production or certain thresholds being attained by the representatives. Therefore, the more production with Cambridge there may be opportunities to increase shares of equity in Cambridge.

LongView is not and does not have a related person who is a: futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, commodity trading advisor, or an associated person of the foregoing entities. Further, LongView is not and does not have a related person who is: broker/dealer or other similar type of broker or dealer; investment company or other pooled investment vehicle, other investment adviser or financial planner; futures commission merchant or commodity pool operator; banking or thrift institution; accountant or accounting firm; lawyer or law firm; insurance company or agency; pension consultant; real estate broker or dealer; or sponsor or syndicator of a limited partnership.

LongView attempts to mitigate the conflicts of interest with the potential receipt of commissions if recommendations are implemented by providing you with these disclosures. Further, you are encouraged to consult other professionals and may implement recommendations through other financial professionals. Furthermore, as a registered representative with Cambridge, Advisory Representatives are subject to a supervisory structure at Cambridge for his securities business.

LongView recommends other investment advisers (i.e. third party managers) and will receive a portion of the fee charged to you by the investment adviser or will charge a fee in addition to the third party managers. Since LongView has an interest in the compensation this is considered a material conflict of interest. LongView selects third party managers based on several criteria including cost, type of management, past history, ability to meet a need and provide a unique service. Since the fee charged to you is based on the value of your portfolio, all parties have an incentive to work toward performance goals and objectives. Consequently, if the third party manager does not adequately manage your account and the value of your portfolio goes down, so does the third party manager's and LongView's compensation.
