Item 4 Advisory Business

Ownership and affiliations

Natixis Asset Management Asia Limited (Company registration No.199801044D), was incorporated in Singapore in 1998 as a public limited company. It is fully owned by Natixis Asset Management, and is an indirect subsidiary of Natixis Global Asset Management (France) (“NGAM”), an international asset management group based in Paris, France. NGAM is in turn fully owned by Natixis, a French investment banking and financial services firm. Natixis is principally owned by BPCE, France’s second largest banking group.

License

Natixis Asset Management Asia Limited (“NAM Asia”) holds a Capital Markets Services Licence since 2005, issued by the Monetary Authority of Singapore to provide investment management services. Prior to 2005, it was registered as an Exempt Fund Manager. NAM Asia was also registered as an Exempt Financial Adviser since 2005 to provide certain financial advisory services like marketing of collective investment scheme.

Type of business

NAM Asia provides investment management and advisory services to funds / mandates which invests in Emerging and Developed Asia equities on a discretionary basis and on a non-discretionary basis. NAM Asia through its division, NGAM Singapore, also markets its affiliates’ funds, which are registered in Singapore, to Singapore investors as well as the investment capabilities of certain approved affiliates to only institutional and accredited investors in Singapore.

Asset Under Management

As at 31 December 2015, NAM Asia was managing about US$652.95 million of which US$538.95 million was on a discretionary basis and US$114.00 million was on a non-discretionary basis.

Item 5 Fees and Compensation

The following tables detail the standard fees (with or without performance fees). If there is any performance fees included*, and subject to approval from NAM Asia, the fees are negotiable. For the investment size stated below, fees is charged at a flat rate, however, NAM Asia can also provide tier rates upon request.

Investment Management Fees without Performance Fees (fees are based in US$)

Less than US$100m	US$100m to less than US$300m	US$300m and above
0.80%	0.75%	0.70%

Investment Management Fees with Performance Fees (fees are based in US$)

Less than US$100m	US$100m to less than US$300m	US$300m and above
0.50%	0.45%	0.40%

* Generally, the performance fee is calculated based on 15% of outperformance of fund's or mandates over its respective benchmark or hurdle rate or any other arrangement as agreed between NAM Asia and the client.

Billing and other fees

Subject to agreement between NAM Asia and the client, generally, the investment management fee is calculated and accrued daily based on the value of the assets (including any cash or cash equivalents) for such month. The investment management fee shall be invoiced and paid monthly in arrears. Depending on the arrangement, the fee can either be deducted from the fund/mandate assets or paid by client directly to NAM Asia. NAM Asia does not perform nor provide custody or fund administration services, hence, client shall designate or appoint its own custodian/fund administrator and such cost shall be bore by the fund/mandate or client. Accordingly, client shall send or cause its designated agent (custodian/fund administrator) to send NAM Asia a statement of the value of the assets (including cash or cash equivalents) for the relevant month to allow NAM Asia to calculate the management fee for such month.

In addition to the above, the fund/mandate will bear all cost incur relating to trading including brokerage and other transaction costs. Please refer to "Brokerage Practices" for more information.

Other Compensation

In addition, NAM Asia may also derive income from commissions received from other investment advisers that are owned directly or indirectly by NGAM. NAM Asia may introduce potential and existing clients to products offered by the NGAM's other investment advisers or investment capabilities of the investment advisers within the NGAM.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Please refer to the "Investment Management Fees with Performance Fees" schedule above. For funds that paid performance fees, the performance fees on the fund/mandate are usually levied on an annual basis (or such other shorter period as agreed between NAM Asia and the clients) and if there is no redemption during the Reference Period, it is paid within 30 days of the Reference Period. The Reference Period is usually fixed from the inception date of the fund/mandate to December 31 for the first year and then from January 1 to December 31 of each future calendar year or fund/mandate termination date, whichever is earlier. However, if the client redeemed during the Reference Period, the Performance Fee, if any, accrued during the Reference Period shall be crystallized and become payable to NAM Asia in accordance with the arrangement. The performance fee shall be paid in US$.

Generally, the performance fee is calculated based on 15% of outperformance of fund's or mandate's over its respective benchmark or hurdle rate or any other arrangement as agreed between NAM Asia and the client or stated within the fund offering document.

Performance fees can be computed based on any of the following computation as follow:

A. Performance fee computed against fund's / mandate's benchmark

$$\text{Performance Fee} = 15\% \times [(\text{NAV}_N / \text{NAV}_{N-1} - 1) - (\text{I}_N / \text{I}_{N-1} - 1)] \times \text{TNA}$$

NAV_N	= NAV per share (before any provision) expressed in USD, as calculated on the last valuation day of the relevant year in accordance with the terms of the Agreement
NAV_{N-1}	= NAV per share (before any provision) expressed in USD, as calculated on the last valuation day of the preceding year in accordance with the terms of the Agreement
I_N	= Closing value of the Index (I) as of the last valuation day of the relevant year.
I_{N-1}	= closing value of the Index (I) as of the last valuation day of the preceding year.
TNA	= total net value of the Assets (before any provision) expressed in USD, as calculated on the last valuation day of the relevant year, taking into account the average number of outstanding shares of the relevant year, in accordance with the terms of the agreement.

Example:

If $\text{NAV}_N = 5.00$; $\text{NAV}_{N-1} = 4.00$; $\text{I}_N = 2,500$; $\text{I}_{N-1} = 2,100$; $\text{TNA} = \text{US\$}20,000,000$

$$\begin{aligned}\text{Performance Fee} &= 15\% \times [(5/4 - 1) - (2500/2100 - 1)] \times \text{US$}20,000,000 \\ &= 15\% \times [(1.25 - 1) - (1.1905 - 1)] \times 20,000,000 \\ &= \text{US$ } 178,500\end{aligned}$$

All accruals, during the Reference Period, with respect to the performance fee of such an account will be directly allocated to the respective Performance-Fee Fund's performance fee account. In case of underperformance against the applicable Index during the reference period, the respective performance fee accrual shall be reduced accordingly for such Reference Period. In the event that the Performance-Fee Fund's underperformance exceeds the amount of the accrual allocated to the Performance-Fee Fund's performance fee account, such underperformance shall be accounted for and set off by future accruals credited to the Performance-Fee Fund's performance fee account. However, in case of underperformance against the applicable Index at the end of the Reference Period, such underperformance will not be carried forward to the next Reference Period.

However, if there are subsequent redemptions of some or all Performance-Fee Fund shares, such redemptions shall not reduce the Performance Fee accrued to that point, but rather such Performance Fee accrued on the redeemed shares shall be crystallized and paid within the stipulated period in accordance with the arrangement or offering document. Please note that crystallized Performance Fee from redeemed shares will not be offset by any underperformance of the Fund against the Index prior to payment.

B. Performance fee computed with hurdle rates (Equalization Methodology)

For each Reference Period, the Performance Fee will be equal to 15 per cent of the appreciation in the Net Asset Value per Participating Share of each class during that Reference Period above the Peak Net Asset Value per Participating Share. These classes adopt an equalization adjustments methodology.

The performance fee is calculated on a share-by-share basis so that each Participating Share of each class is charged a performance fee which equates precisely with that Participating Share's performance. This method of calculation ensures that (i) any Performance Fee paid to NAM Asia is charged only to those Participating Shares which have appreciated in value above the High Water Mark and Hurdle Rate, (ii) all holders of Participating Shares within each Class have the same amount of capital per Participating Share at risk in the Fund, and (iii) all Participating Shares of each sub-class of a Class have the same Net Asset Value per Participating Share of such sub-class.

Peak Net Asset Value per Participating Share is the greater of (i) the Net Asset Value per participating share of the relevant Class (after deduction of Performance Fee, if any) at the end of the immediately preceding Reference Period, and (ii) the Peak Net Asset Value per Participating Share of the relevant Class immediately preceding Reference Period adjusted with the Hurdle Rate applicable for the immediately preceding Reference Period.

C. Performance fee computed against fund's benchmark with hurdle rates

For each Performance Period, the Performance Fee will be equal to 15 per cent of the appreciation in the Net Asset Value per Class during that Performance Period over the Benchmark NAV for that Class of shares.

The performance fee is calculated based on the increase in Net Asset Value per Class basis over the Benchmark NAV adjusted with the Hurdle Rate, multiplied by the number of Participating Shares in that Class. Number of Participating Shares in that Class is based as at the last Valuation Point of the relevant period.

Benchmark NAV refers to the greater of (i) the Net Asset Value per participating share of that Class (after deduction of Performance Fee, if any) at the end of the immediately preceding Performance Period, or (ii) the Benchmark NAV per Participating Share of the relevant Class immediately preceding Performance Period adjusted with the Hurdle Rate applicable for the immediately preceding Performance Period.

Conflict of interest

Currently, NAM Asia does not have any fund that levied performance fee nor has established any funds.

For more information, please send an email request to singapore-marketing@am.natixis.com.

Item 7 Types of Clients

NAM Asia can provide services (portfolio management) to accredited investors including corporates, investment companies, other investment advisers, pooled investment vehicles or institutional investors subject to size of initial investment stated below. Currently, these services are provided to the following types of accounts:

As a delegated investment manager for its affiliates including the provision of investment advice to SICAV funds and FCP (French Fonds Commun de Placement);

NAM Asia currently provides investment advice to SICAV funds and FCP funds. NAM Asia can also provide investment advisory services to any other investment vehicles including pension plan.

A SICAV is an investment company with variable share capital. A mutual fund that has a SICAV structure has its own set of articles of incorporation and its own Board of Directors. Each share in the SICAV entitles the shareholder to a voting right at any shareholders meeting of the SICAV.

Fonds Commun de Placement, an FCP, is not an independent legal entity. It must be managed as a segregated pool of assets within a management company. The unit holders have no vote and therefore cannot take control of the company. The decisions lie with the board and the shareholders of the management company.

Size of initial investment

Depending on the type of investment vehicle employed and approval from NAM Asia's management, investment size may vary. Generally, the minimum investment amount for NAM Asia to commence managing a mandate is about US$15 million.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Natixis Asset Management Asia Investment Philosophy

A. Overview: philosophy, investment objective

Investment Philosophy

NAM Asia aims to deliver investment success in the Emerging equity markets & Developed Asia equity markets. NAM Asia is long only equity investors with an all-Cap approach and active long term bottom-up approach. NAM Asia believes that earnings growth ultimately drives stock returns. Knowledge and discipline are our two investment pillars. Accordingly, we focus on analytical proprietary research to identify valuation upside in our investment decisions. Further, the strict and simple portfolio construction rules aim at magnifying stock picking contributions to performance. Buy and sell discipline helps us to mitigate behavioral biases.

Investment Approach

The investment objective of NAM Asia is to produce a long term growth of capital and to outperform its respective benchmarks. Subject to regulatory or client's specific requirement, the portfolio is fully invested in the equity markets to help generate substantial long run benefits. The investment approach lies mostly on stock selection to achieve this target. Our growth oriented style seeks outstanding opportunities in companies for which the current valuation does not reflect fundamental value and forecasted growth.

Portfolios are conviction based with high concentration. Portfolios would on average comprise 40 to 70 holdings and exhibit a high specific risk contribution to tracking error. Construction rules (e.g. deviation vs. country and sector GICS level 2 not higher than 3 pp) ensure that the overall tracking error of portfolios remain within a 3-5% range. High active share ratio is also a common feature for portfolios.

Under stock selection strategy, the portfolio managers/analyst shall evaluate and select stocks which he/she identifies and believes that is advantageously positioned to benefit the respective fund / mandate investing in these stocks. Idea generation, proprietary research and discipline in investment decisions are the milestones of our portfolio construction process.

Following preparatory work and contact with the company's management, growth drivers and catalysts for price appreciation are discussed during investment meetings to decide whether a stock should be included in the selection. Proprietary valuation and sensitivity analysis are key to determine if the stock offers substantial upside on a 2-year investment horizon. The investment decision lies with the Investment Committee.

Portfolio holdings are closely monitored for news flow, absolute & relative performance and valuation upside. The ideas presented during investment meetings are also monitored on a weekly basis to identify possible candidates for future portfolio inclusion.

B. Risk

General

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that investors should be prepared to bear. Investors should consider and satisfy themselves as to the risks of investing in securities or funds. Generally, some of the risk factors that should be considered, among others, by investors are market risks, interest rate risks, foreign exchange risks, political risks, repatriation risks, liquidity risks and derivatives risks.

An investment in securities or funds is meant to produce returns over the long-term. Investors should not expect to obtain short-term gains from such investment.

Investors should be aware that the value of investments and the income accruing from the investments may fall or rise and investors may not get back their original investment.

Specific Risks

1 Counterparty Risk

The funds/mandates will take a credit risk on parties (except where equities trade settlement are based on “Delivery vs Payment” basis) with whom it trades and will also bear the risk of settlement defaults. Except if it is due to the regulations and/or market practices in that country, the funds/mandates will seek so far as practicable to ensure that all securities and other assets if deposited with such brokers are clearly identified as being assets of the fund/mandate and hence mitigate the credit risk. However, it will not always be possible to achieve this and there may be practical or time problems associated with enforcing the funds’/mandates’ rights to its assets in the case of an insolvency of any such party. Furthermore and in the case of insolvency or failure of any counterparty, a fund/mandate might recover, even in respect of property specifically traceable to it, only a pro-rata share of all property available for distribution to all of such party’s creditors and/or customers. Such an amount may be less than the amounts owed to the fund/mandate.

2 Market Risk

Investors should consider and satisfy themselves as to the usual risks of investing and participating in publicly traded securities including both larger and smaller capitalization companies. Prices of securities may go up or down in response to changes in economic conditions, interest rates and the market’s perception of securities which in turn may cause the net asset value of the fund / mandate to rise or fall. In addition, investments in emerging market securities involved certain risks which could be greater than those generally associated with investing in developed markets. The extent of economic development, political stability, market depth, infrastructure, capitalization, tax and regulatory oversight in emerging market economies is generally less than in more developed countries.

3 Currency/Foreign Exchange Risk

Investments by the funds/mandates may be made in a variety of currencies, whereas the net asset value of the funds/mandates at any time will be computed in US$ or such other fund/mandate currencies. Accordingly, the value of the funds/mandates may be affected favourably or unfavourably by currency exchange rates and exchange control regulations, although the portfolio managers may seek to minimize exposure to currency fluctuation to the extent practicable.

The portfolio managers may employ currency hedging techniques to manage the impact of the exchange rate fluctuations on the funds/mandates and/or for the purpose of efficient portfolio management. Please also refer to derivatives risk below.

4 Political Risk

The investments in the funds / mandates may be adversely affected by political instability as well as exchange controls, changes in taxation, foreign investment policies, restrictions on repatriation of investments and other restrictions and controls which may be imposed by the relevant authorities in countries in which the funds / mandates are invested.

5 Market and Liquidity Risk

Trading volumes in stock markets of certain countries included in the investment universe of the funds / mandates can be significantly lower than on the world's leading stock markets and settlement and custody practices in such markets may not be comparable to those of the world's leading stock markets, which may result in fluctuations in the net asset value of the funds / mandates. Also, liquidity may be less than the world's leading stock markets, resulting in the possibility of delays in the acquisition and disposal of some investments or settlement of such transactions at unfavourable prices.

6 Economic and Interest Rates Risk

Prices of securities may go up or come down in response to changes in economic conditions, interest rates and the market's perception of securities which in turn may cause the net asset value of the funds / mandates to rise or fall.

7 Performance Fee

As the Performance Fee accrues daily whenever the Net Asset Value per Unit/Share exceeds the Benchmark Value, an investor may bear such fees when he redeems his Units/Shares or at the end of the Accounting Period even if his redemption price or the price at the end of the Accounting Period (as the case may be) is lower than his subscription price.

8 Portfolio Management Risk

For any given fund/mandate, there is a risk that investment techniques or strategies are unsuccessful and may incur losses for the fund/mandate. Investor should note that past performance is not a reliable indicator as to future performance. The nature of and risks associated with a fund's / mandates future performance may differ materially from those investments and strategies historically undertaken by the portfolio manager. There can be no assurance that the portfolio manager will realize returns comparable to those achieved in the past or generally available in the market.

9 Derivatives Risk

Although NAM Asia currently does not invest in derivatives, however, NAM Asia is not prohibited from investing in derivative. Derivative are financial contracts whose value depend on, or is derived from, the value of an underlying asset, reference rate or index for hedging purposes or for the purpose of efficient portfolio management. Such assets, rates and indices may include bonds, shares, interest rates, currency exchange rates, bond indices and stock indices.

While the judicious use of derivatives by professional investment managers can be beneficial, derivatives involve risks different from, and, in some cases, greater than, the risks presented by more traditional securities investments. Some of the risks associated with derivatives are market risk, management risk, credit risk, liquidity risk and leverage risk, to name a few.

As the viability of exercising derivative instruments depends on the market price of the investments to which they relate, it may be the case that the portfolio managers may from time to time consider it not viable to exercise certain derivatives held by the fund / mandate within the prescribed period, in which case any costs incurred in obtaining the derivatives will not be recoverable. There is also the risk that the market price of the relevant investment may move adversely at any time during the exercise period or at the time at which the warrants or options are exercised and this may result in an immediate loss to the fund / mandate.

Note: The above risks should not be considered to be an exhaustive list of the risks which investors should consider. Investors should be aware that an investment may be exposed to other risks of an exceptional nature from time to time. Accordingly, investors should be prepared to bear the risks of loss. For client participating in a pool vehicle, please also refer to the respective fund prospectus, offering memoranda, or any other documents for a more detailed discussion of risks.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

- A. Neither Natixis Asset Management Asia Limited, nor any of our employees, has had any civil or criminal actions brought against them.
- B. Neither Natixis Asset Management Asia Limited, nor any of our employees, has had any administrative proceedings before the MAS, SEC, or any foreign regulatory authority.
- C. Neither Natixis Asset Management Asia Limited, nor any of our employees, has had any proceedings before a self-regulatory organization.

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

- A. No NAM Asia employees are registered, or have an application pending to register, as a broker-dealer or a registered representative of a broker-dealer.
- B. No NAM Asia employees are registered, or have an application pending to register, as a futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator or a commodity trading adviser.
- C. NAM Asia is an indirect subsidiary of NGAM, which owns a number of other asset management and distribution and service entities (each, together with any advisory affiliates of NAM Asia, a “related person”). As noted under Item 4, NGAM is owned by Natixis, which is principally owned by BPCE, France’s second largest banking group. BPCE is owned by banks comprising two autonomous and complementary retail banking networks consisting of the Caisse d’Epargne regional savings banks and the Banque Populaire regional cooperative banks. There are several intermediate holding companies and general partnership entities in the ownership chain between BPCE and NGAM. In addition, NGAM’s parent companies Natixis and BPCE each own, directly or indirectly, other investment advisers and securities and financial services firms which also engage in securities transactions.

NAM Asia does not presently enter into transactions, other than as set out below, with related persons on behalf of clients. Because NAM Asia is affiliated with a number of asset management, distribution and service entities, NAM Asia occasionally may engage in business activities with some of these entities, subject to NAM Asia’s policies and procedures governing conflicts of interest and, where appropriate, regulatory approval. For example, NAM Asia may enter into relationships with related persons, which include advisory or sub-advisory arrangements (on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis), cross-marketing arrangements for the sale of separate accounts and privately placed pooled vehicles, research sharing relationships and personnel sharing relationships. Moreover, NAM Asia may use related persons to provide certain services to clients to the extent this is permitted under applicable law and under NAM Asia's applicable policies and procedures. Given that related persons are equipped to provide a number of services and investment products to NAM Asia's clients, subject to applicable law, NAM Asia's clients may engage a related person of NAM Asia to provide any number of such services, including advisory, custodial or banking services, or may invest in the investment products provided or sponsored by a related person of NAM Asia. The relationships described herein could give rise to potential conflicts of interest or otherwise may have an adverse effect on NAM Asia's clients. For example, when acting in a commercial capacity, related persons of NAM Asia may take commercial steps in their own interests, which may be adverse to those of NAM Asia's clients.

Given the interrelationships among NAM Asia and its related persons and the changing nature of NAM Asia's related persons' businesses and affiliations, there may be other or different potential conflicts of interest that arise in the future or that are not covered by this discussion. Additional information regarding potential conflicts of interest arising from NAM Asia's relationships and activities with its related persons is provided under Item 11.

- D. NAM Asia also derives income from commissions received from other investment advisers that are owned directly or indirectly by NGAM through introducing potential and existing clients to products offered by or investment capabilities of the NGAM's other investment advisers as well as servicing affiliates' clients within the Asia ex Japan.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

- A. NAM Asia has adopted a Code of Ethics in compliance with SEC Rule 204A-1 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended, which establishes standards of conduct for NAM Asia's supervised persons. The Code of Ethics includes general requirements that NAM Asia's supervised persons comply with their fiduciary obligations to clients and applicable securities laws, and specific requirements relating to, among other things, personal trading, use of material, non-public information, outside employment, conflicts of interest and confidentiality of client information. It requires supervised persons to report their personal securities transactions and holdings periodically to NAM Asia's Chief Compliance Officer, and requires the Chief Compliance Officer to review those reports. Each supervised person upon joining NAM Asia is provided a copy of the Code of Ethics and any amendments to it and must acknowledge in writing on an annual basis having read and understood the materials provided.
- B. In connection with providing investment management and advisory services to its clients, NAM Asia acts independently of other affiliated investment advisers and manages the assets of each of its clients in accordance with the investment mandate selected by such clients.

Related persons of NAM Asia are engaged in securities transactions. NAM Asia or its related persons may invest in the same securities that NAM Asia recommends for, purchases for or sells to NAM Asia's clients. NAM Asia and its related persons (to the extent they have independent relationships with the client) may give advice to and take action with their own accounts or with other client accounts that may compete or conflict with the advice NAM Asia may give to, or an investment action NAM Asia may take on behalf of, the client or may involve different timing than with respect to the client. Since the trading activities of NAM Asia and its related persons are not coordinated, each firm may trade the same security at about the same time, on the same or opposite side of the market, thereby possibly affecting the price, amount or other terms of the trade execution, adversely affecting some or all clients. Similarly, one or more clients of NAM Asia's related persons may dilute or otherwise disadvantage the price or investment strategies of another client through their own transactions in investments. NAM Asia's management on behalf of its clients may benefit NAM Asia or its related persons. For example, clients may, to the extent permitted by applicable law, invest directly or indirectly in the securities of companies in which NAM Asia or a related person, for itself or its clients, has an economic interest, and clients, or NAM Asia or a related person on behalf its client, may engage in investment transactions which could result in other clients being relieved of obligations, or which may cause other clients to divest certain investments. The results of the investment activities of a client of NAM Asia may differ significantly from the results achieved by NAM Asia for other current or future clients. Because certain of NAM Asia's clients may be related persons, NAM Asia may have incentives to resolve conflicts of interest in favor of certain clients over others (e.g., where NAM Asia has an incentive to favor one account over another); however, NAM Asia has established conflicts of interest policies and procedures that identify and manage such potential conflicts of interest.

Potential conflicts may be inherent in NAM Asia's and its related persons' use of multiple strategies. For instance, conflicts could arise where NAM Asia and its related persons invest in distinct parts of an issuer's capital structure. Moreover, one or more of NAM Asia's clients may own public securities of an issuer while a client of a related person may own private securities or obligations of that same issuer. In certain situations, such as where the issuer is financially distressed, these interests may be adverse. NAM Asia or a related person may also cause a client to purchase from, or sell assets to, an entity in which other clients may have an interest, potentially in a manner that will adversely affect such other clients. Potential conflict of interest may arise if, NAM Asia on behalf of its clients may receive material non-public information ("MNPI") on behalf of some of its clients, which may prevent NAM Asia from buying or selling securities on behalf of other of its clients even when it would be beneficial to do so. Conversely, NAM Asia may refrain from receiving MNPI on behalf of clients, even when such receipt would benefit those clients, to prevent NAM Asia from being restricted from trading on behalf of its other clients. In all of these situations, NAM Asia or its related persons, on behalf of itself or its clients, may take actions that are adverse to some or all of NAM Asia's clients. NAM Asia will seek to resolve conflicts of interest described herein on a case-by-case basis, taking into consideration the interests of the relevant clients, the circumstances that gave rise to the conflict and applicable laws. There can be no assurance that conflicts of interest will be resolved in favor of a particular client's interests. Moreover, NAM Asia typically will not have the ability to influence the actions of its related persons.

In addition, certain related persons of NAM Asia may engage in banking or other financial services, and in the course of conducting such business, such persons may take actions that adversely affect NAM Asia's clients. For example, a related person engaged in lending may foreclose on an issuer or security in which NAM Asia's clients have an interest. As noted above, NAM Asia typically will not have the ability to influence the actions of its related persons.

NAM Asia may from time to time purchases securities in public offerings or secondary offerings on behalf of client accounts in which a related person may be a member in the underwriting syndicate. Such participation will be in accordance with NGAM policy and applicable law. However, NAM Asia does not presently enter into direct transactions with related persons on behalf of clients.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

Client orders will be executed at the best available terms, taking into account the relevant market at the time for transactions of the kind and size concerned. It is to be noted that to achieve best execution does not mean paying the lowest possible commission fee, but rather, a trade is executed based on principles of best execution taking into consideration the client's investment objective and constraints as well as other aspects of execution including, but not limited to, the value of research provided by the broker as well as the broker's execution capability, commission rate, financial responsibility, and responsiveness to NAM Asia.

NAM Asia has complete discretion over the selection of the broker to be used. In selecting a broker for any transaction or series of transactions, NAM Asia may consider a number of factors, including, for example, execution capabilities, research capabilities, capital strength of the firm, market-making/underwriting capabilities, general reputation of the firm, and services provided by the broker. NAM Asia maintains a list of authorized brokers that it deals with that is approved by the Brokers Review Committee. In approving brokers, the Broker Review Committee shall consider the recommendations from the Broker Selection Committee which consider factors such as capital strength of the firm; financial ratios; research capabilities; perceived execution, market-making and underwriting capabilities; general reputation of the firm and the individual representative; registration requirements; and any other services provided. Where a broker or its parent company has been rated "investment grade" by a recognized credit rating agency (i.e., Standard & Poor's, Moody's, Fitch IBCA, or any other rating agencies approved by the Brokers Review Committee), no further analysis is required. The Broker Review Committee reviews the list of approved brokers twice a year based on the rating and recommendation from the Broker Selection Committee and an analysis of the information received from the brokers.

1. Soft Dollar Arrangements. Currently, commission levied by all brokers in Asia is standard in each market and independent from the soft dollar arrangements. Consequently, the clients' accounts do not pay any additional soft dollar commission in excess of the commission that is already levied by brokers in each market. Nevertheless, where there is in place a soft dollar arrangement with the broker, the broker shall set aside a certain percentage from the commission paid for each transaction as soft dollar credit for payment of permitted services. Generally, soft dollar arrangements are only available if soft dollar relationships with the brokers have been established and the broker has created an account to input soft credit for the purpose of paying permitted services incurred. Soft dollar credit may only be used to pay for services if:

- The services can reasonably be expected to assist in the provision of the investment services to accounts generally;
- Disclosure is made of NAM Asia's practices for receiving soft commission (e.g., disclosure in the relevant prospectus, investment management agreement, etc.); and
- A record of soft dollar arrangements and activities is maintained.

The amount of soft dollars credit received by NAM Asia generally should not exceed one-third of the total commission paid in any one year.

The brokerage and research services under a soft dollar arrangement accepted by NAM Asia pursuant to such an arrangement may include any of following:

- Specific advice as to the advisability of dealing in, or of the value of any investments;
- Research and advisory services, e.g., RiskMetrics Group (or Institutional SS);
- Economic and political analyses, e.g., Factiva Ltd, Reuters Singapore Pte Ltd/Thomson Financial;
- Portfolio analyses, including valuation and performance e.g., StatPro Revolution;
- Market analyses;
- Data and quotation services e.g., Bloomberg Finance LP, MSCI Inc;
- Software or any other information facilities to the extent that they are used to support the investment decision making process, the giving of advice, or the conduct of research or analysis e.g., risk management tools like Barra Portfolio Manager.

With respect to certain products used for both research and non-research purposes, NAM Asia shall allocate the cost of such products between their research and non-research uses (i.e., mixed-use), and uses soft dollars to pay only for the portion allocated to research uses. Brokerage and research services received under soft dollar arrangements will not include travel, accommodation, entertainment, general administrative goods and services, general office equipment or premises, membership fees, employee salaries or direct money payment.

The brokerage and research services described above may be available for use by NAM Asia in connection with transactions in which the accounts participate. NAM Asia believes that while each account benefits from many of the services obtained with soft dollar commission credits generated by that account's trade, however, that account may not benefit exclusively from the use of soft dollars. NAM Asia may also benefit from some or all of these services, particularly to the extent that NAM Asia uses soft dollar commissions to pay for expenses NAM Asia would otherwise have to pay itself.

NAM Asia's relationship with brokers that provide soft dollar services may influence NAM Asia's judgment in allocating brokerage business and may create conflicts of interest. Conflicts of interest may exist both in allocating brokerage business between brokers that provide soft dollar services and brokers that do not, and in allocating the costs of mixed-use products between their research and non-research uses as well as an incentive to select or recommend a broker-dealer providing soft dollar credit rather than obtaining most favorable execution for clients. These conflicts of interest exist because, as stated above, NAM Asia is using soft dollars to pay for expenses it would otherwise be required to pay for itself.

NAM Asia relies on the safe harbor provided by Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Section 28(e) provides a safe harbor to investment managers who use commission dollars to obtain investment research and brokerage services that provide assistance in performing investment decision-making responsibilities.

2. Brokerage for Client Referrals. NAM Asia does not consider referrals when we select or recommend broker-dealers to clients.

3. Directed Brokerage. NAM Asia does not practice nor conduct direct brokerage for client.

NAM Asia may aggregate securities purchase or sales orders for accounts. Generally, all orders given to a broker are executed in their entirety. However, there will be times when an order may not be completely executed. An order that is not fully executed will usually be allocated on a strict pro-rata basis. Shares that remain after the pro-rata allocation will be rounded up or down to the nearest board lot size (a standardized number of shares defined by a stock exchange as a trading unit). Sometimes the aggregation of all shares after the rounding of pro-rata shares to the nearest board lot size may result in a number different than the executed quantity. The difference between the aggregated quantity and the executed quantity may be added to or deducted from the client with the largest intended quantity.

If two or more dealing tickets are created for the same security during the same trading day but not proximate in time, the shares executed for these orders may not be aggregated. The broker shall report the execution according to the respective order given. Accordingly, the executed shares for each dealing ticket will be allocated to the eligible account(s) reflected in the respective dealing tickets.

There may be instances in which applying the above-described allocation rules may not be in the best interest of all clients. For instance, one or more clients may incur higher transaction costs than if orders were not aggregated or an incomplete order fill may leave some clients without an allocation. In these cases, exceptions to the allocation procedures may be applied after consultation with the Chief Compliance Officer or his designate.

From time to time, NAM Asia may invest on behalf of clients in initial public offerings ("IPOs"). Accounts will participate based on their risk profiles, strategies and guidelines that make these securities suitable investments for these particular accounts. Due to the higher risk associated with most IPOs, those accounts with mandates and strategies that allow for greater risk, and subject to relevant fund's constraints and availability of cash in the account, will be the accounts that participate. The purchase of IPOs may be aggregated and will be allocated using the trade allocation process described above.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

NAM Asia periodically reviews accounts or funds for compliance, performance as well as providing market outlook. The Chief Compliance Officer or his designate monitors the accounts and funds to ensure that these accounts/funds comply with its respective investment guidelines or restrictions. The Chief Investment Officer together with his investment team members reviews and analysis the accounts/funds' performance against the benchmark, composition of the accounts/funds' assets and the increase or decrease in value of the accounts/funds' assets of the end of the relevant period.

The reporting schedule. Please note that the types of reports are not exhaustive and client may request, subject to the NAM Asia's management approval, for specific reports to cater to the client's needs and the frequency of reports may vary.

Subject of reporting	Contents	Frequency
Performance Review	Review and analysis of the increase or decrease in value of the Assets during this period, composition of the Assets as of the end of the relevant period and comparison of the performance of the account/fund with the identified reference index or benchmark.	Monthly, Annually
Marketing literature	Market outlook for the funds	Monthly

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

From time to time NAM Asia or its related persons may enter into arrangements with affiliated parties (including NATIXIS Asset Management or its related entities) or unaffiliated third parties for their assistance in referring business to NAM Asia or providing client service to that NAM Asia's clients. NAM Asia or these related persons may pay cash compensation to these affiliated or unaffiliated parties, where such cash compensation may be equal to a specified percentage of the advisory fees received by NAM Asia or the related persons from accounts obtained through the third party. Any such arrangements will comply with Rule 206(4)-3 under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940.

Item 15 Custody

NAM Asia does not provide custody services.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

Our firm accepts and conducts both discretionary and non-discretionary funds/mandates on behalf of clients. Prior to managing client's account, client is required to sign a Discretionary Investment Management Agreement or a Non-Discretionary Investment Management Agreement with NAM Asia, as the case maybe. The agreement covers areas like investment objectives, investment powers, investment restrictions, benchmark, operations, as well as any other arrangements that the clients and NAM Asia may agree upon.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

Proxy Voting Policy

- A. NAM Asia has the fiduciary responsibility for voting proxies, when authorized to do so by clients, in a manner that is in the best interest of each account over which NAM Asia has proxy voting authority. Generally, the account that holds the company shares is entitled to vote. Except for a client who has issued specific voting instructions, and where the fund has been delegated to NAM Asia for management on a full discretionary basis, NAM Asia shall vote on behalf of these clients on issues deemed to be critical or important to the accounts managed by NAM Asia. Where NAM Asia provides only advisory recommendations to the client, NAM Asia would limit its recommendations to issues which NAM Asia deems to be important to the client.

A client may obtain a copy of NAM Asia's proxy voting policy and a record of votes cast by NAM Asia on behalf of that client by contacting Jugari Iqbal Mohammad at iqbalmohammad.jugari@am.natixis.com.

- B. Unless an arrangement has been made between you and your custodian or transfer agent to provide NAM Asia with proxy voting information/agenda and if you do not grant us proxy voting authority, NAM Asia will not be able to make proxies determination for and on your behalf. In addition, except if prior arrangement has been made with NAM Asia, please be informed that NAM Asia does not discuss about proxies or solicitation if you are voting your own proxies.

Item 18 Financial Information

- A. Our firm does not require or solicit prepayment from client.
- B. Our firm does not foresee any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair our ability to meet contractual commitments to clients.
- C. Our firm has not been subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time during the past ten years.
