Such fees may be paid directly to Lewis Asset Management from the account by the custodian upon submission of an invoice to custodian showing the amount of fees, the value of your assets on which the fees are based, and the specific manner in which the fees are calculated. Payment of fees may result in the liquidation of your securities if there is insufficient cash in the account. Copies of the fee invoices will be mailed to you as required. Fees for partial quarters at the commencement or termination of this agreement will be billed or refunded on a pro-rated basis contingent on the number of days the account was open during the quarter. Quarterly fee adjustments for additional assets received into the account during a quarter or for partial withdrawals will also be provided on the above pro rata basis.

ITEM 8 – METHODS OF ANALYSIS, STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

8.A: ANALYSIS AND STRATEGIES

Lewis Asset Management uses multiple sources of information to obtain analysis and strategies. They include sources such as financial newspapers, financial magazines, research prepared by others, corporate rating services, prospectuses, company press releases and annual reports and filings with the SEC.

Lewis Asset Management utilizes multiple investment strategies to meet your investment objectives. These methodologies are formulated based on a comprehensive review and assessment of your expectations, investment time horizon, risk tolerance level, present investment allocation, and current and projected financial requirements.

Ultimately, each strategy must maximize return within reasonable and prudent levels of risk. Also, the approach taken must provide exposure to a wide range of investment opportunities in various markets while limiting risk exposure through prudent diversification. Finally, the costs of administering and managing the investments related to the strategy cannot be excessive.

All investments include a risk of loss. In addition, as recent global and domestic economic events have indicated, performance of any investment is not guaranteed. As a result, there is a risk of loss of the assets we manage that may be out of our control. We use our best efforts and expertise to manage your assets. However, we cannot guarantee any level of performance or that you will not experience financial loss.

Lewis Asset Management will use our best judgment and good faith efforts in rendering services to you. We cannot warrant or guarantee any particular level of account performance, or that the account will be profitable over time. Not every investment decision or recommendation made by us will be profitable. You assume all market risk involved in the investment of account assets under the Investment Advisory Agreement and understand that investment decisions made for this account are subject to various market, currency, economic, political and business risks. Except as may otherwise be provided by law, we will not be liable to you for (a) any loss that you may suffer by reason of any investment decision made or other action taken or omitted in good faith by Lewis Asset Management with that degree of care, skill, prudence and diligence under the circumstances that a prudent person acting in a fiduciary capacity would use; (b) any loss arising from our adherence to your instructions; or (c) any act or failure to act by a custodian of your account. Nothing in this document shall relieve us from any responsibility or liability we may have under state or federal statutes.

8.B: COMMON STRATEGIES

Our primary strategy focuses on long term trading, which is designed to capture market rates of both return and risk. Long term trading sacrifices potential short term gains for long term stability. We generally do not perform market timing or high frequency trading as the risk is high.

8.C: SPECIFIC SECURITIES

Lewis Asset Management does not normally trade in individual securities. We prefer a broader market approach to insulate from erratic market conditions.

ITEM 11 – CODE OF ETHICS

11.A: CODE OF ETHICS DESCRIPTION

Lewis Asset Management has adopted a Code of Ethics that governs a number of potential conflicts of interest we have when providing our advisory services to you. This Code of Ethics is designed to ensure we meet our fiduciary obligation to you and to stress the importance of a culture of compliance within our firm.

An additional benefit of our Code of Ethics is to detect and prevent violations of securities laws, including our obligations we owe to you.

Lewis Asset Management's Code of Ethics is comprehensive, is distributed to each employee at the time of hire, and annually thereafter (if there are changes). We also supplement the Code of Ethics with annual training and on-going monitoring of employee activity. A complete copy of our Code of Ethics will be supplied to you, free of charge, if you request it.

Lewis Asset Management's Code of Ethics includes the following:

- Requirements related to the confidentiality of your personal, business and financial information
- Prohibitions on insider trading (if we are in possession of material, non-public information)
- Reporting of gifts and business entertainment
- Pre-clearance of employee and firm transactions
- Reporting (on an on-going and quarterly basis) all personal securities transactions (what we call “reportable securities” as mandated by regulation)

11.B, C & D: PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS

Lewis Asset Management, or its employees, may buy and sell some of the same securities for our own accounts that we buy and sell for our clients. We will always buy or sell from our clients’ accounts before we buy or sell from our accounts. In some cases Lewis Asset Management, or its employees, may buy or sell securities for our own accounts and not for clients’ accounts, as it may not meet the objectives or plans for the client.

Lewis Asset Management will always maintain full disclosure with our clients so that you can make informed decisions. We will always evaluate our activity from the view of our clients to ensure that any and all required disclosures are made. For example, we will disclose anything that would cause you to be unfairly influenced to make any decision regarding actions or inactions in your account.

For California Residents: Lewis Asset Management adheres to the California Code of Regulations, Title 10 Section 260.238 (k), (1), (2) and (o) which prohibits investment advisers from:

(k) Failing to disclose to a client in writing before entering into or renewing an advisory agreement with that client any material conflict of interest relating to the adviser, its representatives or any requires that of its employees, which could be reasonably expected to impair the rendering of unbiased and objective advice including:

- (1) Compensation arrangements connected with advisory services to clients which are in addition to compensation from such clients for such services; and
- (2) Charging a client an advisory fee for rendering advice without disclosing that a commission for executing securities transactions pursuant to such advice will be received by the adviser, its representatives or its employees, or that such advisory fee is being reduced by the amount of the commission earned by the adviser, its representatives or employees for the sale of securities to the client.

(o) Making any untrue statement of a material fact or omitting a statement of material fact necessary in order to make the statements made, in light of the circumstances under which they are made, not misleading in the solicitation of advisory clients.

ITEM 12 – BROKERAGE PRACTICES

As part of our services, Lewis Asset Management will recommend a broker-dealer. We have selected our broker-dealers based on price, reliability, speed of processing, tools and “best execution” in addition to other considerations. And while you are not required to effect transactions through any broker-dealer recommended by us, we feel we have made our selections based on a totality of benefits they offer.

Lewis Asset Management may purchase software, tools, training programs or seminar services from our broker-dealer. Additionally, broker-dealers may provide services, tools or other non-financial benefits to us as a benefit for using the broker-dealer’s services. These benefits do not incur additional costs or fees to our clients. We endeavor at all times to put the interests of our clients first. You should be aware, however, that the receipt of the types of benefits discussed above can create a potential conflict of interest by influencing our choice of a broker-dealer. While we strive to avoid such a scenario, this conflict may create an incentive to recommend a broker-dealer over a client's best interest.

And while Lewis Asset Management may recommend a particular broker-dealer, it is our obligation to let clients know that other investment advisory firms may not require clients to use specific broker-dealers and that our recommending of a specific broker-dealer may not gain the client most favorable execution and may result in higher costs.

To avoid creating a possible conflict of interest in recommending broker-dealers, we have established the following restrictions in order to ensure its fiduciary responsibilities:

1. Lewis Asset Management adheres to our Code of Ethics as outlined in Item 11 above.
2. Lewis Asset Management maintains a list of all securities holdings for itself and anyone associated with its advisory practice with access to advisory recommendations. These holdings are reviewed on a regular basis by an appropriate officer of Lewis Asset Management.

We will direct that confirmations of any transactions effected for the account will be sent, in conformity with applicable law, to you.

Lewis Asset Management generally asks our clients to give us discretionary authority to execute transactions without our client's prior approval through a signed execution of a power of attorney or equivalent. These transactions may include the purchase and selling of securities, arranging for payments or generally acting on behalf of our clients in most matters necessary to the handling of the account.
