Equinox Fund Management, LLC (“Equinox”) was founded in 2003 as a Delaware Limited Liability company and became registered as an investment adviser registered with the U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 in May, 2007. In addition to being a federally-registered investment adviser, Equinox is a commodity pool operator, or CPO, and is regulated by CFTC and NFA.

Equinox is a leader in the alternative investments industry that believes in the value of non-traditional funds to reduce volatility and enhance returns in portfolios. We are committed to providing innovative, institutional-quality investment solutions that are unique in structure and availability, and outperform relevant benchmarks and competitors. As the investment adviser for Mutual Hedge Frontier Legends Fund and Equinox Commodity Strategy Fund,, Equinox strives to provide the utmost level of customer service and education to our selling partners. Our products are structured to allow access to the broadest group of both accredited and non-accredited investors in the United States.

The fund invests in a combination of derivatives and fixed income securities.

Types of Advisory Services

As Investment Advisor to MutualHedge and Equinox Commodity Strategy Funds—

Equinox manages and supervises the investment of the Funds' assets on a discretionary basis and is committed to providing prudent investment strategies designed to meet the stated objectives of each fund. Equinox designs portfolios that are uniquely structured for each fund.

As of March 31, 2011, Equinox Fund Management, LLC manages approximately $349,889,541 in assets for two fund clients, all on a discretionary basis.

Tailored Relationships

Given the nature of Equinox's investment advisory activities and the fact that its clients are institutional (mutual funds), it will not provide investment advisory services to or have an advisory relationship with individuals.

Investment policy statements are created that reflect the stated goals and objective of each client fund. The Client Fund may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities.

Agreements may not be assigned without client consent.

Types of Agreements

The following agreements define the typical client relationships.

Investment Management Agreement

Equinox will provide advisory services to clients only upon the execution of a Written Agreement between Equinox and the client.

Clients retain Equinox to implement Strategies that allocate a portion of the client's investment portfolio to professional Commodity Trading Advisors who participate in the futures, options and foreign exchange markets. In performing these services, Equinox identifies leading Commodity Trading Advisors and then constructs multi-adviser portfolios designed in accordance with the client's specified risk parameters and investment objectives. Each potential Trading Advisor undergoes strict quantitative and qualitative review by Equinox. Trading Advisor selection is based upon many factors which include the Advisor's investment strategy, trading activity, volatility, portfolio composition, account leverage and Risk-Reward ratio.

Depending upon the redemption provisions, the client may be able to withdraw a portion or all of their allocation within one day. Although the Investment Supervisory Agreement is an ongoing agreement and continual adjustments may be likely, under normal conditions, the client would need to give a thirty (30) day prior written notice in order to terminate the investment advisory contract with Equinox. If the investment advisory contract is terminated other than at the end of the calendar quarter, the management fee will be prorated.

Hourly Planning Engagements

Equinox Fund Management, LLC does not provide hourly planning services for clients who need advice on a limited scope of work.

Termination of Agreement

A Client may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by notifying Equinox Fund Management, LLC in writing.

Under normal conditions, the client would need to give a thirty (30) day prior written notice in order to terminate the investment advisory contract with the applicant. If the investment advisory contract is terminated other than at the end of the calendar quarter, the management fee will be prorated.

Fees and Compensation

Description

Equinox Fund Management, LLC bases its fees on a percentage of assets under management and other fees as explained below.

Fee Billing

For advisory services provided to the MutualHedge funds, Equinox will receive a percentage of assets under management at an annual rate of 1.45% for each Fund. Equinox has contractually agreed with the Funds to waive advisory fees and, if necessary, reimburse certain other expenses, to limit the Net Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage commissions and extraordinary expenses) to 1.95% of average daily net assets for Class A Shares and 2.70% of average daily net assets for Class C Shares of the Funds through November 14, 2008.

The management fee is billed monthly in arrears based upon daily accruals in an amount determined by applying the annual rate, divided by 365 (or 366) days to the net asset value of all accounts subject to the Investment Management Agreement. Mutual Fund clients authorize the deduction of fees directly from the appointed custodian, i.e. the broker-dealer, clearing firm, trust company or authorized institution maintaining the account. The custodian will then remit the applicable fees to the Company. Fees are negotiable only under special circumstances. Lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources. Equinox is not a sponsor of a wrap program.

Other Fees

Custodians may charge transaction fees on purchases or sales of certain mutual funds and exchange-traded funds. These transaction charges are usually small and incidental to the purchase or sale of a security. The selection of the security is more important than the nominal fee that the custodian charges to buy or sell the security.

Equinox Fund Management, LLC, in its sole discretion, may waive its minimum fee and/or charge a lesser investment advisory fee based upon certain criteria (e.g., historical relationship, type of assets, anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amounts of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, negotiations with clients, etc.).

New Advisory Management Agreement fees are calculated on a formula basis and adjusted for complexity of individual situations. The formula is based on gross income, gross assets and other financial considerations.

Expense Ratios

The line of the fee table in the Prospectus that represents the total of all of all of a mutual fund's annual fund operating expenses are expressed as a percentage of the fund's average net assets.

Termination of Agreement

Sharing of Capital Gains

The applicant does not presently intend to charge any incentive fees with respect to securities investment advice rendered by the applicant to clients. In the event that, in the future, the applicant decides to charge advisory fees with respect to such securities investment advice, such fees will be calculated and charged in compliance with the Investment Advisors Act of 1940, as amended, and the rules promulgated thereunder including Rule 205-3.

Types of Clients

Description

Equinox's clients are institutional and funds for which it acts as an investment adviser and general partner and may provide advice regarding investments strategies utilizing portfolio management techniques.

Equinox will act as the investment adviser and general partner to its clients.

Client relationships vary in scope and length of service.

Account Minimums

Equinox may implement minimum account sizes.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

A combination of fundamental and charting techniques using internal and outside research service will allow the applicant to identify attractive sectors and styles of various markets in order to allocate fund assets. The applicant's securities analysis utilizes computerized software programs which apply a number of statistical measures in addition to various asset allocation principles.

Investment Strategies

MutualHedge Frontier Legends Fund –

Seeks to achieve capital appreciate in both rising and falling (bull and bear) equity markets with an annualized level of volatility similar to the historic level of volatility similar to the historic level of volatility experienced by the S&P Index.

Aims to provide the investment return of a portfolio of event-driven hedge funds selected by Equinox Fund Management, LLC (the "Adviser") that are otherwise not available to retail investors.

Equinox Commodity Strategy Fund –

The Fund is designed to achieve investment results similar to the performance of a reference index. The reference index follows a long/short, market neutral investment strategy which tracks a deemed-long position and a deemed-short position in futures contracts of three main commodity sectors: energy, industrial metals and agriculture. The reference index increases or decreases based on the performance of these deemed investments and the relationship between a specific target volatility and the volatility of the aggregate value of the deemed investments. In general, the strategy underlying the reference index seeks to take advantage of potential inefficiencies in the rolling mechanism employed by the commodity indices in which an underlying index (the "Underlying Index") takes a short position. The Underlying Index is comprised of (i) a long position in each of an energy, agriculture and industrial metals index and (ii) a short position in each of an energy, agriculture and industrial metals index. At the same time, the Reference Index stabilizes potential returns by attempting to control the volatility of the reference index near to a 6% target.

As of March 31, 2011, Equinox Fund Management, LLC manages approximately $349,889,541 in assets for two fund clients, all on a discretionary basis.

Risk of Loss

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors face the following investment risks:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.

- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

How we Manage Risk

To ensure that investment objectives are being achieved within stated risk parameters, Equinox monitors leverage, volatility, market sector exposure, losses from peak profit levels, and frequency of trading activity.

Equinox is subject to the requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes Oxley Act relating to management's certification of, and its auditors attesting to, the effectiveness of the fund's internal control over financial reporting.

Financial statements are audited annually by an independent registered public accounting firm, McGladrey & Pullen, LLP, the fifth largest auditing firm in the U.S

Soft Dollars

Equinox Fund Management, LLC does not receive research or other products or services other than execution services from a broker/dealer or a third party in connection with our clients' securities transactions ("soft dollar benefits").

Order Aggregation

The portfolio managers of Equinox may for a number of reasons, bunch, block or aggregate brokerage orders for their clients rather than execute individual transactions for each account. These reasons include: (1) obtaining lower commission rates; (2) avoiding the time and expense of simultaneously entering similar orders for many individual client accounts that are managed similarly; (3) ensuring that all accounts managed in a particular style obtain the same execution to minimize differences in performance and (4) obtaining a better execution price even though the commission rate may be higher than the lowest rate otherwise available.

Review of Accounts

Periodic Reviews

On a daily to weekly basis client accounts are reviewed by Richard Bornhoft and other members of the investment committee members. Triggering factors for the reviews include performance for each of the individual Commodity Trading Advisors assigned to any given client as well as the performance of the overall client account. Included in the performance factors are current, month to date, and life to date returns, margin to equity usage, market participation, and Commodity Trading Advisors' performance within client accounts compared to other accounts traded by the Commodity Trading Advisor. Mr. Bornhoft is a principal of Equinox. Parameters regarding the reviews are detailed in the client agreement. Each reviewer is assigned to review only up to the maximum number of reports as is practicable.

Review Triggers

Other conditions that may trigger a review are changes in the tax laws, new investment information, and changes in a client's own situation.

Regular Reports

The applicant will distribute written reports to clients on their accounts on a quarterly or more frequent basis. Each report will review the account's performance for the preceding quarter and year-to-date. Each report will discuss any adjustments that have been made to the client's account..
