ADVISORY SERVICES AND FEES. INVESTMENT SUPERVISORY SERVICES

Corporate Metrix, Inc. (hereinafter "CMI") is an insurance agency and a registered investment adviser. In the firm's role as an investment adviser, CMI provides investment supervisory services, defined as giving continuous advice to a client or making investments for a client based on the individual needs of the client. Through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based on a client's particular circumstances are established, CMI will create and manage a portfolio. When circumstances dictate, CMI will create an investment policy statement to suit specific client needs. CMI provides this service to individuals, investment companies, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, and corporations. CMI will manage advisory accounts on a discretionary basis. Account supervision is guided by the stated objectives of the client (i.e., maximum capital appreciation, growth, income, or growth and income). CMI's investment strategies include long-term purchases, short-term purchases, trading, and option writing. When appropriate to the needs of the client, CMI may recommend the use of trading (securities sold within 30 days). Because these investment strategies involve certain degrees of risk, they will only be recommended when consistent with the client's stated tolerance for risk.

Please contact Mr. Jawad Ansari, President and Chief Compliance Officer, if you have any questions about this Schedule F narrative. Additional information about CMI is available on the Internet at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov. You can search this site by a unique identifying number, known as a CRD number. The CRD number for CMI is 144404.

Individuals associated with CMI will provide its investment advisory services. These individuals are appropriately licensed, qualified, and authorized to provide advisory services on behalf of the Firm. Such individuals are known as CMI Representatives (IARs).

Prior to engaging CMI to provide any of the foregoing investment advisory services, the client will be required to enter into one or more written agreements with CMI setting forth the terms and conditions under which CMI shall render its services (collectively the "Agreement").

DESCRIPTION OF SERVICES PROVIDED

Portfolio Management

CMI will emphasize continuous personal client contact and interaction in providing discretionary investment supervisory services. Discretion is limited to purchases and sales of securities and the amount of securities to be bought or sold. Further, CMI will work with its clients to identify their investment goals and objectives as well as risk tolerance in order to create an initial portfolio allocation

Each portfolio will be initially designed to meet a particular investment goal, which CMI has determined to be suitable to the client’s circumstances. Once the appropriate portfolio has been determined, CMI will review the portfolio quarterly and if necessary, suggest to the client that rebalancing take place, based upon the client’s individual needs, stated goals and objectives. However, each client will have the opportunity to place reasonable restrictions on the types of investments to be held in the portfolio. CMI’s strategy, generally, will be to seek to meet client investment objectives while providing clients with access to personal advisory services on at least an annual basis, or more often, depending upon prior agreement. FEE SCHEDULE: Portfolio Management <table><tr><td>Assets Under Management</td><td>Annual Fee</td><td>Quarterly Fee</td></tr><tr><td>All Assets</td><td>1.00%</td><td>0.25%</td></tr></table> CMI charges its fees quarterly in advance. Such clients are generally qualified investors since they have a minimum net worth of $1.5 million dollars or have placed at least $750,000 under management with CMI. In lieu of the aforementioned fee schedule, high-net worth clients may be charged a performance fee as follows: CMI charges a 20% performance fee for all profits accrued on December 31st of each year. The aforementioned 20% performance fee is calculated as follows: CMI will receive a performance fee of 20% of the net capital appreciation (i.e. capital appreciation less capital depreciation and any accumulated net capital depreciation carry-forward from prior periods) of each clients account. The performance fee is payable only if and to the extent that the net capital appreciation of the clients account exceeds any net capital depreciation accumulated in prior years (as adjusted for withdrawals of capital). CMI in its discretion may waive all or any portion of the performance fee as to any client or may agree with a client to other changes to the performance fee as to such client. In the event that CMI fails to achieve an investment return, no performance fee would be due to CMI for the prior year’s management of client’s account. Item 1(D) & Item 10

In the event that the client terminates the managed account before the end of the year, the client shall be billed a 20% performance fee on assets under management for all profits accrued year to date. All performance based fees will comply with Section 205 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 and Rule 205-3 there under as applicable.

CMI generally requires an account minimum of $500,000 for investment management services and may in its sole discretion accept a lesser amount based upon certain criteria such as anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amount of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, pre-existing client, etc. In no event, will performance fees be charged to a non-qualified investor or a percentage of assets based fee be charged to high-net worth clients.

GENERAL INFORMATION CONCERNING FEES

All fees paid to CMI for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds, insurance companies, broker-dealers, clearing firms and other financial institutions.

These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus or other disclosure documentation. Such fees will generally include a management fee, other fund or product expenses and a possible distribution fee.

A client could invest in securities directly, without the services of CMI. In some cases, this may be also the case with certain insurance products. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by CMI which are designed, among other things, to assist the client in determining which securities and/or insurance product is/are most appropriate to the client's financial condition and objectives. Accordingly, the clients should review both the fees charged by financial services companies and the fees charged by CMI to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the clients. This will help in the evaluation of the advisory services being provided.

In certain situations, CMI may enter into a different type of agreement with certain of its clients under which those clients' portfolios will be managed differently from the majority of CMI's other clients and the fees paid by these types of clients may differ from the majority of CMI's other clients. In all cases, Clients are responsible for custodial fees and transaction costs.

Fees will be automatically deducted from the account. Clients will be provided with a quarterly custodial statement reflecting deduction of the advisory fee.

In addition to CMI's annual investment management fee, the Client may also incur certain charges imposed by unaffiliated third parties. Such charges include, but are not limited to, custodial fees, brokerage commissions, transaction fees, charges

The client will incur charges for bona fide advisory services rendered to the point of termination and such fees will be due and payable by the client. Generally, such financial planning services will involve preparing a financial program or rendering a financial consultation for clients based on the client's financial circumstances and objectives. This information normally would cover present and anticipated assets and liabilities, including savings and investments, life and long-term care insurance, anticipated retirement or other employee benefits, and present and anticipated income and expenses. The program developed for or financial consultation rendered to the clients will usually include general recommendations for a course of activity or specific actions to be taken by the clients. ADDITIONAL INFORMATION CONCERNING FEES

In certain circumstances, advisory fees and account minimums may be negotiable based upon prior relationships as well as related account holdings. The fees charged are calculated as described above and are not charged on the basis of a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of the funds or any portion of the funds of an advisory client. (SEC Rule 205(a)(1)).

All fees paid to CMI for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds to their shareholders. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. Such fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses and a possible distribution fee. If the fund also imposes sales charges, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge.

A client could invest in a mutual fund directly, without the services of CMI. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by CMI which are designed, among other things, to assist the client in determining which mutual fund or funds are most appropriate to the client's financial condition and objectives. Accordingly, the clients should review both the fees charged by the funds and the fees charged by CMI to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the clients and to thereby evaluate the advisory services being provided.

Advisory recommendations are based on the client's financial situation at the time the services are provided and are based on financial information disclosed by the client to CMI. Clients are advised that certain assumptions may be made with respect to interest and inflation rates and the use of past trends and performance of the market and economy. Past performance is in no way an indication of future performance. As the client's financial situation, goals, objectives, or needs change, the client must notify CMI promptly.

CMI shall never have custody of any client funds or securities, as the services of a qualified and independent custodian will be used for these asset management services.

The fees charged are calculated as described above, and are not charged on the basis of a share of capital gains upon, or capital appreciation of, the funds, or any portion of the funds of an advisory client (15 U.S.C. §80b-5(a)(1)).

Advice offered by CMI may involve investments in money market funds. Clients are hereby advised that all fees paid to CMI for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by money market funds (described in each fund's prospectus) to their shareholders. These fees may include, but are not limited to, a management fee, upfront sales charges, and other

Selection, Recommendation, Due Diligence, Performance Reporting Of Third Party Advisory Services

Item 13A

In order to assist the client in the selection of a Third Party Advisory Service, CMI will typically gather information from the clients about the client's financial situation, investment objectives, and reasonable restrictions the clients wants imposed on the management of the account. CMI will not offer advice on any specific securities or other investments in connection with this service.

CMI will periodically review reports provided to the clients. The Investment Advisory Representatives of CMI will contact the client periodically, as agreed to with the clients, in order to review the client's financial situation and objectives; communicate information to the Third Party Advisory Service managing the account as warranted; and, assist the clients in understanding and evaluating the services provided by the Third Party Advisory Service. Clients will be expected to notify CMI of any changes in their financial situation, investment objectives, or account restrictions. Clients may also contact directly the Third Party Adviser managing the account or sponsoring the program.

CMI receives compensation pursuant to its agreements with these Third Party Advisory Programs for introducing Clients to these Third Party Advisory Programs and for certain ongoing services provided to Clients. This compensation, which is disclosed to the Client in a separate disclosure document provided by the Third Party Advisory Program, is typically equal to a percentage of the investment advisory fee charged by that Third Party Advisory Program or a fixed fee.

Due to the fact that CMI receives compensation from the Third Party Advisory Services for referring Clients and because such compensation may differ depending upon the individual agreement with each Third Party Advisory Service, CMI may have an incentive to recommend one of these Third Party Advisory Services over others with which it has less favorable compensation arrangements or other advisory programs offered by Third Party Advisory Services with which it has no compensation arrangements.

A complete description of the programs and services available through the Third Party Advisory Services will be provided to the Client upon receipt and review of the applicable Third Party Advisory Service's Form ADV Part II, Disclosure Brochures and/or equivalent brochures; investment advisory contracts; and account opening documents.
