Advisory Services and Fees

Lacerte Capital Advisers, LLC (hereinafter "Lacerte" or the "Firm") is a limited liability company formed under the laws of the State of Delaware. This Schedule F narrative provides investors with information regarding Lacerte and the qualifications, business practices, and nature of advisory services offered by the Firm.

Please contact Doug Wynn, President/Chief Compliance Officer, if you have any questions about this Schedule F narrative. Additional information about Lacerte is available on the Internet at "www.adviserinfo.sec.gov". You can search this site by a unique identifying number, known as a CRD number. The CRD number for Lacerte is 144945.

Lacerte provides investment advisory services to privately held pooled investment vehicles exempt from registration under the Investment Company Act of 1940. Lacerte currently serves as the investment adviser to The Lacerte Capital Fund, LP, a Delaware Limited Partnership (the "Fund"). The general partner of the Fund, Lacerte Capital Partners, LP, is responsible for the day-to-day management of the Fund.

The investment and trading objective of the Fund is capital appreciation. The Fund seeks superior risk adjusted returns from various markets including, but not limited to, equities, commodities, futures and currency markets. The Fund also utilizes derivatives as a hedging tool to limit losses, protect gains and reduce downside volatility that is often associated with the various capital markets that are traded. Investors in the Fund should refer to the Fund's offering documents for a complete and detailed disclosure regarding the risks, investment objectives, fees and other relevant information regarding the Fund.

Lacerte will receive from the Fund a management fee, payable monthly in arrears, at the rate of 16.67 basis points per calendar month, based upon the value of the Fund's limited partners' capital accounts on the last business day of each month.

Interests in the Fund are offered pursuant to an exemption from registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933 and applicable state securities laws for non-public distribution. Investments in such Fund are offered only to accredited investors within the meaning of SEC Rule 501 of Regulation D of the Securities Act of 1933 and "qualified clients", as defined by the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended, by private offering memorandum which provides investors with full disclosure regarding the objectives of the Fund and the risks involved with the offerings. Investors that purchase interests in the Fund will be admitted as limited partners.

Limited Partners in the Fund may withdraw any or all of such Limited Partner's Capital Account as of the last business day of a calendar month and must give written notice to Lacerte at least 65 days prior to the date the withdrawal is to be made.

Certain other restrictions and/or conditions pertain to investors' redemption/withdrawal requests. Investors should refer to the Funds' offering documents for detailed redemption/withdrawal conditions and requirements.

In addition, Lacerte Capital Partners, LP is entitled to receive, from the Fund, at the end of each calendar quarter, an incentive allocation with respect to each Partner's Capital Account, in an amount equal to 20% of the net profits for such calendar quarter allocated to such Limited Partner's Capital Accounts (after the reduction for applicable Management

Item 3.L.	The Incentive Fee may create an incentive to Lacerte to make investments that are riskier or more speculative than would be the case in the absence of the incentive fee. The lack of a market quotation for any investments held by the Fund may also create an incentive for Lacerte to overvalue such assets for purposes of achieving the incentive fee. Investors should refer to the Fund's offering documents for a detailed disclosure of the management fee and incentive fee. Types of Investments The Fund will engage primarily in long purchases and short sales of securities. It will also engage in hedging, option trading, leverage (including, but not limited to, margin trading and investing in derivatives) and other strategies. The Fund may invest in securities with relatively low prices, which may be subject to greater percentage price fluctuations than higher priced securities. Hedging strategies usually are intended to limit or reduce investment risk, but also can limit or reduce the potential for profit and may increase the Fund's transaction costs, interest expense and other costs and expenses. Short sales, hedging, margin trading and other techniques and strategies may result in material losses for the Fund. Investors should refer to the Fund's offering documents for a complete description of the types of investments purchased by the Funds.
Item 4.A.(5) Item 4.C.(7)	Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies The Fund is an absolute return, dynamically hedged, investment fund utilizing equity, fixed income, commodity, futures and currency strategies (directional and non-directional in nature) and their underlying options and derivatives, with an objective of maximizing absolute returns by using quantitative methodologies to identify and capitalize upon the derivatives dynamic characteristics when combined with the underlying. Under various market conditions the Fund will seek to achieve annual net returns of greater than 10% with relatively low volatility. Lacerte will seek to maximize expected returns by using quantitative, risk-controlled techniques to identify and exploit the anticipated growth of the underlying and the theta decay of its derivatives when range bound. Lacerte believes that this strategy will present significant and consistent opportunities to capitalize upon high probability trades, and is ideally suited to the Fund's quantitatively driven process. The resulting portfolio is expected to be diversified, liquid and absolute return oriented. The Fund's strategy utilizes systematic identification and measurement of certain information ("signals") and their price impact on the underlying asset through the construction of a balanced and diversified portfolio. Signals are typically based upon academic and proprietary research and are meant to provide a strong indication of future value of specific positions. Derivative and/or asset class positions are combined to produce an aggregate expected return, but also combined as a hedge to lock in profits within each asset class. Item 4.A.(5) Item 4.C.(7) (continued)	consideration is given to market risk factors (systemic risk) and additional security and derivative selection is undertaken to hedge out a-systemic risk, resulting in a diversified, liquid and expected absolute return. The ultimate strategy can vary depending on market conditions, but will generally consist of dynamically hedge positions in which we hold the underlying security or futures contract. Notwithstanding these investment objectives and general policies, the Fund's Partnership Agreement imposes no limits on the types of securities in which the Fund may take positions, the type of positions it may take, the concentration of its investments, or the amount of leverage the Fund may employ, including the extent of the Fund's margin trading and short positions. Thus, Lacerte has broad discretion to employ any securities trading or investment techniques, whether or not comprehended by the expected investment strategies and criteria described above. The Fund's strategy is expected to involve the use of leverage. Lacerte, in its sole discretion, will ultimately determine the amount of total leverage used by the Fund and such leverage will be consistent with the investment objective of the Fund. In addition, the Fund will engage in futures trading activity (including trading in security futures products) and in general must meet one of two tests: (1) the aggregate initial margin and premiums in respect of futures and commodity options cannot exceed five percent (5%) of the liquidation value of the Fund's portfolio; or (2) the aggregate notational value of futures and commodity options cannot exceed one hundred percent (100%) of the Fund's liquidation value. The Fund's risk management system is designed to ensure, to the extent practicable, that the risk taking is consistent with the Fund objectives. Lacerte will employ quantitative approaches to evaluate the predicted volatility of the strategy: multi-factor risk models will be used to estimate forward looking risk using a probabilistic approach given historical variance and covariance inputs, and historical backtesting and event studies will be used to estimate historical "worst-case" projections. Lacerte will employ a diversified approach with constraints upon exposures to any single issuer, market risk factors, industry, or sectors. This theme of attempting to identify and hedge out all material exposure to systematic risk is embedded throughout the portfolio construction process. Lacerte will actively monitor and manage the liquidity of the individual positions as well as the overall portfolio liquidity. No risk control system is fail-safe, and no assurance can be given that the Fund's risk control framework, or the implementation of it, will achieve its objectives, or that the Limited Partners will receive a return on their capital. The foregoing descriptions are not intended to be exhaustive.
