Risk of Loss:

All investments in securities include a risk of loss of your principal (invested amount) and any profits that have not been realized (the securities were not sold to “lock in” the profit). As you know, stock markets, bond markets fluctuate substantially over time. In addition, as recent global and domestic economic events have indicated, performance of any investment is not guaranteed. As a result, there is a risk of loss of the assets we manage that may be out of our control. We will do our very best in the management of your assets; however, we cannot guarantee any level of performance or that you will not experience a loss of your account assets.

Without admitting or denying the allegations, Mr. Tullis paid a fine of $4000 and agreed to refrain from engaging in management activities at any Institutional-affiliated party without the written consent of the Comptroller.

Mr. Tullis asserted that the accounts were properly managed, auditors had reviewed and approved his activities, all of his actions were approved by senior management of the bank and that Mr. Tullis did not have ultimate and supervisory responsibility over the issues alleged by the Comptroller.

Item 11 - Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Individuals associated with the Firm may buy or sell – for their personal account(s) – investment products identical to those purchased by the Funds which may create a conflict of interest between such individuals, the Funds and clients who invest in the Funds. It is the expressed policy of Vigilant that employees shall not have priority in any purchase or sale over the Funds' accounts. (1)(2) Vigilant has adopted a Code of Ethics, the full text of which is available to investors upon request. Vigilant has several goals in adopting this Code. First, the Firm desires to comply with all applicable laws and regulations governing its practice, and the management of Vigilant has determined to set forth guidelines for professional standards, under which all associated persons of Vigilant are to conduct themselves. Vigilant has set high standards, the intention of which is to protect the Funds and investors' interests at all times and to demonstrate its commitment to its fiduciary duties of honesty, good faith and fair dealing with the Funds and investors. All associated persons are expected to adhere strictly to these guidelines, as well as the procedures for approval and reporting established in the Code of Ethics primarily related to personal securities transactions, and violations of the Code. Vigilant and its employees may not participate in private placements or initial public offerings (IPOs) without pre-clearance from the Firm's Compliance Officer.

Footnotes:

(1) This policy has been established recognizing that some securities being considered for purchase and/or sale on behalf of the Funds trade in sufficiently broad markets to permit transactions for the Funds to be completed without an appreciable impact on the markets of the securities. Under certain circumstances, exceptions may be made to the policies stated above. Records of these trades, including the reasons for the exceptions, will be maintained with Vigilant's records in the manner set forth above.

(2) The foregoing does not apply to certain types of securities, such as obligations of the U.S. Government, and shares in open-end mutual funds. Open-end mutual funds are purchased or redeemed at a fixed net asset value price per share specific to the date of purchase or redemption. As such, transactions in mutual funds by Advisory Representatives are not likely to have an impact on the prices of the Funds' shares in which clients invest. In accordance with Section 204-A of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, Vigilant also maintains and enforces written policies reasonably designed to prevent the misuse of material non-public information by Vigilant or any person associated with Vigilant.

As required by regulation (and because it's good business), we have adopted a Code of Ethics that governs a number of potential conflicts of interest we have when providing our advisory services to you. This Code of Ethics is designed to ensure we meet our fiduciary obligation to you, our Client (or Prospective Client) and to drive home a Culture of Compliance within our firm. An additional benefit of our Code is to detect and prevent violations of securities laws, including our obligations we owe to you. Our Code is comprehensive, is distributed to each employee at the time of hire, and annually thereafter (if there are changes). We also supplement the Code with annual training and on-going monitoring of employee activity.

Our Code includes the following:

- Requirements related to the confidentiality of your information;
- Prohibitions on:
 - Insider trading (if we are in possession of material, non-public information);
 - Rumor mongering;
 - The acceptance of gifts and entertainment that exceed our policy standards;
- Reporting of gifts and business entertainment;
- Pre-clearance of employee and firm transactions;
- Reporting (on an on-going and quarterly basis) all personal securities transactions (what we call “reportable securities” as mandated by regulation); and,
- On an annual basis, we require all employees to re-certify to our Code, identify members of their household and any account to which they have a beneficial ownership (they “own” the account or have “authority” over the account), securities held in certificate form and all securities they own at that time).

Our Code does not prohibit personal trading by employees (or our firm). As you may imagine, as a professional investment adviser, we follow our own advice. As a result, we may purchase or sell the same or similar securities (or securities that are suitable for an employee or related account but not suitable for any client, including you) at the same time that we place transactions for your account and the accounts of our other Clients.

You may request a complete copy of our Code by contacting us at the address, telephone or email on the cover page of this Part 2; attn.: Chief Compliance Officer.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions:

Vigilant recommends to its clients the purchase or sale of our private investment funds. (A discussion of these funds may be found in Item 4 and Item 8 above.) Vigilant earns both a management fee and a performance-based fee on the private investment funds. (A discussion of these fees may be found in Item 4 above.)

Vigilant recommends to its clients the purchase or sale of Vigilant Funds. Vigilant serves as the investment advisor for and receives fees from the Vigilant Funds.

Item 12 - Brokerage Practices

Subject to the Funds’ investment restrictions, Vigilant has complete discretion over the selection and amount of securities to be bought or sold, the broker or dealer to be used and the commission rates to be paid regarding investments in the Funds without obtaining any investor’s prior consent or approval.

Portfolio transactions for the Funds generally are allocated to broker-dealers on the basis of best execution, in such a manner that the Funds' total costs or proceeds are the most favorable under the circumstances. The Firm takes into account the following criteria in selecting broker-dealers including but not limited to: special execution capabilities, knowledge of the market, block trading and block positioning capabilities, access to sources of supply or markets, record keeping services, clearance, settlement, reputation, financial strength and stability, efficiency of execution, the availability of stocks to borrow for short trades, custody and record keeping and similar services.

Trade Allocation Policy

Vigilant may aggregate sale and purchase orders of securities held by the Funds with similar orders being made simultaneously for other accounts, including Vigilant and/or its associated persons own accounts, in Vigilant's reasonable judgment, such aggregation is reasonably likely to result in an overall economic benefit to the Funds based on an evaluation that the Funds are benefited by relatively better purchase or sale prices, lower commission expenses, beneficial timing of transactions, or a combination of these and other factors. In many instances, the purchase or sale of securities for the Funds are effected simultaneously with the purchase or sale of like securities for other accounts. Such transactions may be made at slightly different prices, due to the volume of securities purchased or sold. In such event, the average price of all securities purchased or sold in such transactions may be determined in Vigilant's sole discretion; the Funds may be charged or credited, as the case may be, with such average price.

Research and Other Soft Dollar Benefits:

The use of commissions or "soft dollars" to pay for research products or services will fall within the safe harbor created by Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The Company, as a matter of policy and practice, does not have any formal or informal arrangements or commitments to utilize research, research-related products and other services obtained from broker-dealers, or third parties, on a soft dollar commission basis.

Soft dollars generally refers to arrangements whereby a discretionary investment adviser is allowed to pay for and receive research, research-related or execution services from a broker-dealer or third-party provider, in addition to the execution of transactions, in exchange for the brokerage commissions from transactions for client accounts.

Item 13 - Review of Accounts

Investments in Fund's are monitored on a continuous basis by Matthew Tullis, a member of the Firm. Changes in market outlooks, valuation of securities and changes in opinion on specific issues, among others, may prompt particular reviews of specific investments. Transactions and accounts in general are formally reviewed on at least a quarterly basis. The Funds are governed by a Board of Managers who are elected by members and meet periodically throughout the year to oversee the Funds' business, review their performance, and review the actions of Vigilant.

The Firm undergoes an annual audit conducted by Mantyla McReynolds, an independent accountant that is registered with, and subject to regular inspection by, the PCAOB, and distributes the audited results to their investors within 120 days of the end of the year. Investors receive quarterly statements showing balance, transactions, deposits and withdrawals.

Item 14 - Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Vigilant does not solicit client referrals or make/receive payments for such services. It also does not receive any additional compensation other than the disclosed fees listed above.

Item 15 - Custody

The amended and revised Rule 206(4)-2 of the Advisers Act (the Advisers Act (the "Custody Rule")) sets forth extensive requirements regarding possession or custody of client funds or securities. The Custody Rule requires advisers that have custody of client securities or funds to implement a set of controls designed to protect those client assets from being lost, misused, misappropriated or subject to financial reserves. Advisers with custody of client funds and securities must maintain them with "qualified custodians". Qualified custodians under the amended rule include banks and savings associations and registered broker-dealers.

Vigilant currently uses Wells Fargo and Interactive Brokers as the qualified custodians. Vigilant is deemed to have custody over the Fund assets. In accordance with the Custody Rule, a qualified custodian will not be required to deliver quarterly account statements to the Funds or their respective investors as long as (i) the Funds are audited by an independent public accountant that is registered with, and subject to inspection by, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, (ii) the Funds' audited financial statements are prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, and (iii) Vigilant delivers such annual audited financial statements to investors within 120 days after the end of each Fund's fiscal year.
