Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Fiduciary Experts provides the investment strategy and its implementation for all clients, utilizing a variety of securities such as stocks, bonds, Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs) or pooled investment vehicles (such as mutual funds). Analysis for institutional portfolios differs from that of individual investors due to ERISA compliance and proper asset allocation management of such portfolios.

Our clients receive the benefit of developed investment philosophies and strategies, research and due diligence, account monitoring, and personal financial planning recommendations. Expansive academic research, investment information, and certain proprietary analyses are drawn upon by Main Street Capital Advisors, FI360, and Fiduciary Benchmarks Inc. in order to provide innovative investment advisory services.

Each client receives a written Investment Policy Statement, which sets forth a recommended model allocation based on the clients' risk tolerance, age, and objectives. Specific no-load mutual funds and other investment products and securities are then recommended to clients. Clients' portfolios are periodically monitored, and changes to investment portfolios are suggested when appropriate. A disciplined approach to rebalancing is employed in order to maintain asset class exposures within desired risk tolerances, subject to variances permitted for tax reduction, tax planning or other reasons.

Methods of Analyses and Investment Strategies

Institutional Advise:

Upon the creation of the IPS we are able to apply a consistent model for monitoring and addressing issues associated with such assets. Specific criteria for benchmarking is based on factors selected within the IPS in order to apply a consistent method for evaluating such assets and taking the proper steps to advise on changes or updates.

Individual Advise:

We rely on specific information pertaining to the clients' financial situation, estate planning, tax planning, risk management planning, short-term and long-term lifetime financial goals and objectives, investment time horizon, and perceived current tolerance for risk. This information becomes the basis for the model Investment Policy Statement which we best meet the clients' stated long term personal financial goals. The model Investment Policy Statement provides for investments in those asset classes which is designed to allocate combinations of return, risk, and correlation over the long term. A tremendous amount of academic research reveals that strategic asset allocation is determinative of the majority of the expected long-term gross returns of investor's portfolios.

Part of our selection of asset classes is driven by research into global asset classes by such academics as Professor Eugene Fama, Sr. of the University of Chicago Booth Graduate School of Business and the Center for Research in Security Prices, Professor Kenneth French of Dartmouth College, and many other academics and researchers. The investment advice which we Provide is based upon long-term investment strategies which incorporate the principles of Modern Portfolio Theory. The utilization of several different asset classes as part of an investor's portfolio is emphasized: Equity, Fixed Income, and Cash equivalents.

Our investment approach is firmly rooted in the belief that markets are fairly efficient and that investors' gross returns are determined principally by asset allocation decisions. A focus is provided on developing and implementing globally diversified portfolios, principally through the use of low-cost and tax-efficient passively managed stock mutual funds, many of which are available only to institutional investors and clients of advisors granted access to such funds. Investment policy and overall portfolio weightings as between equities and fixed income investments are based upon each client's needs and desires, perceived risk tolerance, the need to assume various risks, and investment time horizon. We may use tactical asset allocation strategies in connection with the management of client portfolios by overweighting or underweighting a particular asset class.

Methods of Analysis; Sources of Information

Our security analysis is based upon a number of factors including those derived from commercially available software technology, securities rating services, general economic and market and financial information, due diligence reviews, and specific investment analyses that clients may request. The main sources of information include commercially available investment information and evaluation services, financial newspapers and journals, academic white papers and periodicals. Prospectuses, statements of additional information, other issuer-prepared information, and data aggregation services (Morningstar Advisor) are also utilized. Our advisors also attend various investment and financial planning conferences. Research is also received from consultants, including Main Street Capital Advisors.

Types of Investments

- Mutual Funds
- ETFs
- Variable Annuities
- Fixed Annuities
- Bonds
- CD's
- Money Markets and Stable Value

Recommendations may be undertaken to advise clients to invest in low-cost, no-load (no commission), variable, or fixed deferred or immediate annuities when appropriate to the circumstances and tax situation of the client.

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. The investment recommendations seek to limit risk through broad global diversification in equities (through broadly diversified stock mutual funds), and investment in fixed income securities or diversified bond funds.

However, the investment methodology will still subject the client to declines in the value of their portfolios, which can at times be dramatic. Fiduciary Experts believes a high probability exists in most market environments of a long-term (15-year or greater) outperformance of small cap and value stocks, relative to large cap and growth stocks, and hence the stock (equities) portion of an investor's portfolio may be "tilted" toward small cap and value stocks. Accordingly, the normally greater expected returns of the equity portion of the portfolio will in turn often permit the overall allocation to equities (stocks, stock mutual funds) to be reduced, and the allocation to fixed income investments increased. Fiduciary Experts believes this is the best manner to temper the shorter-term volatility of the stock market, especially for clients who derive cash flow from their portfolios, such as clients who are in retirement years.

While we seek to reduce non-compensated risks to which a client may be exposed, other risks (including but not limited to the risk of a general stock market decline) may be assumed in order to seek to attain the clients' longer-term financial goals and objectives. However, we cannot provide any guarantee that the clients' goals and objectives will be achieved.

Types of Risk

Fiduciary Experts seeks to educate clients of various risks and select only those risks that they can tolerate in exchange for potential return. Investors face the following investment risks:

☐ Interest-Rate Risk:

Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.

☐ Market Risk:

The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.

☐ Inflation Risk:

When inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.

☐ Currency Risk:

Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.

☐ Reinvestment Risk:

This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.

☐ Business Risk:

These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.

☐ Liquidity Risk:

Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.

☐ Financial Risk:

Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

☐ Small Capitalization Stock Risk:

Small companies often have narrower markets and limited financial resources, so investments in these stocks present more risk than investments in those of larger, more established companies.

☐ Value Style Investing Risk:

Companies that are thought to be “under-valued” may never reach their full estimated market value and value style investing may fall out of favor and underperform growth or other style investing during given periods.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

There is no disciplinary action in the past or pending for our firm and its employees

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

There are no affiliations or activities outside of our RIA service model.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics

Fiduciary Experts has adopted a Code of Ethics, to which all employees are bound to adhere.

The key component of our Code of Ethics states:

Fiduciary Experts LLC and its investment advisor representatives and employees shall always:

- ☐ Act in the best interests of each and every client; and put our fiduciary duty and role in writing.
- ☐ Act with integrity and dignity when dealing with clients, prospects, team members, and others;
- ☐ Strive to maintain and continually enhance our high degree of professional education regarding Fiduciary, ERISA, investments, tax, estate, and risk management planning;
- ☐ Seek at all times to preserve our firm's independence and to maintain our complete objectivity with respect to our advisory services and each recommendation made to our clients.

Fiduciary Experts further adopted a detailed Code of Ethics expressing the firm's commitment to ethical conduct, which is adopted by reference and which is utilized to guide the personal conduct of our various team members. This detailed Code of Ethics describes the firm's fiduciary duties and responsibilities to clients and sets forth our practices of supervising the personal securities transactions of employees with prior or concurrent access to client trade information. Fiduciary Experts will provide a complete copy of the Code of Ethics to any client or prospective client upon request.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

We are not affiliated with a broker/dealer other than a custodial relationship to enhance transparency and avoid any conflicts of interest.

Selected Brokerage Firms (Custodians)

Fiduciary Experts utilizes the services of TD Ameritrade Institutional, and TD Ameritrade Trust to provide our team members with access to institutional trading and custody services, which are not typically available to retail investors.

These services generally are available to independent investment advisors on an unsolicited basis and at no charge to them. However, not all independent investment advisors recommend their clients to utilize particular custodians.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

For Institutional Clients:

Fiduciary Experts conducts quarterly portfolio reviews for each client and provides a face to face presentation of such reports to its institutional 401k, 403b and 457 Plans. When addressing participant accounts individually we provide ad hoc reports and analysis as needed or as requested by the employee him/her self. We provide a website and helpdesk exclusively to address such concerns as well as common service plan requests by setting up meetings face to face with the employees or via web or phone conference call.

For individual portfolios:

Periodic Portfolio Reviews are undertaken by advisors of Fiduciary Experts to ascertain if the values in any asset class have strayed beyond their target minimums or maximums, and for purposes of meeting clients' cash flow needs.

Even if one or more asset classes fall outside their target minimums or maximums, the advisor may determine not to rebalance the asset class for various reasons, such as avoidance of short term capital gains, deferring long-term capital gains realization, minimization of transaction costs, or our view on whether the asset class is undervalued or overvalued relative to historic norms and our view of the level of the macroeconomic risks to which the asset class may be exposed. Such in-house portfolio reviews are subject to additional restrictions set forth below.

Additional Portfolio Reviews are undertaken upon request by the client, such as when special cash needs arise or when additional cash or securities are added to the investment portfolio. We will respond to such requests within a reasonable period of time.

Other conditions that may trigger a review are changes in the tax laws, new investment information, and changes in a client's own situation. Portland Financial Advisors may also undertake sales and purchases during this time to effect tax loss harvesting, in addition to rebalancing actions.

Account reviewer is Maribel Larios, MBA, CFA Level I Candidate, and AIF® who considers the clients' current security positions and the likelihood that the performance of each security will contribute to the investment objectives of the client.

In undertaking rebalancing actions, Fiduciary Experts will seek to rebalance one or more asset classes closer to the targets. We may decline to rebalance a specific asset class, due to tax concerns, high transaction costs relative to the trade amount, or other reasons.

Fiduciary Experts may estimate the market close at any point during the day during which trades are being made, and undertake trades on that basis. Since the stock market is very volatile, especially in the last hour of trading, this may cause us to underestimate or overestimate the amount needed to effect a rebalancing action.

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Fiduciary Experts LLC does not provide or accept compensation from any person for client referrals.

Referrals to other professionals may be undertaken where appropriate to meet the clients' needs. These situations include:

☐ Referral to other professionals such as CPAs, ERISA attorneys, Estate Planning Attorneys, Tax professionals, and other professions as it relates to helping our clients meet their needs.

Item 15: Custody

It is our policy to not accept custody of clients' securities. In other words, Fiduciary Experts LLC is not granted access to our clients' accounts, which would enable us to withdraw or transfer or otherwise move funds or cash from any client account to our accounts or the account of any third party (other than for purposes of fee deductions, as explained below). This is for the safety of our clients' assets.

However, with client consent, we may be provided with the authority to seek deduction of advisors' fees from clients' accounts; this process generally is more efficient for both the client and the investment advisor, and there may be tax benefits for the client to this method when fees can be paid from certain tax-deferred accounts of clients.

All of our clients receive account statements directly from qualified custodians or record-keepers, that maintain those assets. Clients should carefully review these account statements, and compare them to the quarterly or other reports. We urge all of our clients to review statements from the custodians in order to ensure that all account transactions, including deductions to pay advisory fees remain proper, and to contact us with any questions.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

Fiduciary Experts accepts limited forms of discretion over clients' accounts, as follows, with the consent of the client. Each client's grant of discretion is evidenced in the client services agreement (or addendums thereto) signed by the client, and is further evidenced to the custodians through a limited power of attorney contained in the account establishment form signed by the client or a separate limited power of attorney document signed by the client.

Some clients appoint Fiduciary Experts as the clients' agent and attorney-in-fact with respect to undertaking trades in client accounts; ability to enter trades electronically for clients often provides reduced transaction fees and other benefits to our client.

Please note that Fiduciary Experts prefers to contact clients in advance of trades or transactions outside of discretionary accounts prior to such activity, but the limited. Moreover, Fiduciary Experts LLC seeks to undertake a minimal amount of trading in client accounts, in order to keep transaction fees, other expenses, and tax consequences associated with trading to minimal levels.

Limited discretion to rebalance in accordance with investment policy – for some client accounts. With client consent, we will accept from clients' discretion to deploy cash additions (or cash arising from the redemption of maturity of securities) in clients' portfolio in accordance with the clients' investment policy statement.

In addition, Fiduciary Experts will accept from such clients the discretion to rebalance the clients' portfolio back closer to its desired targets. Clients typically grant such authority to us for rebalancing purposes when the clients' business affairs or travels are such that the client is likely to be unavailable to us to confer, prior to entering any recommended trade(s).

Fiduciary Experts has the ability to be a 3(38) fiduciary on retirement plans and as such creates and executes model portfolios for client plans as well as monitor and replace investment options as appropriate per the Investment Policy Statement.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy and practice, Fiduciary Experts LLC does not accept authority to vote proxies on behalf of clients. Clients retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in client portfolios. Generally, clients will receive their proxies or other solicitations directly from the custodian or transfer agent. However, clients may call or e-mail their advisor with questions regarding a particular proxy or other solicitation, and we may provide advice to clients regarding their voting of proxies or such solicitations, upon request of a client or clients or in unusual circumstances.
