Item 6:                    Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

This section is not applicable.

Item 7:                                    Types of Clients

Atlantic Capital Strategies, Inc. provides investment advisory services to community-based financial institutions, including commercial banks and savings banks. There are no requirements for opening or maintaining an account, such as a minimum account size.

Item 8:                    Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

The investment management process considers the needs of each individual client, and also the economic environment and investment characteristics. By developing an in-depth knowledge of these three components, Atlantic Capital Strategies, Inc. recommends investment strategies believed to be appropriate and suitable for its clients. Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear and these risks may include the following:

- Interest rate risk
- Prepayment risk
- Reinvestment risk
- Market risk
- Credit risk
- Liquidity risk
- Event risk

Atlantic Capital Strategies, Inc. considers the asset/liability position of its clients when developing strategies and making specific investment recommendations. As a general rule, the firm recommends strategies that lessen the client's exposure to balance sheet risk.

The management of each client's fixed-income portfolio is driven by balance sheet needs, reflecting the institution's tolerance for risk and income requirements. Atlantic Capital Strategies, Inc. stresses the importance of diversification. In recommending sectors and individual securities, the firm considers duration targets, sector weighting, and cash flow characteristics.

Management of common stock portfolios reflects a fundamental analysis approach, with an emphasis on quality and safety. Atlantic Capital Strategies, Inc. focuses on dividend-paying companies that are likely to produce increasing income over time. Capital appreciation is also a consideration, though not the primary objective. The firm uses independent research in order to evaluate fundamental value and a technical filter to determine relative value.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

This section is not applicable.

Item 11:      Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Pursuant to SEC rule 204A-1, Atlantic Capital Strategies, Inc. has adopted a code of ethics that, at a minimum, includes a standard of business conduct reflecting its fiduciary obligations, the requirement that employees comply with applicable federal securities laws, the requirement that employees report any violations of the company’s code of ethics promptly, and provisions requiring that each employee be provided with a copy of the code of ethics and any amendments. A copy of the code of ethics will made available to any client or prospective client upon request.

If any employee of Atlantic Capital Strategies, Inc. recommends to clients, or buys or sells for client accounts, securities in which the employee of Atlantic Capital Strategies, Inc. has a material financial interest, then this activity will be disclosed to the client promptly. Such occurrences are remote and present limited opportunity for conflicts or risk to the client.

Employees may purchase and sell securities for their personal accounts. They may not purchase securities until recommendations have been made to clients allowing them an opportunity to establish positions in the securities. Conversely, sales are restricted until clients have had an opportunity to liquidate or reduce their positions in such securities. Such occurrences are remote and present limited opportunity for conflicts or risk to the client.

Each employee is required to keep a quarter-end log of all personal securities transactions.

Item 12:*Brokerage Practices

The selection of brokers for the execution of client transactions is agreed upon at the time an advisory agreement is executed with a client. From such a list, Atlantic Capital Strategies, Inc. approaches a number of brokers to obtain the most favorable price for the client in each transaction and considers all factors deemed relevant. Such factors include security price, the breadth of the market for the security, the financial condition and execution capability of the broker, and the reasonableness of the commission, if any, for the transaction.

Research provided by all brokers is used for the benefit of all accounts to the extent that such research is useful. Brokers provide research without any expectation of further business dealings. This material is weighed against the services or advice purchased from independent providers such as S&P and Value Line. Company policy prohibits the use of “soft dollar” arrangements to obtain research or services.

Atlantic Capital Strategies, Inc. does not receive client referrals from broker-dealers in exchange for selecting or recommending said broker-dealers.

Clients are permitted to direct the use of a particular broker-dealer for a transaction at the risk of not receiving the most favorable price for the transaction.

From time to time, Atlantic Capital Strategies, Inc. will aggregate orders to achieve more favorable pricing for clients, or to provide clients with a wider range of product offerings.

Item 13:*Review of Accounts

Atlantic Capital Strategies, Inc. works with its clients to develop an interactive plan for positioning the investment portfolio at specific target dates, which complements the institution’s internal budgeting process. This plan is updated quarterly.

The investment plan considers the following factors:

The firm meets with management on a quarterly basis to review the business climate, the client’s asset/liability position, portfolio performance and to discuss investment strategies.
