Item 4: Advisory Business

Veerkloh, LLC d/b/a River Glen Wealth Counselors is a registered investment adviser located in West Des Moines, Iowa. We are organized as a limited liability company and have been providing investment advisory services since 2008. Matthew Busick is our principal owner.

We provide personalized wealth management services designed to integrate your planning and investment goals and needs. Depending on the engagement, we offer our services on a fee basis which may include hourly, fixed fees, as well as fees based upon assets under management.

The following paragraphs describe our services and fees. You may see the term “Associated Person” throughout this Brochure. Our Associated Persons are our officers, employees, and all individuals providing investment advice on our behalf.

Wealth Management Services

Our Wealth Management Services include Financial and Tax planning, Risk Planning and Investment Planning. You will receive a written plan and other reports which can simplify and determine financial and investment alternatives by:

1. Defining and narrowing your objectives and investment options
2. Identifying areas of greatest concern
3. Creating a unique picture of your overall financial situation
4. Providing an effective and efficient way for us to address your unique financial needs and objectives.

You may elect to receive one or all of the following services and will be charged according to the fee schedule stated below which will be dependent on the scope and complexity of our relationship. Financial and tax planning and risk planning may be provided on a one time or ongoing basis.

Financial Planning Services

We offer a broad array of financial planning services to assist clients in planning for and monitoring their progress toward achieving specific financial goals, such as saving for retirement, funding a child’s education, managing risk through insurance, or managing withdrawals in retirement to ensure that assets last for the client’s lifetime. All financial plans are completed or supervised by Matthew Busick. The plans are offered in modules so that clients may focus on their particular needs and priorities. We also offer annual updates to the plans for reduced fees. We do not sell any products or receive any financial incentives tied to recommendations. The following is a description of the services included in each financial planning module:

Comprehensive Financial Analysis

- Budget Analysis;

- Retirement analysis;
- Net worth analysis;
- Education analysis;
- Insurance analysis;
- Risk profile analysis;
- Basic estate planning analysis;
- Non-retirement “accumulation” goal planning (second home, boat, travel, etc).

Budget Analysis

- Analysis of current spending either pre- or post-retirement to gain an understanding of monthly expenses and income, and where shortfalls can be corrected or additional savings can be achieved;
- Detailed Cash Flow Report for items such as income, personal expenses, family expenses, home expenses, insurance expenses, vehicle expenses, and taxes.

Retirement Analysis

- Assessment of the probability of success given a specified lifestyle and resources, analyzing numerous possible market outcomes including “bear” market stress testing of your plan;
- Demonstration of the impact of inflation on the portfolio and client’s retirement plans;
- Detailed Net Worth Report for assets and liabilities;
- Multiple “What-if” illustrations based on client’s needs, wants and wishes;
- Cash flow projections for client’s retirement years;

Education Analysis

- Analysis of total future costs for primary and secondary education, public or private (analysis can be customized to a family’s specific choices of schools);
- Savings and funding strategies that could help meet educational costs;
- Recommendations regarding potential savings vehicles such as 529 plans and custodial accounts to meet educational needs;

Insurance Analysis

- Analysis of all existing insurance policies;
- Independent analysis and recommendations for life insurance to meet personal, family, and estate needs;
- Analysis of disability insurance needs.

Risk Profile Analysis

- Detailed questionnaire seeking to understand and analyze client’s financial behavior;
- Quantifiable measure of client’s risk tolerance and illustration of the impact of market volatility on client’s planning and investment portfolio;
- Illustration of historical performance of various allocations.

Basic Estate Planning Analysis

- Illustration of potential estate tax liabilities;
- Analysis of gifting strategies to minimize taxes;
- Analysis of Irrevocable Life Insurance Trust (ILIT) to shield life insurance proceeds from estate taxes;
- Analysis of bypass trusts to avoid estate taxes;
- Modeling of distribution outcomes using different personal exclusion amount assumptions.

Investment Planning

We will initially meet with you to obtain relevant information which will allow us to determine your investment objectives, suitability, risk tolerance, and other client specific information.

Based upon contracted for services, we will typically provide an investment policy statement and asset allocation & rebalancing report, which will usually address investment goals, objectives, restraints, initial asset allocations, and other client specific information. After you approve the investment policy statement, we will establish an initial portfolio of securities for you which will be tailored to your investment objectives and risk tolerance. We will monitor the portfolio on an ongoing basis and will re-balance the portfolio as necessary per changes in market conditions, changes in investment objectives or your financial condition, as well as other relevant factors.

With the exception of retirement plan accounts containing securities other than mutual funds, for accounts which are not held in custody with Fidelity Brokerage Services, LLC or Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. , we will review such accounts at the beginning of our relationship and thereafter on an annual basis. We will not monitor such accounts on a continuous basis and it is your responsibility to implement any advice we offer on such accounts.

We typically require you to grant us discretionary authority to manage your account. Discretionary authorization will allow us to determine the specific securities, and the amount of securities, to be purchased or sold for your account without your approval prior to each transaction. Discretionary authority is typically granted by the wealth management agreement you sign and execute with us and/or trading authorization forms. You may limit our discretionary authority (for example, limiting the types of securities that can be purchased for your account) by providing us with your restrictions and guidelines in writing.

We may use one or more sub-advisors whereby the sub-advisor will have discretion to manage all or a portion of your account, which management may be based on one or more model portfolios developed by the sub-advisor. We will continuously monitor the performance of any accounts managed by a sub-advisor and may hire and terminate any sub-advisor without your consent. We will pay a portion of our fee to any sub-advisor(s) we use, however you will not pay a higher fee than our normal fee as a result of any sub-advisory relationships.

Our annual investment planning fee is typically billed and payable monthly or quarterly in arrears based on the value of your account on the last day of the month. If the wealth management agreement is executed at any time other than the first day of the month, our fees will apply on a pro-rata basis, which means that the advisory fee is payable in proportion to the number of days in the month for which you are a client. We, in our sole discretion, may negotiate to waive our stated account minimum or to reduce/increase any fee. The annual investment planning tiered fee schedule can be found in Item 5 “Fees and Compensation”.

At our discretion, we may combine the account values of family members living in the same household to determine the applicable advisory fee. For example, we may combine account values for you and your minor children, joint accounts with your spouse, and other types of related accounts. Combining account values may increase the asset total, which may result in your paying a reduced advisory fee based on the available breakpoints in our fee schedule in Item 5.

We may deduct our fee directly from your account through the qualified custodian holding your funds and securities. We will deduct our advisory fee only when you have given us written authorization permitting the fees to be paid directly from your account. Further, the qualified custodian will deliver an account statement to you at least quarterly and you will receive a copy of the invoice at the same time it is submitted for payment to the custodian. These account statements will show all disbursements from your account. You should review all statements for accuracy.

You may terminate the wealth management agreement, by giving notice to River Glen Wealth Counselors, at any time. You will incur a pro-rata charge for services rendered prior to the termination of the agreement, which means you will incur advisory fees only in proportion to the number of days in the billing cycle which you are a client. If you have pre-paid advisory fees that we have not yet earned, you will receive a prorated refund of those fees.

Financial plans, analysis and reports are based on your financial situation at the time we present the plan, analysis and/or report to you, and on the financial information you provide to us. You must promptly notify us if your financial situation, goals, objectives, or needs change.

Pension Consulting Services

In performing fiduciary advisory services for participant-directed 401(k) plans, we are a fiduciary and an Investment Manager under ERISA. Fiduciary advisory services for 401(k) plans include:

1. Discretionary authority to select, monitor, remove, and replace the investment alternatives available to Plan participants under the terms of the Plan. We screen mutual funds using a proprietary filtering process based on generally accepted investment theories.
2. Discretionary authority to develop and amend a formal written Investment Policy Statement (IPS), which establishes the specific standards and processes for investment operations of the Plan.

3. Construction and management of asset-allocation model portfolios from which participants may choose. These asset allocation model portfolios utilize the underlying investment options made available to Plan participants. Models are constructed to provide each of the following six strategies: Conservative, Moderate Conservative, Moderate, Moderate Aggressive, and Aggressive Growth. The allocation of asset classes within each Model Portfolio is based on generally accepted investment theories.

We do not provide fiduciary investment advisory services to participants at a participant level, only at the Plan level. However, we may provide investment education to participants so that participants may choose an allocation strategy or construct a portfolio from the available mutual funds that meets their needs, objectives, time horizon, and risk tolerance.

Types of Investments

We primarily offer advice on exchange traded funds. We may also advise you on mutual funds, equity securities, warrants, corporate debt securities, commercial paper, certificates of deposit, municipal securities, U.S. Government securities, options contracts on securities, and interests in partnerships investing in real estate.

We may also recommend that certain clients invest in private placement/investments, which may include proprietary private equity, venture capital, and direct investments into private companies. We will not, however, receive any compensation for the recommendations of proprietary investments. However, our related entities may receive compensation for the management of entities in which our clients may invest. See the “Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations” section below for further information. You may request that we refrain from investing in particular securities or certain types of securities. You must provide these restrictions to us in writing.

Assets Under Management

As of December 31, 2015 we manage $119,900,079 in client assets on a discretionary basis and $3,065,303 in client assets on a non-discretionary basis for a total assets under management of $122,965,382.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

Asset and or/Portfolio Management

Clients’ portfolios may consist of a variety of financial products, including, but not limited to exchange-traded funds (“ETFs”), mutual funds, equities, bonds, and potentially other products. The investment strategies utilized and portfolios constructed and managed depend on the individual client’s investment objectives and goals as provided to the Investment Adviser Representative (IAR).

The annual Investment Advisory Fee is based on a percentage of the investable assets with the annual fee ranging from 0.30% to 1.20%, depending on the amount and complexity of assets under advisory, to be negotiated with each client, in addition to a performance based fee for qualifying accounts. Client relationships may be established for which the fees are higher or lower than the fee schedules provided above. In particular, in those cases where a performance based fee does not apply, the Investment Advisory Fee would be higher (ranging from 0.50% to 2.00%).

Fixed Fee and Hourly Agreements

We may also provide fixed fee and hourly advisory services for clients who need advice on a limited scope of work. The fixed rate or hourly rate for limited scope engagements varies, yet hourly agreements will not typically exceed $500 per hour. All agreements involving a fixed fee or hourly rate will be consummated as part of an Advisory Agreement between the client and River Glen. We will debit such fees, as a result, in arrears on a monthly or quarterly basis, as negotiated with each client. Each client's Agreement will describe the frequency in which fees will be debited (e.g., monthly or quarterly). Some fixed fees may be priced based on the complexity of work, especially when asset management is not the most significant part of the relationship. All fees are negotiable between us and each client.

Pension Consulting Fees

We charge an annualized fee which shall be due and payable, quarterly in arrears, based upon the value of the Plan's assets at the end of the quarter. The fee shall be paid directly to us according to the following fee schedule:

*Minimum Annual Fee: $3,000

We, in our sole discretion, may negotiate to waive our stated account minimum or to reduce/increase any fee. Either party to the pension consulting agreement may terminate the agreement upon notice to the other party. In the event of termination, the pension consulting fees will be prorated for the quarter in which the termination notice is given.

Additional Fee Information

Clients may authorize us to directly debit management fees from client accounts on a monthly or quarterly basis. In such instances, management fees are pro-rated for each capital contribution and withdrawal made during the applicable calendar quarter. Accounts initiated or terminated during a calendar period will be charged a pro-rated fee. Alternatively, in some instances, clients may receive an invoice for fees, in which the client may choose to pay us directly for our billed fees for the relevant period. Our fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses which shall be incurred directly by the client. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, and other third parties such as fees charged by fund managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd - lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic funds fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage account and securities transactions. Mutual funds and exchange-traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. It is our Policy not to accept "kick-backs" or retrocession fees from any third non-affiliated party providing services to our clients.

Termination of the Agreement

Although an Agreement between us and our clients is an ongoing agreement and constant adjustments are required, the length of service to the client is at the client's discretion. The client or the investment manager may terminate an Agreement by written notice to the other party or as agreed upon otherwise between the client and us. If an agreement is terminated during a period in which the client has already paid us the financial planning fees in advance, then we will reimburse, on a pro-rated basis, the remaining advisory fees collected for any service not rendered; these fees will be sent to the client's address of record, unless otherwise directed by the client, within (30) days of termination of the agreement.

ITEM 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

We have performance fee arrangements with qualified clients (as such term is defined in Rule 205-3 under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the "Advisers Act")). We structure performance fee arrangements subject to Section 205(a)(1) of the Adviser's Act in accordance with the available exemptions thereunder, including the exemption set forth in Rule 205-3. In measuring clients' assets for the calculation of performance-based fees, we include realized and unrealized capital gains and losses. We typically charge performance-based fees when risk-adjusted return is better than the risk-adjusted return of the benchmark or set of benchmarks for the portfolio. Accounts that are charged a performance-based fee might create an incentive for us and/or the portfolio manager to recommend investments which may be riskier or more speculative than those which would be recommended under a different fee arrangement. However, we substantially mitigate this risk by measuring performance on a risk-adjusted return basis vis-a'-vis the benchmark or set of benchmarks. Furthermore, we have procedures designed and implemented to ensure that all clients are treated fairly and equally, and to prevent this conflict from influencing the allocation of investment opportunities among clients.

Item 7: Types of Clients

We offer investment advisory services to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations, and other business entities.

We generally require a minimum of $500,000 to open and maintain an advisory account. We may waive this requirement in our discretion if, for example, you appear to have significant potential for increasing assets under our management. We will also house client accounts to meet the stated account minimum.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Our Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

We may use one or more of the following methods of analysis or investment strategies when providing investment advice to you:

Charting and Technical Analysis – Charting analysis involves the gathering and processing of price and volume information for a particular security. This price and volume information is analyzed using mathematical equations. The resulting data is then applied to graphing charts, which is used to predict future price movements based on price patterns and trends. Technical Analysis involves studying past price patterns and trends in the financial markets to predict the direction of both the overall market and specific stocks. The risk of market timing based on technical analysis is that charts may not accurately predict future price movements. Current prices of securities may reflect all information known about the security and day-to-day changes in market prices of securities may follow random patterns and may not be predictable with any reliable degree of accuracy.

Fundamental Analysis – Fundamental analysis involves analyzing individual companies and their industry groups, such as a company's financial statements, details regarding the company's product line, the experience, and expertise of the company's management, and the outlook for the company's industry. The resulting data is used to measure the true value of the company's stock compared to the current market value. The risk of fundamental analysis is that information obtained may be incorrect and the analysis may not provide an accurate estimate of earnings, which may be the basis for a stock's value. If securities prices adjust rapidly to new information, utilizing fundamental analysis may not result in favorable performance.

Long Term Purchases – securities purchased with the expectation that the value of those securities will grow over a relatively long period of time, generally greater than one year.

Short Term Purchases – securities purchased with the expectation that they will be sold within a relatively short period of time, generally less than one year, to take advantage of the securities' short-term price fluctuations.

Short Sales – Securities transaction in which an investor sells securities he or she borrowed in anticipation of a price decline. The investor is then required to return an equal number of shares at some point in the future. A short seller will profit if the stock goes down in price, but if the price of the shares increase, the potential losses are unlimited.

Margin Transactions – a securities transaction in which an investor borrows money to purchase a security, in which case the security serves as collateral on the loan.

Options Trading- a securities transaction that involves buying or selling (writing) an option. If you write an option, and the buyer exercises the option, you are obligated to purchase or deliver a specified number of shares at a specified price at the expiration of the option regardless of the market value of the security at expiration of the option. Buying an option gives you the right to purchase or sell a specified number of shares at a specified price until the date of expiration of the option regardless of the market value of the security at expiration of the option.

Our investment strategies and advice may vary depending upon each client's specific financial situation. As such, we determine investments and allocations based upon your predefined objectives, risk tolerance, time horizon, financial horizon, financial information, liquidity needs, and other various suitability factors. Your restrictions and guidelines may affect the composition of your portfolio.

Margin accounts present special risks because you can lose more money than you deposit in your account. Additionally, the custodian can force the sale of securities in your account and can sell securities without contacting you.

The trading of options may be highly speculative and may entail more risk than those present when investing in other types of securities. Prices of options are generally more volatile than prices of other types of securities. When trading in options, you may run the risk of losing the entire investment in a relatively short period of time. In more risky options strategies, an investor could theoretically have an unlimited risk of loss.

We may use investment strategies that involve buying and selling securities frequently in an effort to capture significant market gains and avoid significant losses during a volatile market. However, frequent trading can negatively affect investment performance, particularly through increased brokerage and other transactional costs and taxes.

We may use short-term trading (in general, selling securities within 30 days of purchasing the same securities) as an investment strategy when managing your account(s). Short-term trading is not a fundamental part of our overall investment strategy, but we may use this strategy occasionally when we determine that it is suitable given your stated investment objectives and tolerance for risk.

Our strategies and investments may have unique and significant tax implications. However, unless we specifically agree otherwise, and in writing, tax efficiency is not our primary consideration in the management of your assets. Regardless of your account size or any other factors, we strongly recommend that you continuously consult with a tax professional prior to and throughout the investing of your assets.

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear. We do not represent or guarantee that our services or methods of analysis can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate clients from losses due to market corrections or declines. We cannot offer any guarantees or promises that your financial goals and objectives will be met. Past performance is in no way an indication of future performance.

Recommendation of Particular Types of Securities

As disclosed under the "Advisory Business" section in this Brochure, we primarily recommend Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs) for client investments. You should be advised that investing in these types of securities involves risks including the occurrence of a severe market decline in one or more financial markets, risk of economic contraction or decline and inflation or deflation.

Exchange traded funds ("ETFs") are professionally managed collective investment systems that pool money from many investors and invest in stocks, bonds, short-term money market instruments, other funds, other securities or any combination thereof. The ETF will have a manager that trades the fund's investments in accordance with the fund's investment objective. While ETFs generally provide diversification, risks can be significantly increased if the fund is concentrated in a particular sector of the market, primarily invests in small cap or speculative companies, uses leverage (i.e., borrows money) to a significant degree, or concentrates in a particular type of security (i.e., equities) rather than balancing the fund with different types of securities. The returns on ETFs can be reduced by the costs to manage the fund.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

Our Firm and our employees have no disciplinary events to disclose.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Our affiliate, River Glen Private Capital, LLC ("RGPC"), is the investment adviser to RGPC Investors, LLC ("Private Funds"). RGPC Investors is a master LLC containing a series of single purpose LLCs that invest in the securities of private companies. We may recommend that certain clients invest in Private Funds. Interests in the Private Funds are privately offered pursuant to Regulation D under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. The Private Funds currently rely on an exemption from registration under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended. Our affiliate has discretionary authority to determine the broker or dealer to be used by the Private Funds. The Private Funds seek to provide attractive risk-adjusted returns by investing primarily in traditional and alternative asset classes or strategies. The Private Funds seek exposure to alternative asset classes by investing in a number of instruments, which might include structured notes, managed accounts, stocks, bonds, exchange traded notes ("ETNs"), exchange traded funds ("ETFs"), mutual funds, and closed-end funds. The Private Funds may also seek to obtain, reduce or enhance exposure to one or more traditional or alternative asset classes through investments in derivatives, such as futures, options, and swaps. The Private Fund may also use leverage or sell securities or contracts short. RGPC utilizes an approach that blends both quantitative and qualitative signals using proprietary optimization methods. There can be no assurance that the Private Funds will achieve its objective.

Participation as an investor in the Private Funds is restricted to investors that qualify as "accredited investors" under the Securities Act.

To the extent certain of our individual advisory clients qualify, they will be eligible to participate as limited partners of the Private Funds. Investment in the Private Funds involves a significant degree of risk. Relevant information, terms and conditions relative to the Private Funds, including the compensation received by us or any affiliate as the general partner and/or investment manager, suitability, risk factors, and potential conflicts of interest, are set forth in the Confidential Private Offering Memorandum (the "Memorandum"), Limited Partnership Agreement (the "Agreement"), and Subscription Agreement (together, the "Offering Documents"), which each investor is required to receive and/or execute prior to being accepted as an investor in the Private Funds.

We and RGPC devote our best efforts with respect to the management of both individual client accounts and the Private Funds. Given the above discussion relative to the objectives, suitability, risk factors, and qualifications for participation in the Private Funds, RGPC may manage the investments of the Private Funds differently from our management of individual client accounts.

Item 11: Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Description of Our Code of Ethics

We strive to comply with applicable laws and regulations governing our practices. Therefore, our Code of Ethics includes guidelines for professional standards of conduct for our Associated Persons. Our goal is to protect your interests at all times and to demonstrate our commitment to our fiduciary duties of honesty, good faith, and fair dealing with you. All of our Associated Persons are expected to adhere strictly to these guidelines. Our Code of Ethics also requires that certain persons associated with us submit reports of their personal account holdings and transactions to the Chief Compliance Officer who will review these reports on a periodic basis. Persons associated with us are also required to report any violations of our Code of Ethics. Additionally, we maintain and enforce written policies reasonably designed to prevent the misuse or dissemination of material, non-public information about you or your account holdings by persons associated with us.

Our Code of Ethics is available to you upon request. You may obtain a copy of our Code of Ethics by contacting Matt Busick, Chief Compliance Officer, at 515-422-9040 or via e-mail at mbusick@riverglenwealth.com.

Personal Trading Practices

We or persons associated with us may buy or sell securities for you at the same time we or persons associated with us buy or sell such securities for their account. We may also combine our orders to purchase securities with your orders to purchase securities (“block trading”). Please refer to the “Brokerage Practices” section in this Brochure for information on our block trading practices.

A conflict of interest exists in such cases because we have the ability to trade ahead of you and potentially receive more favorable prices than you will receive. To mitigate this conflict of interest, it is our policy that neither our Associated Persons nor we shall have priority over your account in the purchase or sale of securities.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

We generally recommend but do not require that clients establish brokerage accounts with National Financial Services LLC and Fidelity Brokerage Services LLC (collectively, and together with all affiliates, “Fidelity”) a securities broker-dealer and a member of the New York Stock Exchange and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation (SIPC) through which Fidelity provides us with “institutional platform services” or the Schwab Institutional division of Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab"), a FINRA registered broker-dealer, member SIPC. Both Fidelity and Schwab ("Custodian") maintain custody of clients' assets and effect trades for client accounts. Each Custodian's institutional platform services include, among others, brokerage, custody, and other related services. Fidelity's institutional platform services that assist us in managing and administering clients' accounts include software and other technology that (i) provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements); (ii) facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts; (iii) provide research, pricing and other market data; (iv) facilitate payment of fees from its clients' accounts; and (v) assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting. We are independently operated and owned and are not affiliated with Fidelity.

We recommend each Custodian's brokerage and custodial services because we believe that each Custodian provides quality execution services for you at competitive prices. Price is not the sole factor we consider in evaluating best execution. We also consider the quality of the brokerage services provided by each Custodian, including the value of research provided, our reputation, execution capabilities, commission rates, and responsiveness to our clients and us. In recognition of the value of research services and additional brokerage products and services each Custodian provides, you may pay higher commissions and/or trading costs than those that may be available elsewhere.

We may receive from each Custodian, without cost, computer software and related systems support, which may allow us to better monitor client accounts maintained at each Custodian. We may receive the software at no cost, because we render investment management services to Clients that maintain accounts at each Custodian whose aggregate total assets at each Custodian exceed the established minimum required in order for an investment adviser to receive the software without cost. In addition, each Custodian may provide for discounts of other purchased software that permits us to better advise the Clients on their investments.

Such research products and services are not considered to be paid for with soft dollars. However, because such services could be considered to provide a benefit to us, we may have a conflict of interest in directing your brokerage business to either Custodian.

You can contact Fidelity at 800-544-6666 or National Financial Services, LLC at 800-800-6890. You can contact Schwab at 866-855-9102.

Directed Brokerage

In limited circumstances, and at our discretion, some clients may instruct us to use one or more particular brokers for the transactions in their accounts. If you choose to direct us to use a particular broker, you should understand that this might prevent us from aggregating trades with other client accounts. This practice may also prevent us from obtaining favorable net price and execution. Thus, when directing brokerage business, you should consider whether the commission expenses, execution, clearance, and settlement capabilities that you will obtain through your broker are adequately favorable in comparison to those that we would otherwise obtain for you.

Block Trades

We or sub-advisors we use may combine multiple orders for shares of the same securities purchased for advisory accounts we manage (this practice is commonly referred to as “block trading”). When orders are aggregated, we will then distribute a portion of the shares to participating accounts in a fair and equitable manner. The distribution of the shares purchased is typically proportionate to the size of the account, but it is not based on account performance or the amount or structure of management fees. Subject to our discretion regarding factual and market conditions, when we combine orders, each participating account pays an average price per share for all transactions and pays a proportionate share of all transaction costs. Accounts owned by us or persons associated with us may participate in block trading with your accounts; however, they will not be given preferential treatment.

In the event orders are not aggregated, clients may receive different prices for the same securities transactions. Furthermore, you may not be able to buy or sell the same quantity of securities and may be charged higher fees or commissions, than if transactions were aggregated.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

Review of Accounts

Matthew Busick, Managing Member, Randy Von Fumetti, Investment Adviser Representative, or Rebecca Hiu, Investment Adviser Representative will monitor your individual advisory accounts on a continuous basis and will conduct an internal review of accounts at least semi-annually per year. Triggering factors that may stimulate a review include, but are not limited to:

- significant market corrections,
- large deposits or withdrawals from an account,
- substantial changes in the value of a client’s portfolio,
- a change in your investment objectives,
- year-end tax planning, and/or,
- security specific events.

If you elect to receive ongoing planning services, we will review and update financial plans on a periodic basis as agreed upon.

Reports to Clients

You will receive reports from us based upon the services you select. You will also receive statements directly from the account custodian(s) at least quarterly.

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

We do not receive any compensation from any third party in connection with providing investment advice to you nor do we compensate any individual or firm for client referrals.

Please refer to the “Brokerage Practices” section above for disclosures on research and other benefits we may receive resulting from our relationship with each Custodian.

Item 15: Custody

Because Mr. Busick is one of the principals of River Glen Private Capital, LLC, which is the Manager of RGPC Investors as discussed in the Other Financial Industry Activity and Affiliations Section above, we may be deemed to have custody of client assets. RGPC Investors are subject to an annual surprise examination by an independent CPA as required by Rule 206(4)-2 of the Investment Advisers Act.

We may, upon your written authorization, directly debit your account(s) for the payment of our advisory fees. This ability to deduct our advisory fees from your accounts causes us to exercise limited custody over your funds or securities. We do not have physical custody of any of your funds and/or securities. Your funds and securities will be held with a bank, broker-dealer, or other independent qualified custodian. You will receive account statements from the independent qualified custodian(s) holding your funds and securities at least quarterly. The account statements from your custodian(s) will indicate the amount of our advisory fees deducted from your account(s) each billing period and you will receive a copy of the invoice at the same time it is submitted for payment to the custodian. You should carefully review account statements for accuracy.

If you have a question regarding your custodial statement or did not receive your statement, please contact Matthew Busick at 515-422-9040 or via e-mail at mbusick@riverglenwealth.com.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

Before we can buy or sell securities on your behalf, you must first sign our discretionary wealth management agreement, a limited power of attorney, and/or trading authorization form.

You will grant us discretion over the selection and amount of securities to be purchased or sold for your account(s) without obtaining your consent or approval prior to each transaction. We may delegate our discretionary authority to one or more sub-advisors. You may specify investment objectives, guidelines, and/or impose certain conditions or investment parameters for your account(s). For example, you may specify that the investment in any particular stock or industry should not exceed specified percentages of the value of the portfolio and/or restrictions or prohibitions of transactions in the securities of a specific industry or security. Please refer to the "Advisory Business" section in this Brochure for more information on our discretionary management services.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities

We will not vote proxies on behalf of your advisory accounts. At your request, we may offer you advice regarding corporate actions and the exercise of your proxy voting rights. If you own shares of common stock or mutual funds, you are responsible for exercising your right to vote as a shareholder. In most cases, you will receive proxy materials directly from the account custodian. However, in the event we were to receive any written or electronic proxy materials, we would forward them directly to you by mail, unless you have authorized us to contact you by electronic mail, in which case, we would forward any electronic solicitation to vote proxies.

Item 18: Financial Information

Under no circumstances do we require or solicit payment of fees in excess of $500 per client more than six months in advance of services rendered. As an advisory firm that maintains discretionary authority for client accounts and is deemed to have custody, we are also required to disclose any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair our ability to meet our contractual obligations. We have no additional financial circumstances to report.

Additional Information

Your Privacy

We view protecting your private information as a top priority. Pursuant to applicable privacy requirements, we have instituted policies and procedures to ensure that we keep your personal information private and secure.

We do not disclose any nonpublic personal information about you to any nonaffiliated third parties, except as permitted by law. In the course of servicing your account, we may share some information with our service providers, such as transfer agents, custodians, broker-dealers, accountants, consultants, and attorneys.

We restrict internal access to nonpublic personal information about you to employees who need that information in order to provide products or services to you. We maintain physical and procedural safeguards that comply with regulatory standards to guard your nonpublic personal information and to ensure our integrity and confidentiality. We will not sell information about you or your accounts to anyone. We do not share your information unless it is required to process a transaction, at your request, or required by law.

You will receive a copy of our privacy notice prior to or at the time you sign an advisory agreement with us. Thereafter, we will deliver a copy of the current privacy policy notice to you on an annual basis. Please contact Matthew Busick at 515-422-9040 or via e-mail at mbusick@riverglenwealth.com if you have any questions regarding this policy.

Trade Errors

In the event of trading errors caused by us, it is our policy to make our clients whole and to document errors in our trade error file. If a trade error results in a profit, the trade error net gain will be maintained by Fidelity and you will not keep the profit. River Glen has the discretion to determine whether or not gains might be given to a charity of their choice.

The same standard as above applies to Schwab other than if the gain is more than $100, Schwab will donate the gain to charity. If the gain is less than $100, Schwab will keep the gain to minimize and offset its administrative time and expense.
