CP Capital was initially registered with the State of Florida in 2006. CP Capital's principal office is located in Miami, Florida. As of January 1, 2011, CP Capital manages $75,000,000 on a non-discretionary basis.

The firm provides investment supervisory services and manages investment advisory accounts. To help clients evaluate securities, the firm uses charts, graphs, formulas, and other items that may not be part of any other service provided by the firm. On more than an occasional basis, the firm furnishes advice to clients on matters not involving securities.

CP Capital provides investment supervisory services to its clients through the management of individual investment portfolios. Portfolios will typically consist of equities, mutual funds and fixed income securities and may include real estate. Portfolios will be managed in accordance with investment objectives established in consultations with clients.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

All fees are subject to negotiation and may be reduced or not charged at all at the discretion of the firm's principal.

Annual fees that will be charged for the management of an investment portfolio will be based on a percentage of the value of the assets under management (AUM). The client may choose to be invoiced for fees either monthly or quarterly in advance or arrears. The client may also choose to be invoiced directly or have the Qualified Custodian invoiced. If the relationship with the firm is terminated, any prepaid fees will be refunded on a pro rata basis and any unused fees will be returned to the client. The standard fee schedule for the management of an investment portfolio will be as follows:

AUM	Annual Fee
$50,000 to $500,000	2.00%
$500,001 to $1,000,000	1.75%
$1,000,001 to $3,000,000	1.50%
$3,000,001 to $5,000,000	1.25%
$5,000,001 and above	1.00%

In addition to the standard fee schedule, the firm will also incorporate a separate fee schedule for non-residents as follows:

AUM	Annual Fee
$50,000 to $500,000	2.50%
$500,001 to $1,000,000	2.25%
$1,000,001 to $3,000,000	2.00%
$3,000,001 to $5,000,000	1.75%
$5,000,001 and above	1.50%

The Client will be solely responsible for all commissions and other transaction charges and any charge relating to the custody of securities in the Account. Client understands that additional fees or charges may result from maintenance of or trading within the Account. Client understands and agrees that any additional fees, charges or expenses resulting from maintenance of or trading within the Account shall be the sole responsibility of the Client.

Client may also incur certain charges imposed by third parties other than Adviser in connection with investments made through the Account, including but not limited to, no-load mutual fund 12(b)-1 distribution fees (trail commissions), certain deferred sales charges on previously purchased mutual funds, and IRA and Qualified Retirement Plan fees.

Item 12 further describes the factors that CP Capital considers in selecting or recommending broker-dealers for client transactions and determining the reasonableness of their compensation (e.g., commissions).

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

CP Capital Securities, Inc. does not charge any performance-based fees nor does the firm engage in side-by-side management.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

CP Capital provides investment supervisory services and manages investment advisory accounts not involving investment supervisory services for high net worth individuals, other pooled investment vehicles (e.g. hedge funds), corporations, and other business entities. The minimum size to open an account is $50,000. However, this amount may change at the discretion of the firm's principal.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

CP Capital uses the following methods of analysis: charting, fundamental, technical, and cyclical. Charting analysis involves the use of patterns in performance charts. CP Capital uses this charting technique to search for patterns used to help predict favorable conditions for buying and/or selling a security. Fundamental analysis involves the analysis of financial statements, the general financial health of companies, and/or the analysis of management or competitive advantages. Technical analysis involves the analysis of past market data; primarily price and volume.

CP Capital uses Long Term and Short Term Purchasing strategies, Trading (securities sold within 30 days), Margin transactions, and Options writing (including covered options, uncovered options, and spreading strategies). CP Capital utilizes investment strategies that are designed to capture market rates of both return and risk. Frequent trading, when done, can affect investment performance, particularly through increased brokerage and other transaction costs and taxes. Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Any information regarding individual disciplinary actions will be addressed in the individual's Supervised Person Supplement- Item 3

A $5,000 administrative fine was paid on 01/30/2006.

In 2009 the firm was found to be in violation of SEC Section 10(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, SEC Rule 10b-9, SEC Section 15(c)(2) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, SEC Rules 15c2-4, 15c3-1, SEC Section 17(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, SEC Rule 17a-4, NASD Rules 1060, 2110, 3011(a), 3110, MSRB Rule G-41: The firm acted as the placement agent for a contingency offering of securities and failed to satisfy the minimum contingency of the offering by the closing date, the offering was not terminated, investor funds were not returned, but rather, the offering period was extended and the firm raised additional funds, nevertheless, the firm failed to timely send written reconfirmation offers to investors regarding the extension prior to the closing date. The firm failed to establish a proper escrow account in connection with the offering and directed a premature release of investor's funds from the escrow. The firm made payments to non-registered foreign entities for referrals of customers, however one customer was not a foreign entity domiciled abroad, nor did the firm obtain written acknowledgment of the existence of the compensation arrangement, and the firm failed to provide a descriptive document disclosing what compensation was being paid to the non-registered foreign entities. The firm failed to implement its AML compliance program in that it failed to monitor transactions in certain accounts for red flags. The firm failed to preserve email correspondence relating to its securities business. The firm failed to timely forward, to the escrow, an investor's check payment for the offering, as a result, held customer funds while conducting a securities business and the firm became subject to a net capital requirement that it did not satisfy, and also the escrow account was improperly established and investor funds were deposited into the escrow account, as a result, the firm held customers funds while conducting a securities business and it became subject to a net capital requirement that it did not satisfy. Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

CP Capital Securities, Inc. is registered as Broker-Dealer registered with the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA).

Item 11 – Code of Ethics

CP Capital has adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the firm describing its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, a prohibition of rumormongering, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at CP Capital must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

CP Capital anticipates that, in appropriate circumstances, consistent with clients' investment objectives, it will cause accounts over which CP Capital has management authority to effect, and will recommend to investment advisory clients or prospective clients, the purchase or sale of securities in which CP Capital, its affiliates and/or clients, directly or indirectly, have a position of interest. CP Capital's employees and persons associated with CP Capital are required to follow CP Capital's Code of Ethics. Subject to satisfying this policy and applicable laws, officers, directors and employees of CP Capital and its affiliates may trade for their own accounts in securities which are recommended to and/or purchased for CP Capital's clients. The Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of the employees of CP Capital will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts. Under the Code, certain classes of securities have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would materially not interfere with the best interest of CP Capital's clients. In addition, the Code requires pre-clearance of many transactions, and restricts trading in close proximity to client trading activity. Nonetheless, because the Code of Ethics in some circumstances would permit employees to invest in the same securities as clients, there is a possibility that employees might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by an employee. Employee trading is continually monitored under the Code of Ethics, and to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between CP Capital and its clients.

Certain affiliated accounts may trade in the same securities with client accounts on an aggregated basis when consistent with CP Capital's obligation of best execution. In such circumstances, the affiliated and client accounts will share commission costs equally and receive securities at a total average price. CP Capital will retain records of the trade order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation, which will be completed prior to the entry of the aggregated order. Completed orders will be allocated as specified in the initial trade order. Partially filled orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions will be explained on the Order.

CP Capital's clients or prospective clients may request a copy of the firm's Code of Ethics by contacting Charles McInnis, Chief Compliance Officer.

It is CP Capital's policy that the firm will not affect any principal or agency cross securities transactions for Investment Advisory client accounts. Principal transactions are generally defined as transactions where an adviser, acting as principal for its own account or the account of an affiliated broker-dealer, buys from or sells any security to any advisory client. A principal transaction may also be deemed to have occurred if a security is crossed between an affiliated hedge fund and another Investment Advisory client account. An agency cross transaction is defined as a transaction where CP or any person controlled by or under common control with the investment adviser, acts as broker for both the advisory client and for another person on the other side of the transaction. Agency cross transactions may arise where an adviser is dually registered as a broker-dealer or has an affiliated broker-dealer, as is the case with CP

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

CP Capital does not have any soft dollar arrangement with any company nor does it direct brokerage. CP Capital does aggregate orders from time to time only if it is beneficial in execution and cost to the client.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Accounts are supervised continuously and recommendations are made on an ongoing and continuous basis. Charles Mitchell McInnis, President, or his designee formally reviews accounts quarterly. There is no minimum number of accounts assigned for the reviewer. The review process contains each of the following elements: (a) Assess client's goals and objectives; (b) Evaluate the plan that has been implemented; (c) Monitor the portfolio; and (d) Address the needs to rebalance.

The Company will provide (or will cause to be provided) to the client quarterly and annual written statements of the assets in client's account, the purchase date, the cost, and the current market value and performance data for the period.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

CP Capital does not currently have any arrangements, oral or in writing, where it is paid cash or receives some economic benefit (including commissions, equipment or non-research services) from a non-client in connection with giving advice to clients nor does it compensate, directly or indirectly, any person for client referrals currently. There is a referral agreement in place although no one gets compensated on the advisory yet.

Item 15 – Custody

As its policy, CP Capital does not act as a custodian for its clients. CP Capital will have no authority to remove assets from the Account or the income produced there from and will not be responsible for any acts or omissions of the Custodian. The Client has directed or will direct the Custodian to send a statement at least quarterly indicating all amounts disbursed from the Account (including the amount of any fees paid to Adviser), all transactions occurring in the Account during the period covered by the statement, and a summary of the Account positions and portfolio value at the end of the period. The Client has directed or will direct the Custodian to send duplicate copies of the Account statements to Adviser, with the original statements being sent to the Client.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

CP Capital may receive discretionary authority from the client at the outset of an advisory relationship to select the identity and amount of securities to be bought or sold. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client account.

When selecting securities and determining amounts, CP Capital observes the investment policies, limitations and restrictions of the clients for which it advises. For registered investment companies, CP Capitals' authority to trade securities may also be limited by certain federal securities and tax laws that require diversification of investments and favor the holding of investments once made.

Investment guidelines and restrictions must be provided to CP Capital in writing.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy and practice, CP Capital does not have any obligation or authority to take any action or render any advice with respect to the voting of proxies solicited by or with respect to issuers of securities held by an Account. Clients retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in client portfolios.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Registered investment advisers are required in this Item to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about CP Capital's financial condition. CP Capital has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.
