Advisory Business

General Information

Davis Wealth Management was formed in 2009 and provides financial planning and portfolio management services to its clients. At the outset of each client relationship, DWM spends time with the client, asking questions, discussing the client's investment experience and financial circumstances, and reviewing options for the client. Based on its reviews, DWM generally develops with each client:

- a financial outline for the client based on the client's financial circumstances and goals, and the client's risk tolerance level (the "Financial Profile"); and
- the client's investment objectives and guidelines (the "Investment Plan").

The Financial Profile is a reflection of the client's current financial picture and a look to the future goals of the client. The Investment Plan outlines the types of investments DWM will make on behalf of the client in order to meet those goals, and generally includes the identification of one of several asset allocation models, which determines the portfolio's exposure to equities, fixed income investments, alternative investments and cash. The Profile and the Plan are discussed regularly with each client, but are not necessarily written documents.

Financial Planning

DWM offers limited financial planning services to those clients in need of such service in conjunction with Portfolio Management services. DWM's limited financial planning services normally address areas such as general cash flow planning, retirement planning, and insurance analysis. The goal of this service is to assess the financial circumstances of the client in order to more effectively develop the client's Investment Plan. Financial Planning is not offered as a stand-alone service or for a separate fee, but is typically provided in conjunction with the management of the portfolio.

DWM Direct Portfolio Management

At the beginning of a client relationship, DWM meets with the client, asks questions, gathers information and performs research and analysis as necessary to develop the client's Investment Plan. The Investment Plan will be updated from time to time when requested by the client, or when determined to be necessary or advisable by DWM based on updates to the client's financial or other circumstances. In accordance with the established goals of the client portfolio, DWM will select a combination of investments which may include but is not limited to: mutual funds, exchange traded funds, stocks, fixed income securities, alternative investments and cash equivalents.

To implement the client's Investment Plan, DWM will manage the client's investment portfolio on a discretionary basis. As a discretionary investment adviser, DWM will have the authority to supervise and direct the portfolio without prior consultation with the client.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, clients may impose certain written restrictions on DWM in the management of their investment portfolios, such as prohibiting the inclusion of certain types of investments (e.g., "sin stocks") in an investment portfolio or prohibiting the sale of certain investments held in the account at the commencement of the relationship. Such restrictions may or may not be available with any Managers that are utilized. Each client should note, however, that restrictions imposed by a client may adversely affect the composition and performance of the client's investment portfolios. Each client should also note that his or her investment portfolio is treated individually by giving consideration to each purchase or sale for the client's account. For these and other reasons, performance of client investment portfolios within the same investment objectives, goals and/or risk tolerance may differ and clients should not expect that the composition or performance of their investment portfolios would necessarily be consistent with similar clients of DWM.

Separate Account Managers

When appropriate and in accordance with the Investment Plan for a client, DWM may utilize one or more Separate Account Managers, each a “Manager”. Having access to various Managers offers a wide variety of manager styles, and offers clients the opportunity to utilize more than one Manager if necessary to meet the needs and investment objectives of the client. DWM will usually select the Manager(s) it deems most appropriate for the client. Factors that DWM considers in recommending/selecting Managers generally includes the client’s stated investment objective(s), management style, performance, risk level, reputation, financial strength, reporting, pricing, and research.

The Manager(s) will be granted discretionary trading authority to provide investment supervisory services for the portfolio, but DWM normally retains the authority to terminate the Manager’s relationship or to add new Managers without specific client consent. With respect to assets managed by a Manager, DWM’s role will be to monitor the overall financial situation of the client, to monitor the investment approach and performance of the Manager(s), and to assist the client in understanding the investments of the portfolio.

Managers are generally accessed through one of two Programs sponsored by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (“Schwab”). Please see below for a description of the Programs, followed by an explanation of the applicable fee structures.

Managed Account Select (“Select”) and Managed Account Access (“Access”) (Wrap Accounts)

A Wrap Account arrangement is one in which Manager and brokerage expenses are combined into one fee. These two Wrap Programs are sponsored by Schwab, and provide firms like DWM with an array of Managers from which to choose on behalf of their clients. The Programs provide research and, in the case of Select Accounts, ongoing analysis of the Managers, which helps DWM continually monitor and evaluate its clients’ investments. The Programs streamline the paperwork necessary to gain access to multiple Managers, and provide reporting to both DWM and directly to clients, facilitating communication and understanding. Both Select and Access allow relatively low minimum investments, affording DWM increased opportunity to utilize multiple Managers, if appropriate, for a particular client.

Managed Account Marketplace (“Marketplace”)

DWM may also utilize Managers in Schwab’s Marketplace Platform. Marketplace is similar to Select and Access, in that it provides firms like DWM with a selection of Managers with various management styles from which to choose on behalf of client accounts. However, in this case each Manager selected will normally enter into a Sub-Advisory agreement with DWM, which gives DWM the sole discretion to retain or dismiss any Manager on behalf of any client account. In some cases, the client may enter into a direct contract with the Manager. In all cases, the Manager(s) will assess and deduct their fees separately from DWM’s fee and is also separate from any brokerage expenses incurred.

Other Compensation

Certain Principals and employees of DWM maintain licenses with various life and disability insurance companies in order to offer such insurance products to clients as a convenience to those clients with insurance needs. As such, they may receive compensation based on insurance sales. Such compensation is disclosed to the client in advance. Appropriate state or other regulatory agency registrations and filings are properly maintained

Principal Owners

Joseph P. Davis is the sole principal owner of DWM. Please see “Brochure Supplement(s)”, Appendix A, for more information on Mr. Davis and other individuals who formulate investment advice and have direct contact with clients, or have discretionary authority over client accounts.

Type and Value of Assets Currently Managed

As of December 31, 2010, DWM managed $151,376,749 on a discretionary basis, and no assets on a non-discretionary basis.

Fees and Compensation

General Fee Information

Fees paid to DWM are exclusive of all custodial and transaction costs paid to the client’s custodian, brokers or other third party consultants. Fees paid to DWM are also separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds, ETFs (exchange traded funds) or other investment pools to their shareholders (generally including a management fee and fund expenses, as described in each fund’s prospectus or offering materials). The client should review all fees charged by funds, brokers, Managers, DWM and others to fully understand the total amount of fees paid by the client for investment and financial-related services.

DWM Direct Portfolio Management Fees

The annual fee schedule, based on a percentage of assets under management, is not to exceed 1.25%.

The minimum portfolio value is generally set at $500,000. Minimum annual fees may apply. DWM may, at its discretion, make exceptions to the foregoing or negotiate special fee arrangements where DWM deems it appropriate under the circumstances.

Portfolio management fees are generally payable quarterly, in advance. If management begins after the start of a quarter, fees will be prorated accordingly. Fees are normally debited directly from client account(s), unless other arrangements are made.

Either DWM or the client may terminate their Investment Advisory Agreement at any time, subject to any written notice requirements in the agreement. In the event of termination, any paid but unearned fees will be promptly refunded to the client, and any fees due to DWM from the client will be invoiced or deducted from the client’s account prior to termination.

Managed Account Marketplace

Under this arrangement, the selected Manager(s) will assess their fee based on assets under management and will bill the account separately either monthly or quarterly in arrears. In addition, DWM’s typical annual fee of 1.0% will be assessed quarterly in advance. Under certain circumstances, in the sole discretion of DWM, its fees may be negotiated. In total, the annual fees charged by DWM, Schwab and any Manager(s) selected will generally not exceed 1.8% of the value of assets under management.

Wrap Programs Fees

DWM, Schwab and each Manager provide individual services to the client, and therefore charge separate fees based on assets under management. Under the wrap agreement (Select and Access), Schwab bundles together the brokerage and Managers' fees, and assesses this fee monthly in arrears. DWM is required to charge its fee separately, which it does quarterly in advance. DWM's fee is normally 1.0% per year, but may be negotiated. In total, the annual fees charged by DWM, Schwab and any Manager(s) selected will generally not exceed 1.8% of the value of assets under management.

Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

DWM does not have any performance-based fee arrangements.

Types of Clients

DWM serves individuals, pension and profit-sharing plans, corporations, trusts, estates and charitable organizations. With some exceptions, the minimum portfolio value eligible for conventional investment advisory services is $500,000. Minimum annual fees may apply. Under certain circumstances and in its sole discretion, DWM may negotiate such minimums.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

In accordance with the Investment Plan, DWM generally selects mutual funds, ETFs, stocks, bonds, private equity and/or debt investments, Separate Account Managers and cash equivalents for client accounts.

In selecting Separate Account Managers, DWM generally relies on the research provided by Schwab on the Managers in the Programs sponsored by Schwab. DWM reviews the research provided and may interview managers. Track record data, peer group analysis, social screening, and manager continuity are just some of the criteria that are utilized when evaluating a prospective manager. It is DWM's responsibility to monitor managers and when there is a significant style drift, management change or stock selection program change, the relationship may be terminated.

Mutual funds and ETFs are generally evaluated and selected based on a variety of factors, including, without limitation, past performance, fee structure, portfolio manager, fund sponsor overall ratings for safety and returns, and other factors.

Private offerings are evaluated on a number of factors, including without limitation: opportunity for income; growth potential; risk of loss, capital call schedule, length of lock-up, and experience of management.

Fixed income investments may be used as a strategic investment, as an instrument to fulfill liquidity or income needs in a portfolio, or to add a component of reduced volatility. DWM may evaluate and select individual bonds or bond funds based on a number of factors including, without limitation, rating, yield and duration. DWM may also utilize one or more fixed income Separate Account Managers if appropriate for a client's Investment Plan.

Investment Strategies

DWM's strategic approach is to invest each portfolio in accordance with the Plan that has been developed specifically for each client. This means that the following strategies may be used in varying combinations over time for a given client, depending upon the client's individual circumstances.

Long Term Purchases – securities purchased with the expectation that the value of those securities will grow over a relatively long period of time, generally greater than one year.

Short Term Purchases – securities purchased with the expectation that they will be sold within a relatively short period of time, generally less than one year, to take advantage of the securities' short term price fluctuations.

Short Sales – a securities transaction in which an investor sells securities he or she borrowed in anticipation of a price decline. The investor is then required to return an equal number of shares at some point in the future. A short seller will profit if the stock goes down in price.

Margin Transactions – a securities transaction in which an investor borrows money to purchase a security, in which case the security serves as collateral on the loan.

Risk of Loss

While DWM seeks to diversify clients' investment portfolios across various asset classes consistent with their Investment Plans in an effort to reduce risk of loss, all investment portfolios are subject to risks. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that client investment portfolios will be able to fully meet their investment objectives and goals, or that investments will not lose money.

Below is a description of several of the principal risks that client investment portfolios face.

Management Risks. While DWM manages client investment portfolios based on DWM's experience, research and proprietary methods, the value of client investment portfolios will change daily based on the performance of the underlying securities in which they are invested. Accordingly, client investment portfolios are subject to the risk that DWM allocates assets to asset classes that are adversely affected by unanticipated market movements, and the risk that DWM's specific investment choices could underperform their relevant indexes.

Risks of Investments in Mutual Funds, ETFs and Other Investment Pools. As described above, DWM will invest client portfolios in mutual funds, ETFs and other investment pools ("pooled investment funds"). Investments in pooled investment funds are generally less risky than investing in individual securities because of their diversified portfolios; however, these investments are still subject to risks associated with the markets in which they invest. In addition, pooled investment funds' success will be related to the skills of their particular managers and their performance in managing their funds. Pooled investment funds are also subject to risks due to regulatory restrictions applicable to registered investment companies under the Investment Company Act of 1940.

Equity Market Risks. DWM will generally invest portions of client assets directly into equity investments, primarily stocks, or into pooled investment funds that invest in the stock market. As noted above, while pooled investments have diversified portfolios that may make them less risky than investments in individual securities, funds that invest in stocks and other equity securities are nevertheless subject to the risks of the stock market. These risks include, without limitation, the risks that stock values will decline due to daily fluctuations in the markets, and that stock values will decline over longer periods (e.g., bear markets) due to general market declines in the stock prices for all companies, regardless of any individual security's prospects.

Fixed Income Risks. DWM may invest portions of client assets directly into fixed income instruments, such as bonds, notes and T-bills or may invest in pooled investment funds that invest in bonds, notes, and T-bills. While investing in fixed income instruments, either directly or through pooled investment funds, is generally less volatile than investing in stock (equity) markets, fixed income investments nevertheless are subject to risks. These risks include, without limitation, interest rate risks (risks that changes in interest rates will devalue the investments), credit risks (risks of default by borrowers), or maturity risk (risks that bonds or notes will change value from the time of issuance to maturity).

Foreign Securities Risks. DWM may invest portions of client assets into pooled investment funds that invest internationally. While foreign investments are important to the diversification of client investment portfolios, they carry risks that may be different from U.S. investments. For example, foreign investments may not be subject to uniform audit, financial reporting or disclosure standards, practices or requirements comparable to those found in the U.S. Foreign investments are also subject to foreign withholding taxes and the risk of adverse changes in investment or exchange control regulations. Finally, foreign investments may involve currency risk, which is the risk that the value of the foreign security will decrease due to changes in the relative value of the U.S. dollar and the security's underlying foreign currency.

Disciplinary Information

DWM has no disciplinary events to report.

Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Neither DWM nor its Management Persons has any other financial industry activities or affiliations to report.

Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics and Personal Trading

DWM has adopted a Code of Ethics ("the Code"), the full text of which is available to you upon request. DWM's Code has several goals. First, the Code is designed to assist DWM in complying with applicable laws and regulations governing its investment advisory business. Under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, DWM owes fiduciary duties to its clients. Pursuant to these fiduciary duties, the Code requires DWM associated persons to act with honesty, good faith and fair dealing in working with clients. In addition, the Code prohibits associated persons from trading or otherwise acting on insider information.

Next, the Code sets forth guidelines for professional standards for DWM's associated persons (managers, officers and employees). Under the Code's Professional Standards, DWM expects its associated persons to put the interests of its clients first, ahead of personal interests. In this regard, DWM associated persons are not to take inappropriate advantage of their positions in relation to DWM clients.

Third, the Code sets forth policies and procedures to monitor and review the personal trading activities of associated persons. From time to time DWM's associated persons may invest in the same securities recommended to clients. Under its Code, DWM has adopted procedures designed to reduce or eliminate conflicts of interest that this could potentially cause. The Code's personal trading policies include procedures for limitations on personal securities transactions of associated persons, reporting and review of such trading and pre-clearance of certain types of personal trading activities. These policies are designed to discourage and prohibit personal trading that would disadvantage clients. The Code also provides for disciplinary action as appropriate for violations.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

Because associated persons may invest in the same securities as those purchased in client accounts, DWM has established a policy requiring its associated persons to pre-clear transactions in these securities with the Chief Compliance Officer. The goal of this policy is to avoid any conflict of interest that may present itself in these situations. Certain securities, such as CD's, treasury obligations and open-end mutual funds are exempt from this pre-clearance requirement. However, in the event of other identified potential trading conflicts of interest, DWM's goal is to place client interests first.

Consistent with the foregoing, DWM maintains policies regarding participation in initial public offerings (IPOs) and private placements in order to comply with applicable laws and avoid conflicts with client transactions. If a DWM associated person wishes to participate in an IPO or invest in a private placement, he or she must submit a pre-clearance request and obtain the approval of the CCO. If associated persons trade with client accounts (e.g., in a bundled or aggregated trade), and the trade is not filled in its entirety, the associated person's shares will be removed from the block, and the balance of shares will be allocated among client accounts in accordance with DWM's written policy.

Brokerage Practices

Best Execution and Benefits of Brokerage Selection

When given discretion to select the brokerage firm that will execute orders in client accounts, DWM seeks "best execution" for client trades, which is a combination of a number of factors, including, without limitation, quality of execution, services provided and commission rates. Therefore, DWM may use or recommend the use of brokers who do not charge the lowest available commission in the recognition of research and securities transaction services, or quality of execution. Research services received with transactions may include proprietary or third party research (or any combination), and may be used in servicing any or all of DWM's clients. Therefore, research services received may not be used for the account for which the particular transaction was effected.

DWM participates in Schwab's Institutional ("SI") service program. While there is no direct link between the investment advice DWM provides and participation in the SI program, DWM receives certain economic benefits from the SI program. These benefits may include software and other technology that provides access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements), facilitates trade execution (and allocation of aggregated orders for multiple client accounts), provides research, pricing information and other market data, facilitates the payment of DWM's fees from its clients' accounts, and assists with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting. Many of these services may be used to service all or a substantial number of DWM's accounts, including accounts not held at Schwab. Schwab may also make available to DWM other services intended to help DWM manage and further develop its business. These services may include consulting, publications and conferences on practice management, information technology, business succession, regulatory compliance and marketing. In addition, Schwab may make available, arrange and/or pay for these types of services to be rendered to DWM by independent third parties. Schwab may discount or waive fees it would otherwise charge for some of these services, pay all or a part of the fees of a third-party providing these services to DWM, and/or Schwab may pay for travel expenses relating to participation in such training. Finally, participation in SI provides DWM with access to mutual funds which normally require significantly higher minimum initial investments or are normally available only to institutional investors.

The benefits received through participation in the SI program do not necessarily depend upon the proportion of transactions directed to Schwab. The benefits are received by DWM, in part because of commission revenue generated for Schwab by DWM's clients. This means that the investment activity in client accounts is beneficial to DWM, because Schwab does not assess a fee to DWM for these services. This creates an incentive for DWM to continue to recommend Schwab to its clients. While it may be possible to obtain similar custodial, execution and other services elsewhere at a lower cost, DWM believes that Schwab provides an excellent combination of these services.

Directed Brokerage

Clients may direct DWM to use a particular broker for custodial or transaction services on behalf of the client's portfolio. In directed brokerage arrangements, the client is responsible for negotiating the commission rates and other fees to be paid to the broker. Accordingly, a client who directs brokerage should consider whether such designation may result in certain costs or disadvantages to the client, either because the client may pay higher commissions or obtain less favorable execution, or the designation limits the investment options available to the client.

The arrangement that DWM has with Schwab is designed to maximize efficiency and to be cost effective. By directing brokerage arrangements, the client acknowledges that these economies of scale and levels of efficiency are generally compromised when alternative brokers are used. While every effort is made to treat clients fairly over time, the fact that a client chooses to use the brokerage and/or custodial services of these alternative service providers may in fact result in a certain degree of delay in executing trades for their account(s) and otherwise adversely affect management of their account(s).

Aggregated Trade Policy

DWM may enter trades as a block where possible and when advantageous to clients whose accounts have a need to buy or sell shares of the same security. This blocking of trades permits the trading of aggregate blocks of securities composed of assets from multiple client accounts, so long as transaction costs are shared equally and on a pro-rata basis between all accounts included in any such block. Block trading allows DWM to execute equity trades in a timelier, equitable manner, and may reduce overall costs to clients.

DWM will only aggregate transactions when it believes that aggregation is consistent with its duty to seek best execution (which includes the duty to seek best price) for its clients, and is consistent with the terms of DWM's Investment Advisory Agreement with each client for which trades are being aggregated. No advisory client will be favored over any other client; each client that participates in an aggregated order will participate at the average share price for all DWM's transactions in a given security on a given business day, with transaction costs generally shared pro-rata based on each client's participation in the transaction. On occasion, owing to the size of a particular account's pro rata share of an order or other factors, the commission or transaction fee charged could be above or below a breakpoint in a pre-determined commission or fee schedule set by the executing broker, and therefore transaction charges may vary slightly among accounts.

Accounts may be excluded from a block due to tax considerations, client direction or other factors making the account's participation ineligible or impractical.

DWM will prepare, before entering an aggregated order, a written statement ("Allocation Statement") specifying the participating client accounts and how it intends to allocate the order among those clients. If the aggregated order is filled in its entirety, it will be allocated among clients in accordance with the Allocation Statement. If the order is partially filled, it will generally be allocated pro-rata, based on the Allocation Statement, or randomly in certain circumstances. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the order may be allocated on a basis different from that specified in the Allocation Statement if all client accounts receive fair and equitable treatment, and the reason for different allocation is explained in writing and is approved by an appropriate individual/officer of DWM. DWM's books and records will separately reflect, for each client account, the orders of which are aggregated, the securities held by and bought and sold for that account. Funds and securities of clients whose orders are aggregated will be deposited with one or more banks or broker-dealers, and neither the clients' cash nor their securities will be held collectively any longer than is necessary to settle the transaction on a delivery versus payment basis; cash or securities held collectively for clients will be delivered out to the custodian bank or broker-dealer as soon as practicable following the settlement, and DWM will receive no additional compensation or remuneration of any kind as a result of the proposed aggregation.

Cross Trades

From time to time, DWM may direct a "cross trade" of securities (including, without limitation, fixed income securities) between client accounts, whereby DWM arranges for one client account to purchase a security directly from another client account without incurring commission fees from a broker-dealer. In such cases, DWM will seek to obtain a price for the security from one or more independent sources. DWM is not a broker-dealer and receives no compensation from a cross trade; however, the broker-dealer facilitating the cross trade normally charges administrative fees to the clients' accounts.

DWM may direct a cross trade when DWM believes that the transaction is in the best interest of the clients, that no client will be disfavored by the transaction, and that the transaction receives the best execution.

Review of Accounts

Managed portfolios are reviewed at least quarterly, but may be reviewed more often if requested by the client, upon receipt of information material to the management of the portfolio, or at any time such review is deemed necessary or advisable by DWM. Joseph P. Davis, DWM's Managing Director, Airis Abolins, DWM's SVP for Research and Analytics, and Tory Klinedinst and Dick Campbell, both Development Advisors for DWM, all review client accounts.

Account custodians are responsible for providing monthly or quarterly account statements which reflect the positions (and current pricing) in each account as well as transactions in each account, including fees paid from an account. Account custodians also provide prompt confirmation of all trading activity, and year-end tax statements, such as 1099 forms. In addition, DWM provides at least an annual report for each managed portfolio. This written report normally includes a summary of portfolio holdings and performance results. Additional reports are available at the request of the client.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

As noted above, DWM may receive some benefits from Schwab based on the amount of client assets held at Schwab. Please see “Brokerage Practices” for more information. However, neither Schwab nor any other party is paid to refer clients to DWM.

Custody

Schwab is the primary custodian for most client accounts at DWM. From time to time however, clients may select an alternate broker to hold accounts in custody. In any case, it is the custodian's responsibility to provide clients with confirmations of trading activity, tax forms and at least quarterly account statements. Clients are advised to review this information carefully, and to notify DWM of any questions or concerns. Clients are also asked to promptly notify DWM if the custodian fails to provide statements on each account held.

From time to time and in accordance with DWM's agreement with clients, DWM will provide additional reports. The account balances reflected on these reports should be compared to the balances shown on the brokerage statements to ensure accuracy. At times, there may be small differences due to the timing of dividend reporting and pending trades.

Investment Discretion

As described above under “Advisory Business”, DWM manages portfolios on a discretionary basis. This means that after an Investment Plan is developed for the client's investment portfolio, DWM will execute that plan without specific consent from the client for each transaction. For discretionary accounts, a Limited Power of Attorney (“LPOA”) is executed by the client, giving DWM the authority to carry out various activities in the account, generally including the following: trade execution; the ability to request checks on behalf of the client; and, the withdrawal of advisory fees directly from the account. DWM then directs investment of the client's portfolio using its discretionary authority. The client may limit the terms of the LPOA to the extent consistent with the client's Investment Advisory Agreement with DWM and the requirements of the client's custodian. The discretionary relationship is further described in the agreement between DWM and the client.

Voting Client Securities

In certain circumstances and in accordance with our Client agreement, DWM shall vote proxies related to securities held by any Client. DWM will vote proxies in such a way that, to the best of DWM's knowledge, is in the best interest of each individual shareholder. From time to time, this may mean that the same proxy proposal may be voted differently for different Clients. DWM will consider only those factors that relate to the Client's investment(s) or factors that are set forth in written instructions from the Client.

DWM has elected to utilize the services of Broadridge, a Voting Agent Service, to handle day-to-day functions relating to proxy voting. Broadridge's approach to enhancing overall corporate value through effective proxy voting relies on Third Party analysis and recommendations that are developed on an issue-by-company basis, rather than an issue-by-issue basis.

Issue-by-issue analysis assumes that a specific set of corporate governance initiatives is, or is not, inherently beneficial to shareholders and that a specific recommendation for a particular issue should be applied across-the-board to the voting of all corporations' proxies. This one-size-fits-all approach, however, frequently results in a lack of focus on issues that genuinely impact long-term shareholder value and, as a result, disadvantages shareholders.

By comparison, Broadridge's issue-by-company approach views proxy issues in the context of company-specific metrics, taking into account a variety of relevant factors. DWM has embraced Broadridge's methodology and approach to this important process.

A copy of DWM's complete policy, as well as records of proxies voted, is available to Clients upon request. As required under the Advisers Act, such records are maintained for a period of five (5) years.

Financial Information

DWM does not require nor solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance, and therefore has no disclosure required for this item.

Please contact DWM at (919) 941-9222 if you did not receive DWM's brochure, or if you have any questions about the contents of this supplement.

Additional information about Mr. Davis is available on the SEC's website at www.AdviserInfo.sec.gov.

Educational Background and Business Experience

Joseph P. Davis (year of birth 1960) is the Chairman and Managing Director of Davis Wealth Management ("DWM"). He received a B.A. in business from Campbell University in 1982. He began his career as a banker for Wachovia. In 1984, Mr. Davis joined Morgan Stanley Dean Witter as an Account Executive and was promoted to Vice President within just four years. In 1989, he moved his practice to J.C. Bradford & Co. and continued to expand his client services in addition to helping the firm grow its business and expand its market share in North Carolina.

After nine years at J.C. Bradford, Mr. Davis decided the industry was evolving to a more client-centered, fee-based model and transitioned his practice in 1998 to Wheat First Union. Soon after, Wachovia Securities acquired this firm and his practice continued to thrive under the new Wachovia umbrella. Mr. Davis continued to expand his credentials, and his business grew exponentially through a very challenging financial time in history. As the larger financial institutions continued to be consumed with tough times, Mr. Davis decided it was time to found an entirely client-centered, family office and in 2009 founded DWM.

Disciplinary Information

There is no disciplinary information to report regarding Mr. Davis.

Other Business Activities

Mr. Davis is not engaged in any other business activities.

Additional Compensation

Mr. Davis has no other income or compensation to disclose.

Supervision

As the primary owner of DWM, Joseph Davis supervises all duties and activities of the firm, and is responsible for all advice provided to clients. His contact information is on the cover page of this disclosure document.

Additional information about Airis Abolins is available on the SEC's website at www.AdviserInfo.sec.gov.

Educational Background and Business Experience

Airis Alexander Abolins (year of birth 1962) joined Davis Wealth Management when it was formed in June of 2009. He is part-owner of the firm, and serves as Senior Vice President of Research and Analytics. Airis began working with Joseph P. Davis, DWM's Chairman, in 2000. Airis is responsible for financial investments, investment model development, due diligence research on a variety of asset management strategies and securities analysis for DWM.

Airis' primary focus is at the client level, ensuring all aspects of DWM's clients' financial lives have been thoroughly reviewed, and making sure "no stone is left unturned". This often involves working closely with DWM's clients' other advisors, CPA's, attorneys and insurance agents. With this information, Airis creates comprehensive financial plans and asset allocation recommendations individualized to each client.

Airis served as a Nuclear Propulsion Engineer Officer and Surface Warfare Officer in the US Navy for eight years. He retired from the Navy after serving thirteen more years as an officer in the Naval Reserves. Airis also worked for two years at Radian International as an engineer. In 1996, he began his career in the financial services industry as a Financial Planner with Verity Asset Management in Durham, North Carolina. In 2000, Airis joined First Union Securities as a Financial Consultant.

Airis earned his Bachelor of Science and Engineering degree in Mechanical & Aerospace Engineering from Princeton University and his MBA from the Kenan Flagler Business School at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He holds the Certified Investment Management AnalystSM (CIMA) designation.

Airis volunteers his time teaching young children at his church, coaching basketball and interviewing local applicants for admission to Princeton University. He and his wife, Jenean, have three young children.

* The Certified Investment Management AnalystSM ("CIMA[®]") designation focuses on asset allocation, ethics, due diligence, risk measurement, investment policy and performance measurement. Only individuals who are investment consultants with at least three years of professional experience are eligible to try to obtain this certification, which signifies a high level of consulting expertise. The Investment Management Consultants Association offers the CIMA[®] courses. Individuals who hold CIMA[®] designations are required to prove their expertise through continual recertification, which requires CIMA[®] designees to complete at least 40 hours of continuing education every two years. CIMA[®] designation holders tend to have careers with financial consulting firms, which involve extensive interaction with clients and the management of large amounts of money.

Educational Background and Business Experience

Tory Adams Klinedinst (year of birth 1975) joined Davis Wealth Management in June of 2009 and serves as Vice President of DWM. Tory specializes as an Investment Advisor Representative to her personal clients, as well as all clients of DWM.

Prior to joining DWM, Tory was with Wachovia Securities as a Sales Assistant (2005-2007) and a Financial Advisor (2007-2009). She earned the designation of Chartered Retirement Planning Counselor* (CRPC) while working at Wachovia Securities.

Tory served in the United States Navy from 1996 to 2000. She specialized in Meteorology and Oceanography while stationed at Pearl Harbor in Hawaii. After completing her service, Tory obtained a Bachelor of Arts in Business Administration, with a Minor in Mathematics, from Huntingdon College in Montgomery, Alabama.

Tory enjoys spending time with her family, helping the elderly, horseback riding, volunteering with the Special Olympics, and mentoring the youth of Holly Springs, North Carolina. She and her husband welcomed their first child to their family in 2010.

* The Chartered Retirement Planning Counselor (“CRPC”) is a professional designation awarded by the College for Financial Planning to individuals who complete a study program and pass a final multiple-choice examination. Successful applicants earn the right to use the CRPC designation with their names for two years. Every two years, CRPC professionals must complete 16 hours of continuing education and pay a small fee to continue using the designation. The CRPC Program focuses on the pre- and post-retirement needs of individuals, and addresses issues such as estate planning and asset management. CRPC professionals must comply with the Code of Ethics, which includes agreeing to abide by the Standards of Professional Conduct and Terms and Conditions. Applicants must also disclose any criminal, civil, self-regulatory organization, or governmental agency inquiry, investigation, or proceeding relating to their professional or business conduct. Conferment of the designation is contingent upon the College for Financial Planning’s review of matters either self-disclosed or which are discovered by the College that are required to be disclosed.
