Item of Form (identify)	Answer

Item 1D

16th Amendment Advisors LLC (the "Adviser"), as discussed below, may provide investment advisory services to individual clients, on a discretionary basis, primarily limited to the purchase and sale of municipal securities. In addition, the Adviser may also offer investment funds (the "Funds") to qualified investors in accordance with the terms and conditions of each of the Fund's offering documents. Also, as discussed below, the Adviser may provide investment advisory services to individual clients primarily limited to the purchase and sale of municipal securities. The Adviser does not hold itself out as providing, nor does it provide, financial planning, estate planning, insurance planning or any other related or unrelated financial planning consulting services.

Investment Advisory Services

The client can determine to engage the Adviser to provide investment advisory services on a fee-only basis. The Adviser's annual investment advisory fee shall generally be based upon a percentage (%) of the market value of the assets placed under the Adviser's management (generally between .25% and .75%)

Adviser's annual investment advisory fee shall be prorated and paid monthly, in advance, based upon the market value of the assets on the last business day of the previous month. The Adviser generally requires a $5 million aggregate asset minimum for investment advisory services. The Adviser, in its sole discretion, may waive its minimum and/or charge a lesser investment management fee based upon certain criteria (i.e. anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amount of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, negotiations with client, etc.). See also Performance Fee Arrangements and Fixed Fee Investment Advisory Services below.

Currently, the Adviser intends to primarily allocate client investment assets on a discretionary basis among municipal securities. In the event that the client requests that the Adviser recommend a broker-dealer/custodian for execution and/or custodial services (exclusive of those clients that may direct the Adviser to use a specific broker-dealer/custodian), Adviser generally recommends that investment management accounts be maintained at a firm with which it has a pre-existing account relationship (i.e. Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab")), although this is not a pre condition to establishing a relationship with the Adviser. Prior to engaging Adviser to provide investment management services, the client will be required to enter into a formal Investment Advisory Agreement with Adviser setting forth the terms and conditions under which Adviser shall manage the client's assets, and a separate custodial/clearing agreement with each designated broker-dealer/custodian.

As discussed above, unless the client directs otherwise or an individual client's circumstances require, the Adviser shall generally recommend that Schwab, or a similar firm, serve as the broker-dealer/custodian for client investment management assets. Broker-dealers such as Schwab, or a similar firm may charge brokerage commissions and/or transaction fees for effecting certain securities transactions (i.e. transaction fees are charged for certain no-load mutual funds, commissions are charged for individual equity and fixed income securities transactions.) At the discretion of the Adviser, individual debt or equity transactions may be effected through broker-dealers with whom Adviser or the client have entered into arrangements for prime brokerage clearing services (in which event, the client shall incur both the transaction fee charged by the executing broker-dealer and a "tradeaway" fee charged by such broker-dealer/custodian). In addition to Adviser's investment management fee, brokerage commissions and/or transaction fees, the client will also incur, relative to all mutual fund and exchange traded fund purchases, charges imposed at the fund level (e.g. management fees and other fund expenses).

Both Adviser's Investment Advisory Agreement and the custodial clearing agreement may authorize the custodian to debit the account for the amount of the Adviser's investment advisory fee and to directly remit that management fee to the Adviser in compliance with regulatory procedures. In the limited event that the Adviser bills the client directly, payment is due upon receipt of the Adviser's invoice. The Investment Advisory Agreement between the Adviser and the client will continue in effect until terminated by either party by written notice in accordance with the terms of the Investment Advisory Agreement. Upon termination, the Adviser shall refund the pro-rated portion of the advanced advisory fee paid based upon the number of days remaining in the billing month.

Factors that the Adviser considers in recommending a broker-dealer/custodian to clients include historical relationship with the Adviser, financial strength, reputation, execution capabilities, pricing, research, and service. Although the commissions and/or transaction fees paid by Adviser's clients shall comply with the Adviser's duty to obtain best execution, a client may pay a commission that is higher than another qualified broker-dealer might charge to effect the same transaction where the Adviser determines, in good faith, that the commission/transaction fee is reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services received. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a broker-dealer services, including the value of research provided, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Accordingly, although Adviser will seek competitive rates, it may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for client account transactions. The brokerage commissions or transaction fees charged by the designated broker-dealer/custodian are exclusive of, and in addition to, Adviser's investment management fee. The Adviser's best execution responsibility is qualified if securities that it purchases for client accounts are no-load mutual funds that trade at net asset value as determined at the daily market close.

degrees of risk, and it should not be assumed that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy (including the investments and/or investment strategies recommended or undertaken by the Registrant) will be profitable or equal any specific performance level(s).

Options Transactions. Although the intent of the options-related transactions that may be implemented by the Registrant is to produce current income and and/or to hedge against principal risk, certain of the options-related strategies (i.e. straddles, short positions, etc), may, in and of themselves, produce principal volatility and/or risk. Thus, a client must be willing to accept these enhanced volatility and principal risks associated with such strategies. In light of these enhanced risks, client may direct the Registrant, in writing, not to employ any or all such strategies for his/her/their/its accounts.

Performance Based Fees-The Adviser may provide investment advisory services on a Performance Fee basis in accordance with Rule 205-3 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. Rule 205-3 permits a registered investment adviser to enter into an agreement with certain sophisticated clients who have the capacity to bear the potential additional risks of such a fee arrangement. An adviser can rely on Rule 205-3 only if the performance fee agreement is with "eligible" clients. Eligible clients are defined in the Rule as natural persons and companies that have either at least $750,000.00 under management with the Adviser immediately after entering into a performance fee agreement or a net worth at the time the agreement is entered into in excess of $1.5 Million (i.e. a natural person's net worth may include assets held jointly with a spouse). The terms and conditions of the performance fee arrangement shall be set forth in the Investment Advisory Agreement. In the Agreement, the client will be required to represent and/or warrant that he/she/it: (1) is an "eligible" client as defined immediately above; (2) understands that Adviser is relying upon such representation for compliance with Rule 205-3; and (3) that the Performance Fee may be an incentive for the Adviser to make investments that are riskier or more speculative than would be the case absent a Performance Fee.

Use of Margin. To the extent that a client authorizes the use of margin, and margin is thereafter employed by the Adviser in the management of the client's investment portfolio, the market value of the client's account and corresponding fee payable by the client to the Adviser may be increased. As a result, in addition to understanding and assuming the additional principal risks associated with the use of margin, clients authorizing margin are advised of the potential conflict of interest whereby the client's decision to employ margin may correspondingly increase the management fee and/or Performance Fee, if any, payable to the Adviser. Accordingly, the decision as to whether to employ margin is left totally to the discretion of client.

Fixed Fee Investment Advisory Services -The Adviser may provide investment advisory services on a fee-only fixed fee basis based upon various objective and subjective factors, including, scope of the advisory service to be provided, the

Please see the previous responses set forth on this Schedule F to Item 1D. In addition, to the extent applicable to the transactions to be effected, Adviser's general policies relative to the execution of client securities brokerage transactions are as follows:

Execution of Brokerage Transactions (when applicable). If requested, Adviser will arrange for the execution of securities brokerage transactions for the account through broker-dealers that Adviser reasonably believes will provide "best execution". In seeking "best execution", the determinative factor is not the lowest possible commission cost but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a broker-dealer's services including execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Accordingly, although Adviser will seek competitive commission rates, it may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for account transactions.

Over-the-Counter (OTC) securities transactions for Adviser's clients are generally effected on an agency basis, which involve the services of two (2) separate broker-dealers: (1) a "dealer" or "principal" acting as market-maker; and (2) the executing broker-dealer that acts in an agency capacity for the client's account. Dealers executing principal transactions typically include a mark-up/down, which is included in the offer or bid price of the securities purchased or sold. In addition to the dealer mark-up/down, the client may also incur the transaction fee imposed by the executing broker-dealer. Adviser does not receive any portion of the dealer mark-up/down or the executing broker-dealer transaction fee.

Adviser may (but is not obligated to) combine or "batch" client orders to obtain "best execution", to negotiate more favorable commission rates or to allocate equitably among Adviser's clients differences in prices and commissions or other transaction costs that might have been obtained had such orders been placed independently. Under this procedure, transactions will be averaged as to price and will be allocated among Adviser's clients in proportion to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client account on any given day.

The client may direct Adviser to use a particular broker-dealer (subject to Adviser's right to decline and/or terminate the engagement) to execute some or all transactions for the client's account. In such event, the client will negotiate terms and arrangements for the account with that broker-dealer, and Adviser will not seek better execution services or prices from other broker-dealers or be able to "batch" the client's transactions for execution through other broker-dealers with orders for other accounts managed by Adviser. As a result, client may pay higher commissions or other transaction costs or greater spreads, or receive less favorable net prices, on transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case.

In the event that the client directs Adviser to effect securities transactions for the client's accounts through a specific broker-dealer, the client correspondingly acknowledges that such direction may cause the accounts to incur higher commissions or transaction costs than the accounts would otherwise incur had the client determined to effect account transactions through alternative clearing arrangements that may be available through Adviser.

In the event that the transactions for a client's accounts are effected through a broker-dealer that refers investment management clients to Adviser, there exists the potential for conflict of interest if the accounts incur higher commission or transaction costs than the accounts would otherwise have incurred had the client determined to effect account transactions through alternative clearing arrangements that may have been available through Adviser.

The management of accounts will vary depending upon each individual client's objective (e.g., income or capital appreciation). If a client's objective is income, the Adviser generally purchases and holds municipal bonds in the client's account in order to meet the client's primary objective of generating tax-free income. If the client's objective is capital appreciation (i.e., trading municipal bonds for a profit), there will generally be increased trading activity and corresponding increased trading costs, as well as increased underlying risk (i.e., trading risk, including potentially the trading of lower rated bonds). Different bonds purchased by the Adviser may be more appropriate for one account vs. another. Moreover, in the event that the Adviser effects a block transaction, and the amount of bonds available to be purchased will not be sufficient to efficiently allocate a marketable portion thereof to all similarly situated accounts, the Adviser will then, prior to effecting the transaction, determine which accounts will receive an allocation thereof. Thereafter, in similar situations, the Adviser shall allocate the bonds first to those applicable accounts that did not participate in the previous transaction. By so doing, it is the Adviser's intention to use reasonable efforts to allocate available bonds on a fair and equitable basis to similarly situated clients.

Proxy Voting Policy. The Adviser does not vote proxies unless it has been specifically directed to do so, in writing, by the client. Thus, unless the client instructs the Adviser, the client shall maintain exclusive responsibility for: (1) directing the manner in which proxies solicited by issuers of securities beneficially owned by the client shall be voted, and (2) making all elections relative to any mergers, acquisitions, tender offers, bankruptcy proceedings or other type events pertaining to the client's investment assets. The Adviser and/or the client shall correspondingly

See also disclosure below at Item 13A relative to broker-dealer/custodians such as Schwab, et al.

Although not a material consideration when determining whether to recommend that a individual client utilize the services of a particular broker-dealer/custodian (including Schwab), Adviser may receive from a particular broker-dealer/custodian (including Schwab), without cost (and/or at a discount) support services and/or products, certain of which assist the Adviser to better monitor and service client accounts maintained at such institutions. Included within the support services that may be obtained by the Adviser may be investment-related research, pricing information and market data, software and other technology that provide access to client account data, compliance and/or practice management-related publications, discounted or gratis consulting services, discounted and/or gratis attendance at conferences, meetings, and other educational and/or social events, marketing support, computer hardware and/or software and/or other products used by Adviser in furtherance of its investment advisory business operations.
