TWA provides discretionary management, non discretionary management, and advisory services to its wealth management clients. Services are provided directly by TWA or through a subadvisory agreement with Financial Counselors, Inc., a separately owned SEC registered investment advisory firm located in Kansas City, MO. TWA also makes investment management services available for small accounts on its automated “robo” platform under a sub-advisory agreement with a third party automated investment provider.

The firm also provides discretionary management, advisory and consulting services to institutional clients.

As of December 31, 2017, TWA managed approximately $1,144,285,060 in assets. Of that total, the firm managed $57,699,819 in assets for wealth management clients on a discretionary basis. In addition, through its Institutional Division, TWA also managed approximately $869,690,274 in institutional assets on a discretionary basis and another $216,894,967 in institutional assets on a non-discretionary basis. The firm also provided non-management advisory services on an additional $420,702,877 in institutional assets.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

TWA Managed Accounts

Fees for wealth management services provided directly by TWA are generally based on account size according to the following schedule:

Account Size	Annual Fee
$0 - $2,000,000	0.95%
$2,000,001 - $4,000,000	0.75%
Amounts over $4,000,000	0.50%

Accounts managed on the firm’s automated “robo” platform are charged a reduced fee of 0.50%.

Depending on the custodian of the assets, the fees will generally be charged as noted below.

For assets custodied at Fidelity, Schwab, or TD Ameritrade, fees will be deducted in advance via an automatic withdrawal on a quarterly basis, i.e. one-fourth of the annual fee will be deducted each quarter. Fees will be calculated for and deducted from each account at the beginning of each quarter for that quarter based on the balance of each respective account as reported by the custodian as of the end of the previous quarter.

For assets custodied at Interactive Brokers, fees will be deducted in arrears through an automatic daily withdrawal from the account. In other words, Fees will be calculated for and deducted from each account at the end of each day based on the balance of each respective account at the end of the day as reported by the custodian; i.e. 1/365th of the annual fee is withdrawn at the end of each day for that particular day.

FCI Sub-Advised Accounts

Fees for wealth management services provided by TWA pursuant to its subadvisory agreement with Financial Counselors, Inc., are generally based on account size according to the following schedule:

Account Size	Annual Fee
$0 - $499,000	1.45% (minimum $1,000/year)
Accounts over $500,000	negotiable

Fees are generally deducted quarterly in arrears directly from client accounts, but clients may elect to instead pay fees by check or wire transfer. Annual fees and minimums may be negotiable under certain circumstances.

General Information

Services may be terminated upon 30 days written notice, and fees for partial periods will be prorated. Any payments made in advance will be prorated and any unearned portion will be refunded to client subject to the termination notice provisions of the client agreement.

All fees paid to TWA are separate and unrelated to any fees or expenses assessed by mutual funds, exchange traded funds, brokers or custodians.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Although its fees are often asset based, TWA does not charge additional performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

Item 7 – Types of Clients

TWA provides portfolio management services to individuals, trusts, estates, charitable organizations and business entities. The minimum account size for portfolio management services is generally $500,000, although accounts not meeting the minimum may be accepted on a case-by-case basis or be provided services through the firm’s automated “robo” investment platform.

TWA provides portfolio management, advisory and consulting services to corporate pension and profit-sharing plans and business entities. The minimum account size for institutional client services is generally $2,000,000, although we may accept accounts not meeting the minimum on a case-by-case basis.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

TWA's primary investment strategy is to build efficient portfolios for clients using the principles of Modern Portfolio Theory.

To implement this strategy, we may manage accounts internally or may delegate investment management responsibility to a separately owned firm with which we have a subadvisory relationship, Financial Counselors, Inc. Both TWA and FCI use a long term strategic approach to investing, but may use some shorter term tactical techniques from time to time. We may also delegate authority for accounts on our automated "robo" platform to a third-party investment provider. Information about FCI or any other outside provider can be found in the applicable firm's disclosure brochure which is available upon request.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. These risks include market risk, interest rate risk, currency risk, and political risk, among others.

No investment strategy can assure a profit or avoid a loss.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to the evaluation of the firm or the integrity of our management. TWA is currently not subject to, nor has ever been subject to, any legal or disciplinary events of a material nature.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

TWA has various industry activities and affiliations:

Truss, LLC (F/K/A Cretcher Heartland LLC)

TWA is partially owned by a holding company which owns Truss, LLC (formerly known as Cretcher Heartland LLC), an independent insurance brokerage firm specializing in property and casualty insurance, group employee benefits, and the placement of surety programs.

Truss services may be made available to TWA clients from time to time, and TWA may possibly share in revenues, but only if properly licensed to do so.

Financial Counselors, Inc.

TWA has various arrangements with Financial Counselors, Inc. ("FCI"), a separately owned SEC registered investment adviser, based in Kansas City, MO. FCI functions as a sub-adviser for some TWA wealth management and some discretionary managed retirement plan accounts, and in return, receives a portion of the investment management fee TWA charges to its client. FCI also serves as investment adviser for a series of risk-based collective investment trusts (CIT's) that TWA may make available for certain TWA retirement plan clients. TWA does not however receive compensation related to use of these CIT's by TWA client retirement plans.

Other Activities

TWA is also licensed as an insurance agency and may receive commissions related to the sale of annuities and life insurance.

TWA has no other financial industry affiliations or arrangements with related persons.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics

Code of Ethics

TWA has adopted a Code of Ethics expressing the firm's commitment to ethical conduct. TWA's Code of Ethics describes the firm's fiduciary duties and responsibilities to clients, and details practices for reviewing the personal securities transactions of supervised persons with access to client information. The Code also requires compliance with applicable securities laws, addresses insider trading, and details possible disciplinary measures for violations. TWA will provide a complete copy of its Code of Ethics to any client upon request to the Chief Compliance Officer.

Trading Conflicts of Interest

Individuals associated with TWA are permitted to buy or sell securities for their personal accounts identical to or different than those recommended to clients. However, no person employed by TWA is allowed to favor his or her own interest over that of a client or make personal investment decisions based on the investment decisions of advisory clients.

In order to address potential conflicts of interest, TWA requires that associated persons with access to advisory recommendations provide annual securities holdings reports and quarterly transaction reports to the firm's Chief Compliance Officer.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

The Custodian and Brokers We Use

TWA does not maintain custody of client assets. Instead, we require all client assets be maintained in an account at a non affiliated “qualified custodian,” generally a broker-dealer or bank. The qualified custodian we use varies depending on the type of service provided.

While we recommend that you use our custodian or broker, you will ultimately decide whether to do so and will open your account by entering into an account agreement directly with them. We do not actually open accounts for you, although we can assist you in doing so.

How We Select Custodians and Brokers

In determining to associate with a custodian or broker for our clients, we consider many different factors including quality of service, types of services offered, overall capability, execution quality, competitiveness of transaction costs, availability of investment research, reputation and stability of the firm, and their financial resources, and stability, among other things. In determining the reasonableness of a broker’s compensation, we consider the overall cost to you relative to the benefits you receive, both directly and indirectly, from the broker.

Your Brokerage and Custody Costs

Our clients receive various services directly from our custodians. For our clients’ accounts that our custodians maintain, the custodian generally does not charge separately for custody services but instead is compensated by charging commissions or other fees on trades that it executes or trades that are executed by other brokers to and from the custodial accounts. Our relationship to our custodians and the custodian’s relationship to the client are entirely independent of trade commission assessed by the custodian in client accounts.

Since our custodians charge you a fee for each trade that we have executed by a different broker-dealer, we have the custodian execute most trades for your account in order to minimize your trading costs.

We have determined that having the custodian execute most trades is consistent with our duty to seek “best execution” of your trades. Best execution means seeking the most favorable terms for a transaction based on all relevant factors, including those listed above.

Products and Services Available to Us from Brokers/Custodians

Our custodians provide us and our clients with access to its institutional brokerage services like trading, custody, reporting, and related services, many of which are not typically available to retail customers. Our custodians also make available various support services, some of which may help us manage or administer our clients’ accounts, while others may help us manage and grow our business.

Our custodians’ institutional brokerage services which benefit you directly include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions, and asset custody. The investment products available through our custodians include some to which we might not otherwise have access or that would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment by our clients.

Our custodians also make available to us other products and services that benefit us but may not directly benefit you or your account. These products and services assist us in managing and administering our clients’ accounts. They include investment research, both the custodian’s own and that of third parties. We may use this research to service all or a substantial number of our clients’ accounts, including accounts not maintained at the custodian. In addition to investment research, the custodians also make available software and other technology that provide access to client account data, facilitates trade execution for multiple client accounts, provides pricing and other market data, facilitates payment of our fees from our clients’ accounts, and assists with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting.

Our custodians also offer other services intended to help us manage and further develop our business. These services include educational conferences and events, consulting on technology, compliance, legal, and business needs, publications and conferences on practice management and business succession, and access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants, and insurance providers.

The availability of these services from our custodians benefit us because we do not have to produce or purchase them. Of course, this may give us an incentive to recommend that you maintain your account with our custodians based on our interests rather than yours, which is a potential conflict of interest. We believe, however, that our selection of our custodians is in the best interests of our clients, and is primarily supported by the scope, quality, and price of our custodians' services and not those services that benefit only us.

Aggregation of Transactions

TWA may, from time to time, aggregate client orders into blocks in order to facilitate more efficient account management and execution. When aggregating orders, an average price is given to all participants in the block, or other measures are taken, in order to treat all accounts fairly.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Reviews of Accounts

Investment management accounts are supervised by the principals of TWA, or the respective third-party manager or sub-advisor. In addition to ongoing supervision, accounts are generally reviewed more formally on an annual basis. The quarterly review generally includes assessing client goals and objectives, evaluating the employed strategy, monitoring the portfolio, and addressing the need to rebalance. TWA will periodically, and at least annually, review client's investment policy and risk profile, and discuss the re-balancing of each client's accounts to the extent appropriate.

Additional account reviews may be triggered by a specific client request, by a change in client goals or objectives, by an imbalance in a portfolio asset allocation, or by market or economic conditions.

All ongoing clients are advised that it remains their responsibility to advise us of any changes in their investment objectives and or financial situation.

Regular Reports Provided to Clients

Investment management clients are provided with account statements from their custodian on at least a quarterly basis which list account holdings and transactions for the period. Investment management clients may also be provided with written performance reports on a quarterly basis that detail current market value, performance relative to market benchmarks, and overall portfolio allocation.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

TWA may pay outside individuals or other professional entities to refer clients to us via a Solicitor's Agreement. Such agreements are structured to be in compliance with applicable securities laws. Each client is provided a disclosure statement prior to or at the time of entering into any advisory contract which describe the specific compensation arrangement. The advisory fee charged to clients will not increase as a result of the referral arrangement.

TWA may also receive referral fees from third party investment managers for referring wealth management engagement. The receipt of these fees may give us an incentive to make recommendations related to certain third party investment managers which is a potential conflict of interest. If a client is introduced to a third-party investment manager by us acting as a solicitor we shall disclose the nature of the solicitor relationship, and shall provide each prospective client with a copy of the investment manger's written disclosure statement and a copy of a written solicitor's disclosure statement disclosing the terms and conditions of the arrangement between us (the solicitor) and the third party investment manager.

TWA does not receive direct outside economic benefits such as sales awards or prizes in connection with providing services to clients. TWA may however from time to time receive nominal expense reimbursements (e.g. food/beverage) from service providers participating in TWA sponsored events.

Item 15 – Custody

As noted in Item 12, TWA does not hold client funds or securities, but instead requires that they be held by a third party custodian. We may, however have limited control in some instances to trade on your behalf, to deduct our advisory fees from your account with your authorization, or to request disbursements to you or outside parties (although various types of written authorizations are required depending on the type of disbursements).

You will receive account statements directly from your custodian at least quarterly, which will be sent to the email or postal mailing address you provide. We urge you to carefully review these custodial statements when you receive them and compare them to reports you receive from us.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

TWA will accept discretionary authority to manage securities accounts on behalf of clients, although TWA will also accept non discretionary accounts.

When granted authority to manage accounts, TWA customarily has the authority to determine which securities and the amounts that are bought or sold, or the authority to delegate to third party managers or sub-advisors. Any discretionary authority accepted by TWA however is subject to the client's risk profile and investment objectives, and may be limited by any other limitations provided by the client in writing.

TWA will not exercise any discretionary authority until it has been given authority to do so in writing. Such authority is granted in the written agreement between TWA and the client, and in the written agreement with the third party custodian.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

TWA does not vote proxies on behalf of clients.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Registered investment advisers are required in some cases to provide certain financial information and or disclosures about financial condition. For example, if the firm requires prepayment of fees for six months in advance, has custody of client funds, or has a condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet its contractual commitments to its clients, it must provide financial information and make disclosures.

TWA has no financial or operating conditions which trigger such additional reporting requirements.
